NEW MACHINE SHOPS OF JERSEY CENTRAL.

Now in Course of Construction at Elizabethport—Progressing Rapidly.

WHAT THE PLANS CALL FOR.

SOME IDEA OF THE BUILDINGS THE COMMUTERS SEE EVERY DAY.

Largest Building is Machine Shop—There Are to be Blacksmith Shop, Oil and Storehouse, Power House and Electric Turn Table.

The hundreds of Plainfield commuters, who daily go to and from New York, have watched with much interest the progress being made on the huge shops which are being erected by the Jersey Central Railroad at Elizabethport. They have seen the great steel framework grow to its present proportions and they have wondered as to its completion. The work is now progressing rapidly.

The largest building is the machine shop. It is parallel with the main line and is over 600 feet long. The concrete foundations and the steel frame are complete. Some of the brick work of the side walls has been started. The roof of this building is being put on. The foundations for the heavy machine tools are being prepared. It is expected that the removal of the heavy planers, lathes and drill-presses from the old shops at Elizabeth will commence in about two months. Three of the four traveling cranes are now in position. Two of these will be of fifty tons capacity and will handle easily the largest locomotives and move them to any part of the erecting floor. In the first bay at the north will be placed a number of the heavy tools, while in the second bay will be placed the lighter machinery. All tools will be supplied with self-contained electric motors and will do away entirely with overhead shafting. Compressed air tools, such as chippers, will also be extensively used.

The blacksmith shop is to the north of the machine shop and its foundations and steel frame are also completed. The roof will be put on in a few days. It is also ready for the side walls.

The oil-house is complete except for the doors and windows. It is constructed entirely of concrete and is thoroughly fireproof. The walls are made of concrete, four inches thick. The roof is one slab of concrete strengthened by an internal skeleton of expanded steel similar to metal lathing, but much heavier. The floors and roof are not supported by the side walls, but by cast-iron columns in the interior of the structure.

The electric turn-table is on the ground and will be placed in position in a short time. The foundations for the semi-circular wall of the round-house are finished and the frame-work is being built for the concrete side walls. These walls will be twenty feet high. This roundhouse will afford room for twenty-five locomotives. If the capacity should be found too small the circle may be completed and thus afford room for fifty locomotives.

The power house at the east end of the machine shop is complete. Installed in it is a battery of two Babcock & Wilcox boilers, a Ball & Wood engine and two air compressors. Fires will be started in a few days and the contractors will employ electric power and air pressure in their work. The power is distributed throughout the plant by 2,000 feet of concrete tunneling, four feet wide and six feet high. In this are carried all the steam, water and air pipes and electric light and power wires.

The store and office building is up to the second story and it is expected to be finished in a month's time. The company's stores at Somerville will then be removed there.

The concrete foundations have been laid for the electric transfer table which is parallel with Newark branch track and between the round-house and the south end of the machine and blacksmith shops. It will be used to transfer the locomotives and cars from one shop or track to another. This will effect a great saving in time and space occupied by the ordinary system of switching.

No provision has been made for the car shops in the present plans. The new shops will care for all the locomotive work of the road. It is expected, however, that the car shops will be erected to the north of the blacksmith shop and parallel with the main line. The electric transfer table would be extended to the new shops.

The contractor has laid two miles of railway track for his own use. When the work is complete between three and four miles of track will be in and about the shops alone. If the proposed freight yard be established on the meadows 15 to 20 miles of track will have to be laid.

All of the sewers have been laid and the greater part of the ground will have to be filled in from four to six feet to make it conform with the grade of main line, which is the standard adopted.

Three to four hundred men have been employed steadily since last December on the work. A boarding camp was established at which seventy-five to one hundred men have lived since the work began. The contractor has found the presence of the men during off hours, ready to be called on if the emergency should arise, of the utmost value during the miniature floods which threatened the work in the spring months.

The work on the new shops is regarded as being about equivalent to the erection of a twenty-story office building.

NO SWIMMING POOL.

But Several Property Owners Allow the Boys to Swim in Places Along the Brook.

Although there is little prospect now of a public swimming pool being built for the convenience of the boys of city and borough, several property owners along Green brook are allowing the boys to visit secluded places and enjoy a swim as long as they behave like gentlemen.

Regarding the proposed swimming pool, The Daily Press is informed that the parties, who agreed to allow the use of the brook and the erection of a fence or screen, could not agree as to location. One wanted it near the street and the other chose a spot four or five hundred feet away, but this one also objected to letting the boys walk along his side of the brook to reach the pool. It was also suggested that the city ought to pay the owners about $500.

Although this project has been abandoned for the present as a result of the inability to get the proper location, quite a number of kind-hearted property owners have, as has already been stated, given the boys permission to bathe in certain secluded places.

There is also a place on the city property which may be made available for the purpose shortly.

GIVEN SEVEN YEARS.

Elizabeth's Negro Burglar Pleaded Guilty and Was Sentenced Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 1.—James Stone, the negro burglar from Chicago, who July 12 robbed the home of Wiliam Sattler, a civil engineer, in North Broad street, with offices in New York, pleaded guilty yesterday morning in the Union County Court, Judge Vail sentenced him to seven years in State Prison.

Richard C. Carpenter, of Fanwood, charged with having committed an assault and battery on Margaret L. Carpenter, pleaded non vult, and was sentenced to ten days in jail.

James Doyle, arrested near Picton, July 12, for having attempted to wreck a car on the Elizabeth, Rahway and Central Street Railway, by placing a heavy plank and other obstructions across the rails, pleaded non vult, and was sentenced to two months in jail.

WILL ARGUE MOTION.

Judge Vail Set September 4 as Date For Hearing.

Judge Vail, at Elizabeth, yesterday, granted the application of W. R. Codington and W. G. DeMeza, representing Gunther, who asked for a rule to show cause why a new trial should not be granted in the case of Bertha Grollmisch against Gunther.

The plaintiff, who is represented by Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., was to buy a horse of the defendant, but if the animal did not suit he was to make a change and let her have another horse. For some cause, it is alleged, the defendant refused to make a change. Judge Vail set Sept. 4 as the date when argument will be heard on the application for a new trial.

Funeral of D. D. Mattis.

The funeral services of the late Derrick D. Mattis were held last evening at 8 o'clock from the home on Fairview avenue. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors. Rev. G. W. Gardner, pastor of Grace M. E. church, officiated. The interment took place today at Whitehouse.

Fans At Hospital.

Electric fans have been installed in the various rooms at Muhlenberg Hospital, and the patients find it a great benefit to them.

Successful Camp Meetings.

The camp-meetings at Dewey Park are having good success. Rev. Dr. Taylor, a colored divine, is in charge.

HERE'S A CHANCE TO GET A BIG INDUSTRY.

COMPANY EMPLOYS 1,350.

TOO MANY MOSQUITOES IN ELIZABETH TO SUIT OFFICIALS.

They Would Consider an Offer From Plainfield—Hundred Acres Wanted With Fifty More Available If Needed.

An exceptional opportunity is now offered to the people of Plainfield to bring a large and desirable industry to this city, one that will be a benefit in every respect and result in a substantial growth of the city. The Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company, whose plant is located at Easton, Pa., has made up its mind that a change is a necessity, owing to the fact that it is handicapped for room.

When the plant was first established at Easton nearly 200 men were employed. Today there are 1,350 employes, all a desirable class of people, and representing skilled labor. The officials of the company, of which Former Mayor W. L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, is vice-president, are now engaged in looking for a suitable site. They have visited Newark, Paterson, Trenton, Elizabeth and many other places.

The last place visited was Elizabeth, but the officials were so overwhelmed with mosquitoes that they have practically given up the idea of locating there. In conversation with Mr. Saunders this morning, a Daily Press reporter learned that the company is willing to consider any proposition that may be offered by the citizens of this city. The plant will require at least 100 acres of ground, and it is desirable that fifty additional acres adjoin it in case the plant has to be enlarged. Plainfield can undoubtedly offer a desirable site for this industry It would mean an increase of at least 4,000 in the population, as most of the employes are married and have families. It would increase also the trade of the local merchants and stimulate nearly every line of business in the city.

The reason that a change in the location of the plant is necessary is that it is now so situated that additional land cannot be purchased to enlarge the plant, it being hemmed in on one side by the Lehigh river and on the other sides by other industries. It has been definitely decided to move the plant, and if any kind of a proposition is made to the company no doubt the officials would receive it kindly. The fact that the vice-president resides in this city should have some weight in the matter of bringing the industry to Plainfield.

Elizabeth has offered the race-track property, but a few days ago when officials of the company visited that city, and made a tour of inspection in a carriage, they were fairly swamped by the festive mosquito. The general manager of the company, who was in the party, remarked at that time that if the plant was located in Elizabeth they would have to get a new manager as he would not stand for the mosquitoes. The time to act in this matter is now and no time should be lost in bringing this plant to Plainfield.

FIVE COLLECTIONS.

Postmaster Bird Thinks Objectors Have No Reason For Complaint.

Regarding the collections from the letter box at the corner of Craig place and Somerset street, concerning which complaints have been made, Postmaster E. H. Bird says that there are five collections from that box every day and he thinks that the people in that vicinity have little reason to object. There is only one more collection from the box at the corner of Park avenue and Front street, which is about the most important business centre in the city.

Visited Old Clergyman.

T. S. Armstrong, the druggist, returned home yesterday after a visit at the home of his uncle, Rev. Andrew Armstrong, Avon-by-the-Sea. The latter is quite ill and being eighty-six years old, his relatives and friends feel anxious about him. Mr. Armstrong has been in the service of his Master, as preacher, for over fifty years. He was pastor of the South Plainfield Baptist church for several years.

DELIGHTFULLY COOL AT CAMP VOORHEES NOW.

Company K Boys Are Glad to Sleep Under Blankets Once More.

DEVELOPING BIG APPETITES.

COMPANY K COMMENDED FOR ITS WORK ON PARADE GROUND.

Lieut. Lewis Had a Sunstroke—Bugler Seiders Injured—Health of Camp is Good—Plunge in Surf Much Enjoyed.

(By a Special Correspondent.)

Camp Voorhees, Sea Girt, August 1.—Overcoats were decidedly comfortable to those who were on guard last night. The hot wave has broken and is gone entirely and the boys are sleeping under blankets. This morning was one of the most delightful since Company K came into camp. There is but little time, however, to feel the chilliness for everybody is kept busy from the time reveille sounds at daybreak until taps sound at 10 o'clock at night.

Major Coward and Lieutenant John H. Lewis, who were both suffering from a slight sun stroke received during dress parade Tuesday afternoon, are back to duty again. Bugler Seiders is still incapacitated as the result of a strange accident Monday night. He was just about to enter the surf in company with Private Sampson when a big wave came along. They both jumped at it at the same time. Sampson came down on Seider's foot badly bruising it. As a result, Seider has not been able to wear a shoe since. Otherwise, the health of the camp is remarkably good.

This delightful weather and the life in the open air are doing the boys a world of good. It is something new to most of them but they are enjoying it thoroughly. You ought to see the appetites which some of the boys have developed. While there never has been any fault found with the food itself, there were some who were inclined to turn up their noses at the way in which it was served or rather thrown at them. They don't mind it now, however, and Company K is consuming a remarkable quantity of food every day.

A great change has been made in the appearance of Company K in parade. The boys are beginning to feel almost like veterans and keep remarkably fine allignment. Their work was so satisfactory that Col. Gillmore complimented them.

The plunge in the surf is one of the daily pleasures which the Plainfielders are enjoying thoroughly. Hardly a man misses this daily bath in the ocean. The State furnishes excellent bathing suits which can be obtained on application.

The daily routine differs but very little each day. The service calls for today are as follows:

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL OF GEO. B. TITSWORTH

Many Were Present to Honor the Memory of the Man They Knew So Well.

IT WAS HELD YESTERDAY.

CONDUCTED BY REV. A. E. MAIN AND REV. WM. A. RICE.

Three Selections By a Quartette—Both Clergymen Spoke Words of Comfort—Beautiful Floral Tributes Given.

The funeral services of the late George B. Titsworth were held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the home, 415 West Seventh street. There was a very large gathering of friends, including many from the Potter Press Works, where he was superintendent. It was indeed a sad household, all being bound with that feeling of sorrow which comes at the death of one who is not only loved but esteemed by all.

The casket bearing the remains rested in the parlor and surrounding it was a profusion of the season's choicest and fairest flowers. There were many large wreaths of galax leaves and roses, coming from relatives and friends. There was a pillow from the class of '79 of the High School, bearing the inscription "Our Classmate, '79." A broken column was from the employes at the Potter Press Works, while there were many other beautiful tokens of esteem. At either end of the casket was a large crayon portrait of Mr. Titsworth's wife and her sister, and they were draped with smilax.

A quartette composed of Miss Minnie Williams, Mrs. Frank Clawson, Elmer E. Runyon and Sydney R. Titsworth sang effectively "Hark, Hark My Soul," after which Rev. Arthur E. Main, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, took charge of the service. He read at some length appropriate Scripture selections, all bearing out the thought of looking to God and placing one's faith in Him in times of trouble. After the reading of Scripture Mr. Main spoke concerning the life here and beyond. He said that life and death was a deep mystery and he would not attempt to explain it. "These problems must remain unraveled and I shall not try to solve the mystery," said the speaker.

"Let us hear today the solemn words 'Be still and know that I am God.' In the first place God is revealed as a God of redemption. The Spirit of prophecy says that 'He bore our sorrows and with His stripes we are healed.' Secondly, He is a God of eternity. The light affliction which we endure for short time is working for us a far more exceeding weight of glory. Thirdly, He is a God of pity, and He loves those who fear Him. We shall need His love as we journey through life. In the next place, He is a God of comfort. It is a comfort to go to the motherly arms of the Eternal God when wounded and weary of life.

"Again, He is a God of purpose. The first great sorrow that came into my life led me to cling to those words 'All things work together for good to them that love Him.' Then He is a God of glory yet to be revealed. 'For I reckon that the suffering of the present time is not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed to those who love Him.' There have been many experiences in this oft-afflicted home which are like sounds of discord, but wait until the Spirit changes earth's ear to Heaven's. Then these sounds so discordant, because of imperfect hearing, shall come to us in full rich tones. Then shall ye know that the present suffering now experienced are not to be compared with the glory beyond and that all things are working for good."

Following Mr. Main's words the quartette sang "Beyond the Smiling and the Weeping." Rev. William A. Rice, pastor of the Congregational church, at Newark, who married Mr. Titsworth at Syracuse, made a few remarks which found a response in the hearts of all. Mr. Rice referred affectionately to Mr. Titsworth and described his tragic death as due to acute melancholia, the result of long grief, which was followed by temporary aberration. Death in this way, the speaker said, presented no new problem. In part, Mr. Rice continued as follows:

"God is still in nature, not out of it. Any infraction of the laws of God or nature causes disorder. These laws are wise and good and the paramount question today is to have faith in God. One is sure to err in explaining the providences of God, the attitude of the soul is that of trust and patience. 'Let not your heart be troubled,' said the Lord to His disciples. Earth is a period of childhood. We sorrow not as those without hope. Our sure hope rests on the immutable foundation of God. The time will come when all tears shall be dried and there shall be no more heartaches.

"There is a law in nature as well as in the spiritual and physical life. There is no pleasure to God in the destruction of a life or anything that belongs to Him. A handsome maple tree that for years shaded the window, where an invalid woman sat, was destroyed this morning by the storm. It was broken off just below the lowest branch, and there it stands like a broken shaft. Today we stand beside one who has fallen in the midst of strength. The good that tree did is not wiped out, and so with our brother. Not a sparrow falls without the knowledge of our Heavenly Father, and this constant care and protection is impressed more and more as we pass through life."

After the quartette sang "Oh Paradise," Mr. Main closed the service with an impressive and heartfelt prayer. He then read a simple announcement to the effect that it was to be regretted that the casket would not be opened, but those present would no doubt prefer to remember George as he was in his various walks in life. Following the benediction the service closed and the interment took place in the family plot in Hillside cemetery.

Those who acted as pallbearers, being selected before death by the deceased, were Arthur L. Titsworth and Joseph M. Titsworth, brothers; John Titsworth, David E. Titsworth, Chas. H. Dunham and William Mosher.

FOUND LIFELESS BODY.

Man In Bicycle Suit Discovered In Passaic River Near Millington.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Millington, August 1—The body of a stange man, apparently about forty years of age, was found in the Passaic river at this place near the Acme harrow factory, Monday morning. From all appearances the body had been in water several days for it was badly disfigured and in some places the flesh was almost entirely gone. The body was attired in a bicycle suit, but there was not the slightest mark of identification to be found. When the body was found it was held fast by some driftwood.

There is a supposition that the man may have fallen off the D. L. & W. R. R. tressle near the river. The authorities were notified and the body removed to Morristown, where it has been held for identification.

Residence For G. H. Fountain.

Architect F. L. Lancaster has just completed the drawing of plans for a handsome residence for George H. Fountain, of Grant avenue. It will cost in the neighborhood of $6,000 when completed and will be erected on West Seventh street, between Monroe and Grant avenues. It will be fitted throughout with all modern improvements. Excavating for the cellar has already commenced.

Odd Ladies Entertained.

Twenty-five members of Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., went to Cranford last evening, where they spent the evening in a delightful manner at the home of Mrs. Herman. Music and games made several hours pass very quickly and at the close refreshments were served. The return home was made shortly before midnight.

Funeral Of a Child.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon over the remains of Frank E., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Keiderling, from the residence of the latter's mother, Mrs. Drake, of Richmond street. Elder B. W. Hand officiated. At the close of the service the remains were taken to Somerville for interment.

Work to be Done.

Notwithstanding the fact that Vice Chancellor Stevens has confirmed the sale of the town of Lincoln, there yet remains much work to be performed by the receiver, J. P. Northrop, before the affairs are eventually settled.

Going to Fresh Air Camp.

The Endeavor Society of the Crescent Avenue church will attend the meeting this evening at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp. They will take the 7:15 o'clock trolley from North and Watchung avenues.

Sales in Woodland Park.

During the past few days considerable property in Woodland Park has been sold to out of town people, who, it is expected, will erect handsome dwellings thereon.

Will Get a Band.

There is some talk of Warren Engine Company engaging one of the State Militia bands for the firemen's parade to be held in October.

OVER TWELVE HUNDRED OFF FOR THE SHORE.

Methodists Have the Most Perfect Day Given to Any of the Local Excursions.

TWO SECTIONS OF THEM.

FOUR M. E. CHURCHES OF THIS CITY AND DUNELLEN WENT.

The Two Trains Were Composed of Twenty Cars in All—Thirteen From Children's Home Were of the Party.

By far the most perfect day which has attended any excursion leaving Plainfield this season fell to the lot of the Methodist Sunday-schools this morning when pupils and friends started for the annual visit to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove. Not a cloud in the sky, a delightfully invigorating breeze, which betokened coolness and comfort at the shore, and the thermometer hanging about a point in the vicinity of the eighties. Those are the factors which were the primary causes of one of the greatest outpourings of local Methodists in several years.

There were at least 1,200 of them and they came from the First, Grace, Monroe Avenue and Dunellen M. E. churches. Twenty cars, in sections of ten each, were required for their transportation to the Twin Cities, and every car was filled, although there was no overcrowding.

Among the scores of expectant, childish faces, which impatiently awaited the coming of the train, were noticed thirteen in a group who seemed more eager, if possible, than the rest. They belonged to thirteen little tots from the Children's Home, who with a matron were going on one of the few days of recreation which they have during the year.

The usual scenes of bustle and excitement about the south depot attended the leavetaking. If anything, the excitement was greater than ordinary. In the scramble for favored seats several pocketbooks were dropped and the owners were all but in hysterics until they were recovered. Then, of course, the inevitable belated individuals arrived in time to see the last car gliding over the Watchung avenue bridge. But despite the crowd, there were no accidents of any kind.

The excursionists will enjoy themselves with the multitudinous attractions at the Park and will start for home this evening at 6 o'clock. They will arrive in this city two hours later.

MUST BE MUZZLED.

Chief Kiely Decides That Dog Ordinance Must be Obeyed.

Despite several warnings sent out by the police, owners of dogs have been allowing their canines to run unmuzzled about the streets. As the months of August and September are the ones in which dogs are affected most by rabies, Chief Kiely will shortly commence active operations to abate the nuisance. Hereafter all owners will be notified when their dogs are found running about without a muzzle. If the offense continues, the owner will be arrested and subsequently fined.

Street Signs Arrived.

The long-looked street signs for the Borough of North Plainfield have arrived and are now at Borough Clerk Frank Rowley's drug store. H. C. VanEmburgh, one of the borough engineers, has examined every sign and found them all correct. They will be placed in position at the earliest possible time.

In Memory Of Mr. Titsworth.

Respecting the memory of its late superintendent, George B. Titsworth, every department of the Potter Press Works closed down yesterday afternoon. A majority of the employes attended the funeral services.

Take a Day Off.

Don't work yourself to death. Take a day off and go with the Trinity Reformed church and Sunday-school to Asbury Park Thursday, August 8. You will never regret it.

Rebuilding Chimneys.

Two of the chimneys at the old Rink building on Wytchung avenue are being taken down from the outside of the wall and will be replaced on the inside.

Literary Entertainment.

There will be a literary entertainment given at Bethel chapel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanName, of Madison avenue, will leave next week for New York State. They will visit Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo before they return home.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

"Florodora," the remarkable musical comedy that has filled the New York Casino nightly and every Wednesday and Saturday afternoons for nearly ten months, still continues as the attraction at this popular playhouse, and the patronage bestowed upon this tuneful piece is in no way affected by the warm weather. True, the theatre where it holds forth is probably the coolest place of amusement in the city, and this may account in a great measure for the uninterrupted success of the piece during the regular closed season of the theatres. Be this as it may, "Florodora" is enjoying a patronage in the heart of summer that many a smart mid-winter attraction would be proud of. The three hundredth presentation will be celebrated this evening.

IS THIS SO?

Plainfield People Can Decide.

You would not accept the word of an utter stranger as readily as that of a person whom you know. The following statement is made by a citizen, perhaps a neighbor. Read it:

Mrs. M. A. Hall, of 219 Prescott place, says: "For several years I have had a dull aching pain across my back, at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position all night and stooping, lifting or bending forward aggravated the pains. A kidney weakness which was very distressing and inconvenient also existed, and though I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared."

THE GREAT LAND LOTTERY.

Eight Thousand and Seven Hundred Names Drawn From the Wheels.

EL RENO, Aug. 1.—Two thousand one hundred names were drawn from each wheel in the great United States land lottery yesterday, making the grand total 8,700. The list of prize winners will be completed today. The drawing of numbers will continue until about 10,000 names for each district shall be drawn from the wheels, making a total of 20,000 names. As there are about 13,500 claims in the new country, the drawing of 20,000 names will go beyond the point where persons above 13,500 can get land. The remaining envelopes will draw blanks, but as the commission desires to impress the public with the fairness and honesty of the drawing every one of the 165,000 envelopes will be drawn.

When the names entitled to homesteads have been exhausted, the work to follow will be merely perfunctory and will be done as rapidly as possible in some building. Each person who registered at El Reno or Lawton will receive a postal card showing the number of his identification card as it came from the wheel.

The commissioners of the drawing are notifying by postal card each person who draws a number. The card also gives the date upon which the recipient must appear at the office of his respective land district and file his entry. The date upon which a man must appear is easily determined. In each land district 125 persons will be permitted to file daily. Those holding numbers 1 to 125 must file Aug. 6, 126 to 250 Aug. 7, continuing in this manner until all the homesteads in each land district shall be filed upon.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Fourteen conspirators against the sultan of Turkey were exiled.

The British antarctic ship Discovery left the Thames for the Solent.

The Midway at the Pan-American exposition is to be closed Sundays.

Vice President Roosevelt stopped in Chicago en route to Colorado Springs.

A treaty with Denmark is said to be under way in Washington for the purchase of the Danish West Indies.

Albanians were said to be in desperate straits because of Turkish outrages. Foreign ministers protested to Turkey.

Canadian Yachts Won.

BUFFALO, Aug. 1.—Canadian yachts again carried off the honors in the regatta under the auspices of the Buffalo Yacht club. The proposed course was twice around a triangle with three mile legs, but owing to the high wind the judges shortened it to once around, making a distance of nine miles. The wind rose to 30 miles an hour after the boats got under way, and there was a tremendous sea running. The curiously modeled craft, the Canadian, could not stand the heavy weather and withdrew. The Beaver, on the other hand, proved herself to be a good boat in a heavy sea.

Grand Circuit Races.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Perfect weather and the largest crowd of the week greeted the grand circuit performers at the Driving park yesterday afternoon. The rain had put the track in excellent condition, and all three heat winners in the 2:09 pace broke their records, as did Onward Silver, winner of the 2:12 trot. The racing was by far the best of the meeting, and thousands of dollars went into the pool box. The first race, the 2:09 pace, went to Stacker Tayler, who gave one of the gamest exhibitions ever seen at the track.

Constitution Out of Commission.

BRISTOL, R. I., Aug. 1.—The Constitution is now temporarily out of commission, being practically dismantled. Nearly all the rigging has been taken down. The mainmast is still on end, with the topmast housed inside. The crew has carried ashore the fittings and sails. Similar to the conditions prevailing when the Constitution's mast was carried away some weeks ago, the crew have little to do at the present, and a number of them left here to visit their homes for a few days.

Well Known In Paterson.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 1.—Galliotti, arrested in Viedikon in connection with the attempted assassination of Dowager Queen Maria Pia of Portugal, is well known in Paterson. He is believed to be Amiel Galliotti, an intimate friend of Bresci, the slayer of King Humbert of Italy.

Southern Italy Shaken.

ROME, Aug. 1.—Earthquakes were general yesterday throughout southern Italy. The strongest shocks occurred at Avezzano and Portici.

STRIKE NOT SETTLED

Second Day's Conference at Pittsburg Without Result.

ALL NEGOTIATIONS KEPT SECRET.

Reporters Excluded, and What Was Done at the Several Sessions Is Only Guesswork—Another Meeting Today.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 1.—"Hope deferred maketh the heart sick." This is expressive of the feelings of the majority of Pittsburgers outside of the inner circle of the Amalgamated association executive board who have been considering the proposals for a settlement of the steel strike for two days without agreement. How the members of the board feel is known to no man on the outside.

The second day of the executive board's deliberations was notable for the many rumors in circulation and for the conspicuous dearth of results. The absence of three of the principal members of the board from the sessions gave rise to the story that the members were divided in their ideas of the peace proposals and that in order to satisfy all Secretary Williams had been sent to New York to seek modifications at the hands of Messrs. Morgan and Schwab, while Assistant Secretary Tighe and Trustee Morgan had received a commission to visit Senator Hanna to secure his aid in bringing about an amicable arrangement.

Nothing tangible could be learned concerning these supposed trips, however, and all talk in relation to them must remain merely conjecture until the return of these members and their lips are unsealed.

Newspaper men, in their endeavor to get news concerning the progress of the conference, spent a weary day on the sidewalks around the headquarters, orders having been issued that reporters should not be admitted to the building during the sessions of the board.

The condition of affairs may be summed up in this paragraph:

The steel workers' strike against the United States Steel corporation is still unsettled. The status of the contest is unchanged. The men are fighting for every advantage, while the companies involved are strengthening their positions as much as possible. The conference of the members of the general executive board of the Amalgamated association, which was expected to settle the trouble one way or the other, adjourned at 6 o'clock last night without accomplishing its purpose.

Maryland Democrats.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1.—The Democratic state convention which will meet at Ford's Opera House, this city, at noon today promises to be thoroughly harmonious. In the primaries just closed no bitterness has been developed except in Montgomery county, where the friends of Senator Bouic are sore over his defeat by Spencer Jones, the administration candidate. The delegates to the coming convention, with unusually few exceptions, are strict organization men, and there will be no kicking over the traces. The only nominations to be made are the candidates for comptroller and clerk of the court of appeals. At this time there seems no reason to doubt that Dr. Joshua W. Hering will be renominated for comptroller and J. Frank Turner will get the other place on the ticket.

Bombarding the Heavens For Rain.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 1.—Four miles northeast of this city last night 24 mortars posted on a 20 acre tract were being fired at minute intervals in the hope that the result would be a downfall of rain. W. F. Wright, former deputy state food commissioner, was the promoter and manager of the enterprise. Mr. Wright is the originator of the "special vibration" theory of rainmaking and for several years has unsuccessfully espoused a government appropriation to put his theory into practice. Mr. Wright says he will continue the bombardment until rain comes or until he shall have exhausted his supply of several thousand pounds of gunpowder.

British Trade Supplanted.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Standard, in the course of a long review of Great Britain's diminishing trade in Turkey, says the United States is throwing in large quantities of machinery and leather, while Germany, Italy and even Spain are replacing British goods. He calls upon British merchants to show larger enterprise.

Woman Fatally Burned.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 1.—Miss Annette Byrne, aged 28, died at St. Mary's hospital from the effects of burns received by contact with a lighted gas stove at her residence, 198 Brown street. Just how the young woman's dress was set afire is not known, as she was alone in the kitchen preparing a lunch over a gas stove.

Girl Smugglers Arrested.

ROME, Aug. 1.—The frequent walks across the Swiss-Italian frontier of girls of a seminary near Maslianco aroused the suspicions of the customs officers, who finally stopped a procession of 40, walking two by two, and ascertained that each girl was smuggling cigars or cigarettes of the aggregate value of $30,000.

Anthrax In New York Herds.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Dr. R. H. Ambler, state veterinary, who has been investigating a strange disease which has caused death to many cows in this section, pronounces the trouble to be anthrax. He has begun vigorous measures to stamp out the disease. Several farmers lost whole herds.

Demands Pay For Husband's Death.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Mme. Rita L. de Ruiz, widow of the American dentist who was killed by the Spanish authorities in Cuba just before the outbreak of the Spanish war, has filed before the Spanish claims commission a claim for $75,000 damages by reason of her husband's death.

Poisoned by Toadstools.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 1.—Mrs. Felix Mathias and her two children, aged 15 and 5 years, died at their home on Howards Lick mountain, near Moorefield, W. Va., from eating toadstools which the dead woman had gathered and prepared under the impression that they were mushrooms.

Weather Probabilities.

VENEZUELA INVADED

Marshal Law Declared by President Castro.

REVOLUTIONISTS FROM COLOMBIA.

A Colon Dispatch Tells of the Sacking of Three Towns and the Seizing of Public Officials.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—A cable dispatch from William W. Russell, secretary of the United States legation at Caracas, to the department of state announces that the president of Venezuela has declared martial law on account of the invasion of Venezuela by a revolutionary force from Colombia. He also reports that an army of 10,000 Venezuelans is said to be prepared to meet the invaders.

The department of state is unable to explain from the advices received whether the invading force is composed of Venezuelan insurgents or is a part of the Colombian army making a demonstration against Venezuelans. It is considered more likely, however, that they are Venezuelans who have used Colombian territory in which to organize and get ready for an insurrection in Venezuela.

A dispatch from Colon says that on Friday night revolutionists attacked the towns of Bohio, Gatun and Paraiso. They took the officers of the town prisoners and seized the public funds. The revolutionists also killed a woman and sacked the Chinese stores.

Up to the hour when the department closed yesterday the state department had not called on the navy department for a ship to go into Venezuelan waters. In view of the serious condition of affairs there and the unsettled condition in the neighboring republic of Colombia it is not improbable that an American warship will be sent to the scene of trouble for the protection of American interests. If a ship is called for, some difficulty might be experienced in finding a suitable vessel for the mission. About the only ship available at this time is the small gunboat Machias, fitting at the Boston navy yard. That vessel, however, would not be ready to sail for about two weeks. There is not a single American warship in southern waters. In case of extreme urgency one of the battleships now in commission of course could be sent.

Venezuelan Revolution Ended?

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Senor Pulido, the Venezuelan charge here, has received a message from Gonzalez Esteves, the Venezuelan consul general at New York, stating that the revolutionary movement headed by Dr. Rangel Gardiras has completely collapsed.

French Globe Trotter Delayed.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—Gustave Steigler, who has been traveling around the globe under the patronage of the Matin, was expected to arrive here yesterday on his return, and a considerable crowd gathered during the afternoon at the Northern station and again at 11 last night awaiting his arrival. A special waiting room had been profusely decorated with the tricolor and palms, and this was reserved for the reception. Steigler, however, in consequence of the White Star liner Oceanic from New York being three hours late at Liverpool, missed the train for London he had planned to catch. He telegraphed that he would arrive in Paris early today, traveling by the night mail, but the Matin wired him to leave London this morning and to arrive here at 4:45 p. m., so that an elaborate daylight reception might be arranged. The journey will thus have been accomplished by Steigler in 64 days and 4 hours.

Inspects New York Institutions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Governor Odell, who has been for some days on an inspection of state institutions, reached the West Shore railroad depot at Weehawken at noon yesterday and with his party was taken on board the tug Governor Flower, on which was Health Officer Doty of this port. The party first visited Randall's island and afterward proceeded to the quarantine station, which they reached at 3 p. m. The quarantine plant, including the disinfecting steamer James W. Wadsworth and the laboratory, was inspected. The governor was pleased with the splendid condition of the buildings and grounds of the department. At 4:30 p. m. the party again boarded the Governor Flower and went down the bay for the purpose of inspecting Hoffman and Swinburne islands.

Glass Men's Conference.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 1.—The wage question occupied the attention of the conferees yesterday and was finally decided in favor of the manufacturers. The existing system of payment of wages will not be changed. President Hayes of the Glass Blowers' union was a strong advocate of a new system, his argument being that if the men were paid in full semi-monthly they could invest their extra earnings to better advantage than by leaving their money in the hands of the employers. The manufacturers' committee was not willing to grant the demand of the blowers, and the latter finally agreed to make no further effort to alter the wage system at this time.

Respite For Condemned Murderer.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 1.—Because a gray haired father is on his way to this country to give his son his dying blessing Governor Stone has granted a respite to Vassel Nicholaw, alias Vaso Lekic, a young Russian who killed one of his fellow workingmen in Westmoreland county some months ago. Nicholaw was to have been hanged Aug. 8, and the respite postponed the date to Sept. 26. The governor's action was taken at the request of Gregory de Wollant, Russian charge d'affaires at Washington, who wrote asking for a respite for Nicholaw.

Old Controversy Settled.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The long standing controversy over the amount to be paid the contractors who changed the Mare Island drydock from timber to stone has been adjusted at last by the acceptance on the part of the contractors of about $13,000 less than the board which examined the matter recommended as due them. The total cost of the change made in the dock as now adjusted is $1,153,000.

Paterson Anarchist Caught.

ZURICH, Switzerland, Aug. 1.—An anarchist of the name of Galliotti was arrested at Veidikon Tuesday night. The authorities had received information about him from Paterson, N. J.

MANY MEN IDLE.

No Signs of Settlement of San Francisco's Dock Strike.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—There are no signs of a speedy settlement of the great strike on the docks ordered by the City Front federation. Employers predict its ultimate collapse, although they admit that the struggle may be prolonged. The labor leaders express confidence of victory and say that, if necessary, the strike will be extended to include every port on the Pacific coast. The resolution calling out the members of the federation has already been extended so as to cover the entire bay of San Francisco.

The marine firemen will call out their full membership of 1,300, with the exception of those employed on towboats. The sand teamsters have gone out in sympathy with the teamsters. This involves directly 530 members of this union and indirectly affects 5,000 in the building trades whose supplies will be cut off and who of necessity will be thrown out of work when they run short of brick, sand, cement, rock and gravel.

The strike of the packers has forced the American Can company to close down, throwing 400 persons out of employment. Canneries which are dependent upon it for supplies of cans employ 5,000 men, women and children, and unless the factory can resume within a few days all will be thrown out of employment.

Arrangements have been made by the Shipowners' association to meet the strike of the sailors, marine firemen and longshoremen's unions. Nonunion men are to be employed if possible and an effort made to handle the freight at the wharfs.

The police commissioners have granted about 100 permits to nonunion men to carry concealed weapons for the purpose of self defense.

Seattle Threatened With a Strike.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 1.—According to a widespread rumor in organized labor circles, a general strike of all unions which will be as fatal to business in this city as in San Francisco is imminent in Seattle. It is stated on good authority that the proposition is considered earnestly that all workingmen belonging to labor unions shall walk out simultaneously in sympathy with the Machinists' union. The reason given by the men is that the members of the Metal Trades' association have declared they will not allow their former employees to return to their work on any kind of a reasonable basis.

MANILA CHARTER PASSED.

Many Amendments Made to the Original Draft.

MANILA, Aug. 1.—The Manila charter was passed by the Philippine commission yesterday. As a result of the public discussion many amendments were made to the original draft. The most important change was that in regard to the property tax, which as originally proposed was to be 2 per cent. As finally passed the tax is fixed at 1 per cent for the present year, 1½ per cent for next year and 2 per cent for all succeeding years. Other taxes, except in cases of delinquents, are repealed. The charter will go into operation by proclamation of Governor Taft within a month. The commission will take up the personnel bill today and tomorrow will finish the new code.

Captain Davis of the Twelfth infantry has been appointed assistant chief of the constabulary.

A commission from the Chinese legation at Washington has arrived here to investigate extensive charges of "squeezing," brought about by differences between the Cantonese and Fukienese. One accusation is that the Chinese consul here, Chen Yi Chiang, who is a Cantonese, paid Li Hung Chang $100,000 for intriguing to force out former Consul Li Yung Yew, who is a Fukienese, from his position here. The latter is now the Chinese consul at Madrid. In order to reimburse himself for this outlay of $100,000 it is charged that Chen Yi Chiang has resorted to "squeezing." Owing to the reticence of the parties interested it is impossible to obtain the specific facts.

Robbers Dynamited Wrong Car.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The Baltimore and Ohio passenger train from the east which was due to arrive in the Grand Central depot, Chicago, at 9 o'clock last night was held up by five masked men at 8 o'clock between Edgemore and Grand Calumet Heights, Ind., 31 miles out from Chicago. One of the mail cars, which contained no money, was dynamited and wrecked. The attempt at robbery was made after the two mail cars had been detached from the train and run a quarter of a mile ahead. The failure of the robbers to make a rich haul was due to the fact that the express car which contained the train's treasure was in an unusual place. It was the third car in the train. After wrecking the mail car and obtaining no booty the robbers disappeared in the darkness without attempting to rectify their mistake. The only loot that they carried away with them as a result of their adventure was the gold watch of the engineer.

Crispi Suffers a Relapse.

NAPLES, Aug. 1.—The bulletin just issued regarding Signor Francesco Crispi announces that he has suffered a relapse and is weaker. His terrible struggle for breath can be heard even in the roadway of the street where his residence stands. The members of his family and his two secretaries surround the deathbed. It is reported that the family have refused priestly offices. The last words pronounced by Signor Crispi were on hearing the telegrams from King Victor Emmanuel and Dowager Queen Margherita, "Oh, good king, good queen!"

Cotton Crop's Bad Showing.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—From a special canvass just finished by The Journal of Commerce it appears that the condition of cotton is 75.3. This represents a decline of 17 points compared with the same paper's special report published on July 1 and compares with a condition of 76 reported by the government for Aug. 1 a year ago. The investigation was made through special correspondents, whose reports cover dates from July 23 to 30, both inclusive, and may be accepted as representing an average date of July 25-6.

Nelson Defeated Stinson.

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 1.—The biggest crowd since the opening saw Nelson defeat Stinson in a 25 mile motor paced race at the Coliseum. Early in the race the rear tire on Stinson's motor burst, putting him back two laps, which was the distance by which he lost the race. The contest was gamely fought, but Stinson could never even head Nelson after the break, though he often attempted it. The time was 39m. 34 3-5s.

A FIERCE STORM.

Many New Jersey Towns Suffer Damage by Wind and Lightning.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Yesterday's wind and rain storm at Newark, N. J., was, according to the weather bureau of that place, the heaviest of the month, three-quarters of an inch falling within 15 minutes. Lightning fired several buildings. The Erie train ran off the track near Riverside because the rails were completely submerged and a washout could not be seen by the engineer. Traffic was delayed several hours. Sewers became choked, and trolley service was badly crippled. Two Polish women were rescued from a house in Boyd street. The water had rushed in and was rising rapidly about them when they were discovered. They were paralyzed with fear.

A truck was blown over in Long street and one of the horses injured. There were three inches of water in the boiler room of the City hospital and the furnace fires threatened. A moment later and the fires would have been extinguished.

A house in Livingstone was totally destroyed and a church in Bloomfield damaged by lightning. The power room in the hat factory of McGill & Crowell, in Orange, was shattered by a bolt, and the building was quickly in a blaze, but was soon extinguished by citizens.

The cupola of the German Presbyterian church in Bloomfield had the slating torn away and scattered. At the same moment the flagpole on the city hall was ripped into splinters, and a number of telephones in the building were burned out. A house in course of construction in Irvington was almost entirely demolished.

Several small houses were blown over in Elizabeth as the result of the storm, but no one was injured. Several yachts in Newark bay were sunk at their moorings, but no one was on board of any of the craft.

The fire department of Hoboken was kept on the run. The lacemaking concern of Frank Farrell, a commercial college, the feed wires to the motors in a mill, Tietjen & Long's drydocks and the box containing the fire alarm switch apparatus of the Friendship Hose company were all more or less damaged by lightning, and one man, name unknown, was knocked senseless by a shock. Business was suspended in many places for a short time on account of the darkness which accompanied the electrical attack.

ELECTORAL BILL ADOPTED.

Cubans Pass the Measure After a Lively Debate.

HAVANA, Aug. 1.—After a lively debate the Cuban constitutional convention adopted the electoral bill submitted by the commission as a whole. Discussion of the various articles will now begin.

Senor Sanguily caused a commotion by protesting against accepting the project on the ground that the convention could not assume the authority therein provided of establishing the new government and settling disputes arising out of the first election, as these matters belonged to the military government.

Senor Diego Tamayo said the order convening the convention provided distinctly that the convention should make arrangements for the turning over of the government. He also argued that it was quite natural for the convention to act as a high court in election cases.

The question, however, was not raised among the delegates as a whole. Several expressed the opinion that the law would not be finally adopted until the return of Governor General Wood. The convention is inclined to change several articles. For instance, the article defining the eligibility of candidates to office will be made to read clearly that Spaniards who did not inscribe shall be placed in the same category as native Cubans.

Prisoner's Attempt to Escape Foiled.

CRANSTON, R. I., Aug. 1.—A desperate attempt to secure his freedom from the state prison was made by Thomas Corcoran, serving a sentence of three years for forgery, when he attempted to kill Overseer O. E. Kemp in one of the shops by striking him over the head with an iron window weight. Overseer Kemp partly evaded the blow and was only stunned for a moment. Corcoran struggled fiercely to obtain the officer's revolver, but the convict was felled by a blow from a blackjack, and the struggle was over. Corcoran said he intended to shoot his way to liberty if he was successful in getting possession of the revolver.

Workman Shut In Burning Mine.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 1.—A special from Cumberland, B. C., says that a fire is raging in mine No. 4. All miners have escaped but Pumpman Nichols, who is cut off in the mine. Desperate attempts are being made to reach Nichols and to locate the fire.

NEW PARTY STARTED

"Progressive Democrats" Organize and Nominate.

LESS THAN A DOZEN AT CHRISTENING

Reporters Who Attended the Columbus Convention Outnumbered the Delegates—Features of the Platform.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—"The Progressive Democratic party" has been organized here. The attendance was so small that many doubted at first whether any attempt would be made to hold a state convention.

The week following the recent Democratic state convention a conference was held at Cleveland protesting against the present Democratic state platform ignoring Bryan, free silver and other issues and in not reaffirming either of the national platforms on which Bryan made his runs for the presidency. At that conference a call was issued for a state convention of "Bryan Democrats" and others opposed to the Democratic and the Republican state platforms to meet here. But less than a dozen men responded to them and attended the christening of the new party.

George A. Groot, who called the conference at Cleveland and presided over it on July 17, was both temporary and permanent chairman and was made chairman of the state committee of the new party. His name was presented for governor, but he said he did not want anything. He was afterward put on the ticket for supreme judge, but he declined to accept it. The convention was held in his room at the Great Southern hotel, and in that small room he made his keynote speech of a half hour in length.

Those who met with Chairman Groot were J. W. Lindsay of Delaware, Dr. Abner L. Davis of Findlay, Bernard Hubart of Toledo, Richard Inglis of Youngstown, R. B. Connell of Columbus, George W. Moore of Greenville and H. M. Huber of New Richmond.

The reporters, who were perched on and about the bed, outnumbered the delegates two to one. A few spectators stood at the open door. The total attendance did not exceed 20, while the forms of a state convention were carried out between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m.

A delegation from the Hocking valley headed by Henry Leonard of Logan and consisting of Hiram Tanning, W. P. Bates, George Guthrie and two gentlemen from New Lexington reported that they had come to the city to attend the convention, and, being unable to find it, they went to the races.

It is doubtful if there ever was more amusement at a convention than in the little gathering here yesterday. Even the promoters of the movement did not disguise their disappointment at the small attendance. They enjoyed the participation by the reporters, who used the chairman's bed in the absence of chairs and who were allowed to take part in the proceedings with suggestions. At the conclusion of the proceedings the reporters, who were in the majority, were given a vote of thanks, and they returned the compliment to the minority.

The assembly hall in the hotel had been engaged for the occasion, but when the hour of 2 o'clock arrived the delegates and reporters took the elevator for Chairman Groot's room, the reporters suggesting "that the Populist conference kept cool on the fire escape and that the convention might be held in the elevator."

Bernard Hubert called the convention to order and at once announced George O. Groot as temporary chairman and Dr. Abner L. Davis as temporary secretary.

The features of the platform were the following:

The laudation of Bryan and the reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform. Planks were also inserted calling for the public ownership of all public utilities, that money of whatever kind shall be issued by the government without the intervention of banks and that the "money trust, the parent of all trusts," shall be destroyed, for "without a money aristocracy there can be no imperialism."

The destruction of all trusts is demanded. Such Democrats as approve a gold standard and who supported McKinley for president are invited henceforth to affiliate with the Republican party.

A full ticket was nominated, headed by Dr. Rudolph Reemling for governor.

Cortes Gets Long Sentence.

DALLAS, Aug. 1.—Gregorio Cortes was convicted and given a sentence of 50 years' imprisonment at Gonzales for murdering Henry Schnable, a member of a posse that was pursuing him during the long and exciting man hunt on the lower Rio Grande several weeks ago. Cortes will now be taken to Karnes county for trial on the charge of murdering Sheriff Morris. After that he is to be tried for the murder of Sheriff Clover of Gonzales.

Will Not Get Warships In Germany.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—The Kleine Journal learns from the Turkish navy department that the minister of marine has decided not to order any more warships or materials in Germany because of the attacks made upon the sultan in the German newspapers and owing to the circulation of a false report that the Turkish cruiser Izmir, at Kiel, had been hypothecated.

Kruger Surely Coming.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—"I am informed on good authority," says the Brussels correspondent of The Daily Mail, "that Mr. Kruger's visit to the United States has been absolutely decided upon. It will take place probably about the middle of September, and he will be accompanied by Messrs. Fischer, Wessels and Wolmarans."

Chinese Court Not to Return.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 1.—The North China Daily News declares that the reactionaries have no intention of allowing the court to return to Peking, that the imperial decrees on this subject are mere blinds and that the Peking officials are leaving for Sianfu.

Bank Adjudged a Bankrupt.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The Leroy Partridge bank of Ovid has been adjudicated a bankrupt. The case has been referred to Referee Charles A. Hawley of Seneca Falls at the request of creditors.

Promotion For German Soldiers.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—Emperor William has ordered that all the German soldiers who were in Peking during the siege are to be promoted to the rank of noncommissioned officers.

Factional Fights.

The Republicans of both Union and Somerset counties appear to be preparing factional fights this fall. It will, in both cases, be merely a continuation of the old troubles which have caused considerable trouble in the ranks of the G. O. P. during the last few years.

While there was a test of strength between the two factions in Union county last year, it is still a disputed question as to which one hold the balance of power this fall. The last important fight was in the reorganization of the Republican county committee when Charles N. Codding, a staunch lieutenant of the Fowler-Voorhees faction, was defeated for reelection as chairman of the committee, and Hamilton F. Kean, a brother of the United States Senator, was elected in his place. The Kean men were in a majority in the committee and won out.

In the present controversy, Governor Voorhees appears to hold the whip hand. Despite the fact that the county committee selected W. Addison Swift as its choice for the place on the county election board, the Governor named his friend, W. C. Carr, who was a marked man by the Keanites on account of the support he had given to Codding in the county committee. The members of the Kean faction are now talking of taking legal action to secure what they consider their rights.

Over in Somerset county, it is now announced that former Clerk of Chancery L. A. Thompson and his lieutenants have selected a man for the shrievalty nomination whom they will support in opposition to Senator Reed's choice. While the latter has not come out for any candidate there is but little doubt but that he will favor Mayor N. B. Smalley if the latter is a candidate.

It was only last fall that the Thompson forces in Somerset county were severely defeated by the friends of Senator Reed. The victors in that fight have been steadily gaining strength, and it would appear as if the Thompson faction was only coming up to be decisively beaten again. The former chancery clerk's friends may have done some hustling, however, and gotten together a strong encugh force to make an exciting contest when the county convention comes around.

Joseph O. Osgood, who has recently been made chief engineer of the Jersey Central Railroad, is no stranger to Plainfield. He has resided here for more than half a score of years and has a host of friends. He is also known to the city officials through his relations as consulting engineer for the improvements at the sewer beds. The Jersey Central has a very efficient man in Mr. Osgood. Mr. Thompson, the retiring chief, is also a Plainfielder, and has been assigned to other work. He, too, is widely known and his excellent services to the company have been recognized.

Vermont has produced a frog story before which the frog of Dock Watch Hollow, who lived in a man's stomach for five years, pales into insignificance. This remarkable Vermont frog is supposed to have been found by a scientist buried in an ice cavern. It gradually but unmistakably showed signs of life and finally gave vent to a real croak. It is declared that the frog must be over two thousand years old in order to have been in the ice in the cavern. That certainly takes the record for frog stories.

It is time to act promptly. There is a chance for Plainfield to secure one of the largest and most important industries in this part of the east, the Ingersoll Sergeant Drill Company. It behooves those who are interested in Plainfield's welfare to be up and doing. With one of its chief officers a resident here, there should be no trouble in getting Plainfield's advantages fairly before the company. If citizens, either as the Board of Trade or as individuals, will make the proper advances, there should be every chance in the world of securing the industry for Plainfield.

If the public drinking fountain on North avenue is such a nuisance, as the adjacent property-owners claim, then it should be removed to some other location. It should not, however, be allowed to remain idle. It was given to the city by the Loyal Temperance Legion for use, and it is the duty of the city officials to see that it is properly taken care of. It should be located somewhere where both man and beast can refresh themselves on these hot summer days.

Only the business man of long experience is able to realize how prone people are to procrastinate, especially in the matter of making purchases, remarks the Philadelphia Record. Their attention must be called again and again to their own obvious needs, and they must be spurred up to buy now what they have resolved but have neglected to buy. One important part of the purpose of advertising is to remind people that they need certain things.

There is a hustling lot of firemen over the brook. Hardly a week passes but they are doing something, putting out a fire or giving a turtle supper. Now they are planning for the greatest firemen's parade ever held in this vicinity.

Pasquale Parrett's first day in the employ of the Plainfield Water Supply Company was an eventful one. A horse came along and stepped on his head. No wonder Pasquale thought he was hurt.

This week of camp life for the boys of Company K is going to be an experience that they will not soon forget. If their letters are to be believed, they are having one of the times of their lifes.

One of the greatest improvements which the new management of the Jersey Central Railroad has made is the immense new shops now under construction at Elizabethport.

Perhaps Governor Voorhees is wise in refusing to talk about the present troubles among the Union county Republicans. In his case, actions have spoken louder than words.

Although the lightning has been causing destruction right and left through New Jersey, Plainfield has so far escaped from any serious visitation.

Another industry for Plainfield is promised in a paint factory which is soon to be built on West Front street.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The strike in the Central Railroad shops has ended. Let us all be glad. Never mind now why it was begun or why it was continued so long, or which side won; just let us all rejoice that the shops are again open, the men are again cheerfully working and earning good wages.—Elizabeth Journal.

The secret service bureau has received several banknotes printed from the original plates used by the State Bank, of New Brunswick, N. J., over fifty years ago. The bank went out of existence about that time, and it was supposed that the steel plates from which its notes were printed had been destroyed. It is believed that these plates have fallen into the hands of persons who have printed from them large quantities of notes, which have been put into circulation from New York to San Francisco. Inasmuch as the notes are not counterfeits of any United States note or obligation, the makers and passers cannot be prosecuted under United States laws, but it is said they can be punished for fraud under the State laws.—Morris County Chronicle.

NEW MARKET

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, August 1—Mrs. H. W. Satterlee died at her home, yesterday morning, after a long illness of two years. She was sixty-three years old and was suffering from acute heart trouble, combined with other complications, and her death had been looked for almost daily, during a number of weeks. Mrs. Satterlee leaves a husband and four children. The two sons are William and Charles Satterlee, and the daughters are Mrs. Charles E. Rogers and Miss Laura Satterlee. She also leaves a sister. She has made her home for a number of years with her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Rogers, and her husband is employed with the Rogers clothing company in the capacity of a tailor. Mrs. Satterlee has been a member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church for many years, and is mourned by a large circle of friends. Rev. L. Livermore will preach the funeral sermon.

The home of Henry V. Dunham is the scene of a reunion of the Dunham family, today. This celebration takes place every year and assumes grand proportions. Guests are expected from Flemington, Bound Brook, New York State and elsewhere.

Mrs. Charles M. Kelly is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doeringer, of Duer street, North Plainfield.

Frederick Wagner, of Philadelphia, spent yesterday at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Runyon.

Miss Pauline Ward has returned home after a visit at the home of Mrs. R. J. Bogardus, of Dunellen.

Thomas Clugham, of Massachusetts, is being entertained at the home of his son, Edward.

Benjamin Carpenter has returned home after a visit with friends in Westfield.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, August 1—The Methodist church lawn party, which was held last night, was largely attended by the friends of the church. Miss May Marsh was in charge of the lemonade stand and attracted many patrons. The candy counters were well looked after by Miss Marion Goodwin, Miss Edith Marsh and Miss Florence Wade. The young men were kept busy selling ice cream.

Miss Coles, of Locust Grove, who went from here on the Asbury Park excursion, was taken ill on the return trip. She came out on the last section, and while at Fanwood, was taken with a fainting spell, and it became necessary to carry her from the train and place her in a cab for the remainder of the journey. Fatigue and heat were instrumental in causing Miss Coles' illness.

William E. Pangborn, who was injured in a trolley accident a number of weeks ago, is slowly improving under the care of his physician, J. A. Coles.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold an interesting meeting this evening. The officers of the council are anxious to see a large attendence.

Arrangements are being made for a baseball game Saturday. It is expected that Bayonne will furnish the opposing material.

Thomas Paff, who has tomatoes ripe in his garden, is rather proud of the fact as he is way ahead of his neighbors.

The rain and wind storm, Tuesday, did considerable damage to the corn which in some places is blown flat.

Mrs. William B. Lee has returned home from a visit with relatives in Rahway.

Mrs. Edward Apgar is entertaining relatives from Plainfield.

Roy Day spent yesterday with friends at Bayonne.

Miss E. Kelly is summering at Asbury Park.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, August 1—The funeral services of Mrs. Mary A. Thorn were held yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John H. Stewart, of West Front street, Plainfield. Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market, preached the funeral sermon to a large number of friends who had gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased. The bearers were John M. Dayton, Fred Holden, Charles E. Kelly and Wm. Farrier. Burial was in the cemetery of the First Baptist church, Plainfield avenue. Mrs. Thorn had been an inmate of the Piscataway Township poorhouse for a number of years, where she had paid for a life right to live. She leaves but one near relative, a daughter, Mrs. Jonn Stewart.

The winner of the prize at the progressive euchre party Tuesday evening was Thomas A. Linabery, who received a handsome cigar ash receiver. The booby prize, a white rabbit, was awarded to Mrs. Lameraux. Those present were Miss Bent, of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert, of Newark, Mr. and Mrs. Bent, of Boston, Miss May Higgins and Charles Higgins, of Bound Brook, Mr. Worth, of Bound Brook, Mrs. Townsend and son, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Lameraux and daughter, of Somerville, and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Linabery and son, of this place.

George Dunham, an aged colored man, died yesterday morning at his home on the Stelton road, in Piscataway. The cause of his death was cancer of the stomach. He was seventy years old and leaves no near relatives. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. H. Cambell. Rev. Frank Fletcher will preach the funeral sermon, and burial will be at Hillside cemetery, Samptown.

LeRoy Randolph, of Easton, has secured the position of baggage master at the Lehigh Valley depot. On account of being an old employe of the company, Mr. Randolph secures the position which others had applied for.

The "Come Again Club" met last evening at the home of Mrs. David Bigley. Vocal music was the feature of the evening. Several solos were also well rendered. Ice cream was served before the guests departed.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The new open cars of the Elizabeth Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, running between Plainfield and Elizabeth, are very popular these warm evenings Thousands of people find a trolley ride a delightful way in which to keep cool and take advantage of these cars accordingly. Every evening crowds flock to these cars and seats are often at a premium. Most of the passengers ride for at least an hour or two.

Although most Plainfielders do not realize it, there are many strangers here this summer. Some of them are visiting at local homes and others have taken temporary quarters for the summer. They are all loud in their praises of this delightful city and declare it an ideal place for a summer residence so near New York. The local shops have felt the results of this increase in trade, for most of the summer residents are good purchasers.

* * * * *

There came very near being a fatality at the home of a Plainfielder the other evening and all because of a case of mistaken identity. The son, a young man who stands over six feet, two inches in his stocking feet and is as broad in comparison, had been away several months and had not met the new boarder. It so happened that the boarder had never heard of the son. It was well after twelve o'clock one night when the door bell rang. None of the family heard it and finally the boarder decided to answer it himself. He is a slight little man but pluck is one of his chief characteristics. He opened the door and in straightway marched a tall powerful young fellow. For a time it looked as if trouble would be brewing quite speedily but explanations finally followed and the son was allowed to go up to his room.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steadman, of Somerset street, have taken up their residence in Newark, where Mr. Steadman is engaged in business.

Councilman B. I. Tolles' family is still at Woodmont, Conn., where they are spending the summer. They will return home the last of August.

Miss Mary Buckle, of Westervelt avenue, who left Tuesday evening for the Pan-American Exposition, will visit Montreal and the Thousand Islands before she returns. She will be away three weeks.

"War in China" at Manhattan at Its Best.

The changes and improvements made in the great Chinese War Spectacle at Manhattan Beach in Pain's Open Air Theatre, have added greatly to its effectiveness as an exhibition. Without any exaggeration the stage in this amphitheatre is the only one in the country where such an exhibition could be placed; but for any other purpose, save where a spectacular display comes in with fireworks to heighten the effect, it is questionable if it is good for anything. For displays such as Pain has been giving for over a score of years it is well suited, and the public recognize that fact by a large majority.

CROP REPORTS IN JERSEY.

GENERAL AVERAGE OF THE CROPS OF THIS STATE WILL BE FAIR.

Plenty of Corn, Wheat and Oats—Apple Crop is a Failure, However.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, August 1.—Franklin Dye, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, says that the general average of the crops in New Jersey is fair and it may mean a big windfall for the New Jersey farmer, in view of the fact that the staple crops of the West will practically amount to nothing, making the prices high in the Eastern States.

In New Jersey the corn crop is going to be fair, while not large, but the prices will be high, because there will be little corn from the west. As a rule, the price of the corn from the large western farm districts has been so low that the New Jersey farmer has never attempted to market it, but he has a chance now to reap a fair harvest of dollars.

The wheat crop will be fairly large and oats are in good condition, considering the weather that has prevailed. The tomatoes will be backward, but there will be a large crop and the contract prices are good, so that the farmers will get considerable income. Potatoes, both white and sweet, are in some danger.

The apple crop is a failure, but that does not materially affect the New Jersey farmer, because only a few take the trouble to market apples. It will make cider scarce, and that was becoming a profitable product, particularly for the manufacture of vinegar.

Admiral Schley's Counsel.

Captain James Parker, of Perth Amboy, a former resident of Plainfield, has been selected by Admiral Schley as his assistant counsel in the preparation of his case for presentation before the board of inquiry. Capt. Parker is well-known by the older residents of Plainfield who believe that Admiral Schley has made an excellent choice in selecting him.

Macadamizing Watchung Avenue.

The work of macadamizing Watchung avenue from Jackson avenue to Coddington avenue, also Coddington avenue, is now well under way. The improvement is a most desirable one and will no doubt be appreciated by everyone living on those thoroughfares. The borough is doing the work.

Didn't Hurt Him Much.

Pasqual Parrette, the Italian who was injured Tuesday by Dr. Knott's horse falling upon him in a water trench, has fully recovered and is again at work. His only injury was a bad abrasion of the forehead. The expenses of a doctor and his examination were paid by Dr. Knott.

Vacations for Carriers.

Letter-carriers Glaentzer and Giese resumed their routes today after enjoying their annual vacation. Those who commenced their vacations today were Carriers Reville, VanWinkle and Bauersach. All three expect to visit out of town places of interest.

Addition To His Store.

John C. Bantle, of Watchung avenue, will shortly commence the erection of a three story brick extension to his present store, from plans drawn by C. L. Lancaster. The new addition will contain one store and two modern flats above.

Small Addition to Building.

Building Inspector Doane yesterday granted to Woolston & Buckle, a permit to place an extension on one of their small buildings on North avenue. It will be of brick and one story in height.

Entertained Informally.

Miss Minnie Smalley, of Somerset street, entertained a few friends last night. Dancing was the feature of the evening, and refreshments were served before the guests departed.

STORY TELLER'S LOST CHANCE

Had a Good Yarn, But Missed a Most Glorious Opportunity to Improve on It.

Dr. Joseph Walsh, of the University of Pennsylvania, saw the Passion Play at Oberammergau, and one evening lately he entertained a party of friends with his impressions of the spectacle, relates the Philadelphia Record. "One day while we were staying there," he said, "my sister and I were standing on a bridge that crossed a stream, when we noticed a picturesque Tyrolean peasant on the bank. He was a big, handsome fellow—as handsome a specimen of physical manhood as I think I have ever seen. He saw that we were watching him, and he returned the compliment by sizing us up, and smiling. My sister was carrying a parasol, and this slipped from her hand and fell into the stream below.

"The big peasant, without a moment's hesitation, waded out into the water, rescued the parasol, and returned it to us. We learned later that he was one of the Passion Play actors, taking the character of St. John. Quite an interesting experience, wasn't it?"

"Oh, I don't know," remarked one of the doctor's friends, whose bump of veneration is not largely developed. "If I had been telling the story I should have made the fellow play the part of St. Peter. In that case he might have simply walked out on the water for the parasol instead of wading in and getting wet."

A RUSSIAN SALT.

Found in Copper Mines and Known in Chemical Parlance as Malachite, Azurite, Etc.

There is a strange kind of salt, which is blue and green and pink and all other colors combined. It is not at all like table salt and is not salt to the taste. It is found in copper mines, and is used to ornament chairs and cabinets and so forth, says the Chicago Chronicle. The largest and finest pieces of this strange substance are taken from the mines of Siberia, and it was the Russians who first found a way of using it. That required a great deal of thought and patience, for the substance cannot be melted and it breaks easily. The only way to prepare it for use is to slice it into thin strips, join the strips together with cement and polish the surface. When this is done it looks like dark pearl, with its wavy lines and changeful color effects.

The chemical name for this substance is carbonate of copper, for it is formed of carbonic acid and copper. However, the green variety is known to dealers in it as malachite, and the blue kind is called azurite. In some of the churches in Russia there are large columns of malachite, which look as solid as marble and far handsomer. In the palace of Versailles, near Paris, there is a room in which the furniture and mantels are made of this same salt. Azurite, because it is more brittle than malachite, is less used.

DIAMONDS AT A DISCOUNT.

Aspirant for Fame Finds That Gems Are Not the Only Requisite of Success on the Stage.

Once there was a merry villager in a solemn opera company who had aspirations to be a whole constellation all by himself, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. She watched the starry firmament very carefully and noticed that every star had plenteous collections of jewelry and so many diamond sunbursts that they got tanned wearing them. She forgot to remember that all the stars had written testimonials to patent medicines, and that the picture of one of them or another went with every bottle of tonic. She thought all were stars who glittered and straightway saved up her salary for ten years and soon had a bureau drawer full of kohinoors. She then applied for a job on the strength of her gem museum. But the manager asked her if her pictures were all over the town recommending a new sort of nutritious puppy biscuit. Then she sadly replied that it was not. He replied: "You won't do. The diamonds are all right, but we can't put them on a billboard." Whereupon he blew cigarette smoke through his nose, which signified that the interview was over.

Moral: A bucket of paste on a billboard is worth two real diamonds in the top drawer of a Louis Seize chiffonier.

"I'll forgive anything but more chatter," said he, with a placid smile, "provided you give me some tea at once. Then I should be glad to know how you all happened to meet here."

"My doing entirely, general. (Frank, another cup—quick.) Cherry came with me to surprise my husband—an easy thing to do—I'm always doing it. We found him here, by your orders, striving to entertain these two charming damsels—the last thing on earth he is capable of doing, however valuable he may be with orders and correspondence. I heard Mr. Prime's story and at once suggested Col. Armstrong. I heard Miss Lawrence exclaim at sight of Billy here, and saw a case of old acquaintance and sent for him forthwith—so easy to say: 'The adjutant general's compliments'—I found that, after all, they had never met, but Miss Lawrence had seen him at the head of some famous student company. I it was who presented him to her, and summoned Capt. Schuyler to meet once more his fellow citizens, the Primes. I it was who ordered lamps, fire and the tea things. I am the good fairy who wrought the transformation. Behold me with my wand!"

She seized Miss Langton's slender umbrella and, waving it over her curly little head, pirouetted again in triumphant gayety.

The general was thoughtfully sipping his tea and studying her as she chattered and danced. When she paused a moment for breath he again held up his hand.

"Col. Armstrong went with Mr. Prime, did he?"

"With every assurance that the prodigal should be produced forthwith and restored to the paternal bosom," declaimed Mrs. Garrison, melodramatically, and would have ranted on, never noting the flush of pain and embarrassment that almost instantly appeared in the faces of Miss Lawrence and her dark-eyed eastern cousin, nor seeing the warning in her husband's eyes; but at the moment the tent flap was thrown back and held open to admit a tall, gray-haired civilian whose silk hat was uplifted as he entered in courteous recognition of the group, despite the distress that was betrayed in the pallor of his face and the instant glance of his dark eyes toward the slender girl, who stepped eagerly forward. Mrs. Garrison, turning quickly, saw, and with swift, agile movement sprang to one side. The general slowly struggled up from his easy chair. Reaching her father's side Miss Prime laid her hand upon his arm, looking fondly and anxiously into his face. A soldierly, middle-aged officer, in dripping forage cap and rain coat, stepped quickly in and lowered the flap.

"Did you find him, father?" was Miss Prime's low-toned, faltering question.

"We found—the soldier referred to; Col. Armstrong has been most kind; but it wasn't your brother at all, my child."

CHAPTER III.

A day had dawned on the Presidio Heights as brilliant as its predecessor had been dismal. A soft south wind had kept the fogs of the Pacific far out to sea and cleared the summer sky of every wisp of vapor. The sun of early August shone hot and strong upon the sandy wastes between the western limits of the division camps and the foamy strand beneath the low bluffs, and beat upon the canvas homes of the rejoicing soldiery, slacking cloth and cordage so that the trim tent lines had become broken and jagged, thereby setting the teeth of "Old Squeers" on edge as he gazed grimly from under the brim of his unsightly felt hat and called for his one faithful henchman, the orderly. Even his adjutant could not condone the regimental commander's objectionable traits, for a crustier old villain of a veteran lived not in the line of the army. "Ould Canker" the troopers had dubbed him during the few years he had served in the cavalry, transplanted from a foot regiment at the time of the reorganization, so-called, of the army in '71; but a few years of mounted duty in Arizona and later in the Sioux country had sickened him of cavalry life and he gladly accepted a chance to transfer back to the infantry. Now, 20 years after, risen by degrees to the grade of lieutenant-colonel, he found himself in command of a famous old regiment of regulars, whose colonel had donned the stars of a general officer of volunteers, and the pet name—save the mark—of cavalry days had given place to the unflattering sobriquet derived from that horror of boyish readers—the ill-favored schoolmaster of Dotheboys hall. He had come to the —teenth with a halo of condemnation from the regiment in which he had served as major and won his baleful name, and "the boys" of his command soon learned to like him even less than those who had dubbed him "Squeers," because, as they explained, there wasn't any privilege or pleasure he would not "do the boys" out of if he possibly could. Gordon had promptly tendered his resignation as regimental adjutant when his beloved colonel left the post to report for duty in the army destined for Cuba, but Lieut.-Col. Canker declined to accept it, and fairly told Gordon that, as he hadn't a friend among the subalterns, there was no one else to take it. Then, too, the colonel himself added a word or two and settled the matter.

A big review had been ordered for the morning. An entire brigade of sturdy volunteers was already forming and marching out by battalions to their regimental parades, the men showing in their easy stride and elastic carriage the effects of two months' hard drill and gradually increasing discipline. The regulars were still out in the park, hidden by the dense foliage and busy with their company drills. The adjutant and clerk were at their papers in the big office tent, and only the sentries, the sick and the special duty men remained about the body of camp. There was no one, said Private Noonan to himself, as he paced the pathway in front of the colonel's tent, after having scrupulously saluted him on his appearance: "No wan fur the ould man to whack at, barrin' it's me," but even Canker could find nothing to "whack at" in this veteran soldier who had served in the ranks since the days of the great war and had borne the messages of such men as Sheridan, Thomas and McPherson when Canker himself was sweating under his knapsack and musket. Like most men, even most objectionable men, Canker had some redeeming features, and that was one of them—he had been a private soldier, and a brave one, too, and was proud of it.

But life had little sunshine in it for one of his warped, ill-conditioned nature. There was a profound conviction in the minds of the company officers that the mere sight of happiness or content in the face of a subordinate was more than enough to set Canker's wits to work to wipe it out. There was no doubt whatever in the minds of the subalterns that the main reason why Squeers was so manifestly "down on" Billy Gray was the almost indestructible expression of good nature, jollity and enthusiasm that had shown in the little fellow's face ever since he joined the regiment. "If we call the old man Squeers we should dub Billy Gray Mark Tapley," said Gordon one day, when the lad had laughed off the effect of an unusually acrimonious rasping over a trivial error in the guard report book. "He's no end kind when a fellow's in a fix," said Gray, in explanation, "and all the time he was soaking me I was thinking how he stood by Jimmy Carson in his scrape"—a serious scrape it was, too, for young Carson, detailed to escort certain prisoners to Alcatraz and intrusted with certain funds to be turned over to the chief quartermaster of the department, had unaccountably fallen into a deep sleep aboard the train and awoke to find both funds and prisoners gone. Explanations were useless. The commanding general would listen to no excuse; a court-martial was ordered, and a very worthy young officer's military career seemed about to close under a cloud, when "Old Canker" threw himself into the breach. He had long suspected the sergeant who had accompanied the party in immediate command of the little guard. He hated the commanding general with all his soul, and how it came about no one could thoroughly explain, but one day Canker turned up with indubitable proof that the sergeant was the thief—that he was bribed to bring about the escape of the prisoners, and that he had drugged the fresh spring water he brought in to the young officer after the burning heat of the desert was left behind in the dead of the summer night. Canker even recovered most of the stolen money, for there was a woman in the case, and she had safely stowed it away. Carson was cleared and Canker triumphant. "See what the man can do when his sense of justice is aroused," said the optimists of the army. "Justice be blowed," answered the cynics. "He never would have raised his finger to help Carson but for the joy of proving the general unjust, and a regimental pet, the sergeant—a thief."

Yet Gray reverted to this episode as explanation of his tolerance of Canker's harshness and thereby gave rise to a rejoinder from the lips of a veteran company commander that many a fellow was destined to recall before the regiment was two months older:

"In order to settle it, somebody's got to find his life or his commission in jeopardy. Maybe it'll be you, Billy, and I'm betting you won't find Squeers a guardian angel."

Yet on this sunshiny summer morning, with hope and sunshine and confidence in his handsome, boyish face, Lieut. Gray came bounding up to the presence of the regimental commander as though that sour-visaged soldier were an indulgent uncle who could not say him nay. A stylish open carriage in which were two remarkably pretty girls and a gray-haired, slender gentleman, had reined up in the street opposite the entrance to the row of officers' tents and Canker had ripped out his watch, with an ugly frown on his forehead, for three of his companies had just marched in from drill, and three of their young lieutenants on the instant of dismissal, had made straight for the vehicle and he half-hoped to find they had lopped off a minute or so of the allotted hour. The sound of merry laughter seemed to grate on his ears. The sight of Gray's beaming face seemed to deepen the gloom in his own. Instinctively he knew the youngster had come to ask a favor and he stood ready to refuse.

"Colonel, I'd like mightily to go over and see that review this morning, sir; and Mr. Prime is good enough to offer me a seat in his carriage. May I go, sir?"

"You can't go anywhere, sir, with the tents of your company in that disgraceful conditions Just look at them, sir! as ragged as a wash line on a windy day." And Canker scowled angrily at the young fellow standing squarely at attention before him.

"I know that, colonel, but the sun did that while we were out at drill, and the men will straighten everything in ten minutes. I'll give the order now, sir." And Billy looked as though refusal were out of the question.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
PARK AVE. AND RAILROAD

As far back as he can remember, Mr. C. Dan. Helm, the New York business artist so widely known in advertising circles, suffered from indigestion. Just how he was cured of this distressing ailment is related below in his own words:

"Nearly three years ago I came to New York from the West to take charge of the art department in a well-known advertising specialist's office. My work was very confining and my digestive troubles increased. Finding my condition similar to his, my partner induced me to try Beecham's Pills, which he was using, but what little good they produced was only temporary. Having made a great many illustrations for advertisements of Ripans Tabules, I was of course interested in them and tried them. I took four or five Tabules, but as I saw no marked result for the better I let the matter drop. A year passed, and one day, in talking with the manager of the Ripans Chemical Co. I told him of my troubles, saying that I had tried four or five Tabules without benefit. He said that I ought not to expect so little medicine to immediately cure a trouble of six or seven years' standing, and that I had not given the remedy a fair trial. I recognized the justice of these remarks, and began taking two Tabules after each meal. The result was gratifying. To-day I am well, and can eat what I please without distress. I always carry the Tabules with me, and spring them on my dyspeptic friends at every opportunity."

LACK OF LARGE INTERESTS

The Reason Why Women Are More Narrow Minded Than Men.

It was at a summer hotel that I overheard the following conversation:

"And just because I forgot that little thing she cut me dead." The speaker, a pretty, blue eyed girl, was in tears.

The man leaned back and smiled scornfully. "That's just like a woman," he remarked. "So petty, so narrow minded! Now, a man"—

"Oh, you don't think women are more narrow minded than men!" the girl exclaimed warmly. "I don't"—

"You're not," he hastened to explain, "but that is thanks to your training. You have been brought up to fill a place in the world, to do something. You have large interests. In that respect you resemble a man. But the ordinary woman—the women here at the hotel—have nothing of that.

"They do nothing but eat and sleep. Their time hangs heavily on their hands, and they positively don't know how to kill it. Every small event becomes of great importance in their eyes, and it is discussed and rediscussed until it is threadbare. Their lives are made up of trifles. Can you wonder that they are narrow minded? The large hearted, busy woman who goes through life with her mind intent on important things is bound to trip up a score or more of these prejudices and pettinesses which lie, like troublesome footstools, across her path, and if she is so unlucky as to do this all the apologies in the world will not avail her, for these women never can forgive another for taking lightly what they themselves consider of so much importance.

"Then you think"— the girl began.

"I think that women take delight in tormenting and making each other miserable," the man interrupted, "and that if they had more serious objects in life their characters, in this particular at least, would undergo a marked change. All this rot about the natural feminine leaning toward detail is nonsense. It isn't their dispositions; it's the life they lead. Give a man the same life, and he would be just as bad. It's been proved in individual cases."

At this point the man and girl moved away, and I was left to my own reflections.

Women, train yourselves to be broader minded. The narrow mindedness of women is responsible for more harm than their wickedness. Fill your minds with high and noble interests. Pettiness and gossip are crimes, for they break the hearts of others and ruin their faith in human nature. Live and let live; more than that, help to live. Women should make it easier for each other, not harder.

HOT WEATHER BREAKFASTS

Make Them as Light as Possible and Keep Your Health.

Meat is neither the most nourishing food in the world nor the most healthful. Many people make the mistake of thinking so. You hear a mother urging her daughter to eat something strengthening for breakfast—namely, a generous sized steak or chop—when the girl's appetite positively rebels and she would be perfectly satisfied with a glass of milk, a dish of cereal and a little fresh fruit. The latter food would be much better for her, too, especially in this hot weather, when it is positively ruinous to the digestion to begin the day with a heavy meal of meat.

Don't begin the day by overloading your stomach. In hot weather dispense with meat at the breakfast table. You will be better for it all the day. Eat plenty of fresh fruit, cereals, preferably cold; eggs in any style and fish simply prepared. Eggs are more nutritious than meat, and fish is excellent, especially for people with weak digestions. If you will follow this breakfast diet, you will discover several things—that you will not feel the heat nearly so much, that your complexion will be much clearer and less greasy looking, that your spirits will be more cheerful and, last, but not least, that you will have a healthy appetite for your other meals.

DON'T EAT MEAT.

Try it.

QUEEN DRAGA'S PLOT.

Wife of Servia's Profligate Ruler Is Said to Be Scheming to Appropriate the Throne.

Queen Draga of Servia, who is charged with plotting to steal the throne for her sister's infant son, whom she is trying to pass off as her own on young King Alexander, is a wonderfully astute woman, who has defeated the Servian parliament, the powers of Europe and the bitter hatred of the former Queen Natalie in every joust she has had with them. Draga was formerly a maid of Natalie, mother of the young king. Although very much older than he, she won his love and was married to him in spite of the fact that Natalie and

Milan resorted to no end of intrigues to stop him and in spite of the fact that his parliament threatened to revolt. The czar finally consented and the former maid took her place on the throne which her former mistress had occupied. Draga is said to be so unpopular in Servia that she does not like to appear in public. Her influence over young Alexander is all powerful, and thus far she has won in all her contests with the people. Her father was a colonel in the Russian army, ahd through his influences she was given her place at the court of Queen Natalie.

James O'Connell, President and Manager of the International Association of Machinists.

James O'Connell, who directs the actions of the 100,000 American machinists, is the head of the International Association of Machinists, and one of the most successful organizers of labor in America. He was born 43 years ago in Minersville, Pa., and was apprenticed to the trade of machinist at 15. After the Knights of Labor began to decline Mr. O'Connell stirred himself to action in the labor field. He rose rapidly in his union, was elected president in 1892, and has since remained in that office. During his rule the union grew from 4,000 to 55,000, in the United States, Canada and Mexico. Since 1895 he has been a vice president of the American Federation of Labor. As an executive the leader of the machinists is said to be very capable. He has often been used as a mediator between labor and capital and has managed to bring about peaceful settlements in not a few important disputes. The only training he has had in education was that which he received in the public schools of Oil City, Pa., where he spent his boyhood.

Measuring Speed of Insects.

The speed of an insect can be measured by the humming produced by the rapidly moving wings. The note produced varies according to the number of the vibrations per second. When the honey bee hums the note A, his wings are moving 440 times a second, and his speed is several miles a minute.

EDWARD B. MOORE.

New Assistant Commissioner of Patents Has Been in Patent Office for Fifteen Years.

The new assistant commissioner of patents, vice Walter H. Chamberlain, resigned, is Mr. Edward B. Moore, late principal examiner of the thirty-fifth division of the patent office. Mr. Moore was born at Grand Rapids, Mich., and he entered the patent office some 15 years ago and at once set himself resolutely to the task of fitting himself for promotion. Eleven years later he was appointed to the position of principal examiner and later made a chief examiner of the office. Mr. Moore was chosen to represent the patent office at the recent Paris exposition. The office made no formal exhibit on that occasion, but many interesting models were loaned for exhibition purposes. Mr. Moore has had under his supervision the examination of all cases relating to educational appliances, accoutrements, baggage, advertising devices, bundle-carriers, fluid pressure regulators, packing and storing vessels, buckles, buttons and clasps, constituting a very wide range of subjects and involving extended technical knowledge upon his part.

EDWARD B. MOORE.
(Assistant United States Commissioner of Patents.)

Mr. Moore, says the Scientific American, is noted for the justice of his decisions, by which the interests of the inventor and those of the public are equally safeguarded. In his new office Mr. Moore will have an excellent opportunity of again demonstrating his fitness as to the general and technical requirements which are imperatively demanded for the effective performance of the difficult and responsible duties which devolve upon the assistant commissioner of patents.

HAWAIIANS AT OUTS.

Legislature Wants Governor Dole Removed Because He Obstructed the Making of Laws.

It is not believed in Washington that the demand of the Hawaiian legislature for the removal of Gov. Dole will be complied with. The legislature charges the governor with obstructing legislation, while the governor accuses the legislature of accepting bribes.

Gov. Dole has for 30 years been one of the most influential men in Hawaii. He was born in the island 61 years ago of parents who were American missionaries. He graduated from Williams college in 1865, and was admitted to the bar of Massachusetts.

SANFORD B. DOLE.
(Governor of Hawaii Who Is at Outs with His Legislature.)

He practiced law in the islands and was several times elected to the legislature under the monarchy. He was a leader in the reform movement of 1887, the year in which he was chosen supreme court justice.

In 1893 Mr. Dole defied President Cleveland when the latter demanded that Queen Liliuokalani be restored to authority. He was president of the provisional government from 1893 to 1898, when President McKinley appointed him governor upon the annexation of the islands. He was one of the earliest advocates of annexation.

Highwayman with a Bottle.

An innocent-looking young man called on Mrs. Mary Byrnes, in Jersey City, and tried to interest her in a miraculous headache cure. Uncorking a small bottle, he asked her to smell the contents. She did so, and at once became unconscious. When she recovered, the young man was missing, and so was Mrs. Byrnes' gold watch.

Betrayed by His Plunder.

Several articles regularly disappeared from the pockets of overcoats which hung in a London clubhouse, and among them were numerous cigars. An expert detective delicately touched a score or more of cigars with an aniline dye. A day or two later the tinted lips of a club servant exposed the rogue.

HARPING ON HYGEIA ICE.

Our ice business is holding out in great shape. While that horrid old Weather Man kept making hot weather trying to make we mortals miserable we kept freezing ice to make we mortals comfortable. When the thermometer flirted around the Blood-Heat mark ice simply kept "running"—but our ice works kept running too, and we believe Mr. Hot Weather has found in Hygeia Ice his worst foe, and the people of Plainfield have found Hygeia their best and worthy friend.

There's no limit to Hygeia Ice. Order it and you're sure of having ice and the best ice that can be had.

SPORTING.

GOLF.

Mrs. N. P. Rogers is not devoting much time to golf these days. She is getting much pleasure with her automobile and finds riding in this way preferable to making the rounds of a golf course. A little later she will return to golf and make it interesting for competitors.

Despite the warm weather and the fact that many members are out of town, the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course is visited by a goodly number of members most every day. The course is in superb condition and it is one of the coolest places to be found in this vicinity.

T. R. VanBoskerck, one of the active members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, has been playing with the team from the New York Produce Exchange and putting up a strong game. Last Saturday his picture with the other members of the team appeared in the Mail and Express magazine.

Among those who are now regular attendants at the Park Golf Club is Charles C. Wheeler, who is spending the summer with his family at one of the cottages close to the Mountain Park Inn. Mr. Wheeler finds the Park Club course very convenient for a game after his return from New York in the afternoon before he goes up on the mountain to dine.

Although there are comparatively few who have taken advantage of the fact, it is now arranged so that suppers can be served at the Park Golf Club. Of course, due notice has to be given to Mrs. Glover, who is in charge of the club house. She has prepared several delightful little affairs for parties of members and their friends during the past few months.

The weekly play for the President's cup will take place at the Park Golf Club course Saturday afternoon as usual. As a result of last week's play several members were brought up to the front with the possibility of making things lively for the leaders. Senator C A. Reed will probably be out, Saturday, and is likely to make things lively for his opponents. The Senator is now half a point behind the lead, and anything in the way of a place will put him on top again.

Quite a number of Plainfielders are members of the Westfield Golf Club so that they can take advantage of the Sunday playing on that course. Every pleasant Sunday sees a large attendance at that club and some good scores are frequently turned in there. With few exceptions, the best players of the Westfield Club are Plainfielders. One of these exceptions is E. E. Giles, of New York, who is spending the summer at Westfield and spends the greater part of his time on the course. He has turned in some very low cards.

MISS HOWELL IN THE LEAD.

WON WEEK'S COMPETITION FOR THE HOOLEY CUP.

At The Park Golf Club—Leads For Trophy—Three Tied For Second Place.

Miss Saidee Mae Howell is now in the lead for the Hooley cup as a result of this week's competition for that trophy at the links of the Park Golf Club. The competition was held Tuesday and showed a marked improvement in the play of all the young women. While there were only six scores turned in, all but one were under the hundred for the nine holes.

Miss Howell won with a 62 gross, one of the best scores made for the cup this season. Her handicap of 13 gave her a net score of 49. Miss Laura Long, with a handicap of 25, was just a single stroke behind. Miss Daisy Elsberg made a 69 gross, giving her third place in the week's competition. She won out from Miss Mabel Van Deventer by a single stroke.

As a result, Miss Howell now leads in the race for the trophy with six points. Miss Mary Wells is next with four, being tied with Miss Daisy Elsberg and Miss Laura Long.

The standing for the cup is now as follows:

Miss Saidee Mae Howell	6
Miss Mary Wells	4
Miss Daisy Elsberg	4
Miss Laura Long	4
Miss May Shreve	2
Miss Elsie Brokaw	2
Miss Jennings	1
Miss Harriet Shreve	1

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Cherry Diamonds, a recently organized baseball team, has two games open for Labor Day, which it is desirous of filling with teams averaging fifteen years. Address the manager, John Gray, 713 West Third street.

The manager of the women's baseball team has not ceased in his efforts to get a game in this city and has now offered to play a pick-up nine from the West End. It is hardly likely that he will succeed in arranging a a date.

From present indications, the St. Mary team will be accompanied by a large crowd of enthusiastic local rooters when it goes to High Bridge Saturday. The doughty team has been putting up such good ball of late that its followers dislike to miss seeing one game. The start from this city will be made about 2 o'clock.

The exhibition given by Dick Scott, of the Clinton Avenue team, while playing third base for the Hall Signal Works team, Saturday, surprised some of the local rooters. He was the head and body of the Hall basemen and fielders and outside of the battery was the only man on the team who really did any good work. He made a number of catches and several clever base steals which netted his side two runs. But for him the Hall-St Mary game would undoubtedly have been a farce.

While all the members of the local policemen's baseball nine have shown marked improvement in the last few practice games, the progress made by Patrolman Meyers has been almost phenomenal. At a little try held Tuesday he was placed in centre field and the way he picked up grounders or caught flies with either hand, aroused the jealousy and admitted admiration of his fellow bluecoats. He captured nine straight flies without a single muff. It is possible he will be retained in centre field and unless something unforeseen occurs he will open the eyes of the Elizabeth rooters in the coming series.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Dr. C. R. Thiers and Edward Hannigan, of Grove street, spent yesterday at Sewaren fishing. They are reported to have had good luck.

A GREATER SUCCESS.

Second Night Of The Lawn Festival At The Mt. Zion Church.

The second and final night of the lawn festival at the Mount Zion A. M. E. church, last evening, was far more successful than the first. There was a much larger crowd in attendance and the subsequent receipts from all departments were very gratifying. The programme rendered was similar to that of the previous evening, the feature being the selections by the Young Men's Orchestra. The entire affair was in charge of the Young People's Auxiliary.

Contract for Painting School.

Woolston & Buckle, of North avenue, have received the contract to paint the North Plainfield High School on Somerset street, and the work was started this morning.

'TWAS A SIMPLE CEREMONY

THAT WEDDED MISS CLARA L. WOODWARD AND PERCIVAL S. BROWNE.

Both Young People Are From This City—Wedding Took Place at Grace P. E. Church This Morning.

In the presence of two hundred friends and relatives, Miss Clara Louise Woodward, daughter of Mrs. Humphrey A. Bodine, and Percival S. Browne, of this city, were married at 10:30 this morning in Grace P. E church. The ceremony was very simple, being devoid of all ostentation.

Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector of the church, assisted by Rev. W. Montgomery Downey, rector of Holy Cross P E. church, was the officiating clergyman. Miss Woodward was very prettily attired in a traveling gown of gray etamine, trimmed with gray taffeta and white moire. She wore a hat of white lace and straw trimmed with ostrich feathers.

The bride was given away by Humphrey A. Bodine, while her only attendant was the maid of honor, Miss Shirley Eugenia Hannigan, of this city. The latter's gown was of blue etamine, trimmed with peau de soir. Horace A. Woodward, a brother of the bride, was best man and the ushers were Carlos G Gallup, of this city, and Frederick P. McGlynn, of New York.

As the bridal party entered the church and assembled before the chancel, the Lohengrin wedding march was rendered by Mrs. W. A. Freeman and during the course of the ceremony other appropriate selections.

No reception was held at the conclusion of the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Browne leaving at once for their wedding trip, the destination of which is not known. It will be of several weeks' duration. On returning they will reside in this city, in order to be near Mr. Browne's business, which is that of a broker in New York city.

Both bride and groom were the recipients of numerous costly presents, which made a most beautiful array of silverware, cut glass and other handsome articles.

BURGLAR'S VISIT.

H. C. Compton Awaited Him With Loaded Gun But Burglar Didn't Get In.

About midnight Tuesday, Halstead C. Compton, of West Front street, was awakened by someone prowling about his premises. Seizing a gun and going to a window, he was a man stealthily moving about the house, trying the windows on the lower floor, evidently with the intention of gaining entrance. They were all locked, however, and failing to get one open, he climbed the porch to the second story and moved around within a few feet of where Mr. Compton was watching him.

The fellow evidently intended to commit burglary, but he suddenly became frightened and slid from the porch to the ground. He then beat a hasty retreat toward town. Mr. Compton followed him as soon as possible but lost sight of him near Grant avenue. In case the man had gained entrance to the house, it would probably have been his last as Mr. Compton has been greatly annoyed by burglars at times and would not hesitate to adopt extreme measures.

RIVAL TO SILKEN FANS.

Device That Looks Like an Egg Beater, But It Makes a Stunning Draught.

A man without sense of romance has invented and patented a mechanical hand fan and sets it up as a rival of the toy gauze and lace which has been a feminine weapon through untold ages. His fan buzzes and is not beautiful, but it provides a steady draft of cool air, says the New York Sun.

In appearance it is a cross between an egg-beater and a glove-stretcher. It is made of wood and brass, and he asserts that in expert hands it can be made to reach a speed of 8,000 revolutions a minute and will throw a current of air as far as an electric fan of the same size.

It works by compressing in the hand two wooden handles of a glove-stretcher-like arrangement. A ratchet and two small cog wheels at the end of the arms transmit this force to the blades of the fan, which are miniature electric fan blades. Both of these are detachable, so that the fan may be easily carried when not in use.

The inventor says that he has disposed of 4,000 of his hand fans in a few months. He isn't sanguine of its general adoption by the gentler sex, but he thinks that lots of men would use it in hot weather. Sentiment oughtn't to play any part in comfort seeking, he says, but he has to admit that it generally does.

Earned His Sobriquet.

Col. William Frederick Cody is said to have earned the name of "Buffalo Bill" by killing 4,280 buffaloes in 18 months (1857-8), having contracted to furnish the Kansas Pacific railroad with all the buffalo meat required to feed the laborers engaged in construction.

Cooks in the British Army.

That the art of cooking ranks high in the estimation of British army officials is shown by the recent granting of $2,500 to the widow of the late chief instructor of the army cooking school at Aldershot, in recognition of the valuable services rendered by her husband.

Inventor of Whist.

The father of the game of whist, Edmond Hoyle, lived to be 97 years old. His treatise on cards has been published in all languages, and probably no work except the Bible has passed through more editions. The original work appeared in London in 1742.

GRANTED NON-SUIT.

How Justice Mattison Settled Case Which Came Before Him.

The contract case of the Union Tire Company against Frederick Meyer and John Pruden, supposed to be the Watchung Kindling Wood Company, for services and materials furnished, was call before Justice Mattison this morning. The plaintiff was represented by Lawyer C. J. McNabb, while S. S. Swackhamer represented the defendant.

After considerable argument on both sides, Justice Mattison granted a non-suit to the defendant on the grounds that Meyer is not a member of the company, but an employe. No other attempt was made to prove who are members of the company.

"WARM" SIDE TO CAMP LIFE FOR COMPANY K.

Soldier Boys Played All Sorts of Pranks After Taps Had Sounded.

ENTERTAINED COMPANY L.

TENT NO. 5 WAS HEADQUARTERS FOR THE MERRYMAKING.

After Company L Returned to Its Own Street, Company K Had a Lively Night of It—Sham Battle Yesterday.

Camp Voorhees, Sea Girt, Aug 2.—Although Tuesday night was quite chilly, it had a "warm" side which was not mentioned in yesterday's Daily Press. In one sense of the word, it was undoubtedly the "warmest" night since Company K has been encamped here and, as a result, the guards will hereafter be kept on duty in the company streets all night.

The boys were kept busy all that morning drilling and in the afternoon, they were down to the rifle range so that the only opportunity they had to bathe was in the evening. Almost every man in camp went down then. Sometime about 9:30 o'clock, when most of the men had returned from their swim, the men of Company L were seated in groups in their street singing good old familiar Princeton songs, while the Company K men were congregating about tent No. 5, which shelters some of the most congenial merry-makers in Captain Browning's flock.

Suddenly Company K's well-trained chorus broke out with, "We want Company L." After this was repeated several times, Company L. replied with, "You shall have Company L." Company L immediately formed fours and marched to tent No. 5 in Company K's street, where the pipe of peace was smoked and refreshments were served. Many cheers and songs were sent up for Company K, and then Sergeant Kitchell and Corporal Clark were called for. Kitchell responded with a recitation and Clark with a song, all joining in the chorus.

This most agreeable gathering was cut short by taps. Company K formed a guard of honor in company front and escorted the members of Company L back to their street. It was a perfect moonlight night, rather warm early in the evening, and the men were not inclined to go to their cots. The first taing on the programme was a blanket toss for a sleepy private, with a rope tied around his leg, so that in case he was tossed too high, he might be pulled back in time for drill next day. Twenty-four in all were initiated.

Those who objected to the sentence passed by officer of the night Robert M. Clark were put under the pump. Eight men came to this fate. Men were pulled from the bunks and made to jump hurdles, recite poetry, go through the manual of arms and many other antics according to the sentence of the presiding officer. The originality of some of the sentences passed made it particularly interesting to those who looked on. At 1:30 o'clock, First Sergeant Peterson was dragged out of a sound sleep. It was thought best not to have a non-commissioned officer give him commands so Private Dorgan was selected to officiate. He was so thoroughly competent that he was forced to continue as commander in chief and today bears the title of "Colonel" Dorgan.

At 3 o'clock, the lark was ended by a foot race in which the entire crowd participated. It began at one end of the company street and went to the other. The commissioned officers and all Company L were kept awake by the noise and now the guard remains on duty in the company street all night instead of leaving the post there at 10 o'clock.

The health of the company continues to improve. The hospital tent is empty and no one reported at hospital call yesterday morning. The boys are in better spirits than they have been since they arrived.

Company K had two extended order drills Tuesday which tired the men pretty well. Today, a sham battle was held with all its exciting details. While the boys were tired out by the unusual exertion, it was much enjoyed and had been looked forward to with much eagerness.

There was a little rain yesterday morning but it soon cleared off and today was a delightful one, quite

CLEARS COMMITTEE.

Auditors' Report Concerning Accounts of Striking Machinists' Relief Fund.

In order to ascertain the truth of the statements recently made, to the effect that members of the strike and picnic committees of the International Association of Machinists had misappropriated strike funds and receipts, the order appointed an auditing committee to go over the accused men's accounts. They have just completed the examination and have made the following statement:

To the Editor of The Daily Press and Those to Whom it May Concern:—After having audited the accounts of the following members of the strike committee, having in charge the recent machinists' strike in this city, we wish to correct or contradict any statement or impression which has directly or indirectly been made reflecting on their honesty: William Comerford, John Casey, Gustav Brandt, John Miles, Thomas Muldowney, John Parks, Chester Dennis, William Fagan, Alexander Muir, Harry Corlees, Frank McCabe and James Busby. David J. Mills, Geo. H. Bedford and Geo. Gray, auditors.

NOAH DOVE INSTALLED.

Senior Warden Perry Given a Handsome Jewel in Remembrance Of Twenty-five Years Of Service.

Noah Dove Encampment, No. 28, I. O. O. F., met last night in Odd Fellow's Hall for the purpose of installing officers. District Deputy Grand Patriarch J. B. Eick and staff did the work.

The officers are: Grand patriarch, A. L. Case; high priest, S. Mantz; senior warden, Joseph Perry; junior warden, Edward Bowman; recording scribe, J. H. Williams; financial scribe, W. Wyckoff; guide, N. Horton; sentinel, J. Kettering; first watch, J. B. Eick; second watch, C. W. DeGraw; third watch, W. C. Smith; fourth watch, G. L. Hamilton; guides to tent, John Beeker and H. Niscuwitz.

A complete surprise was given Senior Warden Perry, when his fellow members presented him with a handsome jewel as a memento of his twenty-five years of continued membership in the order. Grand Patriarch Eick also was the recipient of a handsome collar from the members of his staff.

After the business had all been completed, the members sat down to a collation. A number of speeches were heard and several toasts replied to in a fitting manner.

PREFERRED JAIL.

Had Celebrated Their Release From Employment Under Uncongenial Surroundings.

In an effort to celebrate their release after four months' steady employment at a Plainfield home, James Farley and Harry Brigham enjoyed themselves last evening toying with the cup that cheers. They evidently lingered too long as both were overcome to such an extent that Patrolman Saffron was forced to carry them from East Third street and Watchung avenue to the city jail.

Both men admitted to City Judge Runyon this morning that they were intoxicated, but it was due to their leaving the uncongenial surroundings of the home where they were employed. They stated they would prefer jail to working there again. The court thought they had been punished enough and released them with a warning not to prolong the celebration.

ACTING SUPERINTENDENT.

William R Mosher Named To Succeed C. B Titsworth At Potter Press Works.

William R. Mosher, of New street, who for several years past has been assistant superintendent at the Potter Press Works, was yesterday appointed acting superintendent of the works in the place made vacant by the death of George B. Titsworth.

Mr. Mosher has been employed in the shop for many years, entering its service when a young man. He is thoroughly acquainted with the workings of all departments of the factory and will no doubt fill his new position satisfactorily to both officials and employes.

Improved The Turf.

The recent rains have had a good effect on the new sod placed about the railroad station and grounds. It is now beginning to show signs of much life, and with good care there should be a fine lawn in another year.

Exempt Firemen To Meet.

The Exempt Firemen's Association will hold an important meeting Monday evening, at which several interesting matters will be discussed. A full attendence is required.

HAPPENINGS OF A DAY AT SEA GIRT CAMP

What The Boys Of Company K Do From Early Morning Until Taps Are Sounded.

ROUTINE AT CAMP VOORHEES

WRITER IN JERSEY CITY JOURNAL TELLS OF A DAY AT CAMP.

It's a Revelation To The Unsophisticated Civilian—The Day Is a Busy One But There Is Time For Everything.

Now that the Plainfield boys of Company K are enjoying life at Camp Voorhees and the daily letter to The Daily Press keeps their friends posted as to the happenings there, all Plainfield is interested in the State camp and the life that the members of the militia live where encamped there. A few Plainfielders have visited the camp but most of them have little or no idea of just how the time passes for the citizen soldiers, except what they have learned from the letters of the Press correspondent.

A writer in the Jersey City Journal pictures the life at Camp Voorhees in very clever style and gives some idea as to what is done there and how the boys are kept busy from the break of day until 10 o'clock at night. He says:

"A day in the camp of instruction is a revelation to the unsophisticated civilian. At its close he wonders no longer why young men enlist and a military uniform has a special charm for the feminine eye. There's a time for work and a time for play in a military camp, and both periods are well occupied as a rule.

"In the healthful sea air slumber comes readily after a day of drill or guard duty, and the sunrise gun at 5:30 o'clock seems hardly a reality. Sleep is forgotten, however, while the drums and fifes begin their morning din, and if the mocking 'I can't get them up' of the bugle reveille finds any slothful soldier still in his blanket his tent mates soon rout him out. There is no warm water for the morning wash. Instead the amateur soldier goes to the hydrant at the head of the company street and douses himself with cold water that clears away from his eyes effectually the last remnant of drowsiness.

"There is hardly time for a hasty toilet when he must fall in for roll call, and this is quickly followed by the breakfast call, 'Porky, porky, porky, come and get your swill,' is the way the boys at Camp Alger used to interrupt the mess call. It would be a libel to suggest such a summons to the plentiful breakfast of fried meat, potatoes, bread and coffee the State provides in the camp at Sea Girt. Hospital call comes next, and those who have been injudicious in their play time go to the hospital tent and get quinine and other things from the surgeon.

"There is no time for play now. Company drills come next, and if the captain or lieutenant is in a bad temper it may be an unpleasant hour. Carriage, walk, position and a dozen other things are criticised, and to get ready for the real work of the day there may be a quarter of an hour of calisthenics, or 'setting up' drill.

"While the rest of the regiment is resting the company on detail, selected to guard the camp for the day, is marching out to 'guard mount.' The band takes its station at the right of line, the officer of the guard inspects the men's guns, and then the company marches in review past the captain, who was officer of the day yesterday, and the new officer of the day, and, in command of a sergeant, the first guard detail goes out down the line to relieve the old guard. Two hours on and four hours off is the term of guard duty.

"Battalion drill is called almost before the guard mount is over and the major of each battalion puts his men through whatever exercise may please his fancy for an hour. Then comes recreation until dinner time. Early in the afternoon there is battalion drill in open order and practice in skirmishing is the programme. Charging, retreating, firing and advancing, collecting the dead and injured and a dozen other scenes and incidents that might be met in actual conflict are enacted. A run of a mile at double quick is no pleasant exertion on a hot day when one has to carry a rifle and is choked every few minutes by the smoke of volley firing, but it helps train the soldier.

"In the afternoon there are two hours for pranks, writing home or visiting. Then evening parade. Officers and men must wear full dress uniforms for this ceremony, the most beautiful and impressive of the day. The colonel commanding, with his staff, rides to the further side of the parade ground, facing the men, who in battalions, are drawn up in line of battle or massed, while the band, with the drum major swinging his baton at head, marches down and up the parade ground. This is the parade. While it is in progress the men stand at 'parade rest,' one foot slightly advanced and both hands clasping the rifle barrel, motionless. There must not be a movement in the line. Flies may buzz and mosquitoes may bite, but the hands must not be shifted nor the head moved until the band gets back to its station."

HOME FOR NEWSPAPERMEN.

IS SOON TO BE BUILT AT NEW ORANGE.

How It Came To Be Founded—Will Be Supported By Publication Of a Magazine.

A health recruiting station, where newspaper men may recuperate from nervous strains, which follow the profession, will shortly be established at New Orange. The home will be an innovation in newspaper life. The institution has already been incorporated and no time will be lost in constructing the resort which will be known as the Home for Journalists.

It is not proposed to have the institution answer the purpose of a home for aged, decrepid or broken down members of the profession, but it will be a congenial place for editors, reporters and correspondents to spend a vacation or to rest up after an arduous siege of labor. According to the plan the cost to temporarily reside at the home will be trifling. It is expected that $250,000 will defray the erection of the buildings.

The funds for the construction of the station will be raised by the publication of a proposed magazine which will be entitled Bohemia. The greatest artists, novelists and literateurs have consented to contribute to this magazine. Within two years it is believed that the home will be in operation. At the annual convention of the International League of Press Clubs in 1891, the idea was first suggested. The editors of the Pittsburg, Pa., Press and the San Francisco, Cal., Chronicle were the originators of the scheme. A committee was appointed and it has been industriously at work ever since.

The fulfillment of the idea is due to James S. McCartney, whose name is synonymous with the Philadelphia Record. A recent issue of that wide-awake newspaper tells the story since then in the following language:

"At each annual convention of the International League of Press Clubs thereafter the plan was discussed, and various sites offered in the Virginias, North Carolina, New Jersey and Colorado were inspected, but no satisfactory location could be secured. Then, two years ago, the New Orange Industrial Association came forward with an offer of an eight-acre plot of land in that town, situated on the shores of Lake Wewanna, and about thirteen miles in a direct line from Newspaper Row, in New York. Twenty-five building lots on the main street of New Orange were also donated by the Industrial Association. After the site had been examined by the board of governors of the Journalists' Association, it was decided to hold part of last year's convention there, so that all the delegates might examine the location. This was done, and so well pleased with the place were the delegates that an organization known as the International League of Press Clubs' Benevolent Association was at once formed and all the legal requirements necessary for the transfer of the property were entered into. Thursday's charter was the climax of their work."

Camped On Mountain.

A party of boys, composed of Walter Devine, Joseph Steinberg and Archie Bailey, all of Watchung avenue, started early yesterday morning and camped at the mountain all day. They took with them all the paraphernalia necessary for camp life and enjoyed themselves thoroughly. They are making arrangements to go again shortly with a larger party of boys.

Getting Ready To Start.

A meeting of Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held Wednesday evening for the purpose of allowing all members to sign the obligation book. It was intended to have the new council instituted on August 7, but this has been changed to one week later.

Will Preach For His Brother.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, will occupy the pulpit for his brother, Rev. Lincoln B. Goodrich, at the Gloucester, Mass., Congregational church, Sunday.

FIRST BAND CONCERT TO BE HELD TONIGHT.

All is Ready at the City Park For Rendition of Excellent Programme by Band.

WHAT PROGRAMME WILL BE.

THERE WILL BE A CHANCE FOR ALL TO FINANCIALLY AID THE MOVEMENT.

Band Stand Erected and Lights in Position—The Future of These Concerts Will Depend on Generosity of Crowd.

Everything is now in readiness for the first band concert of the proposed new series to commence in the City Park this evening. Leader Ben LaVere has selected eighteen men for the band, which will render one of the finest programmes yet heard in this city, comprising classical selections and popular medleys. A commodious band stand has been erected, scores of electric lights have been strung for illuminating purposes, and all that is wanting to make the concert a success and probably the completion of the series, is a large, generous crowd.

As has been stated before, Mr. LaVere has received subscriptions enough from philanthropic citizens to pay for this evening's concert. As it will, no doubt, be largely attended, he conceived the idea of leaving the matter of holding similar ones to the generosity of music lovers in the crowd. During the course of the concert several young men with distinguishable caps will pass about those attending and give every one a chance to assist in providing funds for a second musical treat to be held within a week. Any amount no matter how small, but the larger the better, will be acceptable.

Mr. LaVere decided to adopt this method after all other means for securing concert funds had failed. Many persons in the early part of the season complained that they would contribute but for the fact that they were compelled to stand in the streets to hear the music. With the advent of holding them in the Park, it will be much more comfortable in every way and, with all objectionable features removed, these people will feel more like contributing.

It has been found necessary to make an alteration in the original programme intended for this evening, the euphonium solo by Luther LaVere, brother of Ben LaVere, being omitted. In its place, the band will render the overture Stradella, by Flotow, one of the most difficult and entrancing selections in the programme of all leading musical organizations.

The programme in full will be as follows:

PART I.

March—Long Tom.....Laurendeau
Overture—Bohemian Girl.....Balf
(by request.)
Concert Waltz—Southern Roses.....Strauss
Cornet Solo.....The Holy City
Albert C. Sweet.
The Night Alarm.....Reeves
Descriptive.
Medley Overture—Top Liners.....DeWitt
Intermission.
PART II.
March—Mosquito Parade.....Whitney
Overture—Stradella.....Flotow
Evening Star, from Tannhauser.....Wagner
Selection—The Telephone Girl.....Kerker
To C. W. Bunyon and his telephone girls.
March—Cotton Blossoms.....Hall
(comique.)

STEPPED ON NAIL.

Harry Finch Injured While Playing Golf at Garden City, L. I.

Harry Finch, of Park avenue, recently stepped on a nail while playing golf at Garden City, L. I., and the injury is giving him considerable trouble. He did not pay much attention to it at first, but before he finished his game he was obliged to retire from the course. He sought a physician and had the wound cauterized. While no serious results are apprehended, Mr. Finch is troubled not a little with the injury.

Funeral Of a Child.

The funeral services of Russell K., the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Adams, were held from the parent's residence on West Second street yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, was the officiating clergyman. Interment was made in the Baptist cemetery.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes will address the meeting for men at the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. Vocal selections will be rendered by Madame Cortada, of New York.

Furniture Sale to Begin.

Woodhull & Martin's big August furniture sale commences next week. See particulars in Monday's Press.

MORE BIDS EXPECTED.

So Nothing Was Done About Addition To Saengerbund Hall Last Evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the Gesang and Turn Verein was held last evening, at which time it was expected that the bids for building an addition to the hall on Somerset street would be open. Several bids were received at the meeting, but as there are others to come within a few days, those received last evening were not opened. The bids were referred to the building committee, and when the others are received they will take action in the matter. The committee is composed of the following: Charles Felber, chairman; Emil Dembrowskey, secretary; Henry Haurand, William Beiter and Henry Rummel.

There is some talk among the members of holding a picnic on Labor Day, but as yet no definite arrangements have been made for the event. Every department was reported to be in excellent condition financially and otherwise. Aside from the discussion regarding the addition to the building, most of the business was of a routine nature.

TAKEN TO CARLISLE.

Indian, Injured on Railroad, Has Gone to Hospital at Indian School There.

Abram Hill, the Indian, who sustained severe injuries week before last, while trying to jump a coal train near Richmond street, and who has been at the hospital under treatment, was able to leave the institution today.

He has gone to Carlisle, Pa., where he will be admitted to the hospital maintained in connection with the Indian School. Hill came from the Indian reservation in Wisconsin and was on his way back to Carlisle, where he formerly attended school.

As a result of the accident he was obliged to have one arm amputated, while he sustained severe injuries to the other hand and received bruises about the body.

ENGINE OVERTURNED.

Jumped Track on Newark Branch of Jersey Central—Three Men Injured.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, August 2—A switch engine of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, drawing a train of loaded coal cars, jumped the track and was overturned in Brill street yesterday.

Three men were injured. Frank McEvoy, the engineer, and Wm. Miller, the fireman, were cut and bruised. They were taken to St. Michael's Hospital. The engine in leaving the track struck a train on the opposite track, damaging the cars.

Visited Juniors at Bound Brook.

A committee from Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., went to Bound Brook Wednesday evening and visited Pioneer Council at that place. In the course of the visit the officers of Pioneer Council assured the committee that they could count on a large delegation from there to attend the local council's excursion to Asbury Park. It is to be held Thursday, Aug. 15.

Extending Martine Avenue.

A large gang of men is now at work grading an extension of Martine avenue from Hillside avenue to Woodland. It will require nearly a month to complete the work. When completed, it will open up a large tract of land heretofore practically unavailable for residental purposes.

Work on Storm Sewer.

The storm sewer work on Somerset street has progressed as far as Race street. At present there is a small number of men on the work and naturally progress is slow. The trolley cars are more or less troubled on account of the dirt falling on the tracks.

Married Last Night.

Earnest L. Morris, of Plainfield avenue, and Miss Rossie Ross, of Liberty street, were united in marriage last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Dempsey, of West Third street. Rev. E. E. Jackson performed the ceremony.

Is Not Going to Europe.

Lawyer Clarence L. Murphy wishes to deny the rumor that he is about to go to Europe. Mr. Murphy says he has no intention of going but will remain here to look after his legal business.

Repairing Gas Mains.

Employes of the Plainfield Gas Company have been making repairs to the mains at the corner of Front street and Park avenue.

More Lights For Watchung.

Watchung is to have three additional electric lights. The poles have been set and the wires put in position.

Borough Council Tonight.

The regular August meeting of the Borough Council will be held this evening.

W. C. CARR SWORN IN WITHOUT OPPOSITION

His Commission Received By County Board Of Election Which Organized Yesterday.

C. A. SWIFT WAS THERE.

MADE NO EFFORT, HOWEVER, TO OPPOSE SEATING OF MR. CARR.

Said No Action Could Be Taken Until After Organization Of The Board—Acting Mayor Ryan Re-elected President.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 2—No attempt was made yesterday to in any way prevent the swearing in of William C. Carr as a member of the Union County Board of Election. C. Addison Swift, the candidate for the place who was recommended by the county comittee and turned down by Governor Voorhees, was an interested spectator of the proceedings of the board, which met to receive Mr. Carr's commission and then organize.

The members of the board, who, besides Mr. Carr, are Acting Mayor P. J. Ryan, of this city, Ex-County Clerk John L. Crowell, of Rahway, and John W. Murray, Jr., of Plainfield, assembled in the freeholders' room at the court house, shortly after 10 o'clock.

C. Addison Swift was the only spectator, excepting the newspaper reporters. He made no protest. He said there could be no proceedings to unseat Mr. Carr until after the organization of the board. He had not heard anything about the reported intention of Hamilton F. Kean, chairman of the county, to test the legality of the Governor's appointment of Mr. Carr, excepting what had appeared in the public press.

Mr. Swift remained during the proceedings of the board, and was an attentive listener to all that transpired.

Acting Mayor Ryan was also appointed to succeed himself on the board as one of the Democratic representatives. He was sworn, at the same time as Mr. Carr.

As soon as the board was called to order by Clerk Ryno, and Mr. Murray moved to proceed to admit new members and organize, Mr. Carr presented his commission, which he had received from Gov. Voorhees. It is in the usual form, has the big seal of the State attached, and is attested by State Secretary Werts. The term of his service dates from August 1. After the board had received the commission, Mr. Carr courteously, at their request, permitted the reporters to examine it.

Mr. Swift was privileged to look over the commission.

There was some question as to whether the board meeting yesterday was legal. The law says "the county boards of election shall at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on the first Tuesday in August, or on such other day as they may agree on within the first ten days of August in each year," meet for organization.

Mr. Swift was of the opinion that this wording of the act gave the board authority to organize yesterday and the commissioners themselves so agreed after a little talk.

Acting Mayor Ryan was re-elected president of the board, John W. Murray, Jr., of Plainfield, the secretary, and S. Rusling Ryno, clerk.

On motion of Mr. Murray, the clerk was instructed to notify the chairmen of the county committees to send in their list of recommendations for appointments on the local boards on or before August 20.

The board then adjourned until August 21, when the local boards will be confirmed.

Mr. Carr, after the meeting, declined to talk to the newspaper reporters about his appointment.

MUCH HEAT.

But the Firemen Were Unable to Find Any Fire.

A great volume of heat arising from the floor at the home J. B. Drayton, of Martine avenue, last evening, led the family to believe there was a fire in the house. An alarm was sent to fire headquarters and No. 2 hose wagon responded. Assistant Chief Jennings and his men made a thorough search but could find no trace of fire. In their belief the trouble arose from an overheated chimney. Another search will be made today and if necessary a part of the flooring will be torn up to learn the exact cause.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

For its thirteenth consecutive week at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York city, the F. F. Proctor Big Stock Company, under the stage direction of Frederic Bond, will offer Mrs. Musgrove's three act farcical comedy, "Our Flat," preceeded by Alexander H. Laidlow, Jr.'s little curtain raiser, "The Game of Three." The kalatechnoscope, showing animated views of interesting events at home and abroad is retained as a leading feature and the specialists for the week will include Richard Ridgely, baritone soloist; Margaret Lee, soprano, and Curtis and Adams, German comedians, as leaders in the variety section. Dramatic stock companies with vaudeville interludes have become the established policy at the Fifth Avenue and will be continued during the regular season at all of the Proctor theatres. Preparations are under way to re-open the Twenty-third Street Theatre, the Fifty eight Street Theatre and the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre early in September. For the present the policy of reviving light comedies will continue and the summer season of laughter at the Fifth Avenue may be said to be fairly under way. The theatre is always comfortable, the crowds always large and Manager Proctor's enterprise in furnishing New York's only dramatic entertainment is a huge financial and artistic triumph.

A TRIPLE LYNCHING.

Murder of the Taliferros Avenged by a Mob.

CARROLLTON, Miss., Aug. 2.—The murder of Mr. and Mrs. Taliferro culminated last night in the lynching of Betsie McCray, her son, Belfield McCray, and daughter, Ida McCray, all colored.

The mob was composed of about 500 white citizens of Carroll county, who marched to the jail in order, demanded the keys from Jailer Duke, proceeded to the cells of the unfortunate negroes, bound them by the necks and hands and carried them to the corporate limits of the town, where they hanged them to a tree by the public roadside and riddled their bodies with bullets.

The mob resisted the earnest appeals of Judge Stevens and Hon. W. S. Hill, who stood on the steps of the jail and appealed to the mob in the name of law and order. They even followed the mob to the cell doors with their arms around the necks of the leaders pleading to let the law take its course, but with no effect.

Ida McCray confessed to the knowledge of the murder and stated that her mother, Betsie, and brother, Belfield, helped commit the murder. She further implicated others, who will probably meet a like fate. Betsie McCray refused to make any statement.

Governor A. H. Longino arrived on the scene by special train from Jackson just a few minutes after the hanging.

The steamer Charles D. Lane, Nome to Seattle, has been wrecked. Passengers and crew were saved.

Seven men suspected of being concerned in the Baltimore and Ohio train robbery near Chicago were arrested.

Lawson's Yacht Easily Beaten.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 2.—The America's cup champion of 1899, the Columbia, won rather easily from Lawson's Independence in yesterday's regatta of the Newport Yacht Racing association, in which yawls and schooners also met. A triangular course of 30 miles was sailed, and the Columbia led the Boston boat from start to finish, crossing the finish line over four minutes ahead of the Independence. The race began in light airs, but the wind freshened considerably toward the end of the first leg and held strong throughout. Lawson's boat still sagged badly to leeward on the first leg, a beat, but sailed well in the reach on the last leg, gaining somewhat on the Columbia.

Cresceus and The Abbot to Race.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 2.—Cresceus and The Abbot will race over the Brighton Beach track on Aug. 15 during the meeting of the New York Breeders' association. This announcement was made here after W. L. Marks, manager of The Abbot, had seen the champion trotter work a mile in 2:11, last half in 1:01 and last quarter in 0:29½. The Abbot has had a touch of distemper, and it was reported last week that the special match race was off. The horse has improved wonderfully, however, and seems to have all his former speed. The race will be three in five heats to harness.

Colorado's Celebration.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 2.—The quarter centennial anniversary of Colorado's admission into the Union was formally opened at noon yesterday by the unveiling of a statue of Zebulon Montgomery Pike, who discovered the peak which bears his name. Mayor Robinson and General William Palmer delivered commemorative addresses in the presence of 8,000 people. A flattering reception was tendered Vice President Theodore Roosevelt, who reached the city this morning.

Grand Circuit Trotting.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 2.—Yesterday was the big day of the grand circuit, and more than 5,000 people watched the harness horses perform over a fast track. The weather was perfect, and all the conditions were conducive to excellent sport. Dr. Book, Dainty Queen, Edith W. and Captor were the winners of the four races on the card.

WAITING FOR MORGAN

Third Day's Session of Steel Workers Fruitless.

A DEMAND FOR MODIFICATIONS.

The Amalgamated Board Is Now Awaiting an Answer From the Steel Trust Magnate—Upon This Depends Future Action.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 2.—Another day of suspense and the end not yet. The third all day session of the Amalgamated association executive board has passed without any action being taken on the New York conference peace proposals, and another session will be held today.

Official confirmation of the status of the steel workers' strike as it was outlined Wednesday night was given in the current issue of The Amalgamated Journal, which is the organ of the association. The executive board of the association is in fact waiting for a word from J. Pierpont Morgan.

After the board had heard from President Shaffer concerning his trip to New York last week it was decided to request a change in the propositions of Mr. Morgan, and a message was sent to Mr. Morgan in New York on Tuesday night announcing their decision on this matter. In explanation of this message The Journal says:

"The executive board desires another conference with the representatives of the constituent companies and will remain in the city until an answer is received. Upon the result of that answer will depend whether the strike will be prolonged indefinitely."

In the same statement of the result of the conference of the executive board The Journal has this to say:

"The strike situation as we go to press is about the same as it was one week ago as far as the working conditions of the mills are concerned. No attempt has been made to start any of the closed mills outside of the Wellsville plant of the American Sheet Steel company, and their effort in this instance has been a failure."

The message sent to Mr. Morgan, while not so stated, is believed to be an ultimatum to the head of the United States Steel corporation. It is viewed as such by the labor leaders about Pittsburg. If the steel workers do not get their demand for this conference, the strike will go on indefinitely. None of the officials of the organization will discuss this point. They still maintain their silence and say they have nothing to give out.

Whatever differences might have existed are said to have been adjusted satisfactorily, and the board stands as a unit for its demand for the renewal of the conference with the manufacturers' representatives. Much depends on this. The propositions of Mr. Morgan are said by one high in authority as incomplete and do not settle the dispute. The members of the executive board are willing to consider what they term reasonable and fair propositions for the adjustment of these difficulties, but to do this they must confer with the operating officials and have these details fully understood and agreed to. To accept the propositions as they now stand would only complicate matters more, according to the officials of the association.

American Shoes In Austria.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—"The Austrian government, replying to the shoemakers who had appealed for a prohibition of American competition, declined to interfere," says the Vienna correspondent of The Morning Leader. "As soon as the decision of the government was known representatives of a Philadelphia firm who had been waiting completed arrangements to take 16 shops. They will place themselves under the protection of the United States embassy if endangered by the threatened violence."

Western Sculptress to Carve Statue.

BUFFALO, Aug. 2.—It is announced that the statue of Frances E. Willard to be presented by the state of Illinois to the national capitol at Washington will be modeled by Helen F. Mears of Oshkosh, Wis., the state board of commissioners being unanimous in their desire that she should be intrusted with the work. For two years Miss Mears studied with Augustus St. Gaudens and has been his valued assistant in serious work in his New York and Paris studies.

Lake Superior Island Disappears.

DULUTH, Aug. 2.—Steamboat island, one of the Apostle group, off Chequamegon bay, Lake Superior, has disappeared. Before the last storm and for time immemorial it was a small island of sand and rock overgrown with trees. Now it has gone, and a rocky reef several feet under water marks its place. It is now a danger to navigation, and a lighthouse would be required on the ledge if it were in the path of ships.

Scorching Heat In South Dakota.

HURON, S. D., Aug. 2.—Following a week of comparatively cool weather, a hot wind has begun blowing from the south, sending the temperature to 108, curling corn blades and compelling harvest work in many fields to cease. For four hours the wind was scorching hot, and people kept indoors. It was the hottest day known here since the establishment of the government weather bureau, 20 years ago.

Killed by Live Wire.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 2.—George Ferguson, aged 13, of Baltimore, was instantly killed by a live electric wire. In passing under a tree he hit an innocent looking piece of wire hanging through the limbs. Instantly he gave a cry of pain, and the wire curled itself about his body. A policeman came to the boy's rescue and had him quickly removed to a hospital, but death resulted soon afterward.

Martial Law For Islands.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 2.—Martial law has been proclaimed on Tucker's and Morgan's islands, where Boer prisoners of war are confined. The British hired transport Manila, Captain Haddock, from Port Natal July 4 and Table Bay July 8, has arrived here with Boer prisoners.

A Lofty Balloon Ascension.

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—Dr. Suring of the Royal Meteorological institute made a balloon ascension Wednesday afternoon attaining an altitude of 10,300 meters (33,800 feet), thus beating the previous record of 9,150 meters.

NEGRO VOTE MUST GO

Maryland Democrats Make This the Chief Issue.

GORMAN MEN IN COMPLETE CONTROL

State Convention Adopts a Platform In Which the Elimination of the Colored Man From Politics Is the Paramount Plank.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 2.—The Democratic state convention which met here yesterday declared that the purpose of the party, if successful in the coming election, is to eliminate the negro from politics in Maryland, if such a thing be possible under the constitution of the state. Upon this, the paramount issue of the campaign, will stand the candidates nominated for state offices and those chosen in the various county and district conventions as candidates for places in the legislature of 1902, which body will elect a United States senator to succeed George L. Wellington. That his successor in the event of Democratic victory will be Arthur Pue Gorman is settled beyond question, although no formal announcement of his candidacy has as yet been made.

The nominal purpose for which the convention met was to select candidates for the offices of comptroller and clerk of the court of appeals, and it fulfilled this task by unanimously naming Dr. Joshua W. Hering of Carroll and J. Frank Turner of Talbot to succeed themselves in the places mentioned. This action, however, was a foregone conclusion, and the real business of the convention was the formation and adoption of a platform upon which the Democrats could go before the people of the state with a reasonable show of winning. The combined sagacity of all the Democratic leaders in the state was called into requisition for this purpose, and under the advice and guidance of Mr. Gorman the following declaration upon the chief point in issue was evolved:

"The Democratic party represents more than 40,000 majority of the white people of Maryland. They, in common with their brethren of other states into which large masses of colored voters have been injected into the body politic, recognize that the peace, good order, personal safety and proper development of our material interests depend upon the control of the commonwealth by its intelligent white residents. Without the aid of the 60,000 colored voters the Republican party in Maryland would be a hopeless minority.

"We therefore without hesitation proclaim that the success of the Democratic party will mean that, while we shall deal with perfect fairness in securing all the benefits of good government and full and free opportunities for education to all classes, such action must be taken as to prevent the control of the state government from passing into the hands of those who have neither the ability nor the interest to manage public affairs wisely and well."

The other planks in the platform reaffirm the devotion of the local party to the principles enunciated by Thomas Jefferson, assert that Democratic control is necessary to the welfare of the state, commend the administration of John Walter Smith as governor, pledge the party to amend the oyster and school laws in such manner as may seem proper, declare the course of the governor in calling a special session of the legislature and the action of that body in passing laws to limit the exercise of the right of franchise to those who are able to read and write to be patriotic in the extreme, denounce the federal authorities for frauds and irregularities in the late federal census, commend the state authorities for the manner in which a recount of the people was made and pledge the party to the adoption of such laws as will make the primary elections as fair as those held under the general elections law.

Corn King Phillips Quits.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Board of trade and business circles generally were startled yesterday by the announcement that the George H. Phillips company, which became famous through its pool operations in the Chicago corn pit during the last year, had transferred all its open trades to McReynolds & Co. It was at first rumored that a large defalcation had been discovered in an examination of the books, but this proved untrue, having its only foundation in the fact that one of the head bookkeepers was confined to his home by illness. Lack of facilities for the proper clerical needs of the concern, which had acquired an enormous commission trade, was, according to a statement goven out by Attorney John S. Goodwin, who, as a representative of the law firm of Black & Goodwin, has taken charge of the company's affairs, the sole reason for temporarily suspending business.

Blackmailer's Threat Carried Out.

ORLEANS, Ind., Aug. 2.—Heise & Sons' flouring mill at Saltillo, nine miles east of here, was destroyed by fire during Wednesday night. Several days ago the proprietors of the mill found a note informing them that unless they put a certain sum of money in a sack and left it at a given point their mill would be burned. A sack filled with buggy washers was deposited, and men lay in wait several hours, but no person approached the sack. It disappeared shortly, however, and the mill was burned to the ground during the night.

Bombardment Brings No Rain.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 2.—The bombardment of the heavens with gunpowder in an effort to bring rainfall, begun Wednesday night by W. F. Wright, was continued without producing the desired result. Just when, according to Mr. Wright's theories, conditions were most favorable his 25 assistants, each firing a mortar, deserted him, and he was obliged to postpone operations. He secured new help and continued the bombardment through last night. Lincoln is greatly in need of rain. The temperature ascended to a maximum of 101 yesterday, and a hot south wind has been blowing.

Colored Picnickers Injured.

LORAIN, O., Aug. 2.—One hundred colored picnickers from churches at Cleveland, Lorain, Oberlin and Elyria were precipitated a distance of ten feet because of the collapse of a trestle bridge from the railroad to the grove at Oak Point. The sudden fall of so many people caused a panic. No one was killed, and the injured suffered mostly sprained limbs and bruised bodies. Physicians from nearby towns were called to attend the injured. The greater number of the 20 persons hurt are from Cleveland.

A FRENCHMAN'S PRAISE.

Jules Siegfried Tells of His Impressions of America.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—M. Jules Siegfried, the noted Frenchman, who has just sailed for his native land, gave out a statement of his impressions while in the United States, from which we print the following:

"I met during my short trip in the United States with such a charming reception from your countrymen that I want to express my best thanks to all these who showed me their kind attention.

"I return home with the impression of having seen a wonderful country. It was my very great privilege to visit America twice at an interval of 40 years, and I dare say those 40 years have been the period of the most wonderful progress the world has ever seen. You were 30,000,000 in 1861. Today you are 75,000,000, and we will not have to wait more than a quarter of a century to see you 100,000,000 people.

"No doubt you owe this extraordinary growth to the natural wealth of your immense country, but I think you owe it still more to the energy and go ahead qualities of your people as well as to the freedom of your republican constitution. You are not burdened with the military charges of Europe. You are not overcrowded with officials, so that all your energy is directed toward trade and industry, and thus you can reserve your men for this grand and noble task of increasing the wealth of the country.

"Of course your agricultural resources remain one of the greatest factors of your prosperity. But I have been really startled by the recent and astonishing growth of your industries.

"Pittsburg appears to me as being today the greatest center in the world for iron and steel production. At Manchester, in New England, I saw the biggest spinning mill in existence.

"If you keep on going at that speed, I think the time is not far distant when you will produce more than you can consume, and as your marvelous railroad transportation and your inventive spirit allow you to produce cheap, despite the high wages, you will certainly be able to compete in the foreign markets and eventually to control some of them.

"For the present the condition of the workingmen in America is certainly much better than in Europe. The wages are twice as high and the cost of living about the same, so that quite a large part of the earnings can be devoted either to pleasure or to saving. The American workingman has understood also that revolution is, after all, no solution and that the first point for him is to increase his wages and shorten his hours of labor. No Christian can be opposed to such a programme.

"Your progress has been of late so enormous that you play now an important part in the destiny of humanity. If you continue to be inspired by Christian principles, you will have certainly a salutary influence on the development of civilization in the world."

SCHLEY OVERRULED.

The Term "Disobedience" Will Remain In the Precept.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The navy department will not eliminate the word "disobedience" from the precept prepared for the court of inquiry appointed to investigate the conduct of Admiral Schley in the war with Spain. This decision was reached by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Hackett after careful consideration of Admiral Schley's letter taking exception to the use of the word "disobedience" in the precept.

The letter from Admiral Schley to the navy department was laid before Assistant Secretary Hackett. Judge Advocate General Lemly had already prepared a draft of an answer which gave the department's position in using the term "disobedience" and explained that in the face of Admiral Schley's telegram, in which he acknowledged that he could not obey the department's orders, the precept should not be altered so as to eliminate the word "disobedience."

It is held by the department that while Admiral Schley's conduct did not justify the use of the expression "willful disobedience" nevertheless he acknowledged that he was unable to obey the orders and was therefore chargeable with disobedience. It is argued that whether or not he was justified in disobeying the order is for the court of inquiry to determine and that the use of the word "disobedience" does not imply that such an action was not justified.

Kimberly Excused.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Rear Admiral Kimberly will not be a member of the Schley court of inquiry. His request to be relieved from the detail on the ground of ill health has been granted by the navy department, and the department is now considering the question of his successor. It is quite likely that a selection has been made already, but the official announcement will be withheld until the officer selected is heard from. It is explained in connection with the acceptance of Admiral Kimberly's declination that this is the first time in 39 years that this officer has requested the department to relieve him of a duty to which he has been assigned.

Peruvian Programme Approved.

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 2.—Following the introduction in the Peruvian chamber of deputies of a resolution to censure the cabinet, dispatches were received by the government from all parts of the republic declaring approval of the ministerial programme. A largely attended meeting was held in Lima to protest against the proposed vote of censure, and a committee was appointed to wait upon President Romana and to set forth the feeling of the meeting against the attitude taken by the opposition in the chamber of deputies as well as to declare confidence in President Romana.

Millionaire Scott Seeks Release.

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—Thomas A. Scott, railroad financier and millionaire, was before Judge Bell in the superior court seeking to obtain an order of release from the Charles street jail, where he has been confined since Feb. 15 last for alleged failure to meet two notes said to be due Micah F. Clarke, amounting to $5,000. Mr. Scott's lawyers held that the imprisonment was unreasonable. The judge will announce his decision later.

Americans Swell Victoria Fund.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The lord mayor, Frank Green, has received through J. S. Morgan & Co. of London a contribution of £5,000 to the Queen Victoria memorial fund. The contribution is made on behalf of the delegates of the New York Chamber of Commerce who recently visited London.

BISSERT FOUND GUILTY.

New York Policeman Convicted on the Charge of Extortion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—In the presence of a crowd of his friends and sympathizers that filled the courtroom to its utmost capacity and in the midst of breathless silence Wardman George Bissert late last evening heard the foreman of the jury pronounce him guilty of a crime the maximum penalty of which is ten years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

The verdict that was fraught with such intense interest, not only to Bissert himself, but to a host of policemen, was decided upon by the jury after only two hours' deliberation.

Yet the time that the jurymen spent locked within their chamber was a period of the most intense anxiety to the wardman and his associates and of excited debate and argument among the jurymen themselves.

It was learned on trustworthy authority that at least eight ballots were taken before a unanimous verdict could be reached.

Of all the police officers present Captain Diamond appeared to be the most stunned by the announcement of the verdict against the man whom upon the witness stand he had commended as an honest and efficient policeman.

The penalty for the crime of extortion, of which Bissert stands convicted, involves not only imprisonment for a long term of years and a heavy fine, but also the loss of office.

The jury in the case of George Bissert, Captain Diamond's wardman, charged with accepting a bribe of $500 from Lena Schmidt, a disorderly housekeeper, retired to deliberate on a verdict shortly before 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Recorder Goff's charge to the jury took more than an hour to deliver. He impressed upon the jurors that the prosecution was not by Lena Schmidt to recover money, but was by the people. The injury, he said, if any injury had been done, was to the whole people.

"It matters not," said the recorder, "whether the alleged agreement was carried out. If it was entered into, it constitutes a crime, and even if an understanding without any expressed words was arrived at the crime was committed."

LAND LOTTERY ENDED.

Drawing For Homesteads Concluded Before Diminished Crowds.

EL RENO, O. T., Aug. 2.—The drawing of winning numbers in the United States land lottery was concluded yesterday, 13,000 envelopes having been taken from the wheels, 6,500 for each land district. The crowd about the platform on which the drawing took place was much smaller than on previous days. Beginning Aug. 6, 125 names in each district will be called daily for 60 days for the filing of homestead entries.

The estimate is made by a government official that in each land district 1,000 of the 6,500 numbers will not be taken in the 60 days because of homesteaders who will be disqualified or who will leave the country, believing their claims to be worthless. This will leave only 5,500 persons who will make entry in their respective districts.

Two thousand claims will be left for the wagon immigrants and others who have been in the country for months and failed to draw a number. At the end of the 60 days these persons can go immediately to their land office and file, or if they settle upon a homestead in advance of any other person they can remain thereon three months before filing their entry.

Homestead speculators who registered for the sole purpose of selling their prizes if they should be winners are already seeking to sell relinquishments of their claims.

PAPER BEATS THE WAR OFFICE.

Government's Boycott Against London Daily Mail Called Off.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The contest between the war office and The Daily Mail has terminated in a victory for the paper. The war office had not only cut off The Daily Mail's South African casualty lists and other official news, but had also ordered the various news agencies not to supply The Daily Mail with any official information distributed from the war office.

Thereupon The Daily Mail sued the news agencies under its contracts to compel them to deliver the news.

The war office then held back bulletins until near the hour for the morning papers to go to press. This raised a storm of protest from the provincial papers, and the war office finally capitulated and called off the boycott.

The experiment at press gagging aroused bitter criticism among all classes of papers at a time when the government was not too popular and could ill afford to aggravate popular discontent. Mr. Brodrick's personal bereavement in the death of his wife precludes a journalistic celebration of his defeat, but there is much quiet satisfaction over the result in Fleet street.

New German Coaling Stations.

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—The German naval department is now establishing a number of coaling depots in the south sea, beginning with Matupi and Herbertshoehe, in New Britain; Yap and Ponape, in the Carolines; Jaluit, in the Ralik group of the Marshall islands, and German Samoa. To these depots coal will be brought from the province of Shangtung, China, to supply warships and merchant vessels.

RUSSIA AND TIBET.

Visit of the Dalai Lama Causes Chinese Anxiety.

NORTHERN RAILWAY IS RETAINED.

Governor of Canton Ordered to Make Extensive Preparations for the Return of Court to Peking, but Has No Funds.

PEKING, Aug. 2.—The Chinese plenipotentiaries are anxiously considering the meaning of the visit of the dalai lama, the high priest and ruler of Tibet, to St. Petersburg, whither he was invited by the czar. It is believed that the lama intends to make approaches to Russia rather than England or even China, whose power over his country is nominal.

The Chinese have raised the necessary money and have paid off the July installment on the Northern railway. They will therefore retain the road, but the British military authorities will control it. [Previous dispatches said the Chinese authorities would probably default on the interest due the Hongkong bank, in which case the road would revert to the English.]

The governor of Canton has been ordered to prepare rugs and furniture for the palace at Peking and have them here within two months. The cost of this is estimated at 2,000,000 taels, and the governor is perplexed as to how the money shall be raised, as the province has been already heavily taxed to meet the expenses of the return of the court to Peking and the payment of indemnities.

The missionaries who left here some time ago for the province of Shansi, whither they were escorted by a Chinese guard, have left Taiyuen-fu for various cities in the province where their colleagues and native Christians were massacred during the Boxer uprising. Dr. Atwood has started for Taiku, Dr. Edwards for the south and Dr. Dumran for Hsinchow. The official reception of the missionaries at Taiyuen-fu is regarded as insincere, and it is believed that hostility to them is still latent.

The former magistrate of Taiyuen-fu who zealously aided Yu Hsien, the former notorious governor of the province, in the massacre of missionaries and native Christians, has been promoted to the district of Pingtingchow without a protest from the British or other ministers. The magistrate of Shoyang, although degraded by an edict issued in February, retains his office without protest.

Nine New Coast Artillery Companies.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Lieutenant General Miles, commanding the army, has issued an order for the immediate organization of nine additional companies of coast artillery, making the total number of such companies 106. The number is limited by law to 126. The new companies, with their commanding officers, will be stationed as follows: Ninety-eighth company, Captain Hamilton Rowan, Fort Hamilton, N. Y.; Ninety-ninth company, Captain William P. Pence, Fort Morgan, Ala.; One Hundredth company, Captain D. E. Aultman, Fort Totten, N. Y.; One Hundred and First company, Captain A. T. Smith, Fort Totten, N. Y.; One Hundred and Second company, Captain R. F. Gardner, Fort Caswell, N. C.; One Hundred and Third company, Captain John C. Gilmore, Jr., Fort Howard, Md.; One Hundred and Fourth company, Captain George H. McManus, Fort Washington, Md.; One Hundred and Fifth company, Captain L. R. Burgess, at the Presidio, San Francisco, and the One Hundred and Sixth company, Captain Charles P. Summerall, at Fort Lawton, Wash.

End of San Francisco Strike Near.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—The only new phase of the local labor trouble is a strong undercurrent that is making for peace. The Municipal league, which held secret meetings with labor leaders and employers, reports that the outlook for a settlement is encouraging and that a basis of adjustment may be reached within 24 hours. An officer of the league said: "We find both sides ready to make concessions on general lines. The employers are ready to recognize the unions, and the unions are ready to stop interfering with the business of the employers outside what are considered legitimate lines."

Horse Transport Disabled.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—The horse transport Lenox, now out 35 days from Manila, is broken down at sea about 160 miles from this port, and the transport tug Slocum has gone to her assistance. It is not believed she is in any great danger. The transport Kilpatrick has sailed for Manila with a detachment of recruits and a number of cabin passengers. The recruits, 93 in number, were under command of Lieutenant Herman Hering of the Philippine scouts.

Roosevelt In Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 2.—Vice President Theodore Roosevelt spent an hour in Kansas City on his way to Colorado Springs, where he goes to address the state centennial celebration. A number of local politicians greeted him at the depot. When a reporter mentioned the "1904 Roosevelt club," recently organized in Kansas City, Mr. Roosevelt received the information with a nod, but made no remark regarding it.

Reid Railway Bill Passed.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 2.—The new Reid railway bill passed the upper house of the colonial legislature by a vote of 8 to 4. The bill had previously passed the lower house unanimously. Today it will be signed by the governor, Sir Cavendish Boyle, which formality will make it law. The legislature, whose session has been prolonged to consider this matter, will close today.

Mr. Kruger's Trip.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—"Mr. Kruger's American tour," says the Brussels correspondent of The Daily Mail, "will include visits to New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and Chicago. Negotiations are about to begin for his reception by President McKinley."

The Public Debt.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt issued at the treasury department shows that at the close of business July 31, 1901, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,369,179,339, a decrease for the month of $2,928,657.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; light northwesterly winds, becoming variable.

Time to Act.

The summer season with its accompanying warmth is not usually conducive to great activity but the people of Plainfield will have to forget how hot it is and be up and doing if they have any expectation of persuading the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company to locate its new factory in this city. The chance is offered and it will require a display of much energy to bring about the desired result. Not a moment must be lost for there are a dozen other cities which are just as anxious as is Plainfield to secure that big industry.

We have heard some people say that Plainfield did not need any more factories. There are, perhaps, some kinds of manufacturies which would do the city more harm than good but the manufactory of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Company is not one of these. It employs almost exclusively skilled labor. The men, who would come to Plainfield in such a case, would be intelligent machinists and other skilled workmen. While they would not be wealthy, the vast majority of them are well-to-do and, what is of most interest of all, they would do their shopping almost entirely in Plainfield.

Plainfield has a number of sites which would undoubtedly be perfectly suitable to the demands of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Company. These ought to be brought to the attention of that company without delay. The incidental advantages which such a concern would have in Plainfield are numerous and they, too, should be carefully pointed out. Either the Board of Trade should act, or else it should be brought about by individual effort.

It is not often that there is such an excellent opportunity to bring to this city one of the greatest and best known of the modern manufactories. The Ingersoll-Sergeant Company is shipping its products all over the world. Its location here would give Plainfield an added importance. The time to act is here. The vice-president of the company, Former Mayor William L. Saunders, is a resident of the borough. If offered equal terms, there is no doubt but that he would throw his influence in favor of Plainfield as against any other city.

The fate of the public swimming pool is greatly to be regretted. It is too bad that some citizens have not enough feeling for the rest of mankind to enable them to enjoy a little plunge in fresh water without running the chances of arrest. There are several who have given the boys permission to enjoy a swim in some secluded part of the brook. There is no doubt, however, about the need of a public swimming pool for the boys of both city and borough.

The Methodists had a merry time of it in their day's excursion to the seashore. They were more favored than any of the other denominations as regards the weather, which was delightfully cool. The two sections carried the excursionists down and brought them back with much expedition.

The borough street signs have finally arrived. They have been examined and found to be all right. All that is now needed is to place them in position. They will be a great improvement to the borough thoroughfares which will be much appreciated by everyone.

The Trenton True American has certainly managed to stir up quite an excitement over the condition of affairs at the State Hospital for the Insane at Trenton. That journal charges all manner of mismanagement in the control of that institution.

Hundreds of Plainfielders are keeping in touch with the local affairs while they are absent on their summer outings. They do it by having The Daily Press sent to their summer address. There is no extra charge.

Chief Kiely announces that the local dogs have made positively their last appearance on the city streets without muzzles. Hereafter the dog ordinance, which requires muzzles, is to be enforced with great strictness.

Don't forget to cut out the programme for this evening's band concert at the City Park. It will be found in another column. It is the first of the concerts at the Park and a large audience is promised.

The people, who will profit most by this continuation of the Sampson-Schley troubles and the court of inquiry, will be the Washington correspondents who are writing on space.

Even the politicians are debarred from gathering at the State camp at Sea Girt. Governor Voorhees has decided that the camp shall be for training only.

Mayor N. B. Smalley might have picked out several streets which were considerably more in need of remacadamizing than Watchung avenue.

The boys of Company K manage to find time for plenty of excitement during their stay at the State camp.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

With electricity playing numerous deadly and peculiar pranks in all parts of New Jersey, the report that the lightning rod swindler is again at work is no surprise. The ease with which he causes close fisted farmers to part with their hard earned cash is, however, more shocking than an ordinary thunder bolt.—Newark News.

The Asbury Park hotel keepers who refuse to allow shirtwaist men to attend Saturday night hops may know their business, but to a layman their policy appears short-sighted, especially when it is remembered that the churches are welcoming the coatless man to the sanctuary. During the heated spell it may become more popular among the seashore visitors to avoid the dance on Saturday night and rest up to endure the Sunday morning service in cool attire.—Newark News.

The Ingersoll Sergeant Drill Company, that now operates a large plant at Easton, Pa., is looking for a new location, and the Trenton State Gazette announces that their representative will soon visit Trenton to examine sites which have been tendered by land owners of that city. The company employes 1,500 men and makes mining machinery, air compressors, rock drills and coal cutters. It is said to be the largest company in the United States in this line. Our local Board of Trade should open communication with the East concern. Camden can offer better manufacturing sites than Trenton.—Camden Post-Telegram.

Broke His Arm.

Manager Mace Edwards received a letter from his son, Robert, who is homeward bound from the Philippines on board the U. S. S. Brutus, dated Gibraltar, July 16, telling of his arm having been broken. The ship was rolling in heavy storm in the run from Port Said, and young Edwards was thrown by a wave against the bulkwarks, causing a break of his arm. He writes in cheerful mood and expects to be all right by time of arrival here about the 20th inst. The ship has orders now to proceed to New York, instead of Boston as previously announced.

Mrs. Eugene Runyon is entertaining out of town friends.

A. F. Sampson has purchased a new rubber tire wagon.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, August 2—The home of William V. Dunham was the scene of a family reunion yesterday afternoon. It has been the custom of the family to come together once a year for the past twenty years, and they never fail to materialize. There were sixty guests present, yesterday. They came from New York, Philadelphia, Flemington, Bound Brook, Somerville, Dunellen and Plainfield. A regulation country dinner was served at tables placed on the lawn.

The funeral services of Mrs. Harriet F. Satterlee were held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her late home. Rev. L. E. Livermore delivered the sermon. Three selections of music were rendered by a trio composed of Miss Emma Nelson, Mrs. Giddis and Lewis Titsworth. The burial is at Berlin, N. Y., and will take place this afternoon.

There will be no service at the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow evening.

Fred C. Ward and family, formerly of this place, have taken up their residence here.

Miss Mamie Garretson is spending a week with relatives at New Haven, Conn.

John Hill, of Trenton, is spending a week at the home of Mrs. Mary Runyon.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, August 1—In Judge Clark's court the case of Stoker against Ryno was again adjourned by mutual consent until August 30. Carlos C. Gallop is counsel for the plaintiff.

A close and interesting game of baseball is looked for tomorrow afternoon, when the Bayonne team comes here to play the local players. The captain of the 'Plains team has had his men out for practice almost daily.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, August 2.—Things were doing at the meeting of Camp 41, P. O. S. of A., last night. A very interesting session was the order of the evening. The camp decided to hold a peach festival at a near date, and appointed as a committee to arrange the affair, George W. Smith, Charles Brantingham, Reune B. Manning, Thomas Gage and H. J. Manning. To arrange for better social times a committee was also appointed to furnish entertainment for the members at the meetings. The entertainment will probably cater to the wants of the "inner man." Before the meeting closed a number of suggestions were made for the benefit of a brother who is going to the State Camp convention, and wishes to go in style. The delegates may also spring a "dark horse" on the convention when the race for a district president starts.

Final preperations are being made for the entertainment to be given by the women of the Baptist church this evening. Miss Acken, who is to furnish the greater part of the programme, is a highly recommended and celebrated elocutionist who has had much practice. She will undoubtedly give work of the highest order. Music has ben provided. The entertainment will go to the same.

Two hundred Italian laborers struck the town last night. They will be employed on the railroad putting in new ballast between Landstown and Jersey City. If the town's census should be taken now the books would show some curious figures.

At the meeting of the Foresters, held Wednesday evening, Thomas Bowles, Judge H. Weaver, Hance Nelson and George Smith were initiated into the mysteries of the order.

The Sunday evening service at the Baptist church during this month will be conducted by the Christian Endeavor Society at 7:30. No other services will be held.

John Tingley has again secured the position of baggage-master at the Lehigh Valley depot. After much vacillating the office is at last filled.

Unclaimed letters addressed to Mack Simko, Mack Kahanesy, Frank H. Martin, Martin Mrkieska and M. J. Yanko, remain at the postoffice.

Firman Arrowsmith has secured a new position at the Pond Machine Tool Works. He is employed in the gear cutting department.

J. A. Cubberley will supply the pulpit of the Stelton church August 4, and the Park Avenue Baptist church, of Paterson, August 11.

Miss Mamie Mandely is confined to the house by a severe illness. She is staying at the home of Jeffrey Heenan.

Special gospel meetings will be held in Washington Hall, beginning with Sunday. The services will be at 3:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Young have returned home after a month's stay with relatives in Pennsylvania.

William Sneigle has put in a new bar at his hotel.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Billy Gray, young college student, secures a lieutenant's commission on breaking out of Spanish-American war. He meets a Mr. Prime, Miss Prime and Miss Amy Lawrence.

CHAPTER II.—After a conference in his official tent, Gen. Drayton joins a gay company in his personal tent—Mrs. Garrison doing the honors as hostess.

CHAPTER III.—Lieut. Gray is invited to join the Prime party, to go over in Mr. Prime's carriage to see the review, but is denied leave by Col. Canker, whom the regiment had nicknamed "Squeers." Vacant seat in carriage is given Col. Armstrong.

"You'll stay and see it done, sir, and when it's done—to my satisfaction—will be time enough to ask for favors. Mr. Gordon, send word to the company commanders I wish to see them here at once," continued the senior officer, whirling on his heel and terminating the interview by so doing. It was in Gray's mind for a brief minute to follow and plead. He had made it tell many a time with an obstinate university don, but he knew the carriage was waiting—the carriage load watching, and deep down in his heart there was keen disappointment. He would have given a big slice of his monthly pay to go with that particular party and occupy the seat opposite Amy Lawrence and gaze his fill at her fair face. He well-nigh hated Squeers as he hurried away to hail his first sergeant and give the necessary orders before daring to return to the carriage and report his failure. His bright blue eyes were clouded and his face flushed with vexation, for he saw that the rearmost regiment was even now filing into the Presidio reservation afar off to the north, and that no time was to be lost if his friends were to see the review. The distant measured boom of guns told that the general in whose honor the ceremony was ordered was already approaching the spot, and away over the rolling uplands toward the Golden Gate a cavalry escort rode into view. Billy ground his teeth. "Run and tell them I cannot get leave," he called to a fellow sub. "Squeers has set me to work straightening up camp. Turn out the company, sergeant! Brace the tent cords and align tents," and a mournful wave of his forage cap was the only greeting he dare trust himself to give, as after a few minutes of fruitless waiting, the vacant seat was given to another officer and the carriage rolled rapidly away. A second or two it was hidden from his sight behind the large wall tents along the line of fence, then shot into full view again as he stood at the end of the company street looking eagerly for its reappearance. And then occurred a little thing that was destined to live in his memory for many a day, and that thrilled him with a new and strange delight. He had never been of the so-called "spooney" set at the 'varsity. Pretty girls galore there were about that famous institute, and he had danced at many a student party and romped through many a reel, but the nearest he had ever come to something more than a mere jolly friendship for a girl was the regard in which he held his partner in the "mixed doubles," but that was all on account of her exuberant health, spirits, general comeliness of face and form, and exquisite skill in tennis. But this day a new and eager longing was eating at his heart; a strange, dull pang seemed to seize upon it as he noted in a flash that the seat that was to have been his was occupied by an officer many years his senior, a man he knew only by sight and an enviable reputation, a man whose soldierly, clean-cut face never turned an instant, for his eyes were fixed upon a lovely picture on the opposite seat—Amy Lawrence bending eagerly forward and gazing with her beautiful eyes alight with sympathy, interest and frank liking in search of the sorely disappointed young officer. "There he is!" she cried, though too far away for him to hear, and then, with no more thought of coquetry than a kitten, with no more motive in the world than that of conveying to him an idea of her sorrow, her sympathy, her perhaps pardonable and exaggerated indignation at what she deemed an act of tyranny on the part of his commander, with only an instant in which to convey it all—her sweet face flushed and her eyes flamed with the light of her girlish enthusiasm—in that instant she had kissed her hand to him, and then Col. Armstrong, turning suddenly and sharply to see who could be the object of interest so absorbing, caught one flitting glimpse of Billy Gray lifting his cap in quick acknowledgment, and the words that were on the tip of Armstrong's tongue the moment before were withheld for a more auspicious occasion—and it did not come too soon.

It was only four days after that initial meeting in the general's tent the foggy evening of the girl's first visit to camp, but both in city and on the tented field there had been several occasions on which the colonel had been in conference with Mr. Prime and in company with the young ladies. Junior officers had monopolized the time and attention of the latter, but Armstrong was a close observer and a man who loved all that was strong, high-minded and true in his own sex, and that was pure and sweet and winsome in woman. A keen soldier, he had spent many years in active service, most of them in the hardy, eventful and vigorous life on the Indian frontier. He had been conspicuous in more than one stirring campaign against the red warriors of the plains, had won his medal of honor before his first promotion, and his captaincy by brevet for daring conduct in action long antedated the right to wear the double bars of that grade. He had seen much of the world, at home and abroad; had traveled much, read much, thought much, but these were things of less concern to many a woman in our much married army than the question as to whether he had ever loved much. Certain it was he had never married, but that didn't settle it. Many a man loves, said they, without getting married, forgetful of the other side of the proposition advanced by horrid regimental cynics, that many men marry without getting loved. Armstrong would not have proved an easy man to question on that, or indeed on any other subject which he considered personal to himself. Even in his own regiment in the regular service he had long been looked upon as an exclusive sort of fellow—a man who had no intimates and not many companions, yet, officers and soldiers, he held the respect and esteem of the entire command, even of those whom he kept at a distance, and few are the regiments in which there are not one or two charcters who are not best seen and studied through a binocular. Without being sympathetic, said his critics, Armstrong was "square," but his critics had scant means of knowing whether he was sympathetic or not. He was a steadfast fellow, an unswerving, uncompromising sort of man, a man who would never have done for a diplomat, and could never have been elected to office. But he was truthful, just, and as the English officer reluctantly said of Lucan, whom he hated: "Yes—damn him—he is brave." The men whom he did not seem to like in the army and who disliked him accordingly, were compelled to admit, to themselves at least, that their reasons were comprised in the above-recorded, regrettable, but unmistakable fact—he didn't like them. Another trait, unpopular, was that he knew when and how to say no. He smoked too much, perhaps, and talked too little for those who would use his words as witnesses against him. He never gambled, he rarely drank, he never lent nor borrowed. He was a bachelor, yet would never join a "mess," but kept house himself and usually had some favored comrade living with him. He was 40 and did not look 35. He was tall, erect, athletic, hardy and graceful in build, and his face was one of the best to be seen in many a line of officers at parade. His eyes were steel gray and clear and penetrating, his features clear-cut, almost too delicately cut, thought some of the best friends he had among the men. His hair was brown, sprinkled liberally with silver; his mouth, an admirable mouth in every way, was shaded and half-hidden by a long, drooping mustache to which, some men thought and some women said, his tapering white fingers paid too much attention, but I doubt if a knowledge of this criticism would have led to the faintest alteration in the habit. Generally the expression of Armstrong's face was grave, and, on duty a trifle stern; and not ten people in the world were aware what humor could twinkle in the clear, keen eyes, or twitch about the corners of that mobile mouth. There were no five who knew the tenderness that lay in hiding there, for Armstrong had few living kindred and they were men. There lived not, as he drove this glorious August morning to the breezy uplands beyond the camps, one woman who could say she had seen those eyes of Armstrong's melt and glow with love. As for Amy Lawrence, she was not dreaming of such a thing. She was not even looking at him. Her thoughts at the moment were drifting back to that usually light-hearted boy who stood gazing so disconsolately after them as they drove away, her eyes were intent upon an approaching group that presently reclaimed her wandering thoughts.

Coming up Point Lobos avenue strode a party of four—all soldiers. One of these, wild-eyed, bareheaded, dishevelled, his clothing torn, his wrists lashed behind him, walked between two armed guards. The fourth, a sergeant, followed at their heels. Miss Lawrence had just time to note that the downcast face was dark and oval and refined, when it was suddenly uplifted at sound of the whirring carriage wheels. A light of recognition, almost of terror, flashed across it, and with one bound the prisoner sprang from between his guards, dove almost under the noses of the startled team, and darted through the wide open doorway of a corner saloon. He was out of sight in a second.

CONSTIPATION

A lady living in Philadelphia, Pa., makes the following statement: "I have suffered from constipation for the past ten years and have taken all kinds of patent medicines, but they only gave me relief for the time being. I can safely say that Ripans Tabules are curing me completely. I began by taking one at bedtime and one after each meal. Now I only take one and that before retiring, and my bowels are moved regularly. I am also a sufferer from indigestion (caused by constipation) and as soon as I take a Tabule I am relieved; really it is marvelous in so short a time. I have taken the Tabules ever since they were introduced at 'five cents a package.' I am grateful to you for the cure they are effecting. I feel better to-day than I have for the past ten years and I owe all to Ripans Tabules."

Fashion Novelties

The latest and most sentimental fad we have ever had in jewelry is the Douglas heart. It is a locket. The reverse side is of gold, while the front is of red enamel. In the center are a diamond and a fine white line in form of a heart of the approved shape, while the Douglas heart is made to be graceful rather than conventional in form. Around the edge is an incrustation of pure white diamonds set in burnished silver. Nothing could be more fascinating even aside from the romantic interest given by the name, for Douglas is a name to conjure by. It is to be worn as a pendant to a long chain or as a pin. In every way it is desirable, and it is quite the proper thing to give a girl for an engagement present. What a pity we are not all girls with rich sweethearts!

THE DOUGLAS HEART.

What dainty and picturesque hats our girls are wearing now! Woodland nymphs and dryads some of them look like in these days. The mass of drooping lace and flowers makes a face so poetic and so entrancing that it is really hard to believe some of the millinery is made by human hands. Just cast a glance at the poetic dream in the illustration and see what a dainty thing can be evolved out of flowers made of scraps of cloth with a liberal allowance of glue and things. The hat is of rough straw, and it is fairly smothered in lace and chiffon ruffles, with pink roses and their foliage put all around. The flowers are the pretty prairie roses with their ever changing shades. In one bunch one may find a round dozen shades, from palest pink to deep crimson. The foliage is smooth and also shaded according to the age of the branch. The prairie rose has no perfume, but it lends itself admirably to reproduction for millinery purposes. The boa is made of chiffon, the part around the neck covered with picayune roses, also in pink. The long ends have ruffles, and these have a few small roses set along the edge. The whole effect is exquisite, and the girl who wears such a creation can well be described as queen rose in the rosebud garden of girls. Who cares how much such a hat and boa cost when the result is before us so perfect and so adorable?

Now, there are faces which show best under the hat just mentioned, but there are others which look arch and provoking under the saucy tricorne toque. A pretty one which I saw recently was of pale blue fancy straw, with the left side laced up with black velvet ribbon, ending in a few loops. The crown held a big bunch of deep blue plums with their foliage. Some of the branches fell over the brim in front so as to hang temptingly at the left side. For a brunette, who wore it, this was an ideal hat, though I do not advocate fruit as a general rule as a trimming for hats.

All these hats are for the proper subjugation of helpless mankind when all other blandishments fail—blandishments in the shape of sailor, golfing and bicycling hats and other mannish contrivances. The tulle and chiffon boas are so very delicate and so softening to any face that it is a matter of surprise that any woman will willingly let them go out of style or leave them aside for anything. But they are decidedly in style just now, and it is safe to say that never has there been the variety that is now offered. Some think that it is best to have a smooth band at the neck and let the ruffles start from that, and others prefer those where the whole effect is that of a round boa. One really dainty thing for a young lady is of pale pink ribbon and white silk mull. The mull is ruffled so closely that it is round, and all the edges are bordered with the narrow ribbon. It looks like peppermint candy and good enough to eat. Another on the same plan had narrow black velvet ribbon on the edges. Still another of white had a row of faint blue elder down fastened along all the edges. It was put on in tufts and looked like little flakes of snow. The fichus are in a few cases made of fine silk mull or chiffon and the same design of tiny tufts of down set along the edges and on the center of them. Naturally these are very perishable, but they are pretty.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 4, "Gaining by Losing"—Text, Mark x, 28-30.

It does cost something to be a Christian. Choice must be made in many things. We cannot have all things at the same time. There are companionships, associations, plans, pleasures, occupations, gains which must be abandoned if one will follow Christ. If we gain these, we must lose Him. If we would gain what He proffers, we must renounce and forsake these. There are times when the restrictions seem peculiarly severe and painful. Cases are not infrequent when the family and previous social life have been opposed to the service of Jesus. If one resolves to be a true follower of God, the family and former associates have to be left and new friends found. This is a most severe ordeal and tests all the loyalty and genuine piety of the soul. Such strains come more often in heathen lands or in conversion from a nominal Christianity than in our ordinary experience.

Sometimes we find people, however, in our churches who feel that they have given up much to become Christians, and especially in becoming Methodists. "Our rules are so strict we cannot do so many things which others do." What a pity such souls do not open their eyes to the riches of their inheritance and claim all the privileges open to them.

The most helpful social privileges the world affords are wide open to every real, hearty believer in Christ. The best of culture, the broadest learning, the truest courtesy and sincerest friendship are found in large measure in the Christian church, and one has no need to look outside its circles for the most helpful influences. No one need long for worthy and elevating association without finding it. The doors are wide open and welcome is hearty. Exclusiveness bars none of the gateways to the house of God.

For every friend lost in becoming a Christian ten better are found.

Any one who has moved much in society has not failed to see the strife for pre-eminence, the jealousies, envies, intrigues and endless annoyance which incessantly assail every one within the circle. No one is too high, none too low, to feel the sting and mortification. Genuine peace is rare, deep friendships still rarer. There is nothing on which they can feed the soul.

In the service of Christ the whole motive is changed. Work for others is the very inspiration of the life. The good of others is to be sought rather than the advantage of self. One finds happiness in giving more than in getting. We lose and find we have gained.

The sense of companionship with the good of all the ages, the oneness of spirit with the followers of Christ everywhere, now gives a fullness of soul unknown to any but those of the family of God. Men become brethren to us. We are conscious of the sentiment of fraternity in ourselves toward them, and we find expressions and indications in them of the same feeling toward us. Our circle of acquaintances has enlarged wondrously. We are interested in many and find others increasingly interested in us. Our brothers are in every land, our sisters are in all communions; fathers and mothers multiply, and all the blessings of loving regard increase as the Lord promised until it becomes marvelous even to our own souls. How insignificant have been the losses and privations! How rich the gains and numerous the friends given!

Salvation.

If a preacher were to say, "My friends, we are all brothers of the man Jesus Christ, flesh of His flesh and bone of His bone; what He felt we may feel; what He saw we may see; what He did we may do; we have in kind, though maybe not in degree, the same power and capacities He had; we can live as pure, as noble, as disinterested a life as He lived; we may show, in a measure, the same meekness, gentleness, humility, unselfishness, lovingness, charity, truthfulness, brotherliness as He showed, and the coming to Him means the coming to our better selves, to the Jesus within us, to our capacity to be and do like Him," we should understand him. He would be speaking words of soberness and truth. If he were to say that salvation by Jesus Christ meant salvation by cultivating Christlike qualities, not the believing of this or that about Christ, but by living up to the Christlike ideal—if he were to say these or like things, his words would be strong by the whole weight of science and of human experience.—John Burroughs.

Always Before You.

Set the Lord always before you. In the high noon, when the sun burns in his meridian splendor, see a dim emblem of the relation which God sustains to all nature, all life, all evolution; in every little thing see some symbol of the great thing; in time see the beginning of eternity; in life, as we know it, see the type of life as God lives it. Thus the whole universe will become a sacred temple, all life a holy worship, all destiny a sublime and beneficent decree.—Joseph Parker.

"Out of the Depths."

Out of the depths, dear Lord, I lift
My anguished heart to Thee today;
Through this dark, o'ershadowing cloud
I seek Thy light upon the way.
Too weak am I, too feeble all,
To bear alone the weight of pain,
Yet well I know that Thou art near
To dry the tears which fall like rain.

With Thee, dear Lord, is power to break
The winter of this night of grief
And all these gloomy doubts dispel
And give for sorrow sweet relief.
Oh, closely fold my spirit in
The mantle of Thy perfect rest
And teach me evermore to lean
In trust and love upon Thy breast!

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 4—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Gaining by losing.—Mark x, 28-30.

It seems paradoxical to say that we gain by losing, yet it is true, and that it is true can be seen in all phases of life. Gaining by losing is a law of the natural world. "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die," says Christ, "it abideth alone, but if it die it bringeth forth much fruit." This principle is illustrated also in the temporal world. If a man places wealth before him as the goal of his ambition, he must sacrifice many things in order to attain to it. He must die to a great extent to the social world, the world of pleasure and the world of learning. All his time, all his energies, must be concentrated upon this one object, and if with this as his one aim he is willing to die unto all other things he can usually become rich. So it is in all the other walks of life. Much must be lost in order to gain what we most desire to be or have. The same principle holds equally good in the spiritual world.

Spiritual life itself is gained by loss. "Whosoever will save his life," says Christ, "shall lose it, and whosoever will lose his life for My sake shall find it." The life that must be lost is the present life. It must be lost if we are to gain the eternal life of the soul in heaven. Two lives are placed before us. We cannot in a sense have both. We may have either. If we prefer this life, we may sacrifice the future life and live for this life only and get it; if we prefer the higher, eternal life, we can sacrifice this life and get it. To gain eternal life we must lose this present life. But surely we should not hesitate to suffer such a loss for such a gain. "For what is a man profited if he shall gain the whole world and lose his life, or what shall a man give in exchange for his life?"

But many blessings of the Christian life also come from loss. It not only costs something to become a Christian, but something to live a Christian life. We may lose friends, home, loved ones, but we have Christ's word for it that our loss shall prove to be our gain. "There is no man that hath left house or brethren or sisters or father or mother or wife or children or lands for My sake and the gospel's but he shall receive an hundredfold, now in this time, houses and brethren and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with persecutions and in the world to come eternal life." If we lose temporal riches for Christ's sake, we gain eternal riches; if we lose an earthly home, we gain a heavenly home; if we lose worldly friends, we gain all the people of God as our friends; if we lose earthly parents, we gain God, our Heavenly Father; if we lose brothers or sisters, we gain as brothers and sisters all the children of God. It is no loss, therefore, to lose for Christ, but a gain. Therefore no sacrifice that may need to be made should deter us in deciding for Christ or in living Christian lives.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have the pastor open the discussion upon the topic.

BIBLE READINGS.

Math. xvi, 24-28; xxvi, 7-13; Mark viii, 34-38; Luke ix, 23-26; John xii, 24, 25; xix, 26, 27; I Cor. xv, 36; II Cor. xii, 7-10; Phil. ii, 1-12.

The Example of Christian Lives.

A good cause is helped by the good lives of its supporters. Especially true is this of the gospel cause. A man or woman in whose daily conduct at home, in society, in business circles, the Christian virtues are prominent is "a living epistle," a living exponent of that which is true and helpful. Some of the humblest people in the world so far as material possessions are concerned are exerting a wide influence because of their earnest faith, their deep love, their constant serving, which together prove them to be real disciples of the Master. And when these Christian characteristics are exhibited by those who occupy positions of prominence, of honor and responsibility, as is frequently the case, the cause of God and man is greatly strengthened and advanced. Christian character as well as action tells. Christian character in action counts for most of all.—Universalist Leader.

Without God's Presence.

God punishes sin by the withdrawal of His presence. The hardest punishment a sensitive and loving child can have is the withdrawal of the parent's face. The hiding of God's face is harder to bear than the heaviness of his hand. Sin clouds the soul and hides the face of God

HARPING ON HYGEIA ICE.

Our ice business is holding out in great shape. While that horrid old Weather Man kept making hot weather trying to make we mortals miserable we kept freezing ice to make we mortals comfortable. When the thermometer flirted around the Blood-Heat mark ice simply kept "running"—but our ice works kept running too, and we believe Mr. Hot Weather has found in Hygeia Ice his worst foe, and the people of Plainfield have found Hygeia their best and worthy friend.

Teere's no limit to Hygeia Ice. Order it and you're sure of having ice and the best ice that can be had.

SPORTING.

GOLF.

Tomorrow there will be the weekly competitions for the Mellick and Golf Committee cups at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. There promises to be a large field.

Tomorrow will see the regular weekly play for the President's cup at the Park Golf Club. While many of the members are out of town, it is expected that a goodly field of players will be on hand. The course is in fine condition, most of the fair green just having been cut.

The membership of the Westfield Golf Club is now complete and there are several names on the waiting list. The list was filled soon after the club was organized, but a number of resignations reduced the membership for a time. These places have since been filled, and the club has its full quota of members once more.

Play for the Hooley cup has developed quite a contest among the young women of the Park Golf Club. Miss Saidee Mae Howell now leads with Miss Daisy Elsberg, Miss Laura Long and Miss Mary Wells tied for second place. Miss Howell's lead is but a small one so far, and any one of the second group are likely to take the lead. Miss Howell has gone away for a few weeks and the others may succeed in passing her before she returns.

Senator Reed, chairman of the green committee of the Park Golf Club, has a change in mind which may be made to the course at the close of the playing season. He proposes to reduce the length of the second hole to 140 or 160 yards, only requiring an iron shot that will clear the ditch in order to make the green. The third hole, which is now only 296 yards long, would be lengthened to about 500. The opening between the trees and the ditch would make this long hole an exciting one as well. At present there is no really short hole on the course, while the longest one is more difficult on account of its hazards than because of its length. This change would make one short hole and one very long one. Both would be exciting enough not to be tiresome.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Westfield will play Roselle tomorrow at Westfield. There will be three new men on the Westfield team, Fieldburg, catcher, Kane, second base, and Lenz, third base.

The semi-professional team, the Cuban Giants, of Plainfield, will play at Westfield tomorrow afternoon. An exciting game is looked for as the opposing teams are about evenly matched.

Owing to a number of its members being out of the city or unable to play, the Clinton Avenue team has no game scheduled for tomorrow. Several players who are out of the city on vacations will probably be home during the week and the regular schedule will be taken up the following Saturday.

After several ineffectual attempts, the management of the Women's Baseball team has secured a game with an aggregation of players in this city styled the Orientals. The latter team will consist of a number of players who have played on local nines at odd times during the season. The game will be played tomorrow on the Clinton avenue grounds and will be called at 3:30.

Brit Martin, the popular second baseman of the Clinton Avenue team, played last Saturday with the Lindens in the same position. He did such good work that the management will probably retain him for the remainder of the season. His batting was exceptionally good. Out of four times at the bat he drove out one triple, one double and two singles. This equals the average of the Linden's best batsmen.

The batting order of the High Bridge team tomorrow will be as follows: Warne, cf; Grube, c; Kleckner, 2b; White, rf; Bradley, p; Neigh, lf; Morgan, 3b; Hefferman, 1b; Kinney, ss. The St. Mary's team will be as follows: Mack, ss; Angleman, cf; Keene, 3b; Winn, 1b; Taylor, lf; Doyle, p; Shannon, rf; Madden, 2b; Barry, c. In the event of the steel workers finding Doyle's delivery, Keeffe will be put in the box.

The Hope-New Providence game tomorrow, on the former's grounds, promises to be a fast contest. The New Providence team is one of the four which succeeded in defeating the Scotch Plains team this season, while the Hopes were vanquished twice by the latter. On the other hand the New Providence team has been beaten twice by the Clinton Avenue team, who, in turn, were defeated by the Hopes. Judging from these games, the coming contest will be one well worth witnessing. It will be called at 3:30.

There are a number of local rooters who, through a slight knowledge gained of the High Bridge baseball team, claim that that aggregation of players will shut out the St. Mary team in the game tomorrow. They have gone so far as to place considerable money on the result, but the chances are they will lose it. The St. Mary team has not been shut out this season, and it is not at all likely that the High Bridge team will be the first to do it. Instead of looking for a shut out, the local team is confident of winning. The St. Marys will leave for High Bridge at 2 o'clock.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

J. Emmons Henry, of Second street, and Isaac Vail, of Somerset street, will go to Long Island Sound for a fishing trip tomorrow.

Harry Dreier, of West Front street, spent Wednesday afternoon at Sewaren and returned home with seven fine weak fish. Some other Plainfielders also spent the day fishing and had good luck.

FIXED A DATE.

For The Emancipation Proclamation Celebration To Be Given At Vail's Grove.

At a meeting of colored citizens, held last evening in the rooms of the Plainfield Beneficial Association, on West Second street, it was unanimously decided to hold the proposed emancipation proclamation celebration on Thursday, August 29.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, who has been one of the chief promotors of the plan, did not favor the giving of a parade on account of the expense and this part of the day's exercises was given up. The exercises will begin in Vail's Grove, on West Fourth street, at 3 o'clock. A number of well known speakers will be present and make addresses.

The following committees were appointed: Arrangements, Spencer Conway, William Downs, William Phillips, D. W. Brown and John A. Scott; entertainment, William A. Kline, Charles Barbour, William Geeter, Samuel Fields, William Jones, William Douglass and Eugene Coles.

DEEDS RECORDED.

Have Been Recorded at the County Clerk's Office in Elizabeth.

The following deeds have been recorded in the office of the County Clerk at Elizabeth:

Katherine Embury, of Plainfield, to William F. Adams, of North Plainfield; 35 feet along east side of Astor place, 319.59 feet southwest from Clinton avenue, Plainfield, $1 00.

J. Frank Hubbard, guardian of John Roth, Plainfield, to Martin Roth, Jr., of the same place; 97 links along Exchange alley, corner of Randolph Dunham property, Plainfield, $95.

J. Frank Hubbard, guardian, etc., to Annie Blaich, of Plainfield; 80 feet along southwest side of Stebbins place, 120 feet southeast from corner of West Second street, Plainfield, $465.

Want to Go Again.

So successful was the trolley party to Sewaren, recently given by William Callahan, William Connolly and William Doyle, that their friends wish them to give another. It is possible they will decide to do so giving the party in about two weeks.

Sale At Yaeger's.

T. P. Nielson, of 132 Central avenue, will sell at public auction at Yaeger's auction rooms, West Front street, Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, some household furniture to recover the charges due him for repairing the same.

No Sermons.

During the present month the Sunday evening services at the First M E. church will be conducted by the Epworth League without a sermon. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Snodgrass, is expected to return by Sunday, September 1.

Former Judge W. R. Codington and family, of Sandford avenue, left yesterday for Maine, where they will remain for a few weeks.

PENNSY SHOPS MAY MOVE.

BELIEVED THAT THEY MAY BE LOCATED IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

New Brunswick Times Tells of Reasons For These Rumors That Are Quite Persistent.

The efforts of agents of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to buy large quantities of land in the vicinity of the round house, where its new freight yards are being built, and also beyond the Mile Run brook, have caused, says the New Brunswick Times, a number of persistent rumors to be circulated within the past few days to the effect that the company intends to transfer its big repair shops from Jersey City to New Brunswick within a comparatively short time. It may take even two, three or five years for this to be done, but it is said that it will ultimately take place.

Within a short time the railroad company has negotiated for the purchase of five acres of the McMurtry estate which adjoins the round house property.

It is also claimed that the company has attempted to purchase the old buildings and grounds of the defunct New Brunswick foundry. This is located near the other property mentioned and it is probable that the railroad company would be able to make good use of the brick buildings in connection with its repair shops. Efforts have also been made by the company to buy land on the east side of the tracks above the Mile Run Brook. Even more land than has been taken on the west side of tracks is sought there.

When all that the company is after is obtained it will own an immense area. The repair shops of the company at Jersey City occupy a vast amount of space, but the land is undoubtedly needed now for other purposes. If the repair shops were brought to New Brunswick the action would mean that nearly a thousand skilled workmen and their families would also come to that town.

HIT BY FLYING STONE.

Peculiar Accident Which Resulted In the Injury of an Italian Laborer.

An Italian laborer, employed in Lawrence Doyle's section gang on the railroad, was injured yesterday afternoon in a peculiar manner. While the Italian and his fellow employes were standing a short distance away from one of the passenger tracks, a large stone was hurled out from in under a passing Blue Line flyer. It struck the man in the stomach, cutting a deep gash and rendering him partially unconscious.

The injured man was assisted to his home on Cottage place where medical treatment was given. The gash inflicted was serious, but will not result fatally.

A Plague of Dandelions.

Bozeman, and, in fact, the whole of Gallatin county, is afflicted with a scourge of dandelions. They are to be seen in every garden, and in nearly every field in the county. In the summer the little globes of fluffy, cotton-like substance, containing the seeds of the dandelion, float through the air and alight in every nook and corner. No matter how poor the soil the dandelion flourishes. Old-timers say that 30 or 35 years ago there was not a dandelion in the country. A farmer's wife some 30 years ago longed for dandelion greens and she sent to friends in the east and asked them to send out some seed. They complied with her request and the seeds took root in the lady's garden. They spread from the garden into the lane which runs by the ranch and in the summer either side is a yellow mass of flowers, and later it looks like a miniature cotton-field. When the winds come the little puff balls of seeds are blown hither and thither, and now the plants are the worst evil in the country.—Anaconda (Mont.) Standard.

Hindu Belief.

When the land is contaminated, men should, at the time of milking cows, let the milk fall directly on the ground and moisten it. They should also fast. Deeds of charity and sacrifices in behalf of ancestors should be performed in every house, village and city. For "impiety is the root of all diseases." So says Charaka, the highest authority in medical science. The planets should be propitiated. The observance of these good rules will create in man a kind of psychic force which will purify the tainted soil, water, etc., and render them wholesome. Vishnu should be worshiped in every house with offerings of leaves of tulasi. Such holy observances will put an end to all pestilential diseases like the bubonic plague, malarial fever, cholera, etc. There will be timely showers of rain, followed by abundant harvests; men will pass their lives in the enjoyment of health and peace. Nothing else can contribute to the happiness of mankind.—Calcutta Indian Mirror.

Spider Time in Manila.

The Filipino boy does not know much about marbles, but when spider time arrives, just after the rainy season begins, he knows that he is to have sport.

There are two harmless spiders, green and yellow, that mature in June. They are as large as a common black spider. The Filipino boy catches these and keeps them in a box. A small rod like a knitting needle is procured. A spider is placed on the rod. Another boy bets a cent that his spider will whip. The challenger produces his spider and places it on the rod with the other. Both spiders make a rush for each other and a battle ensues.—Philadelphia Press.

A Wise Precaution.

The refusal to permit a single five mongoose to be landed in this country seems absurd, but when we remember Australia's experience with the English rabbit, the destruction caused in Massachusetts by the progeny of a few moths which escaped from a scientist's study, our own plague of English sparrows, and the ravages of this same mongoose in Jamaica, where it was originally imported from its home in India, it must be acknowledged that no precautions against the introduction of foreign pests can be too stringent.—Philadelphia Ledger.

SOLD HETFIELD ESTATE.

Real Estate Disposed Of At Auction, Yesterday, By Order Of The Commissioners.

Six parcels of property, comprising the estate of Daniel Hetfield, were sold by auction, yesterday, by order of the commissioners, John H. Van Winkle, John H. Darby and Robert H. Cook. There was a good crowd in attendance and the bidding at times was spirited. The prices realized were satisfactory to both parties of the sale.

The Hetfield farm of ninety-eight acres, in Fanwood township, comprising four tracts, was sold to the decedent's son, William Hetfield, for $3,860. Eleven acres of ground on Terrill road was sold to John McGinley for $435. The house and lot at 131 East Second street was purchased by A. D. Findlay for $2,950. The latter purchase is considered a good bargain.

J. B. Coward is attorney for the commissioners, and Hezekiah Hand was auctioneer.

FIVE THOUSAND WERE AT BAND CONCERT.

First Open Air Concert In The City Park Was a Great Success.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME.

ORDERLY CROWD FILLED THE PARK AND LINED ADJACENT STREETS.

All Were Pleased With The Music And The Arrangements At The Park—No Unpleasant Features To Mark The Evening's Pleasure.

Fully 5,000 people from every part of the city and many of the surrounding towns, heard last evening one of the finest band concerts ever rendered in Plainfield. Its rendition was made possible by the unceasing efforts of Leader Ben LaVere, and the congratulations showered upon him at the close showed not a little the appreciation of the public. It was practically the first musical entertainment of a public nature that has been enjoyed by the citizens in some time. Twice before this season have concerts been given, but both took place in the street with its consequent discomfort to listeners.

At the City Park, between West Eighth and Ninth streets, where last evening's concert was held, there was nothing of an objectionable nature preceding or at any time during the concert. Long before the hour announced for its commencement, the pretty plot of ground was in possession of an orderly, expectant crowd. The few stationary benches were eagerly sought after and appropriated, while many of the more thoughtful ones brough camp stools and chairs with them. Scores of people seated themselves on the green grass beneath the tall trees and enjoyed the music undisturbed, but the majority congregated about the bandstand.

The ever present small boy was there, of course. In fact, there were several of him, but for once he did not make himself a nuisance. Not only was the Park filled by the ever increasing throng, but verandas for blocks around, were occupied by parties during the entire evening.

Eighteen members comprised the band. The selections rendered were simply grand. There were classical selections familiar to all musicians, entrancing waltzes and popular melodies which set everyone to humming the chorus and beating time. The waltz concert, "Southern Roses" by Strauss, made a decided hit, while the descriptive piece, "The Night Alarm" and the selection, "The Telephone Girl" were equally well received.

The only solo of the evening was rendered by the popular cornetist, Albert C. Sweet. He gave in his usual excellent manner, "The Holy City" and for an encore, "I Live for Thee." The long applause where greeted him at the close showed that he still maintains his hold upon the Plainfield public.

At the close of the concert it was the thought of everyone that the Park is the place for the concerts that may be given in the future. The music could be heard to better advantage and with more comfort, there were no tedious waits for the purpose of prolonging the music and aiding hotel keepers, and there was no congestion of traffic as there has always been in street concerts.

But while Mr. LaVere prefers to play in the Park, it requires considerable funds to carry out the project, and it was for this reason that he relied upon the generosity of those in attendance to assist in giving another concert. While the amount received was quite large, it was by no means enough to provide for one next week and the date cannot yet be announced. In all probability private subscriptions will swell the list until the required amount is obtained. If so, a second concert will be given in the Park as soon as the sum is received.

All Are Invited.

A day at the seashore is one of the pleasures offered to Plainfielders. Trinity Reformed church and Sunday-school will go to Asbury Park, Thursday, August 8, and they extend a cordial invitation to their friends to accompany them and have a good time.

Lead Meeting At Camp

Rev Daniel H. Clare, of Waverly, N. Y., who will preach at The Park Avenue Babtist church tomorrow, will also lead the meeting at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp in the afternoon. A number of Plainfielders will probably attend.

PLANS FOR HOSPITAL.

Architects Are Preparing Plans For the New Hospital Buildings

During the past few weeks several well-known architects have been busily engaged in drafting plans for the new hospital buildings that the Board of Governors proposes to erect on property purchased on Park avenue.

The plans have all been placed in the hands of the proper persons, the time limit being up Thursday evening. The work of making a selection will doubt require considerable time, and it will probably be several weeks before the result is known.

NO ACTION EXPECTED ON TAX RATE CHANGE.

Subject Is Not Likely To Come Up At Monday Evening's Council Meeting.

RATE TO BE APPROVED LATER

HOW THE FINANCE COMMITTEE PLANS TO MEET EXPENSES.

There Will Be More Revenue Than The Year's Actual Tax—Two Big Properties Must Settle Back Taxes—Then the Franchise Tax.

It is not at all likely that anything will be done at Monday evening's Common Council meeting, about the tax rate for next year. That subject will probably come before the Council at a special meeting on the third Monday in August when it is customary for the Council to examine the assessors' books and make such changes as the members of the Council may desire.

It seems the general opinion that, as long as the Council's finance committee has fixed upon a tax rate lower than that set by the county board of assessors, it is not likely that any citizens will make any attempt to question the right of the committee to fix a rate different than that made by the county board. Had it been otherwise, however, it seemed quite likely that the subject would be dragged into the courts for final settlement. If no citizens take up the matter, it is hardly likely that the county board will act, in which case the city's right to fix its own tax rate will go unquestioned.

To a Daily Press reporter, a member of the finance committee explained this morning that while, apparently, the city was sailing very close to the wind in allowing such a trifling balance for uncollectable taxes, provision had really been made for a greater amount. There are two big properties, he explained, which are now held by the city under the provisions of the Martin Act. Within the next year these will either be redeemed or the city will acquire a full title of them. In the latter case these properties, which are quite valuable, could be disposed of by the city and add quite a substantial sum to the city's treasury. If redeemed, the money will go to the city anyway. This action will have to be taken soon so that the money will reach the city either one way or the other.

The franchise tax is still before the courts of the State to decide whether or not it is constitutional. The city assessors have so far made no attempt to levy it here in Plainfield. If the law is declared constitutional, the speaker explained that the city would be able to take advantage of it and make a substantial addition to the year's income.

There would, he continued, however, be a very active campaign on the part of City Collector Frank H. Smith to secure as much as possible of the taxes due the city. A very energetic campaign will be waged against delinquents in personal and poll taxes. On the very day they become delinquent, the collector and his assistants will begin to hustle and they will not stop until the taxes are paid or the delinquents lodged in jail. Collector Smith showed last winter and spring what could be accomplished and the same method of proceedure will be followed this time.

Nineteen New Members.

Freedom Council, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, initiated nineteen candidates, at its last meeting. This order is one of the most rapid growing lodges in the city, and it still has a large number of applicants who will be put through the steps.

Popular Preacher.

Rev. D. H. Clare, of Waverly, N. Y., one of the most popular supplies of previous years at the Park Avenue Baptist church, has again been secured to preach at the service tomorrow morning.

PREPARING TO REVISE NEW JERSEY'S LAWS.

Supreme Court Justices Dixon and Fort and C. L. Corbin Will Do the Work.

LAWYERS MUCH PLEASED.

IT WILL KEEP COMMISSIONERS BUSY FOR TWO YEARS.

The Last Revision Was Made in 1877—Many Complications Have Since Been Made—Now Fill Three Bulky Volumes

Every Plainfield lawyer who has had occasion to pore over the bulky volumes which contain the general statutes of the State, is greatly pleased at the prospect of having these laws reduced to portable and convenient form. The appointment by Gov. Voorhees of a commission to perform the work shows that the Governor is in earnest to accomplish what the members of the legal profession in New Jersey have long desired. The men chosen by the Governor are two Justices of the Supreme Court, Jonathan Dixon and J. Frank Fort, who will be assisted by Charles L. Corbin, a well-known lawyer of Jersey City. Their mission, according to the phraseology of the appointment, is to "revise and codify" the existing laws and thus make them plainer and more easily interpreted than they are at present.

The last revision of the statutes was in 1877, when a commission composed of Mercer Beasley, David A. Depue and Cortlandt Parker was selected for that purpose. As a proof of the thoroughness with which that work was done, it needs only to be said that their revision has stood for nearly twenty-five years, and this later revision has become imperative only through the multitudinous accumulation of pamphlet laws which the Legislature each year calls into being.

Although the last revision of the statutes was in 1877, Garret D. W. Vroom and William M. Lanning were named in 1894 to compile the vast accumulation of laws that were then unclassified and existing only in book form. The work was well done, but its failure to place the statutes before the people in a simple, condensed form was owing to the fact that instead of being revised the laws were compiled, classified, and the superfluous sections, and many that are said to be inconesistent, were allowed to remain to burden the books with additional pages and leave points on which judges and lawyers could disagree.

The present statutes of this state are comprised in three bulky volumes, which contain, with the index, 4 098 pages. These pages are given up to laws upon about 1,000 subjects. The men who performed this compilation fulfilled their mission, which was to compile, not revise, and sifted and classified the acts extant since the last revision. But instead of clear, logical, simple condensation, most of the titles reveal large numbers of separate acts drawn without any apparent regard for each other, often covering the very same subject matter, only in different ways and other language.

Former Governor Griggs, in his annual message to the Legislature in 1897, said: "These volumes are incomprehensible to the layman and to the judges and lawyers of doubtful meaning." To illustrate his honor's meaning, suppose a man, unacquainted with the laws pertaining to townships, decided to study up this branch of government in the statutes. To acquaint himself with the subject he must read 146 different statutes, coverring nearly 100 pages. Should he become a member of a township committee, and without practical knowledge of his duties and powers, he would have to go over the statutes already referred to, then read many other subjects to find matter bearing upon his office. The division upon "Fire and Police" contains many references to the jurisdiction of township officers. Then he must acquaint himself with the laws relating to fences and boundaries, his jurisdiction in regard to roads, etc. The statutes relating to roads number 135 acts and occupy 154 pages, although it is said that the whole subject could be covered in a dozen.

A subject to which more space has been devoted in the compilation, yet one upon which the layman is often prone to inquire, is in relation to the laws of assessments. There are 240 different statutes on this subdivision, embracing 823 sections, and covering

BUT LOCAL DEALERS HAVE MADE NO RETAIL ADVANCE.

Impossible For Local Coal Dealers to Control Prices Which Depend on Wholesale Rates.

The local coal dealers received notice yesterday informing them of a rise of ten per cent. in the wholesale price of coal. This is in accordance with a notice issued last spring that there would be an increase of ten per cent. monthly for perhaps six months. The dealers at present are selling coal for $5.50, and so far as can be learned there is no disposition on their part of increasing the retail price just now. At Somerville, it is understood that the dealers are charging $6 per ton.

A good many people are inclined to blame the local dealers for any increase in the price of coal but as a matter of fact, they have nothing to do with it. They are just as much in the dark regarding an increase as the consumer. There have been cases where dealers have sold several tons of coal to an individual and immediately afterward the wholesale price has dropped fifteen or twenty-five per cent. or been increased that much. They scarcely know when they are going to be losers or gainers. The people that regulate the price have no consideration for the dealer or the consumer.

Coal matters have now reached that point that the dealer only knows from month to month what the ruling price will be. One dealer informed a Daily Press representative, yesterday, that in ordering a thousand tons of coal he is likely to get it all or part of it at a certain price. If he gets half at one price, the balance is likely to be furnished at an increase. Still, he has the option of taking it or cancelling the order for the balance.

If consumers, who order several tons of coal for the winter, would have the same delivered at once, it would give the dealer an opportunity to empty his bins and take advantage of a reduction in the wholesale price. One thing is certain, that is the price of coal will not be any cheaper for months to come, and the chances are it may be higher before fall. It is a question of guess, pure and simple, and time alone will tell.

HOME FROM MANILA.

The First Experience for J. W. Hewitt Was Not a Wonderfully Pleasant One.

J. W. Hewitt, of the borough, who has been serving Uncle Sam in the Philippines as a musician, has just returned home. Yesternay afternoon he was practicing on his cornet, when some children who live nearby began to torment him. Not taking kindly to this sort of treatment, he went after the children and threatened to do all sorts of things. The result was that Hewitt was arrested and a charge of drunk and disorderly was preferred.

Last evening Recorder Dodd held court and Hewitt was arraigned before him. He was in a better frame of mind and entered a plea of guilty. A fine of $3 was imposed and soon paid. Hewitt said that he had been engaged to play at the band concert last evening and he was released in time to keep his engagement.

TO BUILD BRIDGE

Freeholder Westphal Is Chairman of Committee In Charge Of Construction Of Bridge.

Freeholder William Westphal, of this city, has been made chairman of a committee, whose duty it shall be to look after the construction of a bridge over Cedar brook on Netherwood avenue. The other members of the committee are Messrs. Scudder, Robinson, King and Gerstung.

For some time past the culvert, and in fact, the whole structure at that point has been in an unsatisfactory condition and unsafe for traffic. It is proposed to construct a double line of pipe the entire width of the roadway, which is forty feet. When the proposed work is completed there will be no further danger, and a perfectly safe structure will be erected.

WM. H. CHASE DEAD

Former Plainfielder Died Yesterday at Hospital at Bayonne.

William H. Chase, son of former Chief of Police Winfield S. Chase, of this city, died yesterday at the Bayonne hospital, where he had been for some time suffering with typhoid fever. He was in his twenty-eighth year and had hosts of friends in this city, where he lived until a short time ago. He leaves a wife and three children.

The funeral services will be held at 29 West Twentieth street, Bayonne, tomorrow at 12 o'clock. Interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery, Elizabeth.

LITTLE BUSINESS DONE BY BOROUGH COUNCIL.

Cleared Up a Number of the Minor Matters at August Meeting Last Evening.

STREET SIGNS ARE RECEIVED

ASSESSOR'S BOOKS SHOW $40,000 INCREASE IN VALUATION.

Meeting Was Late In Starting as the Mayor and Four Councilmen Were at a Turtle Supper—$1,381 27 Expended on the Streets.

It was nearly 9:30 o'clock last evening when Mayor Smalley called the regular August meeting of the Borough Council to order. The lateness of the hour was not difficult to explain, because His Honor and Councilmen Clark, Swackhamer, Coddington and Lee had been enjoying a turtle supper given by Charles P. Sebring, at Sebring's Mills, and they were detained. However, the business of the evening was of little importance and it only required a half-hour to transact it.

Among the petitions was one from Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, who asked for permission to erect an iron pole at the corner of Somerset and Chatham streets, upon which to erect a sign advertising the various meetings at the chapel. The matter was referred. The other and only petition was from the electric light company notifying the Council that six lights had been located as directed.

The report of the collector and treasurer was as follows: Taxes and interest, $83.73; Board of Health, $1 32; special school, $36 38; bills by note, $1,500; rent from property sold for taxes, $27; transferred from borough to Watchung avenue account, $35; fines, $13; on hand, July 1, $633 37; total, $2,329.77; disbursements, $1,220 13; on hand, August 1, $1,109 64.

Mr. Clark, of the street committee, reported the expenditure of $1,381 27 during the past month for work on streets. There were 197 tons of stone used. The amount expended includes that for work on Somerset street.

Mr. Lee, chairman of the marshal committee, reported that during July there were nine arrests. Three were for drunkenness and two for disorderly conduct, while four were for taking off clothing while going in swimming.

The ordinance refunding Watchung avenue bonds was adopted on third reading, and Clerk Bowley submitted proofs of advertising the same. The books of Assessor Elston M. French were presented, according to custom, to the Council. They will be examined in the near future.

The books of the assessor will show an increase in valuation of about $40,000, $20,000 of which is due to natural causes, such as building and improvements, while the other half is due to the law which prohibits the swearing off on indebtedness. However, deductions are still allowed on personal property in accordance with an old law. The borough tax rate cannot be determined until after the County Board of Assessors meets at Somerville in September. It is believed though that the rate will be slightly decreased. Owing to the improvement of county roads it is expected that the county rate will be increased, while it is believed that the school tax will be decreased about 10 per cent. The county rate may be increased about that per cent.

Owing to some mistake regarding a bill of Boice, Runyon & Co., for cement, Mr. Clark moved that when the bill is corrected it be paid. Mr. Nichols presented bills, amounting to about $2,500, which were ordered paid. This necessitated the borrowing of some money, and here offered a resolution which provided for the borrowing of $2,000 for five months.

Mr. Clark stated that the borough street signs had arrived and would be put in position during the present month. After Mr. Northrop moved that when the Council adjourn it be to meet Tuesday evening, August 13, the Council adjourned.

Retail Clerks In Session.

The Retail Clerk's Association held its regular meeting last night. Routine business was transacted, after which the members expressed their opinions about the situation in the early closing fight. No business of importance came before the session.

H. G. Runkle and family, of West Eighth street, who have been stopping at Hotel Champlain, Clinton county, N. Y., have gone to Saranac Inn, Franklin county, N. Y.

SPENT THE NIGHT.

Went to Hear the Concert and Stayed at City Park All Night.

Henry Franklin, of New York, was found by Patrolman McGinley, at 2 o'clock this morning, slumbering peacefully in the City Park. He could give no satisfactory account of himself and was locked up.

To City Judge Runyon this morning he explained that he had gone to hear the concert and finding a soft spot on the grass, he decided to hold it for the night. As there was no disorder connected with the case, sentence was suspended.

CASHED CHECK FOR STRANGE YOUNG MAN.

Bound Brook Merchant Thought His Customer Was Son of Tammany Chieftain.

CHECK DECLARED A FRAUD.

YOUNG MAN SAID HE WAS TOURING IN AUTOMOBILE.

Ruined His Suit, He Said, Repairing the Machine, and Wanted Another—Paid With Check on a New York Bank.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, August 3.—For the last few days citizens of this place have been boasting of the fact that, Tuesday, Bound Brook was honored for a few hours with a visit from Frank Croker, the son of the Tammany Chieftain, and more than that he had patronized some of the local stores. These boasters received a severe shock this morning when they learned that the checks which the stranger gave were worthless.

The swindler was young and well dressed and bore a resemblance to young Croker. He did not attempt to conceal the fact that he was Croker's son and took the attention, resulting from the fact becoming known, as a matter of course. He talked politics freely and even went so far as to discuss political affairs in New York City.

The first place he visited was the men's furnishing and clothing store of A. E. Giddes. To Mr. Giddes he said that he was touring New Jersey in his automobile and was spending a few hours with Cashier Herbert, of the First National Bank, whom he knew very well. Some of the mechanism of his auto had become deranged and, in making the necessary repairs, his clothing had become badly soiled. He wished to purchase a new suit and had been directed to this store as a good place to be fitted out. Would Mr. Giddes sell him a suit and take his check in payment, as he was short of funds?

Of course, Mr. Giddes agreed as the sight of the Croker millions loomed up vividly before him. After being completely fitted out and giving his check in payment, the stranger visited the shop of Morris Rosenthal, a bicycle repairer. There his story was the same except that he wished Rosenthal to repair his auto. He was unable to get a check cashed there, however.

The checks were drawn on the Twelfth Ward National Bank, of New York, and were written in a bold business hand.

This morning the check given Giddes was returned by the New York bank with the word "fraud" stamped across its face. It is thought that other merchants were victimized but have not let their loss become known. Cashier Herbert says that he has never met young Croker, and that no such person had ever called at his home.

MR. DRAKE WITHDRAWS.

Will Start Independent Scheme of Automobile Stages in Plainfield.

S. D. Drake has withdrawn from the automobile company whose purpose was to operate automobiles in this city. He claims the company has not kept its word and he will have nothing more to do with the concern. He is now closing a deal with the Mobile Wagonette Company and says handsome wagonettes will be running in this city by October 1. Each wagonette will have a capacity for carrying sixteen people.

Change In Preachers.

Rev. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago, who was to have occupied the pulpit of the Crescent Avenue church tomorrow, has been taken ill in the Adirondacks. His place will be taken by Rev. Dr. Hubbell, of Central avenue.

Rev. W. Montgomery Downey, of Washington avenue, is spending his vacation at Merrick, L. I.

COMPANY K STARTS FOR HOME TODAY.

Will Break Camp At Sea Girt This Afternoon And Return By Special Car.

HAPPENINGS OF LAST DAY.

HOT TIME ON THE COMPANY STREET LAST EVENING.

There Were Sham Battles Thursday And Friday—More Target Practice At The Rifle Range—Company Of Engineers In Camp.

Camp Voorhees, Sea Girt, August 3—The last hours of Company K's visit to Camp Voorhees are here. Today they go to mess at 11 o'clock and break camp soon after noon. Then will come the journey home where the company will probably arrive in the neighborhood of 3 or 4 o'clock. A special car will be provided to carry them direct from here to Plainfield.

There was little sleeping done in Company K's street last night. As it was the last night in camp, the boys felt that it should be thoroughly enjoyed. Reading in the Daily Press that you were going to have a band concert, the boys decided to have one too and so several of the musicians were enlisted in the effort to furnish the good time. There were some of the boys who had not yet been initiated and, as it seemed a shame that they should leave camp without a taste of it, they were properly cared for by the "officers of the night" and his faithful minions. There was lots of singing early in evening and many wierd stunts before the last of the boys fell asleep early this morning.

The extended order drill by companies, which is really a sham battle, was the chief event of Thursday and yesterday. Blank cartridges were served out and the boys fought a long and hard battle with an imaginary enemy. They greatly enjoyed it although it was rather hard work especially yesterday when the sun developed considerable heat.

Several large regiments of mosquitoes swooped down on the camp Thursday and the boys found them a very strenuous foe. It grew quite chilly Thursday evening, however, and the mosquitoes flew away to warmer climes.

Private Harsell came down to camp Wednesday night. He had been ill before coming here. During the extended drill he was taken quite ill and had to be carried to the hospital tent on a stretcher. He has since fully recovered. The health of the camp still remains excellent and nobody appeared at the hospital this morning when the buglers blew the hospital call.

Most of the members of Companies K and L went down to the rifle range Thursday afternoon and had target practice. They formed in skirmish line and fired at life size figures of men. Some of the boys are doing remarkably well with their Springfields, and have been commended for their accurate shooting.

A company of the State engineer corps from Jersey City arrived here Thursday. There are sixty of them altogether and a fine looking lot of fellows. They gave the boys of Company K a little excitement the first night they were here. A huge bon fire was built on the beach back of the rifle range to give them light to bathe by. The boys in camp saw it and thought it was a ship on fire. There was a wild stampede for the beach where they discovered the cause of it all.

PULPIT SUPPLIES.

Those to Preach at First Baptist Church in Absence of the Pastor.

The Lord's Supper will be observed at the First Baptist church tomorrow morning at 10:45 o'clock. Following the services tomorrow, Rev. Dr. Yerkes, pastor, will take his usual summer vacation. During his absence the pulpit will be supplied August 11 and 18, by Rev. J. M. Stifler, of Crozier Theological Seminary; August 25, by Rev. H. F. Stilwell, of St. Paul, Minn.; September 1, by Rev. E. S. VanNess, of Winona, Minn.

In Honor Of His Birthday.

In honor of his birthday, Howard Mason, of East Ninth street, was given a pleasant surprise party by twelve of his friends Thursday evening. Games, cards and music formed a delightful combination to while away several hours. Before leaving for home the guests were served with refreshments. The affair was arranged by the young man's aunt, Mrs. Noe.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Compares Favorably With Same Month Last Year.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Failures in July were 697 in number against 793 last year and $7,085,933 in amount of liabilities against $9,771,775 in 1900. There were 155 defaults in manufacturing for $3,240,128, compared with 183 for $5,177,682 a year ago, and 508 traders owing $3,353,914 against $50 with liabilities of $3,324,366 last year. Miscellaneous commercial defaults, not properly included in either of the foregoing classes, were 34 in number and $441,891 in amount, compared with 60 for $1,269,727 in 1900. Banking defaults alone exhibited a material gain over last year, aggregating $765,000 against $201,000.

Last month's record of mercantile mortality is especially gratifying in view of the many disturbing events, for strikes and corn losses caused alarm among merchants and almost a panic in speculative markets; hence there is encouragement in smaller liabilities than in any preceding July since these records were begun with the single exception of 1899, when defaults were the lightest in any month of the past 94, only excepting May of the same year.

Continued favorable weather conditions have resulted in the saving of much late corn, and in the northwest ideal weather for spring wheat has been enjoyed. Violent fluctuations have marked the course of corn prices. The top point of the previous week was not regained, but traders on the short side of the market were compelled to cover at a loss. Clever manipulation has been conspicuous throughout the season, and holders of old corn have received high prices for the week's receipts of 2,413,602 bushels.

Wheat is of less interest to speculators, but in legitimate trading it is exceptionally active, western receipts for the week reaching 6,508,311 bushels against 5,020,761 last year and 4,734,363 two years ago, while Atlantic exports were 4,815,996 bushels against 2,373,798 in 1900 and 3,765,787 in 1899.

Official returns of pig iron production in the first half of the year show a record breaking aggregate of 7,674,713 tons, exceeding the remarkable output of the previous year by 32,044 tons. The second half of 1901 has opened with a much greater capacity of active furnaces, and the full year promises a considerably larger total than the 13,789,242 tons produced in 1900.

Dealers in some drought stricken districts have countermanded orders for footwear, and these cancellations are felt mainly by western markets; but, as a whole, the industry is in a healthy position. New England shops frequently decline orders that request delivery before November, indicating full employment for several months. The local jobbing trade is remarkably active for the season.

Lynching In Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 3.—With a rope around his neck and death before him Charley Bentley, a negro, confessed to the murder of Jim Vann, alias Williams, a white man, and was hanged by a mob near Leeds, Ala., in St. Clair county. The body was riddled with bullets. At the time of the lynching the coroner of St. Clair county was at dinner at a house near by, having just finished an investigation of the death of Vann. The jury returned a verdict fixing the responsibility for the murder on Charley Bentley. Members of the mob learned of the verdict, and a crowd quickly gathered around the prisoner and, unheeding his pleas for mercy, hanged him to a limb of a tree.

To Quell Dust With Oil.

LACROSSE, Wis., Aug. 3.—The Chicago and Northwestern Railway company is trying the use of oil as a dust preventative and if successful will adopt it on the entire system. Five miles of double track were selected for the experiment, 2,000 gallons of crude oil being used to the mile. Pictures taken before and after using show a great improvement, the oil seeming to do away with the dust question. It is sprinkled along the road from a car operated like a street sprinkler. The first year's cost is $100 a mile and after that $50.

Newfoundland Legislature.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 3.—The Newfoundland legislative assembly closed its session yesterday afternoon. The governor, Sir Cavendish Boyle, in the course of his speech announced that the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy would be installed along the Labrador coast at an early date. He also foreshadowed the great benefits to result to the colony from the adjustment of the long existing controversy between the government and Mr. Reid, the contractor, by the passage of the recent contract.

Dog Owners Arrested.

GREENWICH, Conn., Aug. 3.—Warrants have been issued by the selectmen of Greenwich against 200 citizens, including several prominent New Yorkers, charging failure to license dogs. Three arrests were made yesterday, and two of the defendants paid costs and registered their dogs. The other refused not only to register his dog, but as well to pay a fine and costs amounting to $16.30. He was taken to Bridgeport jail, where he will work out the fine at the rate of $1 per day.

Bostonian Got William's Autograph.

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—It seems that when Emperor William visited the excursion steamer Augusta Victoria of the Hamburg-American line in Liardalsoeren bay, Norway, the Austrian Countess Kielmannsegg begged his majesty's autograph to be raffled for the benefit of the ship's musicians and crew. The raffle yielded 4,036 marks, G. H. Mifflin of Boston being the winner.

Large Shipyard on the Gulf.

MOBILE, Aug. 3—Alabamaport, 30 miles south of Mobile on the gulf of Mexico, is to have a shipbuilding plant to cost $4,000,000 and capable of building six steamships at one time. The work of construction will begin in November and will be rushed to completion. The plant when finished will employ 3,000 hands.

Family's Fatalities Due to Wells.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 3.—At Paintsville, Ky., Alonzo Ward was killed by gas while cleaning out his well. His sister was drowned about the same hour in her father's well on an adjoining farm. A brother of Ward was drowned last week in the well in which the sister perished.

Thieves at Peekskill, N. Y.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Aug. 3.—A gang of daring burglars blew open two big safes in this village and wrecked one building with nitroglycerin.

RECORD STILL LOWER

Cresceus Trots a Mile at Columbus, O., In 2:02 1-4.

NEW LAURELS FOR THE CHAMPION.

Ketcham's Wonderful Stallion Beats Last Week's Performance by a Half Second In the Face of a Strong Wind.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 3.—Cresceus, champion of the trotting turf, added more laurels to his fame yesterday by trotting a mile in 2:02¼, reducing by one-half second his week old record of 2:02¾, made at Cleveland last Friday. The first half was trotted in 59¾ seconds, the first time that the distance has been covered in less than one minute by a trotter. The time by quarters was 0:29¾, 0:59¾, 1:30¼ and 2:02¼. Only a stiff wind blowing directly up the stretch kept Cresceus from stepping faster than 2:02. More than 12,000 people journeyed to Driving park to see the great trotter in action. It was a brilliant assemblage, and intense enthusiasm for the horse was manifested. The weather at noon was unpromising. The sky was lowering and overcast, and a few drops of rain fell, but not enough to hurt the track, which was in excellent condition, or to keep the crowd away.

In the overnight pool selling a great deal of money went into the box at odds of $25 to $17 on time against the trotter. At the track, owing to the fierce wind, the odds against the horse increased to $25 to $8, but the backers of Cresceus were game and took the short end as long as pools were sold. George Ketcham appeared on the track with Cresceus a little before 3 o'clock. The horse and driver were royally received, and Mr. Ketcham was forced to lift his cap as they passed the stand. The champion jogged three miles slower than three minutes and one in 2:22. An hour later he came out again and after scoring several times stepped a mile in 2:25. Still later he worked out for the last time in 2:15½.

It was evident that the wind would not decrease before dark, and at 5:40 o'clock the stallion was brought out for the last time.

On the fifth score Ketcham nodded for the word, but Cresceus was not in his stride, and he pulled up at the first turn to try it again. Down to the wire he rushed, the runner two lengths behind, and this time it was a go. Gamely facing the breeze the champion started on his journey, moving with apparent ease and at his greatest speed.

The runner caught him at the quarter, and a shout went up from the throng as the time went up, a quarter of a second less than 30. Now the wind was at his back, and, realizing the advantage, Ketcham kept him at his great clip. The half mile pole was passed in 59¾ seconds, a record never before attained, and here the second runner caught him up. Into the far turn and around it the great stallion rushed. The three-quarter pole was reached in 1:30¼.

Then came the great trial, for as Cresceus turned into the stretch the bitter wind beat him in the face and held him back by force. For the fraction of a second he seemed to falter, but his driver's voice encouraged him, and on he came. With indomitable courage he plunged in toward the finish with unweakened stride, and, in spite of weariness and the buffeting of the breeze, he flashed under the wire a winner against time.

But for the wind it is believed his time would have been a second faster. It was the most wonderful mile ever trotted on any track.

Columbia and Independence to Race.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 3.—The Columbia and Independence will race again today over a triangular course in the second contest of this series of the Newport Yacht Racing association. On the result the future of the Boston boat largely depends. If she is beaten decisively, it is uncertain what disposition will be made of the yacht. If she wins, it is understood that she will be invited to compete against the Constitution and Columbia in several races which are likely to be arranged very soon by some of the leading clubs in Long Island sound.

Jeffries-Ruhlin Fight Given Up

SAVANNAH, Aug. 3.—The proposed plan to bring Jeffries and Ruhlin to Savannah next fall for a scientific exhibition has been abandoned. The promoters of the scheme have been given to understand that the engagement of the fighters at San Francisco will prevent their appearance in Savannah.

NO SIGNS OF PEACE.

Steel Workers and Trust Magnates Again Meet.

CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK TODAY.

Yesterday's Meeting Was Entirely Secret, and No Word Was Dropped to Indicate What Was Done—Strikers Lose Ground.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 3.—Judging by indications that are practically facts peace or war in the steel troubles will be announced from New York city today. When the Amalgamated association executive board adjourned last evening President Shaffer announced that another meeting would be held. A meeting is in session today of a portion of the board, but the national officers are in New York. They left for that city last night on the Pennsylvania limited at 10 o'clock. The circumstances leading up to this unexpected trip, while not officially made known, are evident enough to substantiate the story which follows:

During the day many telegrams were received at the association conference rooms, the last coming just before adjournment, and it was answered promptly. This answer was in all probability the announcement to the New York people that the trip would be made by the officials, carrying out an arrangement entered into at Veryl Preston's rooms in the Hotel Henry a short time before.

At about 4:15 p. m. Messrs. Shaffer, Williams and Chappelle went to Mr. Preston's rooms and were closeted with him for about 30 minutes. The understanding is that at this meeting Mr. Preston made known the combine's only concession in the matter of reopening the wage conference where it left off three weeks ago. This concession was in the shape of a demand that if a new conference is granted it must be specifically stated beforehand what is expected to be accomplished, what ground is to be covered and what companies are to participate.

This brings the matter up to the Amalgamated association, and the mission of its high officials to New York is doubtless to convince the steel people there that a new conference is essential to peace and an amicable settlement of the strike troubles.

The conference yesterday was a repetition of that of Thursday, the strictest kind of secrecy being maintained as to the happenings inside the room, and the progress being made had to be guessed at.

A telegram from Wellsville, O., says:

"At the close of the third week of the strike among the steel workers in the Wellsville plant of the American Sheet Steel company the steel trust has the better of the argument. Nine new men from Scottdale, Pa., were brought here and taken into the mill without a hand being raised or a word of reasoning used to stop them from entering the mill. The men were in a parlor car, and the doors were locked at East Liverpool and the strikers' pickets refused permission to enter. The men were in charge of Civil Engineer H. H. Thompson of the steel company. When the mill was reached, the train was stopped, and the men were rushed under the stockade before the pickets could speak to them.

"The addition of these nine men to the force already at work will make it possible for the mill management to put on nine regular wheels, about half the mill's regular complement of men. The strikers are in an ugly mood and are much chagrined over the company getting the men in the mill. One of the leaders said last night:

"'If something is not done to stop the bringing of men here, there will be murder before another week.'

"Mayor A. P. Dennis had to interfere personally last night with a body of strikers and prevent them from taking David Alman, a machinist of Brooklyn, forcibly to the camp across the river."

Hanna Denies Rumor.

CANTON, O., Aug. 3.—Senator M. A. Hanna, who is on a visit here to President and Mrs. McKinley, gave out a statement denying as erroneous the reports connecting him with efforts to settle the great steel strike. "I am just as anxious to have the strike settled as is the vast majority of the people, but I am taking no part in the negotiations," he declared. He says his visit is purely a social one and that his meeting with Senator Cullom of Illinois was accidental. The two senators, with the president, spent the afternoon talking over many matters that are to come up in the next session of congress. Senator Cullom left for Chicago last night.

Trade Dull In Southern Russia.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—"As evidence of the ruinous stagnation of trade in southern Russia," says a dispatch to The Standard from Odessa, "a government factory inspector asserts that 70 per cent of all the industrial works of the great manufacturing government of Ekaterinoslav have suspended, and in order to relieve distress and to prevent disturbance 40,000 artisans have been deported to their homes in the interior at the expense of the government. Conditions in the other industrial centers of southern Russia are similar."

Central Station For Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Plans for a central railroad station here estimated to cost $40,000,000 are being prepared to submit at a meeting of railway officials to be held Aug. 15. Eighteen of the 22 railway companies with Chicago terminals have approved the scheme as drawn by Alderman Dixon, and members of the council committee appointed to investigate the question of a single terminal believe the plan can be carried to a successful conclusion.

Too Much "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

ST. PAUL, Aug. 3.—Thomas Mallay, an old time actor who had for years played in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was committed to the Rochester Insane asylum. Mallay had had so much of Uncle Tom that it affected his brain, and he now imagines that Simon Legree is constantly pursuing him with bloodhounds. It is not on record that he ever played the part of Eliza in the piece, but he seems to have got the characters mixed.

Long Stay on Devil's Island.

NAPLES, Aug. 3.—Gomez, an accomplice of Orsini in the plot against the life of Napoleon III in 1858, has arrived here. He was condemned to death, like Orsini, but the sentence was commuted to transportation for life. He was pardoned a short time ago. When he was condemned, Gomez was a man of 25. After 43 years of convict life on Devil's island he is hale at 68.

A TOWN IN A NIGHT.

Ten Thousand People Already In Lawton, O. T.

FORT SILL, O. T., Aug. 3.—A town of 10,000 people, to be known as Lawton, has grown up just outside the fort limits almost within a night.

Following the close of the land lottery Thursday at El Reno thousands of home seekers who drew blanks started for the three points picked out by the federal government for town sites in the new country—namely, Anadarko, Hobart and Lawton. A majority of the people favored Lawton, and thousands are camped in and about the proposed site awaiting the sale of lots on Aug. 6.

Already Lawton has 400 temporary business houses, including a grocery firm and a newspaper, and three streets have been laid out. A national bank has been projected. Every form of gambling known on the frontier is being run wide open, side by side with fake shows of various descriptions. To add to the picturesqueness of the scene 1,000 Comanche Indians have pitched their tents near by.

THE PROTOCOL DRAFTED.

Document Will Now Be Submitted. Li Hung Chang's Illness.

PEKING, Aug. 3.—The protocol committee of the ministers of the powers has virtually finished the draft of the protocol and will submit the same for approval to the other ministers. All questions of principles have been settled, and the protocol will be signed in the course of a few days unless there should be some disagreement as to the phraseology resembling the discussion that arose over the word "irrevocable" in the early stages of the negotiations. Should such a hitch occur the signing may be indefinitely delayed.

Li Hung Chang, who was taken with a sudden indisposition, called in a foreign doctor to consult with his personal medical adviser. The malady proved to be a temporary attack such as he has frequently suffered from during the last 12 months. He seems to have recovered.

Electrical Speed Trials at Berlin.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—United States Consul General Mason at Berlin has found it necessary to forward to the state department a correction of very generally published newspaper statements to the effect that new electric trains have been running at the rate of 125 miles an hour between Berlin and Hamburg. Mr. Mason says that a series of high speed trials are to be made on an 18 mile line between Berlin and Zossen, aided by the German government, in August and September, which will attract the electricians of the world. The greatest electrical house in Germany has built a special motor car, which is to run in competition with one made by one of the leading American concerns for this special test.

Undertaker Disappointed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—With a casket and other appurtenances to a funeral, an undertaker from the firm of C. Herrlick & Bro. of 438 East Eighty-third street, this city, arrived in Hackensack, N. J., yesterday morning to take charge of the body of a woman who had apparently died the day previous. The undertaker was met at the train by Dr. Hartman, who had summoned him, with the information that the woman had returned to life. The disappointed undertaker came back to New York on the next train, bringing his casket and burial tools with him.

American Jailed In Venezuela.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Aug. 3.—Professor Riddle of the San Juan Normal school, who has been sojourning in South America in the interests of the United States fish commission, has arrived here from Venezuela with a story of imprisonment. While ascending the Orinoco, accompanied by an asphalt official, his launch was held up at Tukupit by a small Venezuelan gunboat, the General Hernandez, which made prisoners of the passengers and crew of the launch. They were held in custody at Ciudad Bolivar for six days and were then released.

Payments For Klondike Gold.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The subtreasury paid out $293,000 yesterday for Klondike gold deposited at San Francisco and Seattle. The usual mode of procedure in such transactions is for the holders of the gold to deposit it at the assay office in Seattle or San Francisco or the nearest town, receiving a draft on the subtreasury in New York in payment. These drafts are presented by the banks for collection. The Canadian Bank of Commerce collected the greater part of the $293,000 paid out yesterday.

Fatal Trolley Accident.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3.—Joseph Hunter, 55 years old, was killed and seven others were injured in a trolley line collision between a construction and a passenger car. The brake on the construction car got out of order, and it collided with a car loaded with people at North and Park avenues. Hunter had both legs broken and died in the city hospital.

Dragged From Court and Lynched.

SMITHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 3.—Charles Davis, on trial for assault, was taken from the courtroom and lynched by a mob composed of friends and relatives of the girl in the case. Davis tried to jump from the second story window, but was captured. The sheriff, a deputy, a constable and the defendant's father were wounded in a clash with the mob.

COLICKY FRETTY TEETHING BABIES NEED LAXAKOLA

The Great Tonic Laxative

WATCH the children carefully. Their health, perhaps their lives, depend on keeping their bowels regular. Many parents make a mistake by giving their little children the old-fashioned, violent purgatives which are racking and griping, and are therefore not only unpleasant, but dangerous.

Laxakola does not gripe nor irritate. It is a pure, gentle and painless liquid laxative. It is not only a sure laxative, but it contains valuable tonic properties which not only act upon the bowels, but tone up the entire system and purify the blood. A few drops can be given with safety to very young babies, and will often relieve colic by expelling the wind and gas that cause it. Great relief is experienced when administered to young children suffering from diarrhœa, accompanied with white or green evacuations, as LAXAKOLA neutralizes the acidity of the bowels and carries out the cause of the fermentation. It will aid digestion, relieve restlessness, assist nature, and induce sleep. For constipation, simple fevers, coated tongue, or any infantile troubles arising from a disordered condition of the stomach it is invaluable. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to LAXAKOLA CO., 132 Nassau Street, New York, or 356 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

NEW HEAD FOR FEDERAL PARTY.

Resignations Due to Officeholding. Revolution In Rizal Ridiculed.

MANILA, Aug. 3.—The resignation of five members of the directorate of the Federal party because of their having been appointed to official position means that there will be a reorganization of that party. Felipe Buencamino will probably be elected president of the reorganized body.

The Spanish newspapers ridicule the exaggerations printed in American newspapers here to the effect that a new revolution is budding in Rizal province, the new province formed of Manila and Morong. The Spanish papers say the so called revolutionists are merely lawless persons who are unable to settle down to peace conditions. The story probably arose from the recent discovery by the police of the existence of an unlawful secret society.

Major Maus of the medical corps has been appointed insular health commissioner and H. M. Robinson assistant director of posts. The government will probably arm the insular constabulary and municipal police with the rifles purchased from the insurgents by the army. These rifles will be purchased from the army by the civil authorities out of the funds now on hand.

Phillips to Resume.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—George F. Phillips issued a statement today addressed to the customers of his firm announcing that he will be able to resume active operations on the board of trade by next Tuesday or Wednesday at the latest, possibly by Monday. The statement will also promise patrons of the company that before any new trades are made a complete and satisfactory summary of what the books show will be given to the public. Phillips asserts that the experts' examination of the firm's books makes it certain that the worst has been told and that the firm is not a loser to a larger extent than $300,000. His faith in the loyalty of his clients is unshaken and even carries him to the point where he believes that 90 per cent of those who are found by examination of the books to have been overpaid as a result of the May deal will gradually refund the balance due to him. The total amount of this overpayment is estimated to be a little under $250,000. The deposed "corn king" says there is no legal process by which these people can be made to refund the money, but he is confident that nearly all of them will do so as soon as they understand the case.

Electoral Bill Considered.

HAVANA, Aug. 3.—The Cuban constitutional convention yesterday began to consider separately the provisions of the electoral bill, taking up first of all the qualifications of candidates for the posts of provincial governor, provincial councilor, senatorial elector and presidential elector. These provisions were adopted as embodied in the project submitted, except that in order to become the governor of a province or a provincial councilor it is not necessary that the candidate be the father of a family or a taxpayer in the province or the possessor of a degree or that he should have held public office by virtue of popular election.

Machinists' Strike Settled.

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 3.—The machinists' strike at the National Steel works and the Sharon Steel plant has been settled by William A. Shaw of Pittsburg, business agent for the International Association of Machinists for this district. The terms of settlement are as follows: An advance of wages of 50 cents per day, pay and half pay for overtime and 58½ hours to constitute a week's work. The company has agreed to discharge all non-union men now at work within 15 days. The American Steel Casting company refused to grant the terms agreed upon by the National and Sharon steel companies.

The American Abroad.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—From interviews with agents of the various transatlantic steamship lines The Daily Mail draws the following conclusions: "Visitors from America this year are as numerous as ever before, but apparently as the American tourist increases in number he increases also in thriftiness. Cabmen, porters and hotel servants are at one in declaring that the average American is the least remunerative of their clients. This establishes a new reputation for the American abroad."

Six Hundred Miners Ordered Out.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 3.—A committee of the United Mine Workers went to the Maltby colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal company yesterday for the purpose of examining the union cards of the miners, but the superintendent refused to allow the committee to intercept the employees. The committee then held a consultation and resolved to order out all the union miners. The order was obeyed, and 600 men and boys quit work.

Shaker Settlement Threatened.

ALFRED, Me., Aug. 3.—The Shaker settlement in this town barely escaped being wiped off the town map by fire. As it was three buildings were burned, the community dining hall, the church and Elder Henry Green's house. The loss was $6,000.

KRUGER SAYS FIGHT.

Botha's Proposal to Surrender Not Sanctioned.

A BELATED DISPATCH MADE PUBLIC.

Mr. Chamberlain Scored by Liberals During a Heated Debate on the South African Situation In the House of Commons.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—A dispatch from Standerton, Transvaal, dated July 5, which had been stopped by the censor, has just been received here. It reads:

"Walter Kitchener met Louis Botha and his secretary, De Wet, by appointment near Plat Rand a few days ago. They brought Kruger's reply to Botha's surrender proposal. It was:

"'Botha, De Wet, De Larey, Steyn—Continue fighting. Alleviation will be sent when needed. Enough for the present.'"

"The Boers who are invading Portuguese territory," says the Lourenco Marques correspondent of The Daily Mail, "number 500. They crossed the line near Nanetzi and are now going northward toward Komatipoort. A Swiss farmer reports that his farm buildings have been burned, that his stock has been driven off and that his wife and servants are missing. Although the Portuguese authorities are preparing to make a vigorous resistance, only 144 men under Captain Almeida are pursuing the Boers."

The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail, in a communication dated July 17, places the strength of the Boers in Cape Colony between 7,000 and 8,000 men, almost all of whom are rebels.

The Daily Mail contrasts this with the official statement not long ago that they were only 1,000.

"The colonial authorities," the correspondent continues, "have just awakened to the possibility that the last shot in the war may be fired in Cape Colony, and unless vigorous efforts are put forth there is nothing to prevent the Boers from holding out another 12 months."

A communication to The Daily Express of the same date says that the Boer plan is to make a final stand south of the Orange river and that they may hold out for six months.

A discussion arose in the house of commons last night over the colonial office appropriation, and it gave the opponents of the government ample opportunity to bait Mr. Chamberlain while making a motion pro forma to reduce by £100 the vote out of which the colonial secretary's salary will be paid.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, said that, in view of the patience with which the nation had for 21 months endured Mr. Chamberlain's policy in South Africa, he thought it opportune to secure a statement from the colonial secretary as to the war situation. He went on to point out that Cape Colony was now invaded and overrun with Boers, and he asked what prospect there was of repelling the invaders, what the condition of Cape Colony would be after the war, what was the prospect of famine as a result of the government's "policy of devastation" and where was Cape Colony's constitution, which appeared to him to be under lock and key since the declaration of martial law.

Mr. Chamberlain replied that farm burning had been entirely abandoned and replaced by the policy of concentration camps. He contended that these were humane and satisfactory institutions, as had been shown by the fact that thousands of Boers came into them voluntarily.

"The government has the best reasons to believe," continued the colonial secretary, "that a vast majority of the Boers acknowledge themselves beaten and would gladly surrender and resume peaceful pursuits but for the comparative handful of irreconcilables who are carrying on a guerrilla war that is rapidly degenerating into brigandage and absolute murder. Lord Kitchener is adequately dealing with the problem by establishing blockhouse cordons within which the peacefully inclined can safely settle and be protected."

Regarding the announcement by Lord Kitchener that Commandant Kritzinger had declared his intention to shoot all natives in British employ whether armed or unarmed Mr. Chamberlain said the government had telegraphed Lord Kitchener to inform the Boer leaders that such acts were contrary to civilized usage and that all guilty persons of this class if captured would be court martialed and executed.

Mr. Chamberlain's declaration was received with loud cheering.

To Telegraph From Bunker Hill.

NANTUCKET, Mass., Aug. 3.—The site selected by Commander Kelly, U. S. N., for the wireless telegraph station is a picturesque one on Bunker hill, so called, at the entrance of the village of Siasconset. Sankaty Head bluffs were first selected, but Bunker hill is four miles nearer South shoal lightship. To overcome the curvature of the earth a mast 160 feet high will be placed on the hill. The mast has arrived and will be set up at once and instruments installed so that the system can be tried next week.

Constitutional Convention Adjourns.

RICHMOND, Aug. 3.—The constitutional convention by a vote of 42 to 35 adopted a resolution to take a recess from today until Aug. 22 on half pay. The suffrage committee was authorized to sit during the recess. The greater part of the session was taken up with a speech by Delegate Wyser of Pulaski in favor of his amendment to the preamble of the bill of rights, providing that the constitution, when framed, be submitted to all the people for ratification or rejection.

A Double Hanging.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Aug. 3.—A large crowd assembled at the jail to witness the execution of James Kirby and Robert Lee, who were condemned to die for the murder of Julius Eskew last May. Lee was found guilty of being an accessory in the crime. On the gallows he protested that he was innocent. Kirby's neck was broken by the fall, while Lee struggled for life for 15 minutes and died from strangulation. The best of order prevailed.

Serious Street Car Accident.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 3.—A car was wrecked on the Dayton, Springfield and Urbana trolley line near Donnelsville last night. All the available doctors from this city were dispatched to the scene. Twenty-five people were injured.

Concerts At The City Park.

No more conclusive proof than last evening's concert could be needed of the great popularity of open-air concerts in Plainfield. It also served to demonstrate that the City Park is an ideal location for such affairs. A conservative estimate of the people who assembled last evening is 5,000, and it would not be surprising if it numbered far more than that.

The class of people, who attended last evening's concert, was widely different from that which seemed in the majority at the former concerts, held on East Front street. It was a distinctly orderly crowd, composed of people who came out to hear and enjoy the music. Women and children were numerous. While the police were ready to cope with any trouble, should it arise, there was absolutely no call for their services.

It is simply a question of funds which will say whether or not these concerts are to be contined. If the people of Plainfield are willing to put up the money, the concerts can be made weekly features of the local summer life. There are many who are so situated that they cannot leave Plainfield to spend a week or more at sea shore or mountains. They can, however, find much healthy enjoyment in gathering under the big oaks of the City Park once a week and listen to good music, rendered by a first-class band.

Company K's week in the State camp at Sea Girt ended today and this afternoon will see the return of Plainfield's citizen soldiers. It has been an eventful week for them and they have learned much about the life and duties of a soldier that all the drilling that they might do at home could not teach. With the exception of Companies K and L, the Second Regiment of the State National Guard did not visit the camp this year. Next year it will be the turn of the Second and Third Regiments to spend a week in camp. Company K will then go, but there will be some difference in that the rest of the regiment will be there too.

It is regarded as significant by Printer's Ink, remarks the Philadelphia Record, that book publishers have about ceased to issue elaborate and costly art posters to advertise their new books. Instead, they are putting their advertising money into more newspaper space. Even the few who continue to issue posters do so only by way of supplementing display advertising in the leading newspapers. No class of advertisers are better able than are the book publishers to study the results of different forms of publicity.

The renewal of the bitterness between the two factions of Republicans in this county has caused all eyes to turn in this direction. The bitterness has long existed and probably will continue to do so, but it is only occasionally that there is a public display of it. Just what the next move in this particular case will be, it is impossible to say. The Keanites are likely, however, to take some steps to secure what they believe are their rights.

If the Board of Trade is going to make any move to bring the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company's works to this city, it is mandatory that a meeting be called at once. The next regular meeting is not until the third Monday in August and by that time, the question is likely to be settled or nearly so. If Plainfield is going to capture that prize, there must be immediate action.

It is well that the North avenue drinking fountain is in use again. It was given with that express object. If the property-owners are still dissatisfied with its workings, they should take the proper steps to have it removed to a more suitable location and not merely shut off the water.

Rahway had an open air band concert, but one of the Rahway papers complains that half the people who wanted to attend could not on account of poor accommodations by the trolley company.

Baseball in Plainfield this season has been generally free from unpleasant features. The introduction of games with women's teams is not conducive to the best interests of good amateur sport.

The driver of the watering cart has been so abused of late that it is only fair to him to say that he is now doing very good work, and that the streets are neither flooded nor left not wet enough.

C. Addison Swift was the one lone spectator, beside the reporters, who saw W. C. Carr, his successful rival, take the oath of office as a member of the Union County Board of Election.

One of the acts of the Common Council at its meeting Monday evening will probably be to adopt the ordinances which provide for the macadamizing of certain streets.

It has been a hard fight to make the grass grow between the daily visits of the commuters, but the turf about the new North Avenue station is steadily improving in appearance.

As nobody is likely to object to paying less taxes, the action of the city in fixing the tax rate independent of the county board of assessors is likely to stand unquestioned.

OSTEOPATHY.

Some Interesting Facts Concerning its Practice and its Progress in Plainfield.

The success of osteopathy in this vicinity, during the past few months, has called forth so many inquiries, and that the general public seems to have such a vague idea of what osteopathy really is, that it seems well to furnish this explanation.

Osteopathy is a new system of treating diseased conditions of the human body without medicine. It is not massage, Christian science, magnetic healing nor faith cure, but is "applied common sense," and depends on fact that a great many of general diseases have their first cause in mechanical disorder and that, when these derangements are corrected, the recuperative force within the body will effect a natural recovery without chemical interference. The osteopathy cures by removing the cause. His stock in trade is a thorough knowledge of anatomy, physiology, diagnosis, pathology and kindred branches.

Twenty-five years ago, osteopathy was unknown. In the past ten years, twenty States have legalized osteopathy by special legislation. This, alone, would seem an evidence of the efficacy of the new system of Douglass therapeutics.

Every possible courtesy will be offered for the investigation of this science by parties interested. Dr. Herring, the osteopathic physician who has been practicing in Plainfield, has had a thorough preparation and a wide experience. He, formerly, was instructor in chemistry, urinalysis and histology in the Atlantic College of Osteopathy. He will have associated with him, after September 1, Dr. George R. Boxton, graduate of that college.

Leonard Spangenberg, of this city will act as secretary of the firm and attend to the business details. The integrity and ability of the latter is well-known to Plainfield people.

In order to meet the growing demand for osteopathic treatment, after September 1, a branch office will be opened at Elizabeth. Literature will be furnished free and information gladly given by calling on or writing to Leonard Spangenberg, 406 Babcock building.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther D. Morris, of West Front street, are enjoying a carriage drive through the northern part of New Jersey.

Miss Pauline Mitze and Miss Josephine Reusch have returned from a visit with friends at Cranford.

Daniel Harovat, of South Bound Brook, has purchased the Campbell property on Prospect avenue.

Rev. Frand Fletcher will preach in the Presbyterian church at Bound Brook tomorrow evening.

Mrs. B. P. Vail has returned home to New Brunswick after a visit with Mrs. P. C. Vail.

Miss Lily Gaskill has resumed her position at the postoffice after a short illness.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, August 3—John Dunn nearly lost a valuable horse by drowning, yesterday. The animal had been turned out to pasture and wondered into marshy ground near the brook, and floundering around, got into deep water, and was discovered just in time to be rescued.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, has returned home from an extended trip to Chicago and the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo. He is enthusiastic over the B. Y. P. U. convention and also the exposition. He says that one of the special features of the fair is the drill of the life saving crew. He spent an enjoyable day at Niagra Falls. He will use as an illustration in his sermon tomorrow morning the drill of the life saving crew. Instead of the evening service the pastor will speak for fifteen minutes at the close of the B. Y. P. U. meeting which begins at 7 o'clock.

A lively game of baseball is looked for this afternoon when the Garwood team comes here. An expert pitcher from Jersey City has been secured for the local team. The 'Plains boys are looking for a victory and are giving odds of five to three.

The Township Committee met last night in its regular monthly session. The only business of importance was the auditing of the township's bills.

A number of 'Plains people are going by trolley to Stirling this evening, where they will attend a show which was recently here.

The regular weekly prayer meeting of the Methodist church will be held this evening in the lecture room of the church.

Wm. E. Pangborn, who has been ill for the past few days, has recovered sufficiently to be able to get out of doors.

Mrs. Jacob Coles is still very low and her friends entertain but small hopes of her ultimate recovery.

Miss Amy Sampson is entertaining friends from Brooklyn, who will remain for several weeks.

The Sheeland Brothers have purchased a new horse for use in their grocery business.

Mrs. William R. Lee has returned home after a visit with friends in Rahway.

William Gere is spending his vacation with out of town friends.

Miss Margarette Kelly is summering at Sea Isle City.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, August 3—The entertainment at the Baptist church last night was attended by a fair-sized audience, which was much pleased with Miss Acken's selections and her skill in rendering them. The church, after paying expenses, will clear over $10.

Rev. W. T. Dorward, of the Stelton Baptist church, is spending his vacation with friends in New York State.

Hollis B. Cubberley returned home yesterday after a several weeks' visit with relatives near Trenton.

Henry Meeker has returned home after spending part of his vacation with relatives in New York.

Miss May Higgins, of Bound Brook, is being entertained at the home of Miss Nellie Manning.

PERSONAL.

Miss Pantley, of Somerville, who is quite ill at the home of Mr. Schwartz, on West Front street, is not improving. She came to this city on a visit and was taken ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Jr., who have been spending the summer at the Hotel Netherwood, left yesterday for Alexandria where they will remain for the season.

Mrs. J. V. Farlee, of Grandview avenue, returned home yesterday from Reading, Pa., where she has been visiting friends. Her daughter, Miss Mabel Farlee, will remain there for some time.

Mrs. Dolan and daughter, Miss Florence Dolan, accompanied by Miss Mamie Conway, all of New York, are spending the month of August with their cousin, Mrs. Fred Wynne, of Berchman street.

Edward Baker, Albert and Christopher Utzinger, of Grandview avenue, who have been camping on Staten Island, opposite Sewaren, for the past week, broke camp last night and returned home today.

Change In Police.

Patrolman Lunger, who has been guarding the business section of the city in the daytime, for the past month, has been assigned to night duty in the Netherwood district. His place is now being taken by Patrolman Meyers.

THREE SITES IN VIEW.

S. D. Drake Will Make an Effort to Locate The Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company Here.

S. D. Drake announces today that for two months past he has been making an effort to locate the plant of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company in this city. He has been in communication with the officials of the company with the result that an appointment has been made for a meeting in this city. Mr. Drake says that he will outbid the world to get the industry for Plainfield.

He has three propositions to offer the company. The first is an offer of 100 acres on the line of two railroads, with water, light and trolley car service. The second offer is 60 acres on the line of the Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central Railroads, and the third is Dewey Park which has a frontage on the Jersey Central Railroad of 3,000 feet. All this property is free and clear and the taxes are nominal.

Mr. Drake says he is determined that the company shall locate in this vicinity and he is prepared to bring the industry here no matter what the cost.

SHOT AT BURGLARS.

But They Escaped Leaving Revolver, Bit And Brace Behind.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, August 3—Two burglars, who were endeavoring to break into Amerman & Reger's store at Raritan early yesterday morning, were surprised by Watchman Farrell and took to their heels. Farrell gave them a lively chase and shot at them several times, but they escaped to the railroad and boarded a passing train. They left a revolver, brace and bit on the back porch of the store.

CADDIE MATCH WAS A TIE.

DECIDING MATCH BETWEEN PARK AND HILLSIDE CADDIES.

Each Team Had Won a Match—Tie Will Be Played Off at Hillside Thursday.

There has been considerable rivalry this season between the caddies from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and the Park Golf Club, and several matches have been played to determine which team has the best players. The boys composing the teams have been playing a superior game, equal to that put up by some members of the clubs.

The first game this season was played on the Park Club course and resulted in a victory for the Park caddies by a score of 16 to 8. The second game was played at Hillside, when the Parks were defeated by a score of 26 to 14. Yesterday morning the third match was played on the Park links, when both teams scored 8 points. Thus it can be seen that neither team has much advantage. The boys are very evenly matched.

In yesterday's match, Eugene McLoughlin of the Park team made the best score, 92 while Calloway, of the same team, made a 93. Wm. Loughlin, of the same team, made a 95, the best score for his team. The match was considered to be the "rubber" and it was played for a $3 a side.

As the game was a tie, it has been arranged to play off the tie next week Thursday on the Hillside course. These contests have excited no little interest among the players and their friends and the next game will be closely watched and the result anxiously waited for.

The scores for yesterday's game are as follows:

Park.		Hillside.

175 pages. These figures refer only to the actual number of statutes and acts found in the compilation of 1894. Many of the matters have been the subject of recent legislation, or since the volumes were completed, which will add materially to the figures.

Under the caption, "Cities," there exist 408 statutes, covering 345 pages of reading matter. Many of the laws relating to cities apply to all municipal corporations, as well. In reference to borough manifold legislation existed. It is said that while the Constitution provides that boroughs shall be created under general laws, and that the Government of all should be uniform, at least three different forms existed until the general borough act passed in 1898.

The law under which the governor appointed the commission is one passed by the last legislature, which authorizes the chief executive to appoint as commissioners three persons "to revise and codify the general statutes of New Jersey."

To accomplish the work mapped out for them, the commissioners may be busy two years. It will be necessary to cull out all obsolete laws and parts of laws, to embody, in the main acts, matter contained in the supplements (of which there are any quantity to every important act), and to reconcile any inconsistent laws that may be found. Many of the most important subjects have been taken up by the legislature within the past few years and revisions made. These will not have to be touched. Notable among them are the Crimes act, the district court act and the borough act of 1898, and the assignment act and the attachment act, which were revised in 1901.

When the work of the commission has been completed the repealing power of the legislature will be called into action, and those acts and parts of acts which have no place in the revision will be sorted out and regularly repealed at a session of the lawmakers.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Billy Gray, young college student, secures a lieutenant's commission on breaking out of Spanish-American war. He meets a Mr. Prime, Miss Prime and Miss Amy Lawrence.

CHAPTER II.—After a conference in his official tent, Gen. Drayton joins a gay company in his personal tent—Mrs. Garrison doing the honors as hostess.

CHAPTER III.—Lieut. Gray is invited to join the Prime party, to go over in Mr. Prime's carriage to see the review, but is denied leave by Col. Canker, whom the regiment had nicknamed "Squeers." Vacant seat in carriage is given Col. Armstrong.

CHAPTER IV.

The review that morning had drawn a crowd to the drill grounds that baffled the efforts of the guards. Carriages from camps and carriages from town, carts from the suburbs, equestrians from the parks and pedestrians from everywhere had gradually encroached within kicking distance of the heels of the cavalry escorting the general commanding the department, and that official noted with unerring eye that the populace was coming up on his flanks, so to speak, at the moment when the etiquette of the service required that he should be gazing only to his immediate front and responding to the salutes of the marching column. Back of him, ranged in long, single rank, was drawn up what the newspapers unanimously described as a "brilliant" staff, despite the fact that all were in somber campaign uniform and several had never been so rated before. In their rear, in turn, was the line of mounted orderlies and farther still the silent rank of the escorting troop. Sentries had been posted to keep the throng at proper distance, but double their force could have accomplished nothing—the omniscient corporal could not help them, and after asking one or two stray officers what they would do about it, the sentries gave way and the crowd swarmed in. It was just as the head of the long tramping column came opposite the reviewing point, and the brigade commander and his staff, turning out after saluting, found their allotted station on the right of the reviewing party completely taken up by the mass of eager spectators. A minute or so was required before the trouble could be remedied, for just as the officers and orderlies were endeavoring to induce the populace to give way — a thing the American always resists with a gay good humor that is peculiarly his own—a nervous hack driver on the outskirts backed his bulky trap with unexpected force, and penned between it and the wheels of a newly-arrived and much more presentable equipage a fair equestrian who shrieked with fright and clung to her pommel as her excited "mount" lashed out with his heels and made splinters of the hack's rearmost spokes and felloes. Down went the hack on its axle point. Out sprang a tall officer from the open carriage, and in a second, it seemed, transferred the panic-stricken horsewoman from the seismatic saddle to the safety of his own seat, and the ministrations of the two young women and the gray-haired civilian who were the latest arrivals. This done, and after one quick glance at the lady's helpless escort, a young officer from the Presidio, he shouldered his way through the crowd and stood, presently, on its inner edge, an unperturbed and most interested spectator. Battalion after battalion, in heavy marching order, in the dark blue service dress, with campaign hats and leggins, with ranks well closed and long, well-aligned fronts, with accurate trace of the guides and well-judged distance, the great regiments came striding down the gentle slope, conscious, every officer and man, of the admiration they commanded. Armstrong, himself commander of a fine regiment of volunteers in another brigade, looked upon them with a soldier's eye, and looked approvingly. Then, as the rearmost company passed the reviewing point and gentlemen with two stars on each shoulder extended their congratulations to the reviewed commander with one, Armstrong also made his way among the mounted officers in his calm, deliberate fashion, heedless of threatening heels and crowding forehands, until he, too, could say his word of cordial greeting. He had to wait a few minutes, for the general officers were grouped and talking earnestly. He heard a few words and knew well enough what was meant—that quantities of stores intended for the soldiers, even dainties contributed by the Red Cross society, had been stolen from time to time and spirited off in the dead of night, and doubtless sold in town for the benefit of a pack of unknown scoundrels enlisted for no better purpose. In his own regiment his system had been so strict that no loss was discoverable, but in certain others the deficit was great. Complaints were loud, and the camp commander, stung possibly by comments from the city, had urged his officers to unusual effort, and had promised punishment to the extent of the law on the guilty parties whenever or wherever found.

Even as he was exchanging a word with the brigadier, Armstrong heard the exclamation: "By Jove—they've caught another!" for with a grim smile of gratification the camp commander had read and turned over to his adjutant general a brief dispatch just handed him by a mounted orderly who had galloped fast.

"One of your irreproachables, Armstrong," said one of the staff, with something half sneer, half taunt, as he too read and then passed the paper to the judge advocate of the division.

Armstrong turned with his usual deliberation. There was ever about him a quiet dignity of manner that was the delight of his friends and despair of his foes.

"What is his name?" he calmly asked.

"That young fellow at Canker's headquarters you took so much interest in a day or so ago," was the reply.

"That does not give his name—nor identify him as one of my men," said Armstrong, coolly.

"Oh, well, I didn't say he belonged to your command," was the staff officer's response. "You devoted a good deal of time to him, that's all. Possibly you suspected him."

"If you mean the young soldier in Gordon's office, —teenth infantry, I would be slow to suspect him of any crime," said Armstrong, with something almost like a drawl, so slow and deliberate was his manner, and now the steel gray eyes and the fair, clear-cut face were turned straight upon the snapping black eyes and dark features of the other. There was no love lost there. One could tell without so much as seeing.

"You're off, then! That commissary sergeant gave him away the very evening you were looking him over—he got wind of it and skipped, and to-day came back in handcuffs."

"All of which may be as you say, and still not warrant your reference to him as one of my irreproachables," answered Armstrong, "and it will take more than the evidence you refer to to make me believe him guilty."

By this time much of the crowd and most of the vehicles had driven away. The generals still sat in saddles chatting earnestly together, while their staff officers listened in some impatience to the conversation just recorded. Everybody knew the fault was not Armstrong's, but it was jarring to have to sit and hearken to the controversy. "Don't ever twit or try funny business with Armstrong," once said a regimental sage. He had no sense of humor—of that kind. Those who best knew him knew that Armstrong never tolerated unjust accusations, great or small. In his desire to say an irritating thing to a man he both envied and respected, the staff officer had not confined himself to the facts, and it proved a boomerang. It was true that two days before, calling at Gordon's official tent while several other officers were present at an investigation then going on, Armstrong was seen to be greatly interested in the appearance and testimony of Gordon's young, dark-eyed clerk, and after the conference asked many questions about and finally asked to speak with him. Then young Morton was again missing when he was wanted, and the next heard of him he was either absent without leave—or a deserter.

And now once again Armstrong's eyes had lighted on that boy. Seated opposite Miss Lawrence as the carriage whirled across Point Lobos avenue, and watching her unobtrusively, he saw the sudden light of alarm and excitement in her expressive face, heard the faint exclamation as her gloved hand grasped the rail of the seat, felt the quick sway of the vehicle as the horses shied in fright at some object beyond his vision. Then as they dashed on he had seen the running guard and, just vanishing within the portals of the corner building, the slim figure of the escaping prisoner. He saw the quivering hands tearing at their fastenings. He knew he had seen that figure before now. He turned to the driver and bade him stop a minute, but it took 50 yards of effort before the spirited horses could be calmed and brought to a halt at the curb. To the startled inquiries of Mr. Prime and his daughter as to the cause of the excitement and the running and shouting he answered simply: "A prisoner escaped, I think," and sent a passing corporal to inquire the result. The man came back in a minute.

"They got him easy, sir. He had no show. His hands were tied behind his back and he couldn't climb," was the brief report.

"They have not hurt him, I hope," said Armstrong.

"No, sir. He hurt them—one of 'em, at least, before he'd surrender when they nabbed him in town. This time he submitted all right—said he only ran in for a glass of beer, and was laughing-like when I got there."

"Very well. That'll do. Go on, driver. We haven't a minute to lose if we are to see the review," he continued, as he stepped lightly to his seat. "I saw nothing of this affair," said Miss Prime. "What was it all about?"

"Nor could I see," added her father. "I heard shouts and after we passed saw the guard, but no fugitive."

"It is just as well—indeed, I'm glad you didn't, uncle," answered Miss Lawrence, turning even as she spoke and gazing wistfully back. "He looked so young, and seemed so desperate, and had such a—I don't know—hunted look on his face—poor fellow."

And then the carriage reached the entrance to the reservation and the subject, and the second object of Miss Lawrence's sympathies evoked that day, were for the time forgotten. Possibly Mrs. Garrison was partly responsible for this, for hardly had they rounded the bend in the road that brought them in full view, from the left, or southern flank, of the long line of masses in which the brigade was formed, than there came cantering up to them, all gay good humor, all smiles and saucy coquetry, their hostess of the evening at the general's tent. She was mounted on a sorry-looking horse, but the "habit" was a triumph of art, and it well became her petite rounded figure.

For that full feeling that comes after eating, there is a remedy, simple but effective and immediate. A Ripans Tabule—take one, swallow it and there you are. One who gets just as full in any other way is not so uncomfortable at the time. That sensation, to him, comes later. To prevent it take a Tabule before going to bed.

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS is for sale by druggists, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

LONDON WORKING WOMEN.

They Are Both Attractive and Well Bred.

The prettiest, most graceful women in London are its working girls. Their refined manner and low musical voices, even though they misplace their h's and say "lydy" when they mean lady, are a pleasant contrast to the voice and manner of many of the girls in their walk of life in the United States. The shopgirls are slender and delicate looking, far too much so, and pale, as if they did not get enough of red blood making food. They do not. Thousands of them live largely on bread and tea.

In a handsome lodging house in which I was for a time the maid was a very pretty girl. In the morning she went about in a neat cotton wash dress doing the rooms. In the afternoon she appeared in a black woolen dress, starched white apron and cuffs, with a tiny cap upon her dark hair. Yet she looked white and not strong. Her wages were 75 cents a week. It was regularly expected by her mistress that she would receive 25 cents a week more in gratuities from the lodgers, and thus she clothed herself and otherwise lived, heaven knows how. One day she confided to me that she was going to leave the place, although her mistress was fond of her. The reason was she did not get enough to eat. Her food was bread and tea, with a little oatmeal porridge in the morning, year in and year out. Sometimes on Sundays and holidays she had a taste of meat and pudding, not too often or too much.

To prove the working women of London are prettier than the ladies one has only to visit Hyde park in the season when the families of millionaire business men, of nobility—yea, of royalty itself—are out for an airing. They drive around and around Hyde park on dress parade, a panorama of beautiful horses, clumsy though costly carriages and a set of women so plain that you think Providence was very kind to them in making them rich. If the London shopgirls could change places with the carriage ladies, then the Hyde park dress parade would be worth seeing.

The great army of wage earning women in London outside of domestic servants consists largely of shopgirls, those who in the United States euphoniously describe themselves as "saleslaadies." Many of the great English department stores have at the top of their establishment lodging rooms for the saleswomen, and there on the premises they are kept and boarded. It is a system at which the independent American girl would rebel owing to the lack of liberty, but the shop proprietors of London believe they can get the most out of the women in that way. Their wages are smaller than saleswomen receive in America. Then come the sewing women and the restaurant and bakeshop waitresses. In London as in America girl waitresses are taking the place of the hawk-eyed masculine despot who stands behind your chair watching every mouthful you eat.

London is trailed across with a chain of restaurants established by various baking companies. These supply wholesome and simple food and employ nice looking girl waiters. The sign is displayed, "No Fees Allowed." At the pay desk, however, like a charity contribution box, is a receptacle with a slot, and above it is the inscription, "The Contents of This Box Are Equally Divided Among the Employees." The patron of the shop is not exactly comfortable in his mind unless he contributes something for the pale, graceful girls, who are wretchedly paid from the American standpoint.

Girl stenographers are not very common, it not being thought that the fragile feminine brain can compass the shorthand. Feminine hotel clerks and cashiers are, however, more frequent than in America, and there are thousands of women in the branch postoffices.

The best fed looking and most attractive appearing of all the women workers of London are the nurses in their pretty uniforms. These consist of dress, cloak and bonnet all off the same piece—black, blue, brown or gray. The bonnet is a neat imitation of a widow's cap, and the veil, thrown back always, matches the color of the gown. These fair women are one of the pleasantest features of London streets.

Peach Ice Cream.

Beat the yolks of six eggs with three cups of sugar, add by degrees one quart of scalding milk, then the whites of the eggs, beaten to a froth. Pour the mixture into a stewpan and cook until thick and smooth, stirring all the time. When perfectly cold, add one quart of cream, freeze five minutes, then add one pint of peaches cut fine and freeze hard.

MONTE CARLO'S PENSION LIST.

Small Sums Paid to Persons Who Have Lost Their Fortunes in the Casino.

Monte Carlo, the most famous gambling place in the world, has a very curious pension list. Here are inscribed the names of the men and women who have lost their fortunes at the tables, and who are allowed small sums daily for the rest of their miserable lives. This practice, says the Ledger Monthly, which was inaugurated by Pere Blanc in his paternal care for the decaves, is also being dropped as the pensionnaires die out. The pensions now paid range from one to eight dollars a day, according to the amount which has been lost at the tables and the social position of the recipient. For instance, a tall Scotchman who is a familiar figure upon the Promenade des Anglais in Nice, receives two louis (about eight dollars) per day. He lost a million and a quarter at roulette. He has still a small income, and the bank, therefore, considers his pension sufficient to keep this broken vessel from coming to the ground. If one could go through the whole list, what a story might be written anent each item!

There is no hope of the casino being closed, not even during the summer; but if people would only restrain their passion for gambling for another five years, as they showed themselves capable of doing during the winter of '96 and '97, the dividend will come out zero, and the bank will be broken, not in name only, but also in deed.

LESSON THAT WAS NEEDED.

Lack of Politeness Brought Humiliation Upon a Philadelphian in Munich.

A Philadelphia railroad contractor, who has recently returned from abroad, tells of an experience that befell him in Munich illustrative of the difference in prevailing customs, says an exchange of that city. Armed with a number of letters of introduction to European railroad officials, he made it a point to inquire into the workings of the various systems, and was treated with uniform courtesy. At Munich he thought he had acquired all the information he was after, and as he passed out of the office of the man with whom he had been talking he put on his hat.

He had scarcely been ushered out when it occurred to him that there was one more matter about which he had forgotten to inquire. "I immediately retraced my steps," said the Philadelphian, "and again entered the office, neglecting to remove my hat. I saw the same official with whom I had been talking, and, apologizing for taking up so much of his time, I put the question to him. Without a word he reached up, took off my hat and placed it in my hand. Then he answered my query and bowed me out. It made me feel rather cheap."

EDUCATING THE INDIANS.

Official Inquiries Respecting Present Methods Are to Be Set on Foot.

Preliminary to expected important legislation by the next congress affecting Indian education, Commissioner Jones, of the Indian bureau, will try to ascertain just what measure of success has attended the instruction of Indian pupils. Questions addressed to Indian agents and superintendents are designed to show the relative merits of the different systems of educating Indians and the after-effects upon the life of Indian pupils who have attended schools upon the reservation or the general educational institutions located elsewhere. To what use the Indian pupils have put their education is asked, and also whether their course in life after returning to the reservation indicates that their career will be that of the average white person. Commissioner Jones is seeking to make the inquiries of practical value, and he asks for relative statements by those in immediate charge of the Indians as to the status of those Indian pupils who have attended and are now attending Indian schools.

FIRST PAPER MACHINE.

Fourdrinier Machine First Introduced in Saugerties, New York, in 1827.

Saugerties is proud because the first paper machine used in America was made in that village. This is what the Paper Trade Journal says about it:

"The nineteenth century will always be remarkable in the history of paper making in the United States. Early in the century—in 1827—the Fourdrinier machine was introduced to this country at Saugerties, N. Y., while the cylinder machine, as to the invention of which there are conflicting claims on behalf of British and American inventors, came into use in this country about ten years earlier. The Fourdrinier machine has been improved in almost all its details by United States builders, until now the high speed machine made in this country holds the record the world over. It has demonstrated its ability to make 580 feet of paper a minute, and keep it up, and there are builders to-day who expect that in the not far distant future that speed will be very largely increased."

Water in the Philippines.

In asking the natives for water in the Philippines our soldiers learned that in one province the word was "aqua," in another "tubig" and in a third "denum." So "wate" or "watty" has been implanted in the Filipino dialects. Another American introduction is "chow chow," meaning food. The natives also have invented a word from looking on at games of chuck-a-luck. They think "upshecomes" is an English name for all kinds of gambling.

COLORED FLAGPOLES.

Tall Staffs of Red and Even of Green Are Now Occasionally to Be Seen.

"White is, of course, still the prevailing color for painting flagpoles," said a flag pole man, according to the New York Sun, "but you see nowadays more colored flag poles than you used to, and I don't know but what I like the colored flagpoles pretty well. White is, I suppose, after all the proper color for a flagpole. The white pole seems to stand up more mast like and defiant, but the colored pole is more picturesque.

"The poles that thus far have been painted in other colors than white have most of them been painted red, a terra cotta red. And in my judgment this deep red is a pretty good color for a flagstaff. Red is a good color to stand exposure; it shows wear less than white does, and so the people paint 'em red.

"As to green, that I must say seems at first like an odd and inappropriate color for a flagstaff surmounting a building; nevertheless, a pole in dark green may be a dignified and sightly object, and there is one advantage pertaining to a green pole, namely, it shows off the gilt top piece, if there is one, to fine advantage. I have in mind one dark green pole upon the summit of which, rising above the gilded metallic fixture indicating the points of the compass, is a fine, gilded eagle, this whole top piece of gold showing very strikingly and effectively by contrast with its dark green support."

A COSTLY COFFIN.

It Took Seven Months to Make, and the Carving on It Alone Cost $500.

A very beautiful burial casket, and one about as costly, too, as is ever made even in these days of lavish expenditure is one shown in the warerooms of a big manufacturing concern in this city, says the New York Sun. This casket is of mahogany of a deep, dark red, its coloring like that of some fine specimen of old mahogany furniture. The corners of the casket itself and the corners of the casket lid and the escutcheon upon the top of the lid and the handrails along the sides and upon the ends of the casket are richly carved.

The carving upon this casket occupied the entire time of an expert for nearly four months; there was paid out for the carving alone within less than $15 of $500. In the getting out and preparing of the material of which the casket is made, in the cabinet work upon it, and in the various details of its construction there have been employed upon it from first to last, half a dozen or more men, and the total time occupied in its construction was seven months.

It is an admirable specimen of workmanship, the price of which is $2,500.

TWO HUNDRED YEARS OLD.

Next Year Will Conclude the Second Centennial of the Russian Press.

On the 29th of December, 1902, the Russian press will have the opportunity of celebrating its two hundredth anniversary. It was on that day in the year 1702 that Peter the Great signed the ukase ordaining the publication of the first Russian newspaper, the "News on Military and Other Matters." A few days later the first number of this official Russian newspaper was issued, and from January 16, 1703, it appeared regularly both in Petersburg and Moscow. This first Russian newspaper, by the way, had but a short life. The news ceased to appear in 1711, says a London paper.

Already preparations are being made in the Russian empire for a worthy celebration of this jubilee. The Bibliographical society of Moscow plans the publication of a magnificent work, containing a list of all the Russian newspapers published from 1702 to 1902, and adorned with the pictures of prominent journalists and publishers. The net proceeds of the sale of the work are to be used as a fund for supporting needy journalists. They also intend to arrange on this occasion a newspaper exhibition at Moscow.

WHY NEGROES DIE YOUNG.

Causes That Contribute to the Large Death Rate Among Colored People.

The American Missionary association makes public a report from one of its representatives in Nashville, Tenn., concerning the death rate among the negroes of the south. The report states that in ten representative southern cities for the past five years the death rate of the whites has been 20 in 1,000; that of the colored people, 32 in 1,000. The south is said not to have shown much concern about the rapid increase of the negro, since the census of 1900 made it appear that in the ten years previous the black race increased 12.24 per cent. and white 23.91 per cent. The death rate of the negro is greatest under the age of 15 and least at the higher ages. The race is subject to a higher death rate than the whites from the following diseases:

1. Consumption at all ages, but especially between the ages of 15 and 45.
2. All diseases of infants. The colored mother too often does not know how to take care of her infant.
3. Pneumonia at all ages.
4. Scrofula and contagious diseases seem also on the increase.

Long Lived Ladies.

All the eight ladies who acted as trainbearers to Queen Victoria on her wedding day, 63 years ago, are still alive. All save one are married. Lady Victoria Howard is the only exception.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Hope team has a game scheduled for next Saturday with the Bronx team, the semi-professional players from the upper end of New York, who took two out of three games from the St. Mary's. The Hopes have been anxious to cross bats with them and the result is awaited with much interest.

It is said by local players that the Hope team has the finest laid out ball field of any in the city. It is perfectly level in every part of the diamond and outfield and the closest scrutiny fails to show up the slightest hole or break in the ground. Spectators seldom realize the handicap an outfielder is under while running through an uneven field and this has been the cause of errors numerous times in St. Mary's games. The Hope fielders are to be envied in this respect and should have few errors.

For some time past, the West End juvenile baseball players, have taken possession of the Vail property on John street for their contests. They have usually been very exciting and the result was a great deal of shouting, some times more than necessary. None of the residents in the neighborhood, however, objected to the noise, but yesterday several of them were forced to speak to the boys in regard to using profane language. A number of the boys replied in an insolent manner and as a result steps have been taken to stop them from playing on the grounds altogether. The owner of the property has promised the residents that the boys will no longer be allowed the use of the grounds.

If one of the players, on the local police force nine, repeats a little stunt which he did at Perth Amboy a few years ago, there is no doubt but what the Elizabeth coppers will win hands down. The officer in question was helping a Plainfield team out by playing centre field. Several rank decisions on the part of a partisan umpire nettled the Plainfield man to such an extent that he resolved to even matters if it took all day. The chance was soon offered him when a hot grounder came bounding straight to centre field. He made a heroic stop of the leather but to the surprise of the rooters and his fellow players, he calmly put the ball in his pocket, while the batsman tore around the bases to the time of a home run. When the centre fielder was asked to explain his seemingly queer conduct, he indignantly declared he was getting square with the umpire. It was only after repeated threats on the part of the Perth Amboy contingent and entreaties from the Plainfield men that he was prevailed upon to deliver up the ball and resume the game. He went back to his position with the air of one who has done a kindly act for his fellows, but the fact was kept from him that his desire for revenge had cost the Plainfield side two runs.

On behalf of the Scotch Plains baseball team, Edward L. Hand states that the New Providence baseball club has never defeated the 'Plains team since it has been organized. The correction is made in reference to an item appearing in this column last evening.

GOLF.

Mrs. N. P. Rogers has been devoting some time to golf on the course at the Baltusrol Club. She makes the trip back and forth with her automobile.

The first competition on the course of the Westfield Golf Club will commence today. It will be for the President's cup, and play will be continued every Saturday during the season.

There is no doubt but that Andrew Blair, the former professional at the Park Golf Club, made a mistake when he located the bunker on the fourth hole of the Park Club course. The bunker is just 142 yards from the tee and it catches a fair drive every time. There are comparatively few of the Park golfers who can drive over it, so most of them try to pass it on the left or drive shy of it.

Under the care of John Calder, the putting greens at the Park Golf Club have been put in fine condition. Most golfers prefer a trifling roll to the surface of the green, but they desire it smooth so that there will be nothing to interfere with the proper aim. The greens are now all in excellent shape. The seventh is the poorest of the lot and that is much improved over its old condition.

The Princeton University golf team will have a valuable addition this fall. Frank O. Reinhart, of this city, and one of the crack players of Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, has completed his studies at St. Paul's School and will enter the institution at Princeton. There are few of the Princeton players who can beat the Plainfield lad and he is likely to show even better as he grows older. A few years should see him well up in the list of Jersey's crack golfers.

Among the best players of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club is Frank Reinhart. He has been spending much time of late on the course and improving his game very much. Once this season, over the new course, he made a 74 for eighteen holes. A close second to Reinhart is Frank Talmadge, who is also devoting much time to the game. These young men are among two of Hillside's most promising players, having already won many honors for the local club, as well as for the St. Paul School team, of which they are members.

The Apawamis Golf Club, at Greenwich, Conn., has tried a new kind of team match which has proved decidedly interesting to the members of that club. This novel competition takes on the nature of a team match and a foursome. Two teams, composed of six men each, are organized and play with a single ball for each team. Each member of the team has one club and plays with that one club only. There is no attempt made on the part of the members of the team to play in turn, the captain calling out the club he thinks should be used and the man with that club making the shot. The six clubs chosen by the Apawamis golfers were the driver, brassey, cleek, mid-iron, mashie and putter. Several of these team matches have been played and they found immediate favor.

ROD AND GUN.

Edward Randolph and Clarence Thorn joined forces Friday and spent the day angling at Sewaren. They caught thirty-two weakfish.

Thomas Fahy, the veteran fisherman, of East Second street, rode his wheel to Perth Amboy, Thursday, and spent the day fishing. He returned home in the evening with a catch of twenty-six fine weak fish.

Clarence Thorn, of Park avenue, and Richard Randolph, of West Eighth street, have returned home after a fishing trip to Sewaren. Mr. Thorn reports the catch of a 3½ pound weak fish, which is the largest that has been caught at Sewaren in three years.

LAWN TENNIS.

Owing to the fact that so many members of the Cedar Brook Tennis Club are out of town, it has been decided to discontinue the play in the closed tournament for doubles until the latter part of August when the match games will be resumed.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Abram King, of Chatham street, is riding new Viking wheel.

Camp Meeting at Dewey Park.

Services will be held all day tomorrow at the colored camp meeting at Dewey Park, at which some prominent speakers will be present. Among them will be Rev. Robert Pannill, of Pittston county, Virginia, and Rev. David Blow, of this city. There will be good singing, and refreshments on the grounds.

HARPING ON HYGEIA ICE.

Our ice business is holding out in great shape. While that horrid old Weather Man kept making hot weather trying to make we mortals miserable we kept freezing ice to make we mortals comfortable. When the thermometer flirted around the Blood-Heat mark ice simply kept "running"—but our ice works kept running too, and we believe Mr. Hot Weather has found in Hygeia Ice his worst foe, and the people of Plainfield have found Hygeia their best and worthy friend.

There's no limit to Hygeia Ice. Order it and you're sure of having ice and the best ice that can be had.

TURTLE AND POLITICIANS.

CHARLES P. SEBRING CAVE A TURTLE SUPPER TO HIS FRIENDS.

They Assembled Last Evening And Had An Enjoyable Repast —Speech-making Followed.

Charles P. Sebring, the genial town committeeman from North Plainfield township, gave a turtle supper last evening to forty well-known politicians from various parts of Somerset county. The spread was given at Mr. Sebring's summer home at Greenbrook. There were rumors that the supper had a special political significance, but those on the inside deny absolutely the allegation.

The supper was called for 6 o'clock, and by that time nearly all the guests were present. The borough contingent arrived a little later, but in time to get the full benefit of the menu. When the latter part of the menu was reached the speech-making began.

Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, was one of the chief speakers and his repartee was enjoyed thoroughly. He spoke of the beauties of the county and of the good people who live in it. Other speakers were Senator Charles A. Reed, Mayor N. B Smalley, Councilmen Harrison Coddington, Charles L Lee, S. S. Swackhamer, Assessor E. M. French, Chief Marshal Campbell, Freeholders Lutkins and Mobus, Clerk Frank Bowley, Frank Miles, Collector G. F. Brown, W. F. Williams, W. L. Smalley and A. I. Smalley, all of North Plainfield. In addition to those named there was present Mayor Brokaw and the Councilmen from Bound Brook; Joseph Field, also of Bound Brook; Wm. Demler, of North Plainfield township; A. T. Gallup, of this city, and prominent politicians from Bernardsville.

During the reign of jollity, several nominations were made. Senator Reed was named for governor, while Mayor Smalley was spoken of prominently for sheriff. The nominations were received with a round of applause, and it was the opinion of all that if the election was to be held now there would be no trouble in carrying it through successfully for those mentioned.

It was rather late when the affair terminated, although the borough contingent returned about 9:30 o'clock, just in time to hold the regular Borough Council meeting.

NEW TROLLEY.

Will Soon Be Built From Berkeley Heights Through To Bernardsville.

Work will be started next week by William Gill, of Morristown, to build a trolley road between Berkeley Heights to Millington, and from the latter place the line will be extended through Liberty Corner to Bernardsville. As the trolley will travel through a most desirable section of the two counties it should be a paying enterprise. It is quite likely that the road will be extended from Bernardsville to Somerville in the near future.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Rev. George Bowers, of Warrenville, will lead the prayer meeting at the Third Street chapel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

—Putnam & DeGraw received this morning a new stock of the latest broaches and belt clasps. These belt clasps are made from metal taken from guns which Dewey captured in Manila Bay.

WELL KNOWN COLORED MAN.

Alfred N. Ellison Died at His Home on Richmond Street.

Alfred N. Ellison, a well-known colored citizen, died at his home on Richmond street yesterday after a prolonged illness from heart trouble. He was thirty-four years old and had been employed for the past eight years by the Hillside Cemetery Association. He leaves a widow and three children, one son and two daughters.

The funeral services will be held at the Mount Zion A. M. E. church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made at Hillside.

Not Enough Evidence.

Israel Kadish, of this city, was arrested in the borough last evening on the complaint of Mrs. Duffy, of Grove street, who charged him with using indecent and profane language. The trouble occurred Monday, and Chief Marshal Campbell had been trying to find Kadish ever since. He was arrested on a warrant issued by Recorder Doud, before whom he was arraigned last evening. Kadish was discharged for the reason that a case could not be proven against him.

Two Kinds of Trouble.

On complaint of A. D. Findlay, William Ross was arrested last evening charged with disorderly conduct. He appeared in the city court this morning, but the case was laid over until Monday morning at 9 o'clock. As Ross was leaving court, he was served with dispossess papers from Justice Huff's court, by Constable Mattox.

WARM CONTESTS FOR THE REGULAR TROPHIES.

Senator Reed Now Leads for President's Cup—C. L. Runyon Low Man at Hillside.

COURSE IN GOOD CONDITION

SENATOR REED AND C. T. ROGERS LOW MEN AT PARK CLUB.

Miss vanHerwerden Scored Another Win at the Hillside Club For the Mellick Cup—Some Exciting Play at Hillside.

While the summer season sees many of the local golfers out of town, those who were on hand at the two local clubs Saturday played good golf. The courses were in excellent condition. As a result some good scores were turned in and the usual amount of interest in the regular weekly competitions was shown. Miss vanHerwerden and Carroll L. Runyon won the chief honors at Hillside, while Senator Charles A. Reed did the best at the Park Golf Club.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

Honors at the Park Golf Club course Saturday afternoon decidedly belonged to State Senator Charles A. Reed. He demonstrated that he is fast getting into the leading bunch of players of the club by making a 97 gross, which tied for first place in the weekly competition for the President's cup and incidentally put him in the lead again for that trophy.

None of the virtual scratch men of the club were on hand but there were sixteen who turned out and registered for the weekly competition for the President's cup. A three ball match, in which the contestants were Senator Reed, George T. Rogers and S. St. John McCutchen, developed the best golf of the day. Senator Reed made a 52 and followed with a 45, his best score in a regular club competition. Mr. Rogers' vacation appeared to have improved his game for he made a 102. Mr. McCutchen scored a 105. Senator Reed and Mr. Rogers divided first honors while Henry G. Phillips captured third place with the aid of the limit of the handicaps.

As a result of the day's play, Senator Reed is again in the lead for the trophy with nine points while H. D. Hibbard is two points behind. Mr. Rogers advanced from tenth place and is now tied for fourth place with Allan B. Laing. Mr. VanDeventer is a new-comer in the race and scored for the trophy for the first time.

The scores better than 95 were as follows:

	G	H	N
Charles A. Reed	97	18	79
George T. Rogers	102	23	79
H. G. Phillips	120	40	80
Charles L. Nichols	119	38	81
Aug. VanDeventer	123	40	83
S. St. J. McCutchen	105	17	88
Arthur H. Serrell	113	23	90
Charles B. Morse	106	15	91
William A. Townsend	108	17	91

The standing is:

Charles A. Reed	9
H. D. Hibbard	7
Joseph H. Howell	6
George T. Rogers	5½
Allan B. Laing	5½
Charles W. McCutchen	5
Morgan T. Townsend	5

HILLSIDE TENNIS AND GOLF CLUB.

The month opened auspiciously for golf at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Saturday, when a large field of players took part in the events of the day.

In the morning there was the weekly play for the Mellick cup, and while the entry list was small, considerable interest was manifested in the competition. Miss vanHerwerden won the event with a net score of 97, while Miss Maude VanBoskerck and Miss May Holly finished second and third, with net scores of 104 and 105 respectively. Miss Daisy Eisberg, who holds second position, was not in her usual form and finished last with a net score of 108. Miss vanHerwerden still leads in the competition with sixteen and one-half points. From present indications it looks as though she will be a sure winner. Miss Maude VanBoskerck, with an additional two points, is now tied with Miss Adelaide Ball with five and one-half points. Miss May Holly enters the competition for the first with one point. She is not alone, however, for Miss May Evans also has one point.

The scores for the Mellick cup follow:

	G	H	N
Miss vanHerwerden	101	4	97
Miss M. VanBoskerck	116	12	104
Miss May Holly	135	30	105
Miss Daisy Eisberg	122	14	108

The standing for the trophy is as follows:

	Points.
Miss vanHerwerden	16½
Miss Daisy Eisberg	10½
Miss Adelaide Ball	5½
Miss Maud VanBoskerck	5½
Miss Margaret Goddard	5
Miss Margaret Tracy	3
Miss May Evans	1
Miss May Holly	1

In the afternoon there was the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup and, as stated, there was a large entry list. It now looks as though the interest in this event will increase during this month, in spite of the fact that so many are away on their vacations. There was a surprise in store for those who took part in the event. Carroll L. Runyon, who entered the competition for the first time, was the winner with a net score of 77. He played with Morris J. Dumont and beat him one up. It so happened that Dumont and C. Westley Abbott were tie for second and third honors with a net score of 77.

Saturday's play does not affect the standing in the competition. Mrs. Rogers still holds the lead with six points, while C. C. Burke, Jr., and D. H. Rowland, with five points each, are her nearest competitors.

The course was in superb condition and permitted good scores which, as the table will show, were all very close. It was expected that Roger F. Murray would finish near the top, but he played a slow game and finished last with a net score of 92. There were many tie scores and great rivalry existed in the play. Every score was below a hundred, and as the handicaps were not particularly fat, they were all most creditable.

The standing for the Golf Committee cup is as follows:

	Points.
Mrs. N. P. Rogers	6
C. C. Burke, Jr.	5
D. H. Rowland	5
E. E. Stevenson	4½
Roger F. Murray	3½
F. C. Ard	3½

Morris J. Dumont	1½
F. A. Clark	1½
Clifton Wharton, Jr.	1
Walter Peterson	½
Robert Abbott	½
W. F. Murray	½
D. W. Taylor	½

The scores were:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Carroll L. Runyon	90	13	77
Morris J. Dumont	83	4	79
C. Wesley Abbott	88	9	79
Robert Abbott	88	8	80

Engagement Announced.

The engagement of Miss Clara Steiner, of Somerset street, to Charles French, formerly of this city, but now of Minneapolis, is announced. Miss Steiner has been in the office of Lawyer Frank Bergen at Elizabeth for many years, and has been a very valuable assistant. The wedding will be celebrated in October.

Want Stone Yard Removed.

A petition to the Common Council is being signed by property owners on East Second street, asking for the removal of the stone yard recently located on the corner of Church street. Besides being an unsightly affair, it is claimed that the smoke from the chimney of the boiler room is a nuisance.

Let Go With a Warning.

Sentence was suspended on William Rose in the city court this morning, who was charged with causing a disturbance Friday evening in Findlay's saloon. He was warned, however, that if he appeared in court again this year he would be sent to Elizabeth for a long term.

COMPANY K RETURNED FROM SEA GIRT CAMP

Week Was Greatly Enjoyed By All And Much Progress Was Made.

TALK OF A FIELD DAY NOW.

COMPANY'S K'S VOLLEY FIRING WAS REMARKABLY GOOD.

Returned With Fifty-two—How Vigilance Company Kept Return Iron Becoming Monotonous—Officers And Men Pleased.

If Company K was ordered back to Sea Girt tomorrow, it would take the strongest kind of a reason to keep any member of the company at home. That is the way that one of the boys expressed it and there is no doubt but that the week's encampment, which ended Saturday, was fully enjoyed. The company reached here Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and marched to Washington Hall where they disbanded and the boys went home to tell the wonderful stories of what they did at Camp Voornees.

Company K was ordered to the State camp to give the commanding officers of the second regiment a chance to see what material there was in the new company and break the recruits in. The men were ordered to camp without pay, but it was announced before they returned that they would receive full pay for the week. The work done was very satisfactory. The drilling was good, but Company K excelled particularly in volley firing. In that direction the work of Company K was superior to that of nearly every company in the State. The volleys sounded like a single gun.

The week passed without a single serious mishap. While the boys enjoyed their play times to the full, they were prompt to obey their officers' commands, and there was never the slightest sign of insubordination. The officers were greatly pleased with the work of the men, and the privates felt that they had been treated with fairness by their superiors.

The company went to Sea Girt fifty-seven strong and returned with fifty-two. Private C. B. Pope had to return before the week was up on account of illness and the other four were unable, on account of business duties, to remain through the full week. Only forty of the men had a chance to complete their strings at the rifle range. Of that number, over twenty-five qualified as marksmen and one, Corporal Edgar Pearsall, of Westfield, as a sharpshooter. Private Howard Terhune and Captain W. K. Browning were next in order, failing to qualify as sharpshooters by only a few points.

The journey home Saturday afternoon was made without incident. The company was first given a good car, but was compelled to change to an old one before the journey was over. The company also had to change cars at Elizabethport.

A vigilance committee was appointed and kept the journey from growing tiresome by seeing that the face of each private was washed in ice water. They desired to make a good appearance on reaching Plainfield, they said.

The commissioned and non-commissioned officers met in the car and discussed the advisibility of holding a field day on Labor Day. It was planned to invite three other companies and have a battalion drill and sham battle.

Attended a Surprise Party.

The Misses Amanda and Mabel Randolph and Miss Agnes Moffett drove to Millington Saturday to attend a birthday party given Miss Bessie Moffett, of that place. The surprise was complete, as all arrangements had been made to hold the affair at the large boathouse, at the rear of the rear of the place on the bank of the Passaic river.

Back to the Place They Love.

P. M. Demarest and wife, who have been living with their daughter in Chicago, returned to Plainfield Saturday morning, after an absence of fourteen months. They are at present at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Newton Drake, of Duer street.

To Open Bids.

The building committee from the Gesang and Turn Verein will meet this week to receive and open bids for building an addition to the hall.

Picnic at Chimney Rock.

The Sunday-school of the Reformed church at East Millstone will enjoy its annual picnic at Chimney Rock Wednesday, August 7.

FOOT GROUND UNDER WHEELS.

GEO MEYER WAS CRIPPLED FOR LIFE SATURDAY.

Went Up On Coal Train To See Baseball Game And Jumped Off To Get a Drink.

Disobedience of his parents' commands to stay away from the railroad resulted Saturday afternoon in the crippling for life of George Meyer, the eighteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Meyer, of South Second street. His right foot was terribly crushed by a Central Railroad coal train at Whitehouse, where he attempted to alight. He was brought to this city on a passenger train and taken to Muhlenberg Hospital. The physicians in charge saw it was impossible to save the injured member and it was amputated at the ankle. This morning he was resting easily and will no doubt recover rapidly.

Together with William Skinner and James Scott, young Meyer planned Friday to go to High Bridge and see the St. Mary team play at that place. Not having the money to pay their passage, they decided to ride up on a coal train. They left the city on one at 2 o'clock, and were proceeding slowly through Sand Hill cut above Whitehouse when all three attempted to jump off and get a drink at a spring.

In some manner Meyer's feet struck against a wheel and was drawn in under. The instep was crushed and the leg was torn open from the ankle to the knee. The latter injury was stitched up, but the foot had to be taken off.

The injured lad was an apprentice at the Potter Press Works, and had nearly served his time. His mother has always entertained a dread of the railroad, and warned him repeatedly not to jump on cars. Saturday was the first time he had ever disobeyed, and he was so fearful of gaining his parent's displeasure that for some time it was impossible to learn the true story of the occurrence.

DISH FRACTURED SKULL.

John Greene Held Pending Results of His Father's Injuries Caused by Thrown Dish.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, August 5.—At a raffle here Saturday night, Christopher Fleming won a cow that was chanced off by Geo. Ashford. Fleming, having no use for the cow, sold it to Frank Greene. Greene brought the cow home and told the family of his purchase, whereupon his son, John, became furious, saying that they had no more use for the cow than Fleming, and that his father should have known better than to spend his hard earned money in that way. Mrs. Greene finally quieted the disputants and they retired for the night.

Yesterday morning the cow question came up again and young Greene tried to strike his father but was prevented by John Briskey, a neighbor, who was present. Young Greene then threw some dishes at his father and one heavy one, hitting him on the head, fractured his skull.

Dr. Fisher, who dressed his wounds, said the man would undoubtedly die, and ordered him removed to the Somerset Hospital.

Young Greene was arrested this forenoon by Officer Friday and confined in the county jail at Somerville to await the result of his father's injuries.

BUSINESS FOR AUGUST.

VanArsdale Starts His Annual Clearing Up Sale.

VanArsdale starts his annual clear up sale today of all odds and ends of shoes and oxfords that he doesn't want to winter over. VanArsdale doesn't believe in carrying goods over year after year to take up room, and let them get way out of date, and any one needing good shoes will find some specially good values at this sale. If you read his advertisement carefully you'll see he doesn't claim to have every size and width, and the men, women, boy or girl with narrow feet will get the better run of sizes, although there are many good things in the wider widths.

Male Quartette.

A temporary change was made yesterday in the male quartette at the First Presbyterian church which was composed of the following: Elmer E. Cutting, first tenor; E. Maxwell Honeyman, second tenor; Sydney B. Titsworth, first bass; Arthur Smith, second bass.

Vacation Arrangements.

The choir and organist of Trinity Reformed church, having been granted a vacation during the month of August, Miss Voorhees, of Carlton avenue, presided at the organ, yesterday morning, and H. J. Martin, Sr., led for the congregational singing.

BOTH CRACK NINES PLAYED GOOD BALL.

Hope Chapel Team Won Without Trouble—St. Mary's Lost by a Single Run.

WOMEN'S GAME A FARCE.

NEW PROVIDENCE PROVED AN EASY PREY FOR THE HOPE BOYS.

Montross Pitched His Usual Fine Game—Close Game at High Bridge—Score Was a Tie From Fifth to the Ninth Inning.

Despite the enervating humidity in the air Saturday afternoon, the local baseball players put up a good article of ball. The Hope Chapel team found no trouble in extinguishing the hopes of the New Providence team by a one-sided score while the St. Mary's made a game fight at High Bridge, losing by a score of 6 to 5. The game with the women's nine proved to be even a greater farce than was expected and the few patrons, who attended, went away disappointed.

HOPE, 17; NEW PROVIDENCE, 11.

After nine innings of one-sided playing, the Hope baseball team defeated the New Providence Field Club Saturday afternoon by a score of 17 to 11. Neither side played up to its standard, but the final result could be discerned at the start. The Hope team was at one time fourteen runs ahead, when a shift of positions on the visitors' side and a bracing up at the bat made the score somewhat closer.

Montross was in the box for the home team. In the early part of the game, he held the visitors down to a few hits and but two runs. In the sixth inning, the New Providence men, who had been playing in a half-hearted manner, seemed to take a new lease of life and bunched several good hits bringing in two more runs. For the remainder of the game they batted Montross frequently and aided by errors on the part of Hope fielders, tallied seven runs making a total of eleven.

The New Providence team brought two twirlers into play, Garris and Volke, the former going to pieces after a few innings. Volke was a decided improvement and had he been placed in the box at the start, a much better game would have resulted. Off the two pitchers, the Hopes secured a total of ten hits. Smith, the Hopes shortstop, was placed in centre field, and his place was taken by Brit Martin, of the Clinton Avenue team. He put up a fine game both in the field and at the bat. There were no especial plays credited to any of the Hope players.

Following is the batting order and summary:

HIGH BRIDGE, 6; ST. MARY'S, 5

Confident of their ability to win, the players of the St. Mary baseball team, started for High Bridge Saturday afternoon for the purpose of contesting with the representative team of that town. They returned home later in the evening, somewhat crestfallen over their defeat, but still jubilant. It was a defeat of which no one need be ashamed. The High Bridge boys won by a score of 6 to 5, but it by was no means proved they are superior players. Every run credited to the St. Mary team was earned fairly and by hard work, while on the other side they were made by the few costly errors which came at the wrong time. A couple of timely hits would have given the game to the Plainfielders.

In one sense of the word, it was a pitcher's battle in which Doyle practically won out. Nine of the High Bridge men fanned while eight of the St. Mary's followed suit. Doyle allowed but three hits to be made on him during the entire game, while Bradley, the High Bridge twirler, was batted safely nine times. One of these was a double made by Angleman, the St. Mary's crack batsman, while another two bagger was made by Mack. Angleman also won the plaudits of the thousand spectators by making a splendid catch in centre field and by a quick throw to first put a second man out, making the only double play in the game. First baseman Winn also made a splendid catch which, had it been muffed, would have cost a run.

From the fifth inning until the last, the score stood 5 to 5 and several times it seemed as though the St. Mary's would win. They retired, however, with the score still tied. The High Bridge team went to the bat and by various ways advanced a man to third. A wild throw by Keene from third to first, allowed the man to score and give the game to the home team.

WOMEN, 16; ORIENTALS, 16.

The Women's team from Newark and a picked nine from Plainfield, styled the Orientals, played a tie game on the Clinton Avenue grounds Saturday afternoon. A crowd of men assembled with the expectation of seeing something sensational, but they were sadly disappointed. As far as the game itself was concerned, it was a very poor exhibition of baseball and became nothing more than a farce. The women could not play ball and the others did not seem to try to.

The Orientals' batting order was as follows: Emory, 1b; Connolly, 2b; Squier, p; Scott, c; Feiring, 3b; Lawler, cf; Motley, rf; Kilbride, lf. Archibald Hacquer, a reporter for a local paper, accounted for the runs as they came in.

WEDDED AT STIRLING.

Well-Known Somerset County People Were Married Yesterday Afternoon.

A quiet marriage was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Former Assemblyman Edward E. Cooper, at South Stirling, when his brother, William Cooper, was married to Miss Sadie Swody, of Mt. Bethel. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Nicholas Bowers, pastor of the Mt. Bethel church, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The couple was unattended.

A reception followed the marriage, after which the bride and groom went to housekeeping at once. The groom is a well-known farmer, and both he and his wife are popular among a large circle of friends.

WALKED HOME.

Last Trolley Car Jumped The Track Near Leland Avenue Last Night.

The Elizabeth-Plainfield trolley car, due here at 1 o'clock in the morning, jumped the track near Leland avenue, this morning. The rear trucks left the track and the car bumped over the ties for a hundred feet. No one was injured, but the passengers were forced to walk home.

TROLLEY CARS CRASHED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

Five People Badly Hurt And Many Slightly Injured In Wreck Last Night.

HAPPENED ON SECOND ST.

MISUNDERSTANDING OF SIGNALS LET TWO CARS MEET ON SINGLE TRACK.

One Car Was Running Dark—Struck With Much Force—Passengers Thrown About Car—Blame Not Yet Placed.

Five persons were badly hurt and one hundred others battered and bruised by a head-on collision of two trolley cars, which occurred at 8:15 last evening on East Second street, near Johnston avenue, on the Plainfield-Elizabeth line. Both cars were partially wrecked, and the passengers were thrown into the roadbed or piled about the seats, bruised and bleeding. Order was restored from chaos as soon as possible, and it was found that the most seriously hurt were:

M'CAULEY, James; Linden avenue, sprained elbow, severe abrasions of the face; taken to Muhlenberg Hospital.

MELMAN, Miss Bertha; East Sixth street, contusions of back and general shock; taken to Muhlenberg Hospital.

RYDER, Charles; conductor, lacerated fingers, and severe contusions; taken to his home on West Third street.

HILLMAN, Lindley M.; New York city, rib dislocated and nervous shock, taken to home of Robert Dryden, of Carlton avenue.

KLINE, Edward J., of 435 East Sixth street, shoulder dislocated, back strained, bad bruises, taken home.

Many others had severe cuts dressed by physicians and hurried away without giving their names.

The accident occurred on East Second street, where there is a single track, two hundred feet west of Johnston avenue. It was due to a mistake on the part of either one of the crews in reading the automatic signals which protect the line from the end of the double track to the switch at East Second street.

Motorman George Stewart and Conductor Walter Sipe were proceeding west with a car, when at Scotch Plains they were ordered to transfer their passengers to car No. 81, which had burned out a fuse and was in total darkness. This car was taken to Plainfield and sent to the barns for repairs. They continued on with only a small oil lamp in front serving as a headlight. The time consumed in transferring the passengers caused considerable delay but they left the double track intending to reach the switch at Richmond street, according to the schedule.

Car 83, with Motorman Charles Roberts and Conductor Charles Ryder, left the Watchung Avenue terminus at 8 o'clock. It reached the Richmond street switch and after waiting some time without meeting 81, started on.

Both motormen were sending the cars ahead at full speed, when at Johnston avenue, Stewart saw the other approaching and slowed down. Not having any light and being in a dark spot, it was impossible to see No. 81, and Roberts continued on. The crash followed before he had the slightest warning of its nearness. Both cars were loaded to their fullest capacity with the usual Sunday pleasure seeking crowds, and the scene which followed was one of indescribable confusion.

Every bit of glass in both cars, which were new open ones, was shattered and flew among the passengers. The latter had been thrown to the floor or against seats, while many were precipitated into the roadway. Not knowing exactly what the trouble was, everyone sought to get off the car and the result was that many were trampled upon.

Fortunately Dr. Pittis was on the first car following and, with the assistance of passengers who were unhurt, had the injured removed to the home of Harry Wilbee, on Johnston avenue. With what few remedies he had, he attended those most seriously hurt. Drs. Fritts and Probasco arrived soon after and attended a large number suffering with cuts and bruises.

Among them were Councilman Frank Randolph, who was bruised about the back and had his lip cut; Wm. Long, of West Second street, cuts and bruises, and George Frazee, back hurt. Several boys who were on the rear platform of car 81 were top-

TO CHECK IMMIGRATION.

This Government Trying to Secure Canada's Co-operation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The United States has made an important proposition to Canada designed to secure the cordial co-operation of Dominion officials in the inspection of immigrants arriving at Canadian ports and who in many instances subsequently enter the United States. It is believed a satisfactory agreement will be soon reached not only with the Canadian officials, but also with the transportation companies having terminals in Canada.

This project for improving the United States inspection service along the border line has been delayed for some time because certain railroads were not inclined to make essential concessions. It is proposed that Canada shall practically adopt the immigration regulations of this country in place of her lax laws, which provide no restrictions on foreigners after passing quarantine. Canada is in great want of laborers and is therefore inclined to encourage contract labor. The American prohibition of this class will therefore be omitted from the new Canadian regulations, but in all other respects it is expected the immigrant laws of the two countries will be made nearly identical. As a result of continuous efforts exerted by Secretary Gage the transportation companies, it is now believed, will acquiesce in the treasury's demand to deport at their own expense any immigrants brought by them to Canada as well as to the United States who may be excluded under the law.

By securing this co-operation treasury officials hope to be able to check the enormous amount of smuggling across the Canadian border line which annually adds thousands of undesirable immigrants to this country's population.

TWO STEAMERS WRECKED.

The Vera and Acis Lost Off Cape Race.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 5.—On the cruel rocks of Cape Race two more steamers have found their doom, making five within less than two months that have been lost on those shores. The two latest victims are the Norwegian steamer Vera and the British steamer Acis. While the ships will probably be total losses, both crews reached shore in safety.

The Vera, bound from London to Quebec, in ballast, struck on the rocks near Renews, about 50 yards south of the spot where the steamer Delmar went ashore and within sight of the wreck of the steamer Lusitania. She filled within 15 minutes after striking.

Her captain and crew got ashore and camped on the bank. They have provisions with them. Some of the crew boarded the Vera again.

The Vera is aground forward, and 75 feet of her bottom has been torn out. Her stokehole is full of water, and she lies broadside to the sea, pounding against the rocks. There is no hope of getting her off, and the sea is now too rough to even put a tug alongside.

The Acis, Captain Tate, which was bound from Galveston to Hamburg with cotton and grain, is ashore nine miles west of Cape Race. She is in a dangerous position and has been abandoned by her crew. The wreck commissioner is in charge.

The crew had great trouble in reaching shore, owing to the heavy seas which swept the vessel, but there were no fatalities. The steamer Grand Lake has sailed to salvage the cargo and bring back the crew.

INVADERS DEFEATED.

Venezuelan Government Routed Enemy With Heavy Loss.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Aug. 5.—The Venezuelan government announces that a force of invaders under General Rangel Garbiras, including 22 battalions of the Colombian army, was repulsed by the government troops and compelled to fall back across the frontier after 28 hours' fighting on July 28 and 29.

It is officially asserted that the invaders lost 900 men, the government troops losing 300.

The government has sent re-enforcements to the frontier.

The Lennox Saved.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The disabled transport Lennox has been towed to port by the steamer Iaqua, which picked her up nine miles west of Piedras Blancas. At that time the Lennox was still drifting down the coast and met the Iaqua as the latter vessel was on her way up from San Diego to Eureka. From the time she broke down until she was picked up by the Iaqua the Lennox drifted and sailed under a jury rig over 100 miles. Nothing was seen of the transport tug Slocum, which went out Thursday afternoon to the rescue of the transport.

Building Arsenals In China.

TIEN-TSIN, Aug. 5.—The governor of Shangtung, Yuan Shi Kai, is constructing arsenals in that province for the manufacture of arms and smokeless powder. He is engaging experts who were formerly employed in the arsenals here. The Chinese are also manufacturing arms and ammunition near Paoting. Trade is improving, but the attitude of the Chinese is sullen and defiant.

Half a Million From the Klondike.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 5.—The steamer Humboldt has arrived at Skaguay with $500,000 in Klondike gold. According to advices brought down by the Humboldt, the Newport reached Juneau July 30 and reported that five men had been killed by the Indians about 200 miles west from Valdez island. No particulars could be learned.

Sleeping Car Porters Organize.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Sleeping car porters who are residents of Chicago are forming an organization for "mutual benefit," according to an announcement made by the secretary of the union. It is called the Railway Men's Mercantile league and is said to be patterned after one recently formed in St. Louis.

Three Persons Drowned.

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 5.—Three persons were drowned while bathing at Quequnoco, on Sinepuxent bay. The three unfortunates became separated from the other members of a party and suddenly found themselves in a deep hole. They were drowned before assistance reached them.

A Letter From Steyn.

KROONSTAD, Orange River Colony, Aug. 5.—Two Boers came into the British lines yesterday under a flag of truce with a letter from former President Steyn.

IS A FIGHT FOR LIFE.

Great Steel Strike to Test Unionism.

BITTER STRUGGLE TO BE ENTERED ON

President Shaffer Says No Quarter Is to Be Given and None Will Be Requested—Conference With the Steel Trust Fruitless.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 5.—"Within a week every union man and every union man at heart in the employ of the United States Steel corporation will be asked to join the strike now being waged by the Amalgamated association. We must settle whether unionism is to stand or fall.

"There will be no more conferences with the United States Steel corporation unless the meeting is asked for by the officials of that corporation. The Amalgamated association will not request a peace meeting."

These and several other significant statements were made by Theodore J. Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, upon his return from the fruitless conference with J. Pierpont Morgan and others in New York.

It is now a fight to the bitter finish between the great billion dollar steel trust and organized labor. Mr. Shaffer says that he is ready to employ every peaceable means within the power of man to win a victory. No quarter is to be given and none will be requested. The entire management of the battle has been placed in the hands of President Shaffer. He has absolute power to call out every man who is connected with the organization, and he intends to do it. He is satisfied with the progress of the fight to date. He finds that none of his battle lines have been broken. Promise is made by Mr. Shaffer that the trust will find that the Amalgamated association has strong roots in many of the mills.

Mr. Shaffer, Secretary Williams, B. I. Davis, M. F. Tighe and John Chappell of Wellsville came in from New York over the Baltimore and Ohio road at about 7 o'clock last evening. They were expected by the Pennsylvania, but Mr. Shaffer enjoys mystery, and his chief pastime now is eluding reporters. The president and his advisors did not appear to be in the least cast down.

"I have simply been whirling through a sea of reporters since I left Pittsburg," said Mr. Shaffer, "and the tide does not seem to have turned the other way. There is not much that I can say about the situation at present.

"At a meeting held in New York I was given full authority to act. The meeting empowered me to issue a call whenever in my judgment I thought it was time to act."

"When will that call be issued?"

"That depends upon a number of things. It is difficult to say just the exact day that I will be ready to exercise the authority invested in me."

"Cannot you fix some definite date when this order will be issued?"

"You can say that within a week every union man and every union man at heart in the employ of the United States Steel corporation will be requested by me to join the Amalgamated association in winning this strike."

"Do you think you will be able to close all of the mills of the steel corporation?"

"I am of the opinion that every one of them can be closed. We have some great surprises in store for the trust. The men have been organized in some of their mills that they never dreamed could be touched. We have the sympathy of the workmen, and they will not throw any straws in the way of our absolute victory."

Mr. Shaffer said that the stories that Mr. Morgan had been ugly during the conference on Saturday were untrue. He said the gentleman had been courteous and businesslike throughout the entire meeting, and if he had lost his temper it was after the adjournment of the gathering.

"Are you afraid of southern negroes being brought in to break the strike?"

"Not in the least. The negroes of the south are thoroughly organized. We have not been overlooking that detail. They make the best kind of union men. The 300 colored men brought from the south to assist in starting the plant of the Latrobe Steel company in Chicago were all members of the union. When they discovered what was wanted of them, they returned to their homes."

Secretary Williams was not disposed to discuss the situation at such great length as his chief. He did have this to say:

"All possibility of settlement of this difficulty appears to be at an end.

"We carefully considered the proposition of the trust. It was decided that the terms were such that we could not accept. To accept would have meant practically the disruption of our organization. We could not have agreed and returned to face the men we represented.

"It is now a case of fight. I think the contest will be the greatest industrial battle the world has ever known. I am thoroughly convinced that we will win the victory."

Trying to Enlist Labor Federation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—President Shaffer and other members of the executive board of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers have been sounding the American Federation of Labor as to the extent the latter body can be depended upon in supporting the great steel strike now under way. With this object in view President Shaffer, Secretary Williams, B. I. Davis, M. F. Tighe and John Chappell came to Washington after the announcement in New York of their failure to reach an agreement with the United States Steel officials. They reached the city late Saturday night and registered at one of the down town hotels. Their presence in the city was known only to a few people. They departed for Pittsburg about 11 o'clock Sunday morning. While here the committee had two extended interviews with General Secretary Frank Morrison, the principal officer of the American Federation of Labor now in the city. President Gompers being away for a few days' visit to the north. Mr. Morrison was exceedingly loath to discuss the object of the committee's visit. He would not say specifically to what extent the Federation of Labor would aid the Amalgamated association.

Hope For Prince Henri d'Orleans.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—The Duc de Chartres, father of Prince Henri d'Orleans, has received the following dispatch from Saigon regarding the prince, who is lying dangerously ill there: "Slightly better. Strength fair."

PRAISED BY CORBIN.

Adjutant General Is Pleased With Philippine Conditions.

TAFT AND CHAFFEE COMMENDED.

Says Island Affairs Could Not Be Carried on by Abler Hands. Homestead Laws Suggested.

MANILA, Aug. 5.—The towns of Calapan, Naujau and Pola, on the northeast coast of the island of Mindoro, were occupied by a battalion of the Thirtieth volunteer infantry and Maccabebe scouts after a slight resistance. The insurgents, numbering 250, fled into the interior. Their commander, Howard, who is a deserter, is hiding in the mountains, and the Americans are in pursuit.

Adjutant General Corbin, who has returned to Manila after an 11 day tour of the islands, including a visit to the sultan of Sulu, with whom he exchanged presents, says:

"The trip has considerably broadened my views as well as affording me great pleasure personally. What I have seen should be of considerable benefit to the government.

"In my opinion the changes now being made in the Philippines could not be carried out by abler hands than those of Governor Taft and General Chaffee. Both are men of tact and ability. Their duties are entirely separate and yet in many ways co-operative. One could not very well go forward without the other. I am gratified to observe the firm friendship established between them, and I am confident that under their guidance the Philippines will get out of troubled into peaceful waters."

The adjutant general left Manila for Shanghai yesterday afternoon.

The civil commission has chartered a steamer for a trip among the northern islands in the interest of the establishment of civil government. The journey will be begun in about ten days.

Congressman Shafroth of Colorado, who has been closely investigating the question of public lands in the Philippines, urges the commission to take steps to establish the homestead laws, allowing any person doing work to the value of $100 on government land to occupy a certain amount of it and if possible assisting in stocking it. He also urges a similar arrangement with reference to mining claims.

The troubles between the sultan of Sulu and other native chiefs, which have resulted in some fighting and considerable loss of life, are being closely watched by the military authorities, who are ready to interfere should occasion demand.

The civil administration of Manila under the new charter will probably go into effect tomorrow, when most of the appointments will be made.

Fatal Train Collision.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Aug. 5.—A Pan-American special heavily loaded and a regular train collided a few miles east of this city about 1 o'clock yesterday morning on the New York Central. The engineer of the train was killed at his post. A trainman lost his life, and a fireman suffered a broken leg and other injuries, but will recover. The regular train was 25 minutes late at Medina. There they received orders to run to Middleport and there await the Pan-American special. When the train reached Middleport they met the Buffalo theater train, which they thought was the special they were to pass. In the meantime the Pan-American special had received orders to proceed to Middleport. The trains met a few miles east of this city. The passengers of both trains were thrown into a panic by the shock.

Negro Killed an Officer.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 5.—A special from Shelby, N. C., to The Observer says that Chief of Police Jones of that place was shot and instantly killed by Jim Lowery, a negro employed at the South Carolina and Georgia depot, at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. Jones, with a warrant charging Lowery with selling whisky without a license, went to serve it. Lowery ran, firing at Jones, the bullet taking effect in the lung. Jones followed and caught him as he struck a dampost. In the scuffle Lowery fired again, the bullet going through Jones' heart. Four bloodhounds and over 1,000 people are on the negro's trail. One of the bloodhounds was shot by the fleeing negro. It is quite likely that if the negro is caught he will never reach the jail.

Hot Fire In a Freight Yard.

CORNING, N. Y., Aug. 5.—An Erie freight train while switching in the yard here overturned a car of naphtha, which exploded, setting fire to three other cars loaded with naphtha, and destroyed all four. Half a dozen yard offices and buildings were also destroyed, including the interlocking switch station where the Erie track crosses the New York Central at grade. The loss is heavy. J. T. Tubbs, an Erie operator in charge of the interlocking switch tower, narrowly escaped being burned to death. He jumped from the tower and was severely injured. Traffic was suspended for six hours.

British Torpedo Boat Destroyer Lost.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The British torpedo boat destroyer Viper struck a rock off the island of Alderney, in the English channel, and is a total wreck. There was no loss of life. The Viper was the only vessel in the British navy fitted with turbine engines. During her speed trials in May and June she attained 30½ knots and was pronounced capable of doing 31 knots. At that time she was handled by an inexperienced crew, and her builders believed she would yet attain 34 knots.

Pastor Stricken In His Pulpit.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 5.—The Rev. George E. Hancock, pastor of the West Park Methodist Episcopal church of this place, was stricken with paralysis at the morning service yesterday. He was carried into the rectory and died at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Hancock complained of not feeling well before he went into the pulpit, but attempted to deliver the sermon. He had not spoken more than five minutes when the fatal stroke came.

THE PAN-AMERICAN.

Many Interesting Features on This Week's Programme.

BUFFALO, Aug. 5.—One of the very best bicycle meets ever held will be inaugurated in this city during the coming week in the Stadium at the Pan-American exposition. The best amateurs of the country will compete in the events, which include quarter, third, one, two and five miles, with an exhibition record ride by Walter Smith of the Kings County wheelmen, New York city. The track is a fast one, constructed of boards and scientifically banked. It is six laps to the mile. The various participants are now arriving upon the ground and have already gone into track practice. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded the winners. Cycle devotees are comparing the relative merits and corresponding chances of "Ginger" Hurley of New York and Frank Denny, the speedy Buffalo boy who represented the N. C. A. in the world's championships in Berlin.

As a grand wind up to the events of the week there will be a 20 mile paced race in which any number of noted middle distance men will compete.

Indications point to a large delegation of visitors from Ithaca tomorrow, which has been set aside as Ithaca-Cornell day. Several excursion parties have already made application for accommodations, and an elaborate programme has been arranged for the day. The Ithaca band of 40 pieces will accompany the excursionists and furnish the music incidental to the exercises in the Temple of Music.

This day will certainly be a gala occasion for New Yorkers from any and all parts of the state, for the handsome state building which has been erected by New York will be dedicated upon this occasion with suitable ceremonies. Daniel N. Lockwood, chairman of the New York board of managers; J. Sloat Fassett of Elmira and others will be the speakers of the day.

The Macabees will pitch their tents at the exposition on Wednesday. The great camp at Buffalo is receiving the hearty co-operation of the large local membership of the fraternity in its efforts to make Macabee day a memorable one in the history of the exposition. Twenty thousand knights and ladies are expected to visit the exposition.

Thursday will be Vermont day at the exposition. Many distinguished citizens from Vermont will be present on this occasion. Hon. William J. Stickney, governor of the state, together with ex-Governor Josiah Grout, ex-Governor Carroll S. Page, ex-Governor E. C. Smith, Hon. E. S. Dillingham, Hon. D. J. Foster, Hon. Kittredge Haskings and many others have completed plans to be in Buffalo on this day. The butchers and market men will also celebrate Thursday.

The Ecuador building will be formally opened to the public on Saturday, Aug. 10, a national holiday in that country. Don Louis F. Carbo, chairman of the commission and minister at Washington, will preside. The building is one of the most unique in the group of foreign state houses and is moreover the most typical as far as architecture is concerned.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

At Burke, N. Y., fire has destroyed Everett Bros.' store and David Everett's dwelling house; loss, $25,000.

At Elmira the big tannery owned by William T. Sheeley of New York was burned to the ground. Loss, $30,000.

The next eucharist congress, composed of every parish priest in the United States, has been called to assemble in St. Louis on Oct. 15.

Ninety per cent of the horses in Chicago are now suffering from influenza. The disease is proving fatal in from 3 to 5 cases in every 100.

Fire broke out in the top of the Grand Trunk railway's elevator at Chicago at Fifty-first street and Central avenue. Damage estimated at $75,000 was caused before the flames were brought under control.

The Mexican Lloyd Trading and Transport company has obtained a concession from the federal government to run a line of steamers from Baltimore and other American ports to Mexican gulf ports, making two complete monthly round trips. The steamers are permitted to do both foreign and coasting trade.

Another Lynching.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 5.—The Picayune's Carrollton (Miss.) special says that the armed mob which has been in the Taliaferro neighborhood for two days looking for Sally Layton and others some time Saturday night killed Will Price, the negro who worked for Mr. Taliaferro and lived within 200 yards of his residence. He was found dead in the road on Mr. Duke's place some distance from any trees or anything to which to hang any one with a rope around his neck and mutilated by gunshots. Squire John Irving held an inquest over the body. The verdict was, "Came to his death by the hands of unknown persons."

Mountain Baffles Explorers.

BANFF, N. W. T., Aug. 5.—Mount Assiniboine, the Matterhorn of the Canadian Rockies, after seven attempts in as many seasons is still unconquered. Walter D. Wilcox of Washington and Henry G. Bryan, ex-president of the Geographical society of Philadelphia, accompanied by two Canadian Pacific Swiss guides, were defeated in an attempt to reach its summit, although an altitude of 11,125 feet was attained. This is a much higher point than has previously been reached. Fenz, the chief Swiss guide, says that Mount Sir Donald, the highest of the Selkirk peaks, is a morning walk compared to Mount Assiniboine.

M. Santos-Dumont Fails Again.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—M. Santos-Dumont, the Brazilian aeronaut, made another unsuccessful attempt yesterday to win the prize of 100,000 francs offered by M. Deutsch of the Aero club for a dirigible balloon. He started from the grounds of the Aero club, the Parc d'Aerostation, at St. Cloud, and headed for the Eiffel tower. When over Longchamp the guide rope caught in a tree. M. Santos-Dumont got clear, but finding he could not cover the course within the time limit he returned to St. Cloud 8½ minutes after the start, having covered about half the distance to the Eiffel tower.

Church and Factory Burned.

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 5.—Fire has destroyed the Methodist church, John E. Boher's furniture store and factory and Bitner's residence. Estimated loss $40,000, with little insurance. The church had just been remodeled, and it is a total loss.

BISHOP LITTLEJOHN'S DEATH.

Head of Diocese of Long Island Expires Suddenly In Massachusetts.

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The remains of the Right Rev. Abram Newkirk Littlejohn, D. D., LL. D., bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Long Island, who died suddenly at noon Saturday at the Greylock hotel, in Williamstown, Mass., where he was passing his vacation, have arrived at his home here. The cause of his death was apoplexy.

Bishop Littlejohn was born in Florida, Montgomery county, N. Y., Dec. 13, 1824. In 1845 he was graduated from Union college, and on March 19, 1848, he was ordained deacon in St. Peter's church, Auburn. He then took charge of St. Ann's church, Amsterdam, and soon afterward of St. Andrew's church, Meriden, Conn. In 1850 he went to Springfield, Mass., becoming rector of Christ church, but the following year returned to Connecticut and became rector of St. Paul's church, New Haven. In 1855 the degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on the young clergyman, and three years later the presidency of Geneva (now Hobart) college was offered him, an honor which he declined. For seven years he lectured on pastoral theology in the Berkeley divinity school, Middletown, Conn.

In 1860 Dr. Littlejohn was called to the rectorship of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Clinton and Montague streets, Brooklyn. He was the second rector of the church, succeeding the Rev. Dr. William H. Lewis. During Dr. Littlejohn's rectorship the beautiful spire of the church was completed. In 1868 he could have been bishop of central New York, but declined the office. The following year, however, he resigned his rectorship to become bishop of Long Island. He was consecrated in the Church of the Holy Trinity on Jan. 27, 1869, by Bishop Potter.

FRISCO'S LABOR TROUBLES.

Unless Employers Make Concessions the Strike Will Increase.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—Whether the local labor trouble is to be terminated or whether it is to be extended to other unions and possibly to other coast cities will probably be determined this afternoon. The directors of the employers' association are to meet then and to decide on their final position. Should they decide to make no concessions the union leaders assert they will issue orders for extreme measures. Andrew Furuseeth, secretary of the labor council, said:

"We have done everything in our power to meet the employers half way, but through their attorney, Mr. Michael, they have expressed a desire to treat with us only on one basis—that of the disruption of labor unions in San Francisco.

"We shall not consent to yield up the only rights we have as laboring men. We decline to allow the employers to rule the industries of this city as did the council of ten in the dark days of Venice's history. We are willing to meet the issue raised by the employers in a spirit of fairness, but at the same time we demand that the employers consider the question involved in this struggle in the same spirit. What we want is an early adjustment of this affair. We will do all we can to secure it without the sacrifice of our principles as a union and our dignity as honest workingmen."

Biggest Ship Comes. In.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The biggest ship in the world, the Celtic of the White Star line, has reached her dock. This is the maiden voyage of the great liner. Her time from Liverpool was 8 days and 46 minutes. As she is berthed her steerage deck is higher than the entrance to the pier. After she was warped in the iron door aft the cabins had to be opened to land the passengers. The sun deck towers above the roof of the pier. The two big funnels can be seen for several blocks along the water front. Three hundred and forty-five cabin and 268 steerage passengers came over on the Celtic. The Celtic is the first 20,000 ton ship that was ever launched.

Steel Business Grows.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The geological survey has issued a report on iron and steel at the close of the nineteenth century, prepared by James M. Swank, general manager of the American Iron and Steel association. It shows that this country today leads all other countries in the production of these articles. It puts the total world's production of pig iron in 1900 at about 40,000,000 long tons, of which the United States made 13,789,424 tons, or fully 34 per cent. The total world's production of steel for 1900 was about 26,875,000 tons, of which the United States made 10,187,322 tons, or nearly 38 per cent.

Lorillards to Keep Rancocas.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The Press announces on what it calls "unimpeachable authority" that a settlement has been reached between Mrs. Lillian B. Allien and the Lorillards. Rancocas will remain in the family, and in return for her surrender of her rights to the famous breeding farm Mrs. Allien will receive a large sum in cash. The amount will be fixed when the appraisers, who are now engaged on the work of estimating the value of the horses and property here and in England which were left to Mrs. Allien under the will of Pierre Lorillard, have made their report.

Girls Burned to Death.

MANCELLONA, Mich., Aug. 5.—Two little girls, aged 3 and 2 years, daughters of George Simmons, have been burned to death. They were left with two older boys in the house, which in some unknown manner caught fire. The boys escaped and gave the alarm, but assistance arrived too late to save the two youngest. The house and everything in it was burned.

Mrs. Nation Coming East to Lecture.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 5.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, released by Governor Stanley of Kansas last week after trial and conviction for "joint" smashing, has placed herself in the hands of James E. Furong of this city for a lecture tour throughout the east. Her first appearance will be at Silver Lake next week.

Steyn's Cousin Killed.

BLOEMFONTEIN, Aug. 5.—Commandant Haermanus Steyn, a cousin of President Steyn, was killed Aug. 1 while fighting at Ficksburg. Boers and rebels are re-entering the Barkly West district of Cape Colony.

Pennsylvania Town Scorched.

WEST NEWTON, Pa., Aug. 5.—West Newton has been visited by one of the largest conflagrations in her history. The loss will reach $100,000, with little insurance.

UP TO THE OLD TRICKS

Chinese Becoming Unfriendly as Troops Vacate Peking.

LEGATION DEFENSES NEARLY READY.

Conspicuous Fortifications Have Been Avoided In Deference to Wishes of the Ministers and Pride of the Celestials.

PEKING, Aug. 5.—American and European residents assert that the demeanor of the Peking populace is constantly becoming more unfriendly and that, as the allied troops depart, the Chinese resume their old habits of jostling and cursing foreigners in the streets.

The legation defenses are now approaching completion. Generally speaking, they consist of brick walls from 15 to 20 feet high and from 3 to 4 feet thick, loopholed for rifles. The ministers of the powers ignored the plan for a uniform system of defenses submitted by the generals, and consequently the governments are working independently.

It is the policy of the ministers to avoid conspicuous works of defense, lest these should prove an irritant, provoking instead of preventing hostilities. Most of the engineers have recommended stronger defenses than the ministers will sanction. Major Edgar B. Robertson of the Ninth infantry, who commands the United States legation guard, has written to Mr. Rockhill to protest against what he calls "the defenseless position of our legation," representing that it is exposed to attack on four sides. Mr. Rockhill has replied that it is not intended to maintain a fortress, but merely a wall for protection against unexpected mob violence. The wall is made of brick, out of deference to Chinese pride.

The French and Italians still remain here. The nonfulfillment of the agreement to evacuate public places in a fortnight causes some inconvenience to the military authorities. Only the German barracks have been completed. The French barracks have hardly been begun. The troops are grumbling over being compelled to give up comfortable quarters and to find temporary camps.

King Cotton's Good Showing.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—King Cotton made his best record in the fiscal year just closed. The figures of the treasury bureau of statistics show that the value of the raw cotton exported in the fiscal year 1901 was more than in any previous year in the history of the country and that the total value of cotton and its products exported averaged $1,000,000 for every day in the year. The total value of raw cotton exported in 1901 was $313,673,443 against $290,712,898 in the best year ever before known, 1891, and the total value of cotton, cotton goods, cottonseed oil and meal and other products of that plant exported was $365,405,707. In quantity the exports of the year were not so great as in 1895, 1898 or 1899, but the price was so much better that the value exceeded by many millions that of the years of the greatest movement as measured in pounds. This brings the export value of cotton and its products above that of all breadstuffs or all classes of provisions and only about $100,000,000 less than breadstuffs and provisions combined, the year's exports of breadstuffs being $275,594,618 and of provisions $196,958,878. The aggregate value of the cotton exports in the past decade is over $2,000,000,000.

At Empress Frederick's Bedside.

HAMBURG, Aug. 5.—Emperor William, the empress, Crown Prince Frederick William, Prince Eitel Frederick and Prince August William arrived at Cronberg, where the Dowager Empress Frederick is lying dangerously ill, at a late hour last night. Other royal personages who have arrived are Prince Adolf of Schaumburg-Lippe, Prince and Princess Friedrich Carl of Hesse and the crown prince and princess of Greece. The following bulletin concerning the condition of the illustrious patient has been issued: "The external disease from which her majesty is suffering and which for years has been slowly increasing has in the course of the last few weeks extended to the internal organs. Her majesty's strength is diminishing rapidly, owing to her inability to take sufficient nourishment. She is conscious and at present without pain."

Chicago Election Officers Indicted.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5. — Indictments against 25 judges and clerks of election for making false canvass and return of the votes cast last fall for county commissioner have been returned by the grand jury. The charges were brought at the direction of Judge Carter, who has caused to be instituted an investigation into the conduct of 250 other election officials. Gross fraud is suspected in certain sections of the city, and the judges and clerks will be summoned before the election commissioners for examination. In every instance the charge is the same—that of making false and fraudulent canvass and return of the votes cast at the last November election. The indicted men are about equally divided between the Democratic and Republican parties.

Independence Makes Better Showing

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 5.—The Independence sailed the greatest race of her career Saturday. In a stiff southwester which raised a rather heavy sea she was beaten over a triangular course of 30 miles by the Columbia. As she allowed the Columbia 31 seconds over that distance she was defeated 1 minute and 1 seconds corrected time. This is a better showing than the Constitution has made against the Columbia under similar conditions of wind and weather.

Machinists Give Up Strike.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 5.—The machinists, blacksmiths and boiler makers employed at the car shops of the Central Railroad of New Jersey who went out on strike May 20 returned to work today, the company having re-employed them individually. The car repairers, who constitute the majority of the employees, are still holding out. They say they will not return to work until their demands are granted.

Senator Thurston Denies.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 5.—Senator J. M. Thurston of Nebraska said yesterday that the published statement that he had tendered his professional services to Admiral Schley is incorrect. "As his warm friend and admirer," said the senator, "I wired him a message indicating my friendship and desire for his complete vindication, but nothing in the line of professional assistance was suggested or thought of."

COMING EVENTS

August 5—Meeting of Common Council.
August 5—Meeting of Exempt Firemen's Association.

Too Much Politics.

Owing to the fact that it was only a little over a year ago that the city of Plainfield placed its fire department on the "call" system, changing it from a volunteer department to a paid one, Elizabeth's action, in taking a similar step, has been watched by the people of this city with more than the usual interest. The plan has been formally adopted by the Common Council of Elizabeth, but owing to the introduction of politics in the change, it appears quite likely that the newly formed department is to be temporarily tied up.

Under the ordinance, adopted by Elizabeth, there is to be a board of five fire commissioners to govern the department. That is something which Plainfield does not possess and does not feel the need, the department here being governed by a committee from the Common Council. Where politics entered was in the appointment of these commissioners and the other important offices of the department.

The last mayor elected by the city of Elizabeth was Dr. Mack who died last winter. He was a Republican. There was a majority of Democrats in the Council, however. According to law, the president of the Council became acting mayor and so Councilman Ryan, a Democrat, became acting chief executive of the county seat. As a Democrat, it is but natural to suppose that men of that political complexion will be favored in the appointments. Had Mayor Mack lived, it would have been otherwise.

While the Republicans were not in sufficient numbers in the Council to defeat the passage of the paid fire defeat ordinance, as it was one of their number voted with the Democrats, they have been able to prevent the passage of an ordinance providing for a bond issue to equip the department. It is said there is sufficient in the regular city appropriation to keep the new department going eight months and then something will have to be done.

It seems a great pity that such a needed institution as a paid fire department in a city the size of Elizabeth cannot be adopted without getting into a wrangle. Elizabeth ought to have had a paid department long ago. When the change was made in the local department, the question of politics did not come up. It was simply a question as to whether or not the city would gain more advantages by the institution of the paid department.

While there have been a number of bitter controversies in the factional disturbances among the Republicans of Union county, an appeal has now been made for the first time to the courts by the defeated faction. The faction, headed by United States Senator Kean, thought it had captured the place in the Union County Board of Elections when the county committee indorsed C. Addison Swift for the place. Then Governor Voorhees proceeded to ignore the recommendation and appointed one of his own choice, William C. Carr. The Kean faction claims that the statutes compell the appointment of the man recommended and legal proceedings have been begun against the Governor to compell him, if possible, to place Mr. Swift where Mr. Carr now holds forth. The place, itself, is not particularly valuable as it only pays about $100. In case of a recount or disputed election, however, it is of some value.

Company K has returned after its week at the State camp at Sea Girt. The boys are well browned and look vigorous and healthy. It is evident that the experience agreed with most of them. While there were a few minor accidents, the trip was singularly free from any unpleasant happenings. Although only a few months old, Company K won for itself an excellent reputation for efficiency in drilling and work at the rifle range.

The Common Council will meet in regular session this evening. Nothing of a sensational nature is likely to occur at the meeting. There are several macadamizing ordinances which will come up for final action and some routine matters to be disposed of. The meeting does not, therefore, promise any excitement.

It is the practice of many householders in the city and borough to have their coal bins filled up during the summer at the convenience of their dealer. As the price of coal is likely to be advanced before the year ends, those who take time by the forelock in that fashion are likely to gain by it financially as well.

For the benefit of those who have any idea of going to Elizabeth to take the civil service examinations for positions in the postal department, it may be well to state that the President has fixed the age limit of such applicants at from eighteen to forty-five years.

It is probable that Captain Hobson wishes that the kiss had never been invented. He is out in Wisconsin now and the press despatches from that quarter tell of several attempts by the dashing western maidens to start osculatory demonstrations.

A flat wheel car makes delightful music for the residents along the Arlington avenue trolley line. The people are beginning to be thankful that the cars only run every half hour. The noise it makes would be unbearable at more frequent intervals.

Members of the canine tribe are beginning to appear on the city streets equipped with muzzles. Chief Kiely says that the owners are going to suffer if the muzzle rule of the dog ordinance is not obeyed at once.

Politicians may deny until doomsday that the turtle supper Friday evening had any significance but there are always some who believe that some new plots are being hatched.

State Senator Reed's interview with the briny deep does not appear to have injured his skill as a golf player. Saturday afternoon he captured the chief honors at the Park Golf Club.

If Si Drake can persuade the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company to locate its new factory here, he will deserve the thanks of the entire community.

It is almost time for the borough street signs to begin to take their places.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, August, 5—In accordance with an order recently given by the Borough Council, Madison avenue, from Dunellen avenue to the brook, has been overhauled and put in first class condition. The work was done under the direction of the borough engineer. Another improvement was the cutting down of the grass and weeds along the roadway, the street committee attending to this.

Local real estate agents are kept busy answering inquiries for real estate. There are signs of coming activity in the building business, this fall.

N. Wade, who injured his leg by falling through a trap door Friday, is improving although not yet able to be about.

Rev. James Catanoch, of the Baltimore Presbytery, preached at the Presbyterian church yesterday morning.

The Firemen's Relief Association met Friday evening and elected delegates to the annual State convention.

Miss Evangeline Williams, of New York, has returned home after a week's visit with Miss Janie Churchill.

Miss Ethel Fenner, who is being entertained at the home of her sister, is ill and under the doctor's care.

Rev. N. J. Sproul supplied the pulpit of the Congregational church, at Westfield, yesterday morning.

R. S. Fisher and family are spending the summer at the home of Mr. Fisher's parents at Hopewell.

Miss Cannon has returned home to Glen Gardner after a few days' stay with Mrs. E. M. Ayres.

Herbert Wyckoff starts today on a two weeks' vacation, which he will spend at Asbury Park.

The annual reunion of the Merrell-Dayton families will be held at Chimney Rock, August 10.

Ernest Peters, of the borough, has resigned his position as night ticket agent at Fanwood.

Miss Emily Rice left for her home in Easton, Saturday, after a visit with Dunellen friends.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle leaves today for Mt. Tabor where he will remain for three weeks.

Mrs. Nellie Miller, who is ill with the typhoid fever, is slowly improving.

The regular meeting of the Borough Council will be held this evening.

H. C. Winkler is entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Deuschech, of New York.

The Piscataway Township Committee will meet tomorrow evening.

Miss Maud Rupell is detained at home by an attack of malaria.

Mrs. R. L. Pierce is entertaining company from Phillipsburg.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, August 5—The 'Plains baseball team has a record for the season of which it may well be proud. It has played, up to date, thirteen games, and of these has won ten. Its strongest point is fielding, and the players all are handy with the stick. The pitcher's box has been the weakest place, but that is to be remedied in the future, as a twirler from New York has been signed. The teams which have defeated the Scotch Plains boys are the Forest Hill's, of Newark, 11 to 9; the Orients, of Newark, 6 to 2, and the Springfield aggregation, 8 to 3. Victories were won from the Hope chapel boys with resulting scores of 10 to 3 and 12 to 2; from the Clinton avenue's, 5 to 2; from the Garwood team, 12 to 9; two games with New Providence, 11 to 3 and 11 to 6. Stirling was badly beaten with a score of 21 to 1. A telegram was received from the Garwood baseball team, Saturday morning, stating its unability to keep its engagement to play at Scotch Plains in the afternoon. The local boys were disappointed and were unable to get another game on short notice.

Henry Hand and Robert Walpole will leave this week for Florida. Mr. Hand has sold out his blacksmith interests here and will probably go into the same line of business in the south.

William Lee and L. A. Fitzgerald have returned home from Trembley Point, where they have been fishing for crabs. They brought home 176 of the crabs.

The trustees of the Baptist church will hold their regular monthly meeting this evening. Business of importance is on hand to be attended to.

N. A. Becon was leader of the prayer-meeting at the Methodist church last night.

Miss Minnie Myers has returned home after a visit with friends in Montreal, N. Y.

Mrs. F. S. Noon has returned home after a week's visit with friends at the sea shore.

The Exempt Firemen's Association will hold a meeting this evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, August 5.—There is quite a little activity in real estate circles in this town. Contracts have been let for several houses and more are needed. New York parties have recently purchased lots from the Field property.

A party of South Plainfield people will accompany the New Market Sunday-schools on their annual picnic to Boynton Beach tomorrow.

Arrangements are being made for the Tingley picnic which will be held August 22, on the Blackford farm.

Harry J. Manning left Saturday for Tarrytown, where he will spend a few days with friends.

Mrs. Amy Brantingham is visiting her sister, Miss Eleanor Dennis, of Tarrytown, N. Y.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley preached at the Stelton Baptist church yesterday morning.

John J. McDonough is spending the day at Glen Island.

The Newark News remarks, anent the latest clash of the Voorhees and Kean factions in Union county, over the appointment of a member of the County Election Board, that the Union Republican organization is suffering form a surplus of leaders. Perhaps it is a surplus of candidates for public office that makes the trouble.—Camden Post Telegram.

In the matter of public baths the average American city is barbarism. In New Jersey the only decent public bathing facilities exist in Newark, and these are comparatively limited. A city as large as Camden has no public baths.—Newark Advertiser.

We admit the soft impeachment. There is no greater civic need in Camden at present than free public baths, and we hope to see them established long before this time next year. The public park movement has been successful beyond the most sanguine anticipations of the founder of the Woman's Park Association. A public bath movement can also be made a success if the public-spirited ladies of the Park Association will give in their support.—Camden Post Telegram.

It is a pity that boys cannot learn that the foolhardy bravado which sometimes results in a dare to do things which are wrong and which endanger life, is not indicative of true courage. A lad lost his life at New Market the other day, because he tried to do what the other boys thought very smart, to sit in front of an approaching locomotive longer than any one else. So often boys are induced to do things that are wrong, lest they will be called cowardly, when the true courage comes in resisting the taunts. A boy shows a mean spirit who will dare another to do a thing which may endanger his life or cause him to do wrong when the one giving the dare would not do it himself. True courage is not demonstrated by responding to such taunts, but in maintaining a manly independence at all times. It is the coward who cannot resist a taunt when to yield would be a wrong act.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

There is one young woman in the borough who is wishing that her pet dog was not quite so affectionate. She was playing with the animal a few days ago and it was trying to jump up as she lay on a sofa and kissher lips. The canine sprang a little too far and set its teeth in the young woman's lip. The lip swelled up badly and besides the pain of it, she is now compelled to stand the jokes of all her friends.

It was only the other day that the young wife of a Plainfield woman decided to make her husband a little surprise. He is an inveterate smoker and is particularly fond of quite strong cigars. She knew the brand that he preferred and decided to get a box of them for his birthday. With this idea in view, she visited the shop of a tobacconist in New York and told the clerk what she desired. She was young and had not the appearance of a sedate matron. The elderly man, who waited on her, brought out the cigars.

"I'm afraid," he said, "you'll find those cigars rather strong for you. Now let me recommend something more mild and suitable." But here the young woman cut him short with "These are for my husband, sir." The clerk apoligized but the Plainfield matron paid for her purchase and left the shop without any delay.

Trolley parties have been for several years a great feature in the summer life of Philadelphia. Special cars have been provided, and in some cases these parties have occupied a number of them. While private parties in this section often spend the evening on the trolley, regular trolley parties of the nature of those in Philadelphia are practically unknown here. Several times local organizations have hired special cars to convey their members to see a baseball game or attend some other form of outing, but a genuine trolley party, after the Philadelphia style, is a great rarity. The trolley companies in this vicinity have so far made no attempt to cater to such a trade. It has been rumored of late, however, that the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company is considering the advisability of making a feature of such affairs and providing several cars for that particular object.

A number of Plainfielders have often asked the question as to whether they can ride by trolley from any point in this city to the Westfield Fresh Air Camp for five cents. This cannot be done. The conductors have been instructed not to carry Plainfield passengers beyond Park street, Westfield, for the five-cent fare. This point is within two blocks of the camp. In view of the fact that it is only a short distance from the dividing line to the camp and so many Plainfielders visit there during the season, those interested have thought the company could well afford to take them the entire distance for one fare. Under the present rule a person can ride from this city to Rahway for ten cents, and it costs the same to ride to the camp from this city.

Shadowed Royalty Thirty Years Ago.

More than 30 years have passed since the late duke of Edinburgh made a tour of Australia, but the detective who "shadowed" him is still in harness, and has just been appointed to act in a similar capacity toward the duke of York. This officer's style and title now is Detective Inspector J. M. Christie. He was a renowned athlete in his prime, and although the snows of time have now descended upon his head not many men of half his age would care to tackle him. For a year or two he retired from the police force and conducted an "athletic academy" in Melbourne, but apparently he discovered that criminal investigation was the more profitable employment.—London Chronicle.

Marriage Broken in Italy.

Marriage brokers are a regular institution in Italy. In Genoa there are regular marriage brokers, who have pocketbooks filled with the names of the marriageable girls of the different classes, with notes of their figures, personal attractions, fortune and other circumstances. These brokers go about endeavoring to arrange marriages in the same offhand mercantile manner which they would bring to bear upon a purely business transaction, and when they succeed they get a commission of two or three per cent. upon the portion, with such extras or bonuses as may be voluntarily bestowed by the party.—N. Y Times.

The Largest Incubator.

New South Wales has not only the largest duck farm in the commonwealth, but also probably the largest incubator in the world. The farm and incubator are situated at Botany, near Sydney, the latter, according to a Sydney paper, having a capacity of 11,440 duck eggs, or 14,080 hen eggs. It is not necessary that it should be filled at any one time. The eggs can be put in at intervals, as they are available. With 50 eggs only it will work just as well as if it were filled. The incubator was designed and constructed by its proprietor, with the aid of an ingenious local mechanic.—N. Y. Herald.

Forest Reserves of Rubber-Trees.

It is reported that the department of agriculture will set aside as forest reserves the island of Romblon, north of Panay, and the island of Pauitaui in the Jolo group. United States army officers report that these are perhaps the richest islands in the world for rubber trees. In Zanzibar a new kind of gutta-percha is said to have been found. It is produced by a tree bearing a peach-shaped fruit which attains the size of a small melon.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Billy Gray, young college student, secures a lieutenant's commission on breaking out of Spanish-American war. He meets a Mr. Prime, Miss Prime and Miss Amy Lawrence.

CHAPTER II.—After a conference in his official tent, Gen. Drayton joins a gay company in his personal tent—Mrs. Garrison doing the honors as hostess.

CHAPTER III.—Lieut. Gray is invited to join the Prime party, to go over in Mr. Prime's carriage to see the review, but is denied leave by Col. Canker, whom the regiment had nicknamed "Squeers." Vacant seat in carriage is given Col. Armstrong.

No one who really analyzed Mrs. Frank Garrison's features could say that she was a pretty woman. No one who looked merely at the general effect when she was out for conquest could deny it. Col. Armstrong, placidly observant as usual, was quick to note the glances that shot between the cousins on the rear seat as the little lady came blithely alongside. He knew her, and saw that they were beginning to be as wise as he, for the smiles with which they greeted her were but wintry reflections of those that beamed upon her radiant face. Prime, paterfamilias, bent cordially forward in welcome, but her quick eyes had recognized the fourth occupant by this time, and there was a little less of assurance in her manner from that instant.

"How perfectly delicious!" she cried. "I feared from what you said yesterday you weren't coming, and so I never ordered the carriage, but came out in saddle—I can't stay on horseback with such a wreck as this, but every decent horse in the Presidio had to go out with the generals and staffs, you know, and I had to take what I could get—both horse and escort," she added, in a confidential tone. "Oh!—May I present Mr. Ellis? He knows you all by name already." (The youth in attendance and a McClellan tree two sizes too big for him, lifted his cap and strove to smile; he had ridden nothing harder than a park back before that day). "Frank says I talk of nothing else. But where's Mr. Gray? Surely I thought he would be with you." This for Armstrong's benefit in case he were in the least interested in either damsel.

"Mr. Gray was detained by some duties in camp," explained Miss Prime, with just a trace of reserve that was lost upon neither their new companion nor the colonel. It settled a matter the placid officer was revolving in his mind.

"Pardon us, Mrs. Garrison," he said, briefly. "We must hurry. Go on, driver."

"Oh, I can keep up," was the indomitable answer, "even on this creature." And Mrs. Garrison proved her words by whipping her steed into a lunging canter, and, sitting him admirably, rode gallantly alongside, and just where Mr. Prime could not but see and admire, since Col. Armstrong would not look at all. He had entered into an explanation of the ceremony by that time well under way, and Miss Lawrence's great soft brown eyes were fixed upon him attentively when, perhaps, she should have been gazing at the maneuvers. Like those latter, possibly, her thoughts were changing direction.

Not ten minutes later occurred the collision between the hack and the heels that resulted in the demolition of one and "demoralization" of the rider of the victor. While the latter was led away by the obedient Mr. Ellis lest the sight of him should bring on another nervous attack, Mrs. Garrison was suffering herself to be comforted. Her nerves were gone, but she had not lost her head. Lots of Presidio dames and damsels were up on the heights that day in such vehicles as the post afforded. None appeared in anything so stylish and elegant as the carriage of the Prime party. She was a new and comparative stranger there, and it would vastly enhance her social prestige, she argued, to be seen in such "swell" surroundings. With a little tact and management she might even arrange matters so that, willy nilly, her friends would drive her thither instead of taking Col. Armstrong back to camp. That would be a stroke worth playing. She owed Stanley Armstrong a bitter grudge, and had nursed it long. She had known him ten years and hated him nine of them. Where they met and when it really matters not. In the army people meet and part in a hundred places when they never expected to meet again. She had married Frank Garrison in a hand gallop, said the garrison chronicles, "before she had known him two months," said the men, "before he knew her at all," said the women. She was four years his senior, if the chaplain could be believed, and five months his junior if she could. Whatever might have been the discrepancy in their ages at the time of the ceremony no one would suspect the truth who saw them now. It was he who looked aged and careworn and harassed, and she who preserved her youthful bloom and vivacity.

And now, as she reclined as though still too weak and shaken to leave the carriage and return to saddle, her quick wits were planning the scheme that should result in her retaining, and his losing, the coveted seat. There was little time to lose. Most of the crowd had scattered, and she well knew that he was only waiting for her to leave before he would return. Almost at the instant her opportunity came. A covered wagon reined suddenly alongside and kind and sympathetic voices hailed her: "Do let us drive you home, Mrs. Garrison; you must have been terribly shaken." She recognized at once the wife and daughter of a prominent officer of the post.

"Oh, how kind you are," she cried. "I was hoping some one would come. Indeed, I did get a little wrench." And then, as she moved, with a sudden gasp of pain, she clasped Miss Lawrence's extended hand.

"Indeed, you must not move, Mrs. Garrison," said that young lady. "We will drive you home at once." Miss Prime and her father were adding their pleas. She looked up, smiling faintly.

"We will drive you home at once."

"I fear I must trouble you," she faltered. "Oh, how stupid of me! But about Stanley Armstrong—I haven't even thanked him. Ah, well—he knows. We've been—such good friends for years—dear old fellow!"

CHAPTER V.

There had been a morning of jubilee in the camp of the Fifth Separate brigade, and a row in the tents of the regulars. Up to within a fortnight such a state of affairs would have been considered abnormal, for the papers would have it that the former were on the verge of dissolution through plague, pestilence and famine due to the neglect of officials vaguely referred to as "the military authorities," or "the staff," while up to the coming of Canker to command sweet accord had reigned in the regular brigade, and the volunteers looked on with envy. But now a great martial magnate had praised the stalwart citizen soldiery whom he had passed in review early in the day, and set them to shouting by the announcement that, as reward for their hard work and assiduous drill, they should have their heart's desire and be shipped across the seas to far Manila. It had all been settled beforehand at headquarters. The "chief" had known for four days that that particular command would be selected for the next expedition, but it tickled "the boys" to have it put that way, and the home papers would make so much of it. So there was singing and triumph and rejoicing all along the eastern verge of a rocky, roughly paved cross street, and rank blasphemy across the way. To the scandal and sorrow of the ——teenth infantry some of the recent robberies had been traced to their very doors. A commissary sergeant had "weakened," a cartman had squealed, and one of the most popular and attractive young soldiers in the whole command was now a prisoner in the guardhouse charged with criminal knowledge of the whole affair, and of being a large recipient of the ill-gotten money—Morton, of the adjutant's office, a private in company K.

What made it worse was the allegation that several others, non-commissioned officers and "special duty men," were mixed up in the matter, and Canker had rasped the whole commissioned force present for duty in his lecture upon the subject and had almost intimated that officers were conniving at the concealment of the guilt of their sergeants rather than have it leak out that the felony was committed in a company of their commanding.

He and Gordon had had what was described as a "red-hot" row, all because Gordon flatly declared that while something was queer about the case of the young clerk, he'd bet his bottom dollar he wasn't a thief. Canker said such language was a reflection on himself, as he had personally investigated the case, was convinced Morton's guilt could be established, and had so reported to the brigade commander in recommending trial by general court-martial. Indeed he had made out a case against the lad even before he was arrested and returned to camp. Gordon asked if he had seen the boy and heard his story. Canker reddened and said he hadn't, and he didn't mean to and didn't have to. Gordon said he had—he had talked with the lad fully and freely on his being brought to camp toward nine o'clock, and was greatly impressed with his story—as would anyone else be who heard it. Canker reddened still more and said he wouldn't allow officers to interview prisoners without his authority. "I'll prefer charges against the next that does it," said he.

And not three hours later, Mr. Billy Gray, sprawling on his camp cot, striving to forget the sorrow of the earlier morning, and to memorize a page of paragraphs of army regulations, was suddenly accosted by an orderly who stood at the front of the tent, scratching at the tent flap—the camp substitute for a ring at the bell.

"A note for the lieutenant,", said he, darting in and then darting out, possibly fearful of question. It was a queer note:

"I am a total stranger to you, but I wore in brighter days the badge of the same society that was yours at the university. Three of the fraternity are in my company—one is on guard and he urged me to write at once to you. They know me to be a brother Delt, even though I dare not tell my real name. What I have to say is that the charge against me is utterly false, and I can convince you, but could not convince a court. I am confined at the moment of all others in my life when it is most vitally important that I should be free. Grant me ten minutes' interview this afternoon and if I do not prove myself guiltless I will ask no favor—but when I do convince you, do as you would be done by.

"Yours in Δ Β Χ,
"GEORGE MORTON."

TRAMPS WITH BANK ACCOUNTS

Wealthy Englishmen Who Have Queer Way of Finding Out Worthy Persons in Need.

In Persia there are many legends of a certain ruler who used to wander about the city at night dressed as a beggar to find out the real conditions under which his people lived. At the present day many wealthy philanthropists adopt the same method. They disguise themselves in ragged clothes and look for deserving cases in all the worst slums of our great cities, says an exchange.

A wealthy Manchester (Eng.) man who has made over $2,000,000 in the cotton trade has given away $500,000 in the last 20 years, though his name has never appeared in any subscription list. Every few months he disappears from home, dressed in ragged clothes, so that he may be taken for some broken-down tramp, and in this disguise he vistits the poorer parts of the city. When he finds a really deserving case, he sends a messenger with food or money, but he never allows his name to be disclosed.

Another wealthy man who adopted the same tactics in London has spent over $200,000 in the last few years in relieving real cases of distress. He dresses in the rough clothes of a Thames bargee, and in that rigout has visited every part of the East End. Once he fell in with a gang of men who wanted him to join them in a little scheme for robbing a riverside warehouse, which they assured him would yield a profit of "50 quid a man." Another time he was arrested as a suspicious character and had to explain matters to a magistrate.

HAD BAD LUCK WITH TEETH.

Repeated Misfortune of a Woman Who Required the Services of a Dentist.

A dentist enjoying an extensive practice among the fashionable people of the South side relates this peculiar experience of one of his patrons, says the Chicago Chronicle: "She was a rather pretty young married woman," he says, "but her upper front teeth were so badly discolored and defective as to greatly mar her appearance. Her husband, after much persuasion, induced her to have two of the worst replaced with artificial teeth. I made a neat job of it, and she was delighted. The two teeth were on a plate, and she wore them to bed the first night she had them. During the night they fell from her mouth to the floor, and when she got up in the morning she trod on them and broke the plate all to pieces. I reset the teeth on another plate, and she went home again with them. That night she put them in a glass of water on the mantel. Her husband got up in the night to get a drink of water, and finding something in the tumbler threw the contents out of the window, thus disposing of the second set in three days. Then I made her a third set. These she put on the mantel when she retired and forgot to replace them in the morning. The maid, dusting the room, swept these off into the grate underneath the mantel, where they burned up. The family moved out of town a few days afterward, so whether she got a fourth set I do not know."

ATTEMPT TO "HOODOO" EVANS

How a Virginia Negro Lighthouse-Keeper Tried to "Influence" the Admiral.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans was once in the lighthouse service. In a "Sailor's Log," published by the Appletons, he tells of one of his experiences as follows:

"I found most of the lighthouse-keepers in Virginia waters were colored men put in office by Gen. Mahone and his followers. Many of them had to be removed, generally because they would go to sleep and neglect their lights. One of them I had to remove for a very curious offense, or, rather, he removed himself when he found I was going to do it. I visited the station where he was on watch, and was inspecting, when I noticed that he followed me about, spitting frequently when he thought I was not observing him. I learned from the principal keeper, a colored Methodist minister, that the fellow was chewing herbs and spitting around me as a hoodoo to prevent me from reporting the various irregularities I discovered. When he found that I had reported them all, and asked his removal as well, he jumped overboard and was not seen again."

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Many Stylish Coats and Short Jackets Are Made of Pique.

Children's clothes are very elaborate this year. Still there are many styles which are both pretty and comfortable. Ducks, lawns and piques are being much used for coats and outdoor garments. Pretty coats of butcher's blue linen are made double breasted, with a wide hemstitched turndown collar. The sole trimming consists of huge pearl buttons. Plain brown holland is also very useful, and if a softening touch is required it may be in the shape of a yellow lace collar and a line of deep insertion in the skirt. Pretty afternoon dresses are made of china silk veiling and dotted muslin. Of course the daintiest and most dressy ones are all white trimmed with white or yellow lace. A smart short jacket for a child of 3 or 4 years is made with a box effect and the short round collar and bishop sleeves. It has for trimming deep bands of yellow lace run through with black velvet ribbon. All children's dresses are being worn shorter this year.

A most serviceable traveling dress for a child is shown in the sketch. Cadet blue pique is the material, and it is made in two pieces—Eton jacket and skirt. The Eton has an aiglon collar, and the lower edge is cut in deep points. These points are trimmed with narrow soutache braid. The skirt has a stitched overskirt effect, carrying out the idea of these points. Below this overskirt effect the fullness is box plaited with the exception of the front breadth, which is left perfectly plain. The sleeves are cut a trifle short in order to show the pretty underblouse.

The hat is the low crowned shepherd shape, which is the style for young children this season.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

DAINTY TRIMMINGS.

Novelties Which Are Being Used on Smart Gowns.

Many are the trimmings for the lighter gowns. Bertha collars of embroidered batiste appear on very many of the new gowns. Another fashionable mode for lawns shows a short, oddly shaped bolero jacket with stole ends of lace and edged around the sides with narrow bands of stitched linen. This bolero is worn over a tucked blouse of embroidered batiste. Pretty little silk mull fichus are edged with cretonne passementerie. Other kinds of mull can be used if desired or white muslin, and the cretonne will be charming with all. A flower bordered fichu is one of the season's novelties. Appliqued flowers of silk velvet chiffon and cretonne are very popular.

The evening gown in the picture shows this craze for flower applique. It is of pale pink crepe de chine appliqued with sprays of pink and white roses and their green leaves. The principal spray runs around the low decolletage and down through the center of the long sleeves. The skirt has a deep ruffle joined on in an invisible manner under a circular spray of the appliqued flowers. A chic and most Parisian touch is the soft chiffon tie with pearl and gold clasps.

UNIONS ARE FOR HIM.

Congressman Heatwole Urged for the Position of United States Public Printer.

Congressman Joel P. Heatwole, of Northfield, Minn., is being urged by labor unions in many parts of the country to stand as a candidate for the office of United States public printer. He is the chairman of the printing committee of the house, and is said to be one of the most popular representatives and friends to labor that ever held the position. His work in assisting the printers and bookbinders in the government printing office to have their scales increased and his successful fight against the proposed act to have the printing and binding of the census office done by contract labor endear him to the labor unions, who have begun sending petitions to the white house requesting Congressman Heatwole's appointment as public printer. Mr. Heatwole is a republican in politics, was born in Indiana August 22, 1856, is a printer by trade and is now serving his third term in congress. He was a delegate at large to the republican national convention at Chicago in 1888; secretary of the Minnesota state central committee from 1886 to 1890, and chairman of the same committee from 1890 to 1892; held the position of regent of the Minnesota state university for six years; was president of the Minnesota Editorial association three terms and mayor of his home city, Northfield, Minn., in 1894 and 1895. Organized labor in no way opposes the present incumbent, Mr. Palmer, of Chicago, but expects his retirement very soon owing to his age, and is desirous of having a friend of the labor movement in the position, and has fixed upon Congressman Heatwole as the most capable man for the position.

COL. CHARLES DENBY.

Rumor Has It That He Will Succeed Mr. Conger as American Minister to China.

Col. Charles Denby will return to China, it is rumored, as minister plenipotentiary in the place of Edwin H Conger. Mr. Conger has not resigned, and it is known that he speaks of returning to Peking in his official capacity. At the same time it is asserted that the Peking mission was offered to John Goodnow, now consul general at Shanghai, who refused because of the difference in the salaries, his present post paying $20,000, while that at Peking draws only $12,000. Col. Denby made a brilliant success of the Chinese mission during the 13 years he held it. He was appointed by President Cleveland in 1885. President Harrison recalled him and appointed Henry W. Blair in his stead. The new minister started for Peking, but so strong was the protest of the Chinese government that the president decided to retain Col. Denby in the mission. President Cleveland did not disturb the Indiana man in 1892, and it is now said that another republican president will restore him to his old place. Col. Denby thoroughly understands the Chinese character, and is therefore eminently qualified for the post.

COL. CHARLES DENBY.
(Mr. Conger's Probable Successor as Minister to China.)

Copper Deposits in Alaska.

The rich copper deposits of Alaska are beginning to be developed, the first shipment from the White Horse belt having been recently dispatched to Tacoma. This belt, which traverses a tributary of the Yukon, is 25 miles long and four miles wide. There is from 25 to 75 per cent. of copper in the ore, and each ton carries from six to ten dollars' worth of gold.

Calls His Wife "Misery."

An expressive nickname is used by a St. Louis man when he addresses his wife. He calls her Misery, because she likes company.

YOUNGEST CARDINAL.

The Honor Is Now Held by Prince Archbishop Baron Von Skebensky, of Prague.

Cardinal Prince Archbishop Baron Von Skebensky is the name of the youngest cardinal recently appointed by the pope. If all that is said about this young prelate—he is about 40 years old—be true, then he fully deserves the honors bestowed on him by his holiness and the titles of nobility he bears, though the latter are his by birthright.

In his early days Cardinal von Skebensky is said to have been betrothed to one of the most beautiful young girls of the Austrian nobility. It was a love match par excellence. The young student was heart and soul devoted to his pretty fiancee. Then came a dread disease, which suddenly robbed him of his bride just before the wedding. Nothing that his parents or his friends could do for him could heal the wound. Then the young man, who had been reared an agnostic, one day passed the Prague cathedral, whence came the sweet melodies of the organ and the choir. Involuntarily his footsteps led him into the sanctuary. The music ceased and a venerable preacher began to deliver a sermon on the text: "Come to me, all ye that are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest." It seemed as if Heaven itself opened his soul, and then and there he became converted and determined to devote his life to the church. Society and the world were given up and all his energies were concentrated to the task of bringing to his fellow men that peace and consolation which he himself had found.

CARDINAL VON SKEBENSKY.
(Prince Archbishop of the Bohemian Diocese of Prague.)

Father Skebensky was to be met henceforth wherever misery and sorrow dwelt. Thousands of poor were aided through his instrumentality. His own fortune was given away in a very few years. Drunkards and roues reformed under his instructions. The prisons, the hospitals, the abodes of crime, all felt the beneficence of his gentle ministrations. No wonder, then, that after his appointment by the vatican to the cardinalate, a distinction he, of all men, least expected, he received such a brilliant ovation in Prague. The streets were packed with multitudes of devout admirers, many of whom he knew by name and whose secret sins he had healed. He was received at the station by the burgomaster, De Seele, and a municipal deputation and driven in the city gala coach, drawn by six horses and escorted by a detachment of cavalry, to the archiepiscopal residence on the Headschin. Here was gathered the nobility of the land, headed by Prince Auersperg, who delivered a hearty congratulatory address. Among those present were Prince Alfred Windischgraetz, Count Franz Thun, Prince Carl Schwarzenberg and Count Erwein Nostiz. The festivities in celebration of the cardinal's appointment lasted two days.

UNIQUE BREASTPLATE.

Made by a Boer Soldier and Covered with Pouches Captured from British Officers.

One of the Boers constructed a breastplate of a novel character, which was captured in a recent raid by some of Gen. Lord Kitchener's officers. This breastplate consisted of a leather shield, which could be strapped about the neck and under the arms, and was covered with small pouches captured from British officers.

A BOER'S BREAST PLATE.
(Made of Small Pouches Captured from British Officers.)

These pouches bore the initials and emblems of various British regiments. Among them were pouches from officers of the Dublin fusiliers, the duke of York's Own, the Cambridgeshires, the Gloucestershires, the City of London volunteers, Strathcona's horse and other well known corps.

The Boer who designed this fantastic breastplate must, it is believed, have been of a poetic disposition, for the numerous pouches could have been of no possible use and only served to impede his movements while on commando.

THE GUM CHEWING COW.

Owner Thought the Habit Had Worn All Her Upper Teeth Off.

A farmer in Knox county, Me., has been saying mean things about a Rockland ship master, and Opinion reports a few. Quoth the farmer: "If I had a hired man that made such a piece of work as he did about that cow of his, I'd send him off!

"Why, he bought a cow of a man down my way; good critter—nothin' the matter with her. But it seems the captain's wife, one day, thought the milk tasted funny, and suggested that p'raps she'd been eatin' spruce boughs; said the milk tasted like spruce. And what does he do but go out in the pasture to watch the cow, to see what she did eat.

"The cow was lyin' down, chewin' her cud, and he went along and run his finger in her mouth to see what she was eatin'. Then he was mad. He put a rope on the cow, and started off with her.

"'Where are you goin' with the cow?' says a neighbor.

"'Goin' to take her back to the feller that sold her to me. He's cheated me, and I won't stand it!'

"The man wanted to know what was the matter, and he went on to tell about it. 'She wasn't eatin' boughs,' he says, 'she was chewing gum; that's what's the matter with the milk and makes it taste like spruce. And,' he says, 'that ain't all. She's so addicted to the habit that she's worn all her teeth out. She ain't got an upper tooth in her head. Back she goes, quick!'

"Of course, the man told him that it was all nonsense; that cows never had no upper teeth. But he didn't believe a word of it, and went on and had a tarnal row with the man that sold him the cow. Guess he was never satisfied about it."

CANADIAN BISHOP'S WALK.

The Good Man Traveled 1,500 Miles on Snowshoes to Reach Civilization.

Bishop Newnham, of the diocese of Moosonee, 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg and directly west of Hudson bay, arrived in Toronto a few days ago after a trip on snow shoes of 1,500 miles, which occupied upward of four months, reports the New York Sun.

Leaving his see house, a log structure 15x20 feet, shortly before Christmas, the bishop and his party of Indians started for Toronto, pulling their sleds after them. They traveled at the rate of 20 or 25 miles a day, often with the thermometer registering from 20 to 40 degrees below zero, and sleeping at night in great skin bags, made with the hair turned inside. Sometimes they woke in the morning to find themselves buried under many feet of light snow.

The bishop and his little party arrived here in splendid health. He had received no news from home since the close of navigation last fall and only a few days ago on reaching the outskirts of this province did he learn of the death of Queen Victoria.

Bishop Newnham came to this city to make an appeal on behalf of his diocese and its work. Situated in an almost barren country, peopled by a few thousand half-breeds, Esquimaux and Indians, who subsist on hunting and fishing, his people are badly in need of assistance. In some years when the product of the gun and the net give out, the Indians have been reduced to eating dog flesh.

NIAGARA FALLS POWER.

Lines Along Which It Will Be Extended in Future Operations.

A glance at the past development of the Niagara Falls Power company indicates the lines along which it is likely to grow in the future, says Cassier's Magazine. As the manufacturing arts advance, the element of power becomes more and more important, and cheap power, therefore, more demanded. Electro-chemistry is a new art and one which has great possibilities ahead of it. The high temperatures obtainable in electric furnaces have opened up a new field to chemical synthesis, and it is likely that many as yet undiscovered processes, which will require large amounts of electrical power for their operation, will be brought to light. The supply of power for electro-chemical purposes is especially desirable in a water-power plant, where large investment is necessary, for the power used by these processes is practically constant for 24 hours of the day, thus tending to reduce load "peaks" on the total station output.

The economical distance to which power can be transmitted extends every year as the general demand for power increases and methods of handling high voltages improve, and the electric equipment of steam railway systems, which is certain to come in time, will open up a further field for the long-distance transmission of large amounts of power from a central plant.

Mosquitoes in Cuba.

The mosquito is hereafter to be regarded as a dangerous enemy of mankind. The report for March shows that the death rate in Havana was 26.28, the lowest it has ever been since 1889. Surgeon Gorgas, the chief sanitary surgeon at that port, says the great decrease in the death rate was brought about by the war upon mosquitoes.

Holland's Young Queen.

An amicable arrangement is reported in Holland by which Wilhelmina is queen and Duke Henry an obedient subject two hours every day. The rest of the time the queen is a loyal and obedient wife.

VALUABLE GROSBEAK EGGS.

Four Dollars Each Received by a Maine Lad Who Caught Some of the Birds.

Last February, when the temperature held at zero for a week at a time and the snow was falling every other day, Hector Sanborn, aged 15, set horsehair snares about his home and caught more than two dozen pine grosbeaks. Most of them were females, says a report from Dexter, Me.

He kept the birds in a large, open and well-lighted room at the rear of the barn and fed them on seeds and refuse fruit. While the weather continued cold the birds were most healthy and took kindly to the new way of life, becoming fat and frisky, with nothing to do but eat and sleep. In March several pairs mated, built nests and began to lay eggs, and by April 1 the boy had secured 34 fine specimens.

Then the spring weather came and caused the birds to have convulsions, from which nearly one-half died. Finding that he would be unable to keep his pets through the summer, young Sanborn liberated the survivors, allowing them to go north and seek more congenial temperature.

The boy has received an offer of four dollars for every pine grosbeak egg he could spare. He at once shipped 30 to the Boston naturalist who wished to complete a collection of rare eggs, and a few days ago he received a check for $120. If next winter proves to be cold enough to drive the grosbeaks to Maine the boy can see a big fortune on easy terms.

ONE OF WOMAN'S FAILINGS.

Her Reckless Disposal of Pins a Matter of Great Concern to a Steamship Line.

Woman's proneness to stick a pin wherever convenient has proved a serious matter to one steamship company, says the New York Sun. The line decided some time ago to place the most modern air-filled mattresses in the births of the best rooms on two of its biggest ships. Recently the stewards were kept busy at the completion of each trip with blowing up with air dozens of mattresses that had collapsed from some unknown cause. It took the officials of the lines some hours to discover the cause of the failure of the mattresses to maintain their proper condition. Hat pins, breast pins, safety pins, stick pins, every known kind of pin had done the mischief.

"One advantage of these mattresses," said the manufacturer, "was that they were intended as life preservers or small rafts should the emergency arise. Give me a decent-sized hat pin if you want to see one knock the ambition out of the average life-preserver that depends upon air. The women tourists simply stabbed those mattresses to death."

The steamship company now has this notice attached to the door of every stateroom: "Please do not stick pins in the berth cushions and mattresses. Pins are injurious to them."

SHE WAS TOO KIND-HEARTED.

Michigan Girl Thought to Perform a Kindness to a Gentleman in Church.

There is one young woman living at L'Anse, Mich., whose benevolent disposition received a severe shock on a recent Sunday evening, says the Chicago Chronicle. She was at church and sat directly behind a tall, well-dressed stranger, with a raveling hanging to his collar. Being one of those generous-hearted, whole-souled girls who grow up to be motherly old ladies, a friend to everybody in town, she thought how glad she would be if some kind-hearted girl would do as much for her father were he to go to church with a raveling hanging down his back, so when the audience rose for the first hymn she concluded to pick it off. Carefully raising her hand, she gave a little twitch, but it was longer than she supposed, and a foot or more appeared. Setting her teeth, she gave a pull and about a yard of that horrible thread hung down his back. This was getting embarrassing, but, determined, she gave it another yank and discovered that she was unraveling his undershirt. Her discomfiture was so painful that chloroform would not have alleviated her sufferings nor a pint of powder hidden her blushes when the gentleman turned with an inquiring look to see what was tickling his neck.

STAYS IN JAIL FOR SPITE.

Pennsylvania Court Is Asked to Expel a Stubborn Old Man from Prison.

James Gannon, 68 years old, infirm and gray-headed, declares that you can't make a man leave a jail if he doesn't want to. He has been in the county jail at Scranton, Pa., since 1894, and now says he won't leave. The question that is concerning the authorities is, Can a free man be forced to leave a jail? reports a local exchange.

The old man was sent there seven years ago for refusing to sign a deed disposing of his own property. He was accused of contempt. He declared he would never sign. A bill was passed giving county officers the right to sign deeds of transfer, and Scranton breathed free again. But Gannon won't budge out of jail.

"I've got used to jail life, and I like it," said he. "I guess I won't leave. I'll spite them all."

Then habeas corpus proceedings were started. Gannon refused to sign the petition. Now Scranton wants somebody to come forward with a scheme to get a man out of jail against his wishes.

WHAT YOU DRINK

you want to be clean and pure, no matter what it is. If it's wine you want pure wine, if it's water you want pure water.

Very often pure water is made impure by placing in it impure ice.

But when Hygeia Ice is placed in a tank of pure water the water remains pure. Pure water and pure ice will make pure ice-water. It has been proven that Hygeia is a pure ice. Frozen from pure, sparkling, artesian well water, after that water has gone through a process of filtering.

Isn't that the kind of ice you should be using. Don't you think you ought to order it of us today?

SPORTING.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Several interesting horse races are being planned for next Saturday on the track at the Gentlemen's Driving Park. The admission will be free to the grounds and grand stand. Details concerning the races will be published tomorrow.

QUEER STRANGER.

Reached Dunellen Saturday And Supposed To Be Insane.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, August 5—An unknown man, whose actions are very strange, was picked up near the Pyatt place, on the New Market road, Saturday afternoon. He had fallen in a fit in the middle of the road when Dr. W. J. Whitford, who saw him, conducted him to the Dunellen town hall. His name, C. Denmore, is written on his clothes and shoes. He claims to hail from Providence, R. I., and is enroute for Philadelphia. Justice Warden has taken charge of him and will send him on. He is thought to have escaped from some asylum.

Hidden Forces in Society

was the subject of an excellent delivered by Rev. R. B. MacHatton, of Pittsburg, Pa., in Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning. The text selected was Zech. 4, part of the seventh verse: "Not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts." Considering the downpour of rain just at the hour of service, there was a large congregation present, and all were highly pleased with Mr. MacHatton's discourse. He will again occupy the pulpit Sunday morning, August 18.

Rain Caused Trouble.

The heavy rain yesterday morning did things to the storm sewer trench in front of J. K. Arnold's grocery store on Somerset street. There was a cave-in and serious damage was threatened for a time. A considerable amount of earth fell away from beneath the sidewalk, and the cellars were threatened with a flood of water. The proper persons were notified at once and the damage temporarily repaired until this morning, when more extended repairs were made.

Remarkable Plants.

The remarkable night-blooming cereus at the Scott Press Works usually have five and six series of blossoms each year. They are now carrying the second series this season, one plant having seventy-seven blossoms and the other thirty-eight. About half the blossoms opened last night; the remainder will open tonight.

Results of the Explosion.

Clarence Bloxham, of Armstrong's pharmacy, is taking a special eye treatment for injuries received in the explosion of chemicals which he was compounding last week. He has been away from work for several days.

Gen. Drake Talked to the Children.

General J. Madison Drake, of Elizabeth, is being entertained by his brother, S. D. Drake. He attended the Lincoln Sunday-school yesterday, and gave a talk to the children.

Dynamo Burned Out.

The dynamo used for pumping water to the Mountain Park Inn from a nearby spring, burned out this afternoon and seriously interfered with operations at that place.

Four Received.

At the communion service held at the First Baptist church yesterday morning, four persons were received into membership on the confession of faith.

—The H. E. Gayle Hardware Company is offering its summer stock at 15 to 25 per cent discount this week.

—The contract case of The Old East Bangor Slate Company against J. E Brown will be tried tomorrow morning before Justice Mattison.

SATURDAY HOP AT THE HOTEL

SUCCESS OF SOCIAL SEASON AT THE NETHERWOOD STILL CONTINUES.

Lottery Euchre Tomorrow Evening—Some of the Guests Who Arrived Last Week.

As the season progresses there is not the slightest dimunition in the success that has come to the Hotel Netherwood this year, and August shows every sign of a continuation of that success.

The week closed Saturday evening with a hop. It was largely attended by the guests, while many from this city, Westfield and other nearby places, accepted the hospitality of the management and enjoyed the dances.

Besides those already mentioned, the new-comers at the hotel last Monday were Mr. Arnold and Ross Taylor, of New York. Dr. C. D. Beasley and family, Miss Bertha Angevine and Miss Louise Coleman, of Brooklyn, arrived Tuesday, while Henry S. Hutchinson, also of Brooklyn, was the guest of Mr. Bruen over Tuesday. Mrs. E. W. Patton, of Washington, daughter of Gen. Williams, arrived on Tuesday. Gen. Williams is still here. He has been quite ill for several days, but is now improving.

Among those who arrived on Wednesday were Ross Taylor, of New York, guest of Mr. Collins; Mrs. A. E. Lutkins and Miss J. Lutkins, also of New York. The following day Miss E Boome, Mrs. M. H Michaels, the Misses Cohen, of New York, and John Tenney, Jr., of Philadelphia, and E. M. French, of this city, were numbered among the guests. Dr. C. D. Beasley, of Brooklyn, arrived Friday to remain a few days.

Among the new arrivals Saturday were H. Stern, of New York; Mrs. O. B. Boyd, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Quincey Ward Boese, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Scott, of New York; H. Seymour Bulkley, of New York, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Heberton. Lieut. C. C. Carter and Mrs. Robert Acton, Jr., also of New York; H. L. Richardson and R. B. Carroll, of Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thorn, of Westfield; Miss Gertrude Noe, of New York; John Tenney, Jr., of Philadelphia.

The season's festivities will be continued tomorrow evening when it will be arranged to hold a lottery euchre.

KNOCKED DOWN AND ROBBED.

Daring Hold-Up Which Took Place at Westfield Last Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, August 5—One of the most daring hold-ups which has taken place in this vicinity for years, occurred near the Westfield baseball grounds last night. Miss Sarah Owens, a young colored domestic in the employ of William R. Wilson, of Rahway avenue, was the victim.

While she was passing the ball grounds on her way home, a negro jumped out from behind a tree and, striking her with a club, knocked her down in the street and took away her pocketbook which contained $5 and several valuable papers. She lay unconscious for several hours, until discovered early this morning. She reported the affair to the Westfield police, but could furnish only a meagre description of her assailant.

WEDDED IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

Mrs. Gehardt, Formerly Of This City, Married A Few Days Ago.

Many people in Plainfield will be interested to learn of the recent marriage of Mrs. Helen D. H. Gehardt, nee Miss Helen Lorenzen, formerly of this city. She was married July 24, at Tyndall, South Dakota, to Emanuel L. Badack. Plainfielders have received cards announcing her marriage and stating that she will be at home after August 1. The bride was formerly engaged in mission work and during her stay in this city made many friends.

Wouldn't Go Home.

Patrick Kane was arraigned in the city court this morning, charged with drunkenness by Patrolman Myers. He was arrested on North avenue yesterday afternoon, after repeated warnings to go home. Kane admitted his guilt and paid $3.

Donations For Camp.

W. D. Williams, of 395 West Fifth street, has left at The Daily Press office, a bundle of useful articles for the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, which has been forwarded to the camp. R. M. S. has also left a donation of $1 in cash.

In Charge of the Music.

Mr. Copper, of the borough, presided at the organ at the First Baptist church yesterday morning and evening, and Henry Baldwin Drake, also of the borough, acted as precentor.

Break in Water Main.

There was a break in a water main near the residence of B. O. Bowers, on Franklin place, Saturday. The water company was notified and soon afterward the difficulty was remedied.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Sarah Burrows and Lawrence Benner, both of the borough. The wedding ceremony will take place next month.

WOMAN ALMOST SMOTHERED

Burglars Tried to Force Her to Give up Her Valuables.

The home of Mrs. Demko, a Slavish woman living on Dunellen avenue, beyond Clinton avenue, was entered this noon by six men who demanded her money.

The woman refused, and the ruffians then siezed and gagged her, almost choking her to death. They then tied her to a bedpost, and after tying a pillow slip about her head, ransacked the house.

Two hundred in cash, which she had in a bureau, was taken.

The men made their escape, leaving the woman insensible, almost smothered by the pillow case.

She was found a short time later by neighbors and the alarm was immediately given.

Chief Kiely was shortly on the scene and after making an investigation summoned six of the night patrolmen.

The latter are now searching for the robbers who have evidently scattered through the country.

pled over the dashboard and fell headforemost in the road. They were rendered partially unconscious, but recovered on being taken to a nearby house. Many of the passengers treated reside in nearby towns and were taken home in cabs. Roberts and Stewart both jumped and escaped injury. Ryder, the conductor of 81, had his hand forced through a pane of glass and it was lacerated from the fingers to the elbow. Two of the fingers were nearly severed.

The wrecking crew arrived soon after the accident and the cars were towed to the Fourth street barns. The platforms were almost torn away, and they will have to undergo considerable repairing.

It is said by several of the passengers that there were no lights at all in the signal box at the end of the double track, and that Stewart surmised the road was clear. It is also said that there were no lights at the switch, which would indicate that the system was out of order.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—J. E. Townsend has moved his marble yard to East Fourth and Richmond streets.

—Mr. and Mrs. John M. Schorb, Sr., have leased their house on Grove street, and will take up their residence in a short time at 135 Grove street.

Charged With Aiding Swindlers.

A warrant was issued this morning for Charles T. Adams, superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph lines, who resides in North Plainfield, on a charge of violating section 123 of the Crimes act of 1898, in aiding and abetting green goods swindlers. It is said that the telegraph company refused to disclose the names of green goods men who have been using the lines.

Queer Trees at Niagara.

Persons visiting Niagara falls in summer often have their attention attracted to the queer shapes taken on by the trees which grow immediately around the great cataract. A trio of sturdy old trunks which must be every bit of 50 years old, and yet are graced with a tuft of foliage which seems to belong to a sapling of a few summers, stand near the American falls. A visit to the falls at this season will explain the reason for the grotesque appearance of the trees. The mist thrown up by the falling water settles on the trees in such quantities that they often assume the appearance of icebergs stranded high and dry on the banks. As the weight of the ice increases the weaker boughs break away under the burden and after a very cold season the tree emerges from its plating of ice shorn entirely of its branches. The trunk alone stands, and when touched by spring's warm breath it shoots out into a very close and compact bunch of leaves, which looks ridiculous on the top of such a heavy piece of timber.—N. Y. Herald.

Land of Earthquakes.

There are certain generally accepted conclusions that are entirely wrong. One of these is as to the land of the most frequent earthquakes. Ask almost any person and he will tell you that the most earthquakes are in Japan; but he is wrong. It seems as though we hear more about earthquakes at or near Japan than at any other place, but when the cold facts are tabulated we find that Greece is away ahead of Japan in seismic disturbances. The latest complete reports cover a period of six years, from 1893 to 1898, and during that time 3,187 earthquakes occurred in Greece and about one-half of that number in Japan. The island of Zanta alone had 2,018 shocks during the six years.—N. Y. Herald.

BOTH BATTLED.

Husband and Wife Arraigned This Morning in City Court for Fighting.

Henry Lewis appeared in the city court, this morning, charged by his wife with abusing her. The trouble occurred yesterday morning she said when her husband came home intoxicated and struck and called her names. She afterward admitted calling him names, tearing his shirt and inflicting sundry scratches on his face.

Lewis admitted part of the charge but he offered evidence which convinced the court that his wife was as much, if not more to blame, than he was. Both claimed to be afraid of the other and City Judge Runyon dismissed the case after advising both to remain apart until their domestic relations became less strained.

EXTENDED CITY SEWERS AND IMPROVED ROADS.

Principal Acts Of The Common Council At August Meeting Last Evening.

MUCH ROUTINE BUSINESS.

MR. LEE MADE TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN OF FINANCE COMMITTEE.

No One At Public Hearing On Storm Sewer And Macadamizing Ordinances—Remonstance Presented Against Bartle's Stone Yard.

President Dumont and Councilmen Clifton, vanHerwerden and Randolph were absent from the regular August meeting of the Common Council, and at one time it looked as though there would hardly be a quorum present. Councilmen Corieli, Mellick, Tolles, Buckle, Lee, Gloak and Craig finally arrived and made it possible to hold a meeting. Mr. Corieli was made president, pro tem, after Mr. Tolles called the meeting to order, and Mr. Wean was made clerk, pro tem. Messrs. Dumont and vanHerwerden are away on their vacations, while Mr. Randolph is detained at home by injuries received in the trolley accident Sunday evening.

Mr. Tolles moved to suspend the regular order of business to give public hearings in the matter of extending the storm sewer system and that of macadamizing certain streets about the city. No one was present to speak for or against, and the regular order was returned to.

The first matter considered was a communication received from William Newcorn, attorney for Charles Smith, of the borough, it was regarding some property owned by the latter on West Fifth street, and which was sold under the Martin Act as the property of Margaret McLoughlin, deceased. Mr. Newcorn asked the Council to rectify the error made. Mr. Lee finally offered a resolution to the effect that the Martin Act costs be remitted provided the owner of the property pay the taxes to date with 10 per cent. interest.

B. A. Mumford, who says he joined the fire department in 1867 and is now exempt from taxes, asked the Council to remit a dog tax on the ground that he does not own a dog. This tax was remitted, as was also the dog taxes assessed against Albert Mobus, Jules Boutes and T. J. Smith, all of whom informed the Council that they do not own dogs.

Residents of the Second district, Second ward, petitioned the Council for a sewer from Centre street to Cedar brook, and residents in the vicinity of East Second street, Church and Washington streets, presented a remonstrance against the stone yard owned by W. E. Bartle and located at the corner of East Second and Church streets. They complained against the great noise and the detriment to adjoining property. Both of these matters were referred to the finance committee. The members will get an opinion from the corporation counsel regarding action against the stone yard as regards it being a nuisance.

Residents of East Third and Richmond streets petitioned for a fire-alarm box to be located at the southwesterly corner of those streets. In accordance with a petition the hotel license formerly held by Hibbard & Jones, was transferred to F. W. Jones, all voting for the transfer except Mr. Craig.

The Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company informed the Council that, in accordance with an ordinance, the electric wires have been placed underground and that all poles removed, as provided for by the ordinance, except those upon which the fire alarm wires are placed. The company stated that it does not want to be held responsible for those poles left standing. This matter was referred to light committee.

Building Inspector Doane reported the granting of eighteen building permits during the past month, and Collector F. H. Smith reported that sixty-five tax warrants had been issued during the past month, of which number twenty-eight were returned and $223.49 had been collected. The regular report of City Physician Carman was received and filed.

Regarding the petition received some time ago from Howard A. Randolph concerning the assessment of taxes in error on some Netherwood property owned by Mr. Randolph, Mr. Lee offered a resolution remitting the same. Mr. Lee also offered a resolution transferring $100 from the general fund to the poor fund. Another

HURT ON RAILROAD.

John Murray, Tramp Calico Printer, Taken To Muhlenberg Hospital Early This Morning.

John Murray, aged twenty-six years, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital at 6:30 o'clock this morning with injuries consisting of a crushed hand and toes. The accident happened near the Greenbrook tanks, and the supposition is that Murray was stealing a ride on a Jersey Central Railroad train. He was brought to the North Avenue station and taken to the hospital in the ambulance.

Aside from the fact that Murray is a calico printer, not much can be learned concerning him. It is evident that he was tramping and that he had no steady work. His injuries will not prove fatal, although he will be at the hospital for a few days.

PLAYED EVEN WITH BOGEY.

FRANK O. REINHART MADE A REMARKABLE SCORE AT HILLSIDE.

It Was Very Close to Par Golf, Reinhart Winning Three and Losing Three to Bogey.

Frank O. Reinhart, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, has been playing the best game of his life this season. He now holds the record for the course with a net score of 75 for eighteen holes. This score he made July 15 and several times attempts have been made by others to beat it, but without success. Mr. Hunter, professional at Baltusrol, made the same score twice in one day last week at Hillside, but his playing was no nearer par golf than that of Reinhart. The latter followed bogey very close throughout.

For the first six holes he was even up with bogey. He then beat bogey on the seventh and eighth holes and finished even on the ninth, which gave him a score of two up on bogey at the end of the first round. In the second round he did not do so well. He was even up on the tenth hole and on the eleventh he was one down to bogey. The next three holes he was even up and on the fifteenth he was one up. He finished the last two holes two down.

The score as compared with bogey, was as follows:

Reinhart, out..4 4 4 4 5 3 4 3 5—36
Bogey, out...4 4 4 4 5 3 5 4 5—38
Reinhart, in..3 6 5 4 4 3 4 5 5—39—75
Bogey, in....3 5 5 4 4 3 5 4 4—37—75

When these scores are compared, it will be noticed that Reinhart kept exceedingly close to bogey, and he came as close to par golf as any contestant on the Hillside course. Frank Talmadge is Reinhart's nearest competitor, he having made eighteen holes with a 77. This kind of playing has greatly increased the interest among the best players at Hillside, and no doubt there will be further attempts to lower the record.

RIVERS OF MILK.

Milk Wagon Upset By Runaway And Contents Scattered About.

Charles L. Jeter, of Belmont avenue, was the victim of a runaway last night. A young man, in his employ, was proceeding to Plainfield with ten cans of milk, which he had purchased at Finderne, when he stopped at Taylor's hotel in Dunellen to water the horse. The animal has a bad reputation, and when the bit was taken from his mouth, he started down the street and ran all the way to Plainfield, where the wagon was run into a curb at Oxford place and upset, breaking the shafts and wheels. The street flowed with several hundred quarts of milk, and Mr. Jeter was forced to secure a new supply for his customers.

FOUND SKELETONS.

Dug Up In a Sand Pit Near Flemington—Supposed To Be Indians.

Some of the relic hunters in the vicinity of Flemington are greatly interested in the recent finding of many skeletons in a sand pit at Holland, a place near Flemington. It is believed beyond a doubt that the skeletons are those of Indians who were buried there more than a century ago. They have been taken in charge by those who found the bones and will be preserved for further research.

Vacations For Police.

Patrolmen Higgins and Flynn, of the local police force, returned to duty Sunday night after enjoying ten days' vacation. Patrolmen Saffron and Saunders commenced theirs yesterday.

POLICE ARE SEARCHING FOR THE ASSAILANTS

The Six Men, Who Brutally Attacked Mrs. Demko, Have Completely Disappeared.

STORY OF THEIR ATTACK.

AFTER TIEING HER FAST, THEY SEARCHED HER HOUSE.

Secured Cash Amounting to Over $200—Neighbors Heard Mrs Demko's Muffled Cries — Didn't Recognize Men.

A dozen patrolmen, with Chief Kiely at their head, searched all yesterday afternoon and part of last night for a trace of the six men who brutally assaulted and robbed Mrs. Mary Demko at her home on Dunellen avenue yesterday forenoon. On account of the meagre description of the men furnished by the woman, who speaks very little English, the police are working under difficulties. She recognized none of the assailants and, although six men traveling together in the outskirts would ordinarily attract attention, none of the residents in the vicinity saw them either before or after the robbery.

The police scoured the countryside about Dunellen for miles without gaining any clue to the whereabouts of the miscreants. To all appearances they had disappeared as completely as though the earth had opened and swallowed them. This morning Chief Kiely received a slight clue and, with Patrolman McCarthy, has been following it up.

The assault and subsequent robbery was one of the most brutal that has taken place in this vicinity in years. Mrs. Demko was alone in the house at the time, preparing the noon day meal for her husband, who is a railroad section hand, and several boarders who work at the Dunellen brick yards. The men entered and demanded money, but whether they spoke in English or a foreign tongue, the woman cannot explain. She refused to listen to them and started to leave the house when two of the ruffians seized her by the throat and choked her almost into insensibility.

They secured a piece of clothes line and tied her to a bedpost, beside putting a pillow-slip over her head to prevent her cries from being heard. Thus safe from interference on her part, they ransacked the house.

In their search through bureaus they secured a trifle over $200, belonging to the Demkos and their boarders. Two bank books of the Raritan bank with deposits amounting to $300, were overlooked. Nothing else of value was taken.

Some time after the robbers left the house, Mrs. Demko's muffled cries were heard by a neighbor living across the street. She hastened to learn the cause and found the victim almost dead from choking and fright. Word was sent at once to police headquarters in this city, but the men had made good their escape. The money taken represents part of the savings of years of the Demkos and their boarders and they are almost distracted over the loss.

HIT WITH BAT.

St. Mary's Right Fielder Badly Hurt During High Bridge Game.

Harry Shannon, the St. Mary baseball team right fielder, was quite badly hurt at the High Bridge game Saturday afternoon. He was standing near the home plate, when a bat slipped from the hands of Joseph Barry and struck him squarely on the forehead. A long gash was inflicted over the right eye and he was stunned for some time. He was taken to the office of Dr. Halstead where several stitches were taken in the wound. He was unable to continue playing and his place was taken by Thomas Keeffe.

Injured Finger Brought Him Home.

O. E. Ball, the superintendent of the Prudential Insurance Company, who has been away on his vacation, was obliged to come home on account of the trouble he is having with his finger. He came home to have it treated by his physician, Dr. Jenkine. The finger gave him much trouble while not being treated. Mr. Ball will probably remain in Plainfield the remainder of his vacation.

Six Members for Warren Chapel.

Six young people were received into the membership of Warren chapel Sunday morning at the Communion service.

BLOCK SIGNALS HAD BEEN TAMPERED WITH.

How Trolley Company Officials Account For Sunday Evening's Accident.

NOT FAULT OF THE CREWS.

STORY OF THE ACCIDENT BY AN EYE WITNESS.

Explanation Of The Cause Of The Accident Made By Agent Collins Of The Company—How The Injured Are Progressing.

To a Daily Press reporter this morning, E. R. Collins, of Westfield, representing the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway, made the statement that, after a careful investigation, on the part of the officials, the blame for the head-on collision, on East Second street Sunday evening, is attached to interference with the block signals by outside parties.

Despite rumors to the contrary, he said, the system had been working perfectly all day and up to within a very short time before the accident occurred. According to rules, both crews of the wrecked cars had the right of way from the manner in which the lights were thrown. Motormen Roberts and Stewart and Conductors Ryder and Sipe have been suspended until the investigation is completed in detail.

The automatic signal, Mr. Collins said, is a perfect safeguard against accident and this one would not have occurred if the obliging but sometimes interfering public had not tampered with the lights. As has already been stated, Motorman Roberts reached the Second street switch and after waiting for some time without the other car appearing, threw the signal at the end of the double track and started ahead.

Immediately after car 83 had gone, some person, as yet unknown, reversed the switch in the signal box. This put out the red light at the head of the double track, just previous to the arrival of Motorman Stewart with car 81. Seeing no light, his conductor, Walter Sipe, went to the box, surmising that 83 was on the Second street turnout, and threw the danger signal, as he supposed, giving warning of his approach. The reversing of the switch at Second street had thrown the system out and no light appeared, but this would have made no difference as 83 was well on its way. Stewart then entered the single track and started for the turnout. As is already known, his car was in total darkness owing to the burning out of a fuse and the only light on it was a small oil lamp. Roberts supposed the small light to be that of a road vehicle and kept on until the collision occurred. It is said he reversed his current and did everything to prevent hitting the other car, but all to no purpose. Stewart was running slow, it is said, and never dreamed but that Roberts saw him and would stop.

The statement made today to a Press reporter by a Plainfield young man, who was one of the passengers on car 83, is probably one of the most coherent accounts yet given.

"On reaching the switch on East Second street, near Richmond," he said, "our car waited for some time and as the other one did not make its appearance, I heard the motorman and conductor conferring as to what they should do. They finally decided to go ahead. I did not notice whether the signal was thrown. Roberts let the car out at full speed, and we were bowling along when suddenly someone shouted 'for God's sake, throw on your brake.' I jumped to my feet as did also a friend who was with me and, as I looked ahead, a dark mass loomed up before us. The next moment the crash followed and my friend and I were thrown to the roadway.

"A boy who was sitting near me, was hurled headforemost from the car twenty-five feet away, landing in a lot. I am positive that but for the warning shout I would have been seriously if not fatally injured by having my head jammed against the cross bars which protect the windows. As to whether the other car had a headlight I cannot say, but I know that Roberts reversed the current and applied the brake. He was too near, however, for the momentum to lose its effect."

Miss Bertha Melman and Jas. McCauley, two of the victims of the trolley accident, Sunday evening, are improving, and their recovery is assured.

Lindley M. Hillman, of New York, is still confined at the home of Robert Dryden, of Carlton avenue. The nervous shock in his case, and that of Edward J. Kline, of East Sixth street, was particularly severe.

PICKPOCKETS WORKING IN LOCAL TROLLEYS

Robbed Conductor Anderson of Gold Watch and Roll of Bills Containing $31.

OTHER VICTIMS REPORTED.

MRS. JACOB EMORY LOST POCKETBOOK WITH $8 IN IT.

Another Woman Was Robbed But Refused to Give Her Name—How Anderson's Watch Was Stolen —Thief Made His Escape.

From the number of victims who have complained of their losses, it is evident that a gang of pickpockets is operating on the crowded trolley cars of the local street railway system. Within the past few days three persons have been relieved of valuables, which they claim were taken from them on the cars.

One of the victims, and the one who probably suffered the greatest loss, is James Anderson, of Somerset street, a conductor on the Arlington avenue line. During the rush of passengers from his car Saturday evening, a valuable gold watch was cut from its chain and taken from his pocket. The thief in his haste let the watch fall to the floor of the car, where it was seen by Mrs. Hoppock, a motorman's wife. As she stooped to pick it up a burly man with a sandy moustache thrust his hand out, seized the watch and gave it to a woman near him. The latter, who was evidently a companion, hurried from the car. A short time afterward Anderson missed the watch and the description tallied with the one Mrs. Hoppock had seen taken by the woman.

This, however, was not all of Anderson's loss, as a short time previous, $31 was abstracted from his pocket as he was bound to work on a Somerset street car. He remembered having the money at Power's pharmacy where he had a bill changed, but found it gone on reaching the trolley station on Watchung avenue.

Another vactim Saturday evening, was Mrs. Jacob Emory, of Albert street, who had a pocketbook filched from her containing $8. She paid her fare at Grant avenue and then inserted the pocketbook in the front of her gown. The car was crowded but she noticed nothing out of the way in the actions of any of the crowd. The loss was discovered when she reached home.

A woman residing in North Plainfield lost a pocketbook in a Somerset street car, Friday evening. She reported the fact but declined to give her name.

SENSATIONAL DEPARTURE.

But the Flight With the Aid of Clothes Line Had Nothing to do With Clock—Prisoner Discharged.

An alarm clock, valued at $1, was the innocent cause of Joseph Maessener spending last night in the city jail and appearing in Justice Hand's court this morning.

Herman Hansen, of East Front street, claimed the timepiece was stolen from his home by Maessener, who made a sensational flight from the house by climbing out of a second story window with the aid of a clothesline. Maessener said the escape from the house had nothing to do with the disappearance of the clock. He furthermore said that the clock did not disappear at all but that Hansen had loaned it to him and he had forgot to bring it back. Hansen admitted the latter fact.

Justice Hand forthwith discharged Maessener, not forgetting however, to remind Hansen of the costs of the case which would have bought two clocks.

Settled While Waiting a Decision.

The case of Alexander against Charles Wilson, in tort, which came before Justice Mosher, last week Monday, with the result that decision was reserved, was settled yesterday in favor of the plaintiff. The amount was $209. William DeMezz represented the plaintiff and John P. D. Kirch, the defendant.

Annual Election.

The annual election of officers of Beth Tephileth Isha Yentai Lodge was held Sunday evening and resulted as follows: President, Kalmen Rothberg; vice-president, Samuel Dreir; treasurer, Morris Abrams; protocol secretary, Julius Srager; financial secretary, Benjamin Roenson.

Two More Woodmen.

Robin Hood Camp, Woodmen of the World, will meet this evening and initiate two members. There will be other business of much important, and every member is urged to attend.

BOY BADLY BEATEN.

William Heath, of Somerville, Set Upon by Three Men in the Darkness.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, August 6—Sunday night as William Heath, the seventeen-year-old son of Jeweler John Heath, was returning to his home from the store of his father at a late hour, he was set upon by three men, who pummeled him unmercifully.

Young Heath was dazed by the blows, but made his way back to the store, where he remained all night. The next morning the floor looked like a slaughter pen, the young man having bled profusely. A physician took seven stitches in his forehead. Young Heath recognized one of his assailants and a complaint will be made as soon as he is able to get around.

REVIVAL OF TROTTING HERE.

MATINEE RACES HAVE BEEN ARRANGED FOR SATURDAY.

Will Be Given At Gentlemen's Driving Park — Entries For The Events.

There will be a revival of interest in trotting at the track at the Gentlemen's Driving Park Saturday afternoon. Some of the staunch supporters and lovers of good races have arranged a matinee programme that cannot fail to attract a large number of people, especially as the admission to the grounds and grand-stand will be free. The trolley cars run within a short distance of the park, and those interested in the meet have arranged to have stages meet these cars and carry people to the track.

The track has been put in fine condition and everything points to a successful programme of races. For the first race, it is proposed to enter N. B. Smalley's black mare "Cousin;" A. I. Smalley's brown mare "Belle;" D. C. Smalley's "Ned Davis." Edward Campbell's sorrel colt, Thomas Brantingham's black mare and Harry Potter's bay pacer have been entered for the second race. In the third race, J. W. Johnson's "Woven Wind," and John Osborn's "Sidnut," together with several Westfield horses, have been entered.

All of these horses are in the best of condition and every race should be full of interest. Inasmuch as the owners of these horses are taking the pains to arrange an afternoon of sport for all lovers of good trotting, it seems as though there should be a large attendance of people.

COOPER WITHDRAWS.

Rumor From Somerville That He Is Out of Race For Nomination For Sheriff.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 6—It is stated on good authority that Former Assemblyman E. E. Cooper, of Warren township, has withdrawn from the race for the Republican nomination for sheriff. The Thompson faction is therefore in a quandary and another Sunday journey to Thompson's hospitable Hopatcong cottage is looked for, when the fences will be repaired which are said to have been so quickly broken by the Warren war horse.

A new candidate has loomed up on the Democratic side in the person of Wm. J. Demond, a dealer in men's furnishings at this place. Mr. Demond is a young and progressive Democrat, who stuck to the party during all its recent wanderings, but who was not altogether in sympathy with free silver. He is popular in Bridgewater township and will be among the leaders when the nomination is made.

Deputy John L. Anderson expects lots of company in his race for the Democratic nomination, but expects to come under the pole a neck ahead of the others. Wm. J. Logan, director of the Board of Freeholders, is a popular candidate and would make a strong race if he made up his mind that he wanted the office. He is a bit coquettish in regard to the matter yet.

Tour To The Exposition.

Honeyman's second tour this season to the Pan-American Exposition started this morning by the Lehigh Valley Railroad, leaving South Plainfield at 10:55. Miss Jessie Pruden, of East Second street, and Miss Elizabeth W. Stackhouse, of East Sixth street, are among the twenty-five members of the party. They will return home Saturday evening.

Case Was Adjourned.

The case of the Borough of North Plainfield against John Smith, was called before Justice Doud, yesterday, and at request of the Borough Council was adjourned until next Monday.

INSTANTLY KILLED BY FAST FREIGHT TRAIN.

William A. Baldwin, Better Known As "Deafy" Baldwin, Met Death On Railroad.

NEAR GRANT AVE. STATION.

ACCIDENT OCCURRED JUST AS THE 7:59 EXPRESS HAD PASSED.

Was Returning To His Home On West Front Street—Was Seventy-nine Years Old—Leaves Widow And Nine Children—Was a Horse Dealer.

William A. Baldwin, better known as "Deafy" Baldwin, of 736 West Front street, was instantly killed a few minutes before 8 o'clock this morning at the Grant avenue station by a west-bound freight train.

He left the house some time before that to go to the Pond Machine Tool Works, where some of his sons were at work. One of the sons, Richard, told his father he had better go home as it was raining. He started for home, making a short cut from South Second street to the railroad station.

When he reached the station he halted for a minute to let the 7:59 o'clock train go by. Not expecting another train along he started to cross the tracks. He had reached the outside westbound track when the freight train came along and struck Mr. Baldwin. He was hurled a great distance down the embankment, sustaining cuts and bruises. It is believed that death was instant.

Mr. Baldwin was very deaf and was unable to hear the sound of an approaching train. As soon as the accident occurred the engineer stopped his train and backed up. The ambulance was sent for to remove Mr. Baldwin, as it was thought by some that he was not yet dead. A couple of trainmen, ascertaining where the dead man lived, removed him to his home.

Mr. Baldwin was born at South Orange and was seventy-nine years of age July 3. All his life he was a great lover of horses and he had owned some thoroughbred stock. For forty years his business was that of buying and selling horses. For twenty years he resided at Warrenville. Four years ago he moved with his family to West Front street, where he lived ever since. He was well-known throughout New Jersey and was well liked by all.

Aside from the defect in hearing, he was remarkably active and smart. On account of his deafness he had been warned time and again to keep away from the railroad and to be very careful when travelling about. He thought that every one knew his affliction and probably did not exercise as much care as he should.

It is said by the family that the engineer of the freight did not blow his whistle or give any alarm, and that there was no flagman or agent at the station when Mr. Baldwin went across the tracks. This is not a crossing, however, and people are not supposed to go over the tracks.

Mr. Baldwin leaves a widow and nine children, seven sons and two daughters. The sons are William O., Charles D., Harry, Richard, Augustus, George and Walter. The daughters are Mrs. Harry Bush and Miss Jean Baldwin. There is also one sister, Mrs. Dickson Condit, of Orange.

MADE HIS OFFER.

S. D. Drake Sends Ingersoll-Sargeant Company His Proposition For Locating Here.

S. D. Drake this morning received a communication from the Ingersoll-Sargeant Drill Company asking him to submit sketch and details of his property and proposition for locating their works. Mr. Drake has complied with their request and has made a very liberal offer, one which he believes will be very hard for any other man, combination, or town to beat.

C. B. Brown Quite Ill.

Collector George F. Brown, of the borough, went to Newark last evening to see his brother, Charles B. Brown, who is quite ill. Yesterday Mr. Brown was removed from his residence to St. Barnabas hospital, where he is now getting the best of treatment. At first it was thought he would have typhoid fever, but his illness developed into a severe attack of rheumatism which has settled in his knee.

Won His Case.

A few days ago Lawyer Wm. Newcorn secured a verdict for full amount and costs for the plaintiff in the contract case of Stone against Seligson, which was tried in the First District Court at Passaic.

AN ORDINANCE

for the permanent Improvement of certain Streets and Portion of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with permanent and durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the necessary funds in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield, shall be permanently improved with durable macadam pavement to be completely laid and constructed on or before the thirtieth day of October, A. D., 1901, said macadam pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified, and to be in every respect equal to the macadamizing on Madison Avenue between West Sixth Street and West Seventh Street, in said City, and all work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after bids therefor shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately:

First Place;

Second Place;

Third Place; each from the Northerly curb line of East Ninth Street to the Southerly curb line of Cres cent Avenue.

West Sixth Street, from the Southwesterly curb line of Park Avenue to the Northeasterly curb line of Plainfield Avenue.

Orchard Place, from the Southwesterly curb line of New Street to the Northeasterly curb line of Liberty Street.

Carlton Avenue, from the Northerly curb line of Watchung Avenue to the Southerly curb line of Putnam Avenue.

Sec. 2. That said streets and parts of streets described in Section 1, shall be macadamized for a width of sixteen feet, that is to say, eight feet on each side of the center lines thereof, and a depth running from six inches in the center to four inches at the sides and the macadamizing preparation shall be laid down to the grades already established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets respectively.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money by the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, the Common Council of the City do hereby, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, authorize the issuing of five registered municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield, of One Thousand Dollars each, amounting in all to Five Thousand Dollars, which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually and be payable three years from said date of issue with the option of the City to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them, at any time after one year from date of issue, and before three years from said date of issue, on giving personal notice to the holders of said bonds, or thirty days' notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City, of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds may severally or collectively be sold for an amount not less than par value, and the interest on said bonds shall be raised annually by taxation and the principal be paid by the City at maturity, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefitted shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefitted by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

Adopted by the Common Council Aug. 5, 1901.

Approved by the Mayor Aug. 5, 1901.

OLIN L. JENKINS, Mayor.

Attest: GEO. B. WEAN, City Clerk, pro tem.

AN ORDINANCE

to Provide Separate Sewers or Drains to Carry off the Surface Water in Portions of South Avenue, Albert Street, Plainfield Avenue, West Third Street, Clinton Avenue and Madison Avenue.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct and order that separate sewers or drains to carry off the surface water, or the water flowing into Cedar Brook and Green Brook, be constructed in and for the said City of Plainfield in South Avenue from Central Street to Cedar Brook, with inlet at Central Street; in Albert Street from West Front Street to the present storm sewer in Albert Street, with inlet at West Front Street; in Plainfield Avenue from West Third Street to South Second Street, with four inlets at West Third Street; in West Third Street from the old water course East of Clinton Avenue to Clinton Avenue, with two inlets at the water course; in Clinton Avenue from West Third Street to the water course near South Second street, and in Madison Avenue from West Fourth Street to Green Brook, with three inlets at West Fourth Street, and two at West Third Street; all with the necessary manholes and appurtenances to complete the same, said separate sewers or drains to be of the dimensions and material, and to be laid in said streets, and along such lines, and at such grades, and in such manner as indicated and specified on map on file with the City Clerk of the City of Plainfield, entitled, "Map of Storm Sewers in South Avenue, Albert Street, Plainfield Avenue, West Third Street, Clinton Avenue and Madison Avenue, City of Plainfield, N. J., Andrew J. Gavett, City Surveyor, June, 1901."

Sec. 2. That the costs and expenses to be incurred under this ordinance shall be paid with money to be raised by taxation (by general tax for street improvements) pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, as other moneys are raised in said City.

Adopted by the Common Council Aug. 5, 1901.

Approved by the Mayor Aug. 5, 1901.

OLIN L. JENKINS, Mayor.

GOLDSEEKERS STARVING.

One Miner Dead and Others Nearly So When Found.

PORT TOWNSHEND, Wash., Aug. 6.—A story of death from starvation in the Agiapuk mining district is brought from Nome by passengers on the steamer Centennial. As a result of 43 days of hardship George Dean, a miner, is dead, and his two companions, Jack Houston and Joseph T. Thiery, are at death's door, though Houston may recover.

Added to starvation is the tale that in their desperation Houston and Thiery severed the thigh of their dead companion from his body and were cooking it when help arrived and saved them from practicing cannibalism.

The men had been in Good Hope country prospecting. On June 7 they started for Nome by way of Agiapuk river. Before they reached Teller City provisions gave out and hunger compelled them to eat grass, birds' eggs and anything they could find.

Dean left a letter partly written bidding his family, who live in Canton, O., farewell.

Stadium Bicycle Races.

BUFFALO, Aug. 6.—The first day's races in the national amateur championship meet of the National Cycling association were held in the Stadium at the Pan-American exposition before a crowd that half filled the mammoth amphitheater. The event of the day was the exhibition ride in which Walter Smith of New York, holder of the one mile record of 1:28, tried for the five mile amateur American paced record. He did the five miles in 8m. 27 1-5s., breaking the former record of 9 minutes held by J. R. Dubois of Boston. He also broke the two and three mile records of 3m. 26 2-5s. and 5m. 53 1-5s. respectively. Smith's time for the two miles was 3m. 20 4-5s. and for the three miles 5m. 52 1-5s. J. V. Ingraham of Chelsea, Mass., established a new record in the semifinals both in the quarter mile and third of a mile national amateur championships, won the five mile handicap from scratch and with M. C. Hurley of New York city won the one mile amateur tandem championship in the most exciting finish of the day.

Cresceus to Try Again.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Cresceus, the world's champion trotter, who will go here Thursday to beat his record of 2:02¼ made at Columbus, O., last Friday, has arrived here. He stood the journey well, and his trainer, Tim Murnen, says he is in very fine condition. He expects him to make a new record if the conditions are favorable. Cresceus will be worked here somewhat harder than heretofore in preparation for the race with The Abbot at Brighton Beach on Aug. 15.

Stinson Won Over Walthour.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Will Stinson of Cambridge, Mass., won the 15 mile motor paced race on the indoor cycle track at Madison Square Garden. The other competitor was Bobby Walthour of Atlanta, but he was only a contender for a little over two miles, when a bad accident put him out of the race after he had broken the world's indoor record in the first and second miles.

The "Red Devil" at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 6.—The "Red Devil," a famous automobile, carrying H. W. Whipple of New York, H. A. Devitt of Chicago, W. J. Hitchcock of Youngstown, O., and L. J. Harris as operator, has arrived here. The men are on a pleasure trip from New York to Youngstown, O.

A DEADLY EXPLOSION

Twenty Killed and Many Injured In Philadelphia.

FIVE BUILDINGS TOTALLY WRECKED.

Fire Department Quells Ensuing Flames and Begins Search In the Debris For Dead and Missing.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—A terrific explosion occurred in a grocery store on Locust street, west of Tenth street, shortly before 10 o'clock last night. In a moment the store, with two adjoining groceries, two second class clothing stores and a restaurant, were leveled to the ground, and the fire department was called out.

The upper floors of the buildings were all occupied as living quarters. Rosenthal's second hand clothing store was at 1010 Locust street. His family consisted of himself, wife and five children. Jones' restaurant was at 1012, patronized principally by colored people. In this building, it is estimated, were 15 persons. McClemmy's grocery, 1014, contained three persons. Quigley's grocery occupied 1016. The family consisted of husband, wife, three children and an uncle. Mountain's grocery, 1018, contained four persons.

How many members of the families mentioned were in the houses at the time cannot be told. The sidewalks at the time were crowded with passersby and loungers, and few had opportunity to escape falling walls or the shock of the explosion.

It is estimated that at least 20 persons are dead. From 20 to 25 others have been taken to the hospitals, many of them badly injured. The fire was soon under control, and firemen and policemen began searching the ruins for bodies of the dead.

The explosion occurred about 9:30 o'clock. What exploded and how it happened is not known at this time, but it is believed to have been a barrel of gasoline in one of the three grocery stores. With the exception of No. 1008 the front walls of the buildings were blown outward into the street, while the floors and the roofs were blown upward and fell straight to the ground. Almost every building in a radius of two blocks about the scene of the explosion had windows shattered and was otherwise damaged. Every building on the opposite side of Locust street was more or less wrecked, but none of them fell.

A terrible cry went up from the ruins the moment the explosion occurred. Women, children and men, occupants of the wrecked houses, could be seen crawling from the debris, while the agonizing cries of others were heard in the wreckage. From all the surrounding buildings injured people came running and fell in the street unconscious.

To add to the horror fire broke out in the debris the moment it settled to the ground, and in less than five minutes the great pile was burning fiercely from end to end.

A general alarm was turned in for fire apparatus and ambulances, and in the meantime the work of rescue was voluntarily begun by those in the neighborhood that were not injured.

Here and there a person was dragged from the ruins before the fire could reach the victim, several lives being saved by this prompt work.

When the firemen reached the scene, the flames had reached great headway and were igniting the buildings across the street. The fire, however, was soon under control, and with the exception of a small blaze here and there the fire was extinguished in a few minutes.

The work of digging away the ruins was then begun in earnest. Near the edge of the debris several colored men were taken out and sent to the hospitals. While the firemen and policemen were digging into the debris and hauling away heavy timbers in several sections of the wreckage cries were heard coming from the cellar of Mountain's grocery store. Fifty men, with rope and tackle, were immediately put to work at that point and pulled away the roofing and flooring which had fallen into a massed heap.

From the bottom of the pile, doubled up, were taken a man and a woman. The man was able to speak, but the woman was apparently dead. While the work of rescue was going on in the exploded block hospital attendants and others made a search of all the damaged houses on the opposite side of the street, and almost a score of persons were taken to various hospitals from these places.

The Jefferson and the Pennsylvania hospitals, which are located nearest to the scene of the explosion, were soon crowded with the injured.

The buildings containing the pool rooms, clothing store and the restaurant were three story brick structures, while the other buildings were 2½ stories.

Noted Publisher Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Jesse Haney, one of New York's old time publishers and owner of one of the earliest comic papers published here, is dead at his home in this city. He was born in Germantown, Pa., in 1829 and came to New York in 1853 and allied himself with the group that included George Arnold, Sol Eytinge, Walt Whitman, Artemus Ward and "Doesticks" Thompson. He then started the New York Picayune, a comic paper. This was succeeded by The Irving Magazine and later by The Comic Monthly paper that included Bellew, the elder, and Frank Beard on its staff. After being long connected with the American News company he retired and three years ago was stricken with paralysis.

Havana Dock In Good Condition.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—A letter from Naval Constructor Gilmore, who was sent recently to take charge of the big floating dock at Havana, has been received at the navy department. He states that the dock is in excellent condition. He has tested it to some extent by docking a large merchant ship. The dock was emptied inside of 40 minutes, which is an exceptionally good performance. The naval constructor regards the dock as a valuable adjunct to the navy.

Strikers Vote to Continue Fight.

HAZELTON, Pa., Aug. 6.—Contrary to general expectations, the 300 strikers at the Drifton shops of the mining firm of Coxe Bros. & Co. have voted to continue the fight, as President Stearns, with whom a conference was held, agreed to reinstate only half the men. He told the strikers that the company had decided to have most of its work done elsewhere, hence the necessity of a reduction in the force.

THOUSANDS KILLED.

Colombian Revolutionists Defeated In Long Fight.

AMMUNITION BECAME EXHAUSTED.

The Revolution Will Not Disturb the Relations of the United States or Interfere With the Isthmian Canal.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—A. Dias Guerra, agent in this country of the Colombian revolutionists, has received news of a bloody battle which occurred between the government troops and the rebels at Palo Negro. After hard fighting lasting 17 days, he says, the insurgents were compelled to withdraw, their ammunition being exhausted.

The steamer Philadelphia has arrived here from Venezuela, bringing a good budget of war news to Agent Guerra. Since the war started in October 4,000 men, he declares, have been killed and wounded. Agent Guerra said last night:

"There will be no cause for the United States of North America to interfere because of the revolution in Colombia. The insurgents will not disturb the operation of the railroad or the digging of the canal at the isthmus. They were up in that section of the country, and these operations were not disturbed."

The Atlas line steamer Altai, which has arrived here from Colombian ports, is the first one from Cartagena since the arrest there on the steamer Allegheny of Colonel Murillo, aid of General Uribe and the latter's peace emissary. According to the mail advices and newspapers Colonel Murillo is not incarcerated, as was reported, in one of the underground dungeons of Cartagena. He is imprisoned in the city jail and is well cared for. The arrest of Colonel Murillo, it appears, was ordered to prevent him from joining General Uribe in his new rebellion. It is believed that not only was this his intention, but the officials suspected that he had important verbal messages for his chief.

Passengers on the Altai report a desperate state of affairs in the interior of the country. Business, as a result of the revolt and the uncertainty of the future, is at a standstill. Gold is at a premium of 3,000 per cent, which is unprecedented even in Colombia, and several large failures are reported from Bogota.

Another danger which is said to threaten the Marroquin government is the renewed activity of the followers of Dr. Manuel A. Sanclemente, who was deposed from the presidency a year ago by the coup d'etat of Vice President Marroquin. Dr. Sanclemente still insists that he is the legal head of the government, and it is feared that his adherents will join the revolution of the Liberals for revenge.

No Official Details.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—There is no news at either the Colombian or Venezuelan legations here to confirm the cabled report from Caracas that a battle had taken place between the government troops of Venezuela and the revolutionary force under Dr. Gabiras.

Maryland Republicans.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6.—Republican leaders from all parts of the state are in Baltimore for their state convention, which will be held here today. The work before them is the nomination of candidates for state comptroller and clerk of the court of appeals and the formulation of a platform. But little time will be taken up in carrying out the programme already mapped out. Either Dr. Isaac N. Barber of Talbot county or Herman S. Platt of Baltimore will be selected to head the ticket, with the chances in favor of the latter, although it is understood that Dr. Barber, who has served his party in congress, could have it if he wanted to make a fight for it. Mr. Platt is a prominent oyster packer, is wealthy and is regarded as good timber. The court of appeals clerkship will in all probability go to Colonel Thomas S. Parran of Calvert.

Exposition Building Burned.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 6.—The exposition building, erected during the boom of 1887 at a cost of over $200,000, has been destroyed by fire. A boy among the crowd which had gathered to watch a large circus that had pitched its tents across the street set fire in the spirit of mischief to some loose rubbish on the floor. In a moment the flame had leaped beyond control, spreading almost instantly throughout the whole building, which occupied a half block square. No one was injured. The efforts of the firemen were directed to saving the surrounding residence property.

Rain In Texas Cotton Belt.

DALLAS, Aug. 6.—The first rain of consequence that Dallas and vicinity has had since last May began falling at 4 a. m. yesterday and lasted until noon. The rainfall appears to have been general over an area extending approximately 100 miles in all directions from this city. This is the section of the great Texas cotton belt that has had the least rain this season and in which the drought has been the most severe.

STATEMENT BY DAWES.

Passage of Banking Act Has Greatly Stimulated Banking.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Mr. Dawes, the comptroller of the currency, has issued the following statement regarding the results of the passage of the act of March 4, 1900:

"The impetus given to the organization of national banks by the act which became a law on March 14, 1900, still continues.

"During the 16½ months since the passage of the act there have been organized in the United States 665 national banking associations, with an aggregate capital of $34,267,000, accompanied by a bond deposit aggregating $10,006,200.

"Of these banks 457 were organized with a capital of less than $50,000, the total amounting to $11,882,000, and 208 with a capital of $50,000 or over, the aggregate amounting to $22,385,000.

"Included in the total number of organizations are 92 banks with capital of $5,920,000, which were conversions of state institutions, 63 of which were capitalized for less than $50,000.

"On March 14, 1900, there were in operation 3,617 banks, with a capital of $616,308,095; bonds on deposit to secure circulation, $244,611,570; circulation secured by bonds, $216,374,795; bonds secured by lawful money deposited by banks placed in voluntary liquidation in the charge of receivers and those reducing circulation, $38,027,935.

"On July 31 the number of banks had increased to 4,217, capital to $659,556,695, bonds on deposit to secure circulation to $329,346,430, circulation secured by bonds to $327,039,373 and circulation secured by lawful money to $29,113,530.

"The net increase in the number of banks, capital, etc., during this period was as follows: Number of banks, 600; capital stock, $43,248,680; bonds deposited to secure circulation, $84,736,860; circulation secured by bonds and by lawful money, $101,750,13.

"Of the aggregate amount of bonds deposited as security for circulation, $329,348,430, a trifle over 96 per cent, or $316,025,159, are 2 per cents of the issue of 1930.

"The circulation of national banking associations reached the maximum on Oct. 23, 1882, namely, $362,400,602, which was $8,247,699 higher than the amount outstanding on July 31, 1901."

GOMEZ'S POSITION.

Denies That He Is an Annexationist, as Reported.

HAVANA, Aug. 6.—General Maximo Gomez has written to his friend General Vega regarding the reports that he had described himself and Senor Estrada Palma as annexationists. After remarking that he had come upon a reference to the matter in a local paper in Puerto Principe he says:

"To pretend that Senor Palma and I are annexationists is madness. The best way to carry out a plan is to speak much of it. For this reason it appears that many Cubans desire annexation and look to most of the prominent chiefs of the revolution to support the movement, but they have tried to convert to the doctrine some very old heretics.

"The Platt law solved the question. The constitutional convention was not to blame, as it had fired the last cartridge in defense of absolute independence."

There was no meeting of the constitutional convention yesterday, only 20 delegates presenting themselves. The convention is gradually becoming a laughing stock.

Senor Giberga recently refused to subscribe to a fund being raised in the convention in aid of the mother of Marti, declaring that Marti was the evil genius of Cuba and that his memory would be execrated by history.

Senor Cisneros urged the convention to exact an apology from Senor Giberga or to compel him to resign.

Senor Giberga declares that he will not return to his seat in the convention until the matter is settled and that he will publish a manifesto to the country giving his reasons for thinking as he does of Marti.

New Town Sites.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The town sites for the El Reno and Lawton land districts, into which all the newly opened land in Oklahoma is divided, have been announced at the interior department. Commissioner Hermann has telegraphed to the respective registrars and receivers the approval of Secretary Hitchcock of the reservation of these lands "and no others" for town site purposes and directing the land officers to reserve them from homestead entry. They comprise all the town sites, and lots in them will be sold today.

A Rifle Fight In Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 6.—A special from London, Ky., says a party of about 30 men, nearly equally divided, have been engaged in a rifle fight. It is said the Stapletons and Hamptons were on one side and the Benges on the other owing to an old feud. Perry Hampton and Tilford Benge are reported to have been badly wounded. Further trouble is expected.

Mail Clerk In Trouble.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 6.—William A. Gasherie, a railway mail clerk for over 20 years, was arrested by Post Office Inspectors James and Jacobs, charged with robbing mails. He was taken to New York for arraignment before Commissioner Shields.

KAISER'S MOTHER DEAD.

Empress Frederick, Victoria's Eldest Daughter, No More.

CRONBERG, Aug. 6.—Empress Frederick died at 6:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

At the desire of Empress Frederick the Rev. Cameron Waller, the British resident chaplain at Homburg, was summoned to her bedside in the morning. A number of relatives arrived. These included the empress' eldest daughter and her sister, Princess Christian.

Emperor William, Empress Augusta Victoria and the Crown Prince Frederick William arrived at Cronberg in the morning.. They drove from Homburg at 3:15 o'clock to Friedrichshof. The emperor saw his mother at once.

The Empress Frederick was Queen Victoria's eldest daughter, Victoria Adelaide Mary Louisa. She was born in 1840 and at 18 married Prince Frederick of Prussia, who two years later, on the accession of his father to the throne, became crown prince. They were singularly well matched and manifestly lived together in happiness until his death. The crown princess was never very popular, however, with the German people. In the first place, she was a clever woman, a woman of much more than the average ability, and it was clear from the first that some of those in authority looked upon her with suspicion and not wholly without fear. As crown princess her influence was necessarily indirect and restricted, but it was well known that she had radical notions of her own on political, social and economic questions and ambition and energy enough to carry them out in the way of reforms should it ever be in her power to do so. Add to this a certain latent dislike of things English on the part of the German people and a certain lack of fine adaptability—tact, in short—on the part of the distinguished lady herself and the hostility of the multitude toward die Englanderin is not hard to understand.

Since her husband's death the empress dowager spent her days in quiet retirement and in the enjoyment of a very comfortable income that rendered her independent of her relatives.

Closely following the announcement of the death from the castle the church bells were tolled and the flags half masted. Visitors to the castle began inscribing their names in a book placed for the purpose in the hall.

It is said that the immediate cause of death was dropsy accompanying the cancer. The remarkable vitality of the empress dowager astonished her physicians. She retained consciousness to the end. The castle grounds are now surrounded by soldiers and patrolled by hussars and mounted police.

London Papers In Mourning.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—All the London papers appeared today with mourning borders, and all published editorials expressing deep sympathy with the two mourning royal houses, extolling the virtues of the deceased and referring generally to the great difficulties incidental to her relations with the Hohenzollerns, especially the bitterness displayed toward her by Bismarck. The Daily Telegraph says: "She was great by birth, she has been great by her husband's dignity, and she may yet be greatest by the policies and achievements of her august son, directed, as we hope they will be, toward the interests of peace and enduring friendship between Great Britain and Germany."

COLVILE'S GUARD ATTACKED.

Boers Kill a Captain—Destitution Among Women and Children.

PRETORIA, Aug. 6.—Captain O'Flaherty of the bodyguard was killed by a shell from a pompom at Greylingstad while defending General Colville's rear guard from the Boers, who in considerable numbers harassed the British during the march. The burghers used their pompom on the blockhouses, but without effect. Finally they attempted to cross the railways and were fired upon by the blockhouses from two sides and punished severely. A number of Boers were taken prisoners, and their commander was severely wounded.

The Boer women and children who were brought to the refuge camp here recently had been existing on pumpkins and mealies. The low state of their health previous to entering the camps has increased the death rate.

The Pigtail to Go.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The cue, heretofore closest to the hearts and heads of the Chinese, is soon to disappear. The march of civilization and the Chinese Reform association have accomplished this, for from China an edict has just come from the association that the cues must be dispensed with. Local Chinese who belong to the reformers have been told to cut off their cues and adopt the European style of dress. The Chinese consul general, Ho Yow, looks with disfavor upon the innovation.

Threw Himself Into a Furnace.

PROVO, Utah, Aug. 6.—James M. Wilson, a patient at the insane asylum, threw himself head first into the open door of a furnace. He was badly burned before being pulled out. While bandages were being prepared Wilson broke away and again threw himself into the furnace, this time being so frightfully burned that he died within a short time.

Postal Changes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The following fourth class postoffices will be advanced to the third class, giving them presidential rank, on Oct. 1: National City and Arroya Grande, Colo.; Southfork and Red Lion, Pa.; Culver, Ind.; Barboursville, Ky.; Housatonic, Mass.; Okarche, O. T.; Farmland, Ind.; Huntington, Mass.; Fayette, Miss.

The Wrecked Steamer Acis.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 6.—The whole fleet of fishing boats is employed in salvaging the cargo of the Acis. She has 18 feet of water in the forehold, but otherwise is not damaged. The sealing steamers Neptune, Walrus and Panther have sailed for the scene to join in the work.

Typhoon at Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 6.—A heavy typhoon has been raging here for four days. There has been much damage to shipping, and communication is interrupted in many directions. No loss of life has as yet been reported.

Ex-Congressman Blount's Condition.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 6.—Ex-Congressman Blount is not critically ill. He received a slight touch of paresis some days ago, affecting the muscles of his face and lips, but he is steadily improving.

COMPERS SUMMONED

Shaffer Has Asked Him to Come to Pittsburg.

A QUIET DAY AT HEADQUARTERS.

It Is Hoped That American Federation of Labor May Support Steel Strikers—Feeling That General Strike May Not Be Ordered.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 6.—The strike history of the day in Pittsburg itself is not prolific of results. Considerable, however, is doing in towns surrounding. In this city all of the idle mills are in the same condition as before the failure of the conference to settle the strike, and no apparent move is being made by the manufacturers to start the mills. Consequently there has been no break in the strikers' ranks.

Shaffer said that he had sent a message to Atlantic City to President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor asking him to come on at once to Pittsburg. Shaffer said that he had received in Washington assurances from minor officers of the federation that it would support the strike.

After talking to this effect and thus briefly Shaffer retired into the office with other leaders.

An impression that was impossible to account for and the cause for which could not be ascertained prevailed in certain quarters here that the general strike order would never be issued by the Amalgamated officers. In spite of the fact that the labor men talked just as determinedly as they did yesterday about calling out everybody this impression continued to prevail.

There was a continuation of the mysterious secrecy that has characterized the aspect of things at these offices since July 15. The office doors were locked and guarded, and the only manner in which one could get at Secretary Williams or Assistant Secretary Tighe or some of the vice presidents and district presidents who were about was by waylaying them, and then they had nothing to say, declaring that everything was "up to" Theodore J. Shaffer, the union's president.

The most important strike points seem to be Leechburg and Wellsville, with McKeesport a possible trouble center. From Leechburg this telegram was received last night:

"At 4 o'clock this afternoon the Hyde Park mill, which has been idle since the first of this year, was started. E. S. Pargny, manager of the American Steel association; Harry Davis, district superintendent, and Robert Lock, local manager, were on the ground. At 3:45 this afternoon a train arrived at Hyde Park, coming from Saltsburg, Vandergrift and Apollo. The train stopped at the works, and 55 men clad in working garb and carrying dinner buckets left the train and hurried into the works. There was no excitement, and the mill owners and managers claim they now have enough men in the mill to operate all of the five plant mill. Sentinels are out, and no one is allowed to get into the mill without a password. This afternoon late six mill men from Leechburg sauntered down toward the mill, passed the guards and walked into the mill, where they are at work. This makes 61 men now employed at the works. By outsiders it is claimed that this number cannot operate the mill in full; but, however this may be, the mill is running in good shape.

"The Amalgamated men, however, are on the ground, making desperate efforts to keep all union men out. They make the bold assertion that in two days after President Shaffer issues his general strike order not a wheel will be turning in either Vandergrift, Apollo or Hyde Park.

Street Car Operators Strike.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 6.—The conductors and motormen of the Lexington Street Railway company declined to return to work, and a strike went into effect. The union demanded an increase of 1 cent per hour. The demand was refused, and the company declared it would not treat with the men except as individuals, having refused to recognize the union. The company has announced that all men who will not sign an agreement not to tie up the business of the company and return to work at once at the old scale cannot return at all. The union refuses to sign the agreement. Seventy-five men are affected. All cars are being run by nonunion men.

New Jersey State Reformatory Open.

RAHWAY, N. J., Aug. 6.—The new state reformatory at Rahway, N. J., was formally opened, with everything in readiness for the reception of prisoners, and a number are expected in a few days. Two are awaiting transportation at Paterson, and others have been sentenced in other counties. It will probably be several months before the full complement is received. The buildings are still in an unfinished state. Warden Joseph P. Hag is in charge. The institution has accommodations for 256 prisoners and is designed for the reformation of first offenders and short term prisoners between the ages of 16 and 30.

Roosevelt Goes Hunting.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 6.—Vice President Theodore Roosevelt has left here for a three days' coyote chase in the vicinity of Fountain, 18 miles south of this city. He was accompanied by R. B. Stewart of this city, Alfred Cowles of New York, a brother-in-law of Mr. Stewart; Lieutenant H. Devereaux, a trooper of Roosevelt's old regiment; John Goff, who piloted the vice president during his hunting expedition in Colorado last winter, and Joe Kenyon, who will act as guide during this trip.

Line From Paris to Brussels.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Consul General Hughes, at Cobourg, Germany, reports to the state department that a French-Belgian syndicate is reported to be forming under the patronage of the king of Belgium to build an electric express line for passengers and light freight between Paris and Brussels and from the latter place to Antwerp. The trip from Paris to Brussels is expected to be made in 1½ hours and from Brussels to Antwerp in ten minutes.

Patent Medicine Man Dead.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Dr. David Kennedy, a manufacturer of proprietary medicines in this city, dropped dead here while addressing a taxpayers' meeting. Apoplexy was the cause of death. He was about 65 years old, a prominent Democrat and a former mayor of Kingston.

Trolley Accidents.

Two large open cars of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, both crowded with passengers, crashed together on East Second street, Sunday evening. Five people were seriously injured while scores of others will feel the effects for many days to come. The only strange thing is that no one was killed. Within a year, two of the same company's cars met in a head-on collision within a block of where Sunday's accident occurred. Several were injured but none fatally on that occasion.

It would seem that this stretch of single track where these accidents have occurred is a dangerous place and the trolley company should put forth every effort to prevent any similar catastrophies in the future. It is a very serious thing to jeopardize the lives of the hundreds of people who daily ride over that part of the trolley line which connects Plainfield and Elizabeth. While fortunately no fatal results have yet come from either of these accidents, another one might not be so lucky.

There is, at present, a system of block signals, worked with colored lamps, which was designed to protect the cars passing over this stretch of track from any possibility of danger. Either this system did not work properly or else there was gross carelessness on the part of some of the employes of the company. In the case of the former, the company should lose no time in remedying it so as to eliminate possibilities of any happenings in the future like that of Sunday evening. If there was gross negligence on the part of any of the men, then the matter should be taken in hand by the proper authorities.

The trolley is too great a convenience to be looked at continually with fear. It should be made as safe as modern methods can make it. While there is always the possibility of some accidents, catastrophies like that of Sunday night have no excuse and can be prevented by the exercise of a due amount of caution and forethought.

Although Company K has been drilling for several months, the people of Plainfield have not had any opportunity to see what the boys can do. Since they visited Camp Voorhees and won such a reputation for their creditable showing, more than the usual interest is manifested in the company. So the plan to hold a field day Labor Day will undoubtedly meet with general approval. It is planned on that occasion to have a battalion drill with dress parade and a sham battle or extended order drill.

The Plainfield Driving Club is about to resume its matinee trotting and pacing races which have been so popular in past seasons. The first will be held Saturday afternoon. The men, who are interested in these events, are not in it for financial returns, but simply because they like fast horses and enjoy seeing them meet in contests of speed.

The baseball game, in which the women's team played, proved even more of a farce than was expected. Most of the spectators went with the expectation of seeing something sensational, and they were disappointed. Every lover of good sport should discourage such exhibitions in the future.

Occasionally we hear of some daring robbery of the kind which took place on Dunellen avenue yesterday noon. The very boldness of the attempt seems to have prevented its discovery until the perpetrators had fled. The Plainfield police are now bending every effort to bring them to speedy justice.

There is every prospect that Elizabeth will be the scene tomorrow of one of the most sanguinary and strenuous battles that has ever been waged on a diamond. The police forces of this city and Elizabeth are scheduled to meet on that occasion for the first of a series of contests.

While the subscriptions for the open-air concerts are coming in, they are not being received with enough rapidity to permit the giving of the next concert this week. Mr. LaVere believes that he will have enough funds by Friday of next week to give one at that time.

In the last few days Plainfield has been visited by an unusual number of accidents on both steam and trolley railroads. The first of them to result fatally occurred this morning when a well-known Plainfielder was killed on the Jersey Central Railroad near Grant avenue.

Plainfielders should not forget that the water bills will be coming in again in October. If anything is to be done about persuading the Plainfield Water Supply Company to install water meters, it should be done before that time.

The Republicans of Union county are securing no end of notoriety by their factional dispute, now that an appeal has been made to the courts.

The weather flags wave no more in Plainfield. If somebody would present the city with a set, it would be a worthy and much appreciated act.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Elizabeth "Journal" stated Saturday that a suit in the name of C. Addison Swift will be brought in the Supreme Court by R. V. Lindabury to test the validity of the appointment of Carr as a member of the Union County Board of Elections.

It was hoped that the Kean faction would have dropped this matter until after the general election, because a continuance of the contest at the time cannot fail to injure the chances of the party in Union county, but it may probably be wise to get it out of the way now. It will probably slumber in the court until after the election is over.

A controversy in Union county is a matter for regret among Republicans all over the State. It should have been confined to the primary elections and not carried into the general elections, where it will adversely affect the party in the State.—Jersey City Journal.

. . . . . .

The Ingersoll-Sargeant Drill Company, of Easton, Pa., is looking for a site for a factory which will employ one thousand hands, skilled machinists to a man. With their families, they will add 5,000 population to the town that gets them. Trenton, Elizabeth and Painfield are being considered, and are being visited by the company's representatives. There is still plenty of land in and around Passaic which seems to have remained unoccupied for the purpose. It would be well for the owners to communicate with the company's officials. A site in Acquackanonk township, between the Erie and Lackawanna Railroads, would give the concern access to two railroads and to the supply of skilled labor in Paterson. Plenty of land is desired, and it could be had there cheaper than within the city of Paterson. Gas and water mains run through that section. The location of such a mill there would be an additional link between the two cities and a guarantee of their prosperity.—Passaic Daily News.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Plainfield is not so far behind the times. There are at least a dozen automobiles in the city, all owned by private individuals. The machines have come to stay and in another year they will no doubt be seen frequently about Plainfield and vicinity.

Miss Etta Reybert, of North avenue, returned home yesterday from Harrisburg, Pa., where she has been visiting friends for several weeks.

William H. Addis, of East Second street, has returned home from Kenoza Lake, N. Y., where he spent a week with his family who are summering there.

Mrs. George W. Cole and children Edna, Adelaide, George and Clifford, of West Second street, left yesterday for a two weeks' visit with Mrs. Cole's parents in Brooklyn, N. Y.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, August 6 — Miss Hattie Crawford, of Honesdale, was married to Thurman Ayers, of the borough, last Tuesday. The secret was well kept until Sunday when it leaked out, and Mr. Ayers, who was at church with his wife, was forced to introduce her. Mr. Ayers is a well-known Dunellenite, and is two years the senior of his wife who has just passed twenty. They will reside in Dunellen at the Ayers' home.

A large number of spectators saw a good game of baseball here, Saturday afternoon. The combatting teams were the Cuban Giants, of Plainfield, and the Dunellen A. C. The former team came out victorious, but was kept guessing throughout the entire game. The score was 11 to 7. A feature of the game was the home run made by Sisty.

Mrs. Annie Marlow and Miss Blanche Marlow were among those on the trolley car which was wrecked on East Second street, Plainfield, Sunday. Miss Marlow escaped uninjured, but her mother was not so fortunate, as she was cut about the head and sustained several body bruises.

Miss Walker, who has been nursing Harry C. Gaskill, who is sick with typhoid fever, leaves today for her home to get a much-needed rest. Her place will be taken by Miss Galloway.

Mrs. John Wehrly, of Somerville, has returned home after spending a week with her parents, Mayor and Mrs. Swackhamer.

The Dunellen Board of Education will meet this evening. One or two vacancies in the teaching staff are to be filled.

Mrs. Harry Swackhamer is entertaining Miss Ethel Fenner, of Pluckemin, and Miss Annie Fenner.

Miss Lulu Gise, of Jackson avenue, is entertaining Miss Mae Frace, of Bryn Mawr College, Penn.

Miss Grace Gordon, of Elizabeth, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Gordon.

Wilson Fredricks has returned home after a visit with friends at Pompton Lakes.

Miss Lizzie Herlich is spending a few days with Miss Anna Ace, of Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Emily Apgar is entertaining her grandson, Morton Cooley, of Flemington.

Mrs. George Huff is entertaining for a few weeks, Miss Ethel Jennings, of Brooklyn.

Mrs. L. Swackhamer is entertaining her mother, Mrs. John Fenner, of Pluckemin.

Miss Lizzie and Miss Hattie Harris have been entertaining friends from Iowa.

Percy Abbott has returned home after a visit with relatives in Somerville.

Miss Mary Teel is entertaining Miss May Honeywell, of Lincoln, Neb.

Mrs. Alvah Grey is spending a few days at Glen Gardner.

NEW MARKET

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, August 6—An unknown tramp, who was stealing a ride on the Lehigh Valley coal trains yesterday, lost an arm by falling under the car wheels. He came from Sunnyside, in Hunterdon county, and was making for New York. He jumped off from one train, and trying to catch on another, slipped and fell with one arm under the wheels. An east-bound passenger train was stopped and the lad put aboard and taken to the Newark hospital.

A boating party, made up of Plainfielders, came here with lunches, Sunday morning, and getting three boats, spent the day on the lake. From the many hilarious sounds which came to shore, it was judged that they had a good time.

In an interesting game of baseball Saturday the married men defeated the single men with a score of 24 to 15. The losers were unfortunate, inasmuch as their regular pitcher is sick and was not able to be present at the game.

The Sunday-schools of the First Baptist and Seventh-Day Baptist churches are spending the day at Sewaren. No transportation is provided, each picnicker furnishing his or her own.

H. C. Cathers, superintendent of the Piscataway schools, started today for Atlantic City, were he will remain for a few weeks.

Miss Jennie Dunn has returned home from a visit with Mrs. J. G. Miller, of Plainfield.

William Heller, of Elizabeth, has returned home after a visit at the home of Joseph Penrose.

Miss Lillian Gaskill starts today for Asbury Park, where she will spend a few days' vacation.

Miss Olive Bodine, of Quakertown, is being entertained at the home of Mrs. Mechling.

Joseph Penrose and family are spending a few days with relatives in Albany, N. Y.

The Piscataway Township Committee is meeting this afternoon at the Hotel Nelson.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, August 6.—A horse, hitched to a surrey and carrying two men and two women, ran away here early yesterday morning. The party, none of whom were known here, was on its way home from Sewaren, and when in front of Walpole's Hotel, the young man, who was driving, dropped the lines, and the horse ran away throwing him out. The other man tried to recover them and was also thrown on the roadway. At last one of the women clamored over the seat and succeeded in recovering the reins, and in turning the horse back, found her companions uninjured.

An interesting service was held at the Baptist church, Sunday morning, and in spite of the rain, a large congregation greeted the pastor who told something of his experiences at the Chicago convention. Rev. G. M. Shott also led the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting in the evening.

Rev. Mr. Mulford, of the Episcopal church, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday evening. On account of the rain no service was held in the morning, those who wished to attend going to the Baptist service.

Miss Ethel Marsh was one of the passengers on the trolley car which was wrecked Sunday evening. She escaped injury by jumping from the car before the collision.

Samuel McCauley, who has been suffering from an attack of acute indigestion, has recovered, and is able to follow his usual occupation.

Mrs. Edward Hand, accompanied by her sister, Miss Minnie Hoesinger, is spending the relatives in upper New York State.

Miss Minnie Hoesinger is among those who are spending their vacations in New York State.

Robert Pomey has resumed his old position of gardener, in the employ of Mrs. Schultz.

Frank Hand is spending two weeks with friends on the upper Hudson.

Walter Halleman is spending a few days in the Catskill Mountains.

Miss Nancy Wade is spending a few weeks at Ocean Grove.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, August 6 —A quiet wedding took place at the parsonage last night. The contracting parties were Miss Sarah Lydia Arrowsmith and John Y. Tingley. The plans of the couple have been kept a great secret. The bride is but sixteen years of age, while the groom is four years her senior. John Dingler, of Perth Amboy, acted as best man, while Miss Edith Arrowsmith, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. Mr. and Mrs. Tingley are both residents of South Plainfield, where the groom is employed as baggagemaster at the depot. They will go on a wedding trip next month. They are to live at present at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tingley, who were married last evening, will be the recipients of a grand serenade tonight. Great quantities of dry wood, tin pans and horns are being collected by the friends of the new couple.

Manley Giles has trimmed up the ditches and roadsides along his property on Park avenue. The improvement is very great and other residents along that street will do well to follow his example.

John Norman, of Perth Amboy, has taken charge of the Lehigh Valley hotel. The former proprietor was P. Dwyer.

A number of local residents, who intended to go to Sewaren today, were disappointed by the rain.

Harry J. Manning has returned home after a three days' visit with friends in Tarrytown.

Parker Morris, of New Brunswick, is being entertained at the home of Hollis B. Cubberley.

The Misses Grace and Harriott Van-Nest, of Alton, have been visiting friends in town.

Alfred Young is making arrangements to go to the Pan-American this month.

Harry and Fred Jones are spending a few days with relatives here.

PLEASANT TIMES AT THE INN.

CONCERT WAS GIVEN THERE SATURDAY EVENING.

It Was Followed By The Usual Hop—Delightfully Cool Up There.

Another of the pleasing concerts, which are being made a feature at the Mountain Park Inn, was given Saturday evening. It was attended by a large number of guests from this city and other nearby places. The temperature at the Inn was delightfully cool, which helped to make the occasion still more enjoyable.

The programme rendered was given by New York talent and was one of exceptional merit. Madam Cortada was the principal contributor and was repeatedly encored. She gave several piano selections, a contralto solo and recited a humorous story, "A Sad Mistake," which provoked much laughter. Westley Weeds gave a tenor solo which was longly applauded and Miss Otto and Mr. Lane also sang very acceptably.

Following the entertainment, a hop was given which was enjoyed by a large number of young people. Owing to the coolness it was prolonged for some time without any of the dancers seeming to tire.

PERSONAL.

Charles Vail, of Orchard place, is spending his vacation at Quakertown.

Dr. W. H. Murray has returned home after a pleasant outing spent at several places.

resolution by the same member called for the borrowing of $2,000 on account of the general fund and $1,500 on account of the fire fund, in anticipation of the collection of taxes. Still another resolution by Mr. Lee provided for the borrowing of $2,000 for sewage improvements.

Mr. Mellick offered a resolution appointing Mr. Lee chairman of the finance committee during the absence of Mr. vanHerwerden, also giving him power to sign checks in the absence of President Dumont. Mr. Mellick reported on the petitions for lights at the corner of Stelle avenue and Union street; Pemberton avenue and the northeast corner of Central avenue and one near the Madison avenue bridge, making three in all. The lights were granted.

At this time Mr. Tolles called up three ordinances all of which took the regular course. The first provides for the extension of the sewage system on South avenue from Leland avenue to Terrill road. This was read twice and ordered advertised. The second ordinance provides for the macadamizing of certain streets and was adopted on its third reading. The third ordinance was that calling for an extension of the storm sewers. This was read for the third time.

Mr. Tolles reported that a meeting had been held with the owners of the Plainfield Sanitary Company's plant, and after due consideration, it was decided to inform the company that the Council cannot see its way clear to purchase that plant. The clerk was instructed to inform the company to that effect and return the petition received from the company.

There was no other business of any importance to consider and a motion was made that when Council adjourn it be to meet Tuesday evening, August 20. The Council then adjourned.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Billy Gray, young college student, secures a lieutenant's commission on breaking out of Spanish-American war. He meets a Mr. Prime, Miss Prime and Miss Amy Lawrence.

CHAPTER II.—After a conference in his official tent, Gen. Drayton joins a gay company in his personal tent—Mrs. Garrison doing the honors as hostess.

CHAPTER III.—Lieut. Gray is invited to join the Prime party, to go over in Mr. Prime's carriage to see the review, but is denied leave by Col. Canker, whom the regiment had nicknamed "Squeers." Vacant seat in carriage is given Col. Armstrong.

"Well, I'll be blessed!" said Mr. Gray, as he rolled out of his gray blanket. "Here's a state of things! Listen to this, captain," he called to his company commander in the adjoining tent. "Here's Morton, back from 48 hours' absence without leave, brought back by armed guard after sharp resistance, charged with Lord knows what all, wants to tell me his story and prove his innocence."

"You let him alone," growled his senior. "Remember what Canker said, or you'll go in arrest. What call has Morton on you, I'd like to know?"

The lad flushed. Fraternity was a very sacred thing in the Δ Ξ X. It was "the most exclusive crowd at the 'varsity." Its membership was pledged to one another by unusual ties. It was the hardest society for a fellow to get into in any one of the seven colleges whereat it flourished, and its mystic bonds were not shaken off with the silken gown and "mortar board" of undergraduate days, but followed its membership through many a maturer year. It was a society most college men might ask to join in vain. Money, social station, influence were powerless. Not until a student had been under observation two whole years and was thoroughly known could he hope for a "bid" to become a "Delta Sig." Not until another six months of probation could he sport its colors, and not until he formally withdrew from its fold, in post graduation years, could he consider himself absolved from its mild obligations. But the boast of the "Delta Sig" had ever been that no one of its membership had ever turned a deaf ear to a fellow in need of aid. Who of its originators ever dreamed of such a thing as its drifting into and becoming a factor in the affairs of the regular army?

No wonder Gray stood for a moment, the paper still in his hands, irresolute, even disturbed. Not to answer the appeal meant to run counter to all the tenets of his fraternity. To answer might mean arrest and court-martial for deliberate disobedience of orders. Canker has no more mercy than an Indian. It was barely 48 hours since he had been publicly warned by an experienced old captain that he would find no "guardian angel" in Squeers. It would seriously mar his prospects to start now with Squeers "down on him," and as that lynx-eyed commander was ever on watch for infractions of orders, Billy well knew that he could not hope to see and talk with the prisoner and Canker not hear of it. To ask permission of Canker would only make matters worse—he was sure to refuse and then reemphasize his orders and redouble his vigilance. To ask the consent of the officer of the day or the connivance of the officer of the guard was to invite them to court arrest and trial on their own account. He couldn't do that even to oblige a brother Delt. If only Ned Craven were officer of the guard something might be done—he was a college man, too, and though not a "Delt," but rather of a rival set, he "would understand" and possibly help. Guard mount was held toward dusk, and that was four hours away, at least. The prisoner's note and tone were urgent. An idea occurred to Billy: What if he could get Gordon to let him "go on" this very evening? It wasn't his tour. He had "marched off" only two days before, as he well remembered, for Canker "had roughed" him up and down about that little error in copying the list of prisoners from the report of the previous day. Moreover, he had counted on going to town right after "retreat," dining at the Palace, an extravagance not to be thought of at other times, so as to be on hand when the Primes and Amy Lawrence came down to dinner. He had planned it all—even to the amount of surprise he was to exhibit when he should discover about when he had finished his own dinner that they were just beginning theirs, and the extent and degree of pleasurable emotion he might venture on showing as he hastened over to greet them, and accepted their offer to be seated with them, even if he had been so unkind as to dine beforehand, instead of with them. He had set his heart on having a chat with Miss Lawrence as part recompense for all he had lost that morning, and all this he was thinking of while still fumbling over that disturbing note. Time was getting short, too; there was no telling how much longer they might stay. Mr. Prime had brought his only daughter all that long journey across the continent on the assurance that the boy he loved, with whom he had quarreled, and whom, in his anger, he had sorely rebuked, had enlisted there in San Francisco and was serving in a regiment at the great camp west of the city. He had come full of hope and confidence; he had found the young soldier described, and, in his bitter disappointment, he declared there was no resemblance to justify the report sent him by the boy's own uncle, who vowed he had met him with comrades on the main street of the city, that the recognition was mutual, for the boy had darted around the first corner and escaped. His companions were scattered by the time Mr. Lawrence turned to the spot, after a brief, fruitless search, but private detectives had taken it up and "located" young Prime and telegraphed the father in the distant east.

Now, Mr. Lawrence was away on business of his own. Written assurances that he couldn't be mistaken lost weight, and Mr. Prime, disheartened, was merely waiting the report of an agent who thought he had traced the boy to Tampa. In 24 hours he might spirit his daughter away on another chase, and then there would be no further warrant for Miss Lawrence's remaining in the city. She would return to her lovely home in one of the loveliest of California valleys, miles away from the raw fogs and chills of the Golden Gate, and would be no more seen among the camps. That, said Billy Gray to himself, would take every bit of sunshine from his life.

All this detail, or much of it, he had learned from the fair lips of Miss Lawrence herself, for Mr. Prime and his daughter seemed to shrink from speaking of the matter. From the first Miss Amy had had to take the young gentleman under her personal wing, as it were. In her desire to aid her uncle and cousins in every way, and knowing them to be strangers to the entire camp, she had eagerly sent for him as the first familiar or friendly object she saw. Then when he came and was presented, and proved to possess little interest to the careworn man and his anxious and devoted child, it devolved upon Miss Lawrence to make much of Billy in proportion as they made little of him, and for three days or so the blithe young fellow seemed fairly to walk on air. Moreover, she had taken him into family confidences in telling him of the missing son and brother, for both her uncle and cousin, she said, were so sensitive about it they could not talk to anyone except when actually necessary. They had leaned, as it were, on the general and on Col. Armstrong for a day, and then seemed to draw away from both. They even seemed to take it much amiss that her father had to be absent when they came, though they had sent no word, until late, of their coming. He was on his return, might arrive any hour, but so might they go. Now if Billy could only discover that missing son—

Then came an inspiration! Penciling a brief note he gave it to a soldier of his company and bade him take it to the guard tents. It told Morton of the colonel's orders, issued that very day, and bade him be patient—he hoped and believed opportunity would be afforded for an interview that evening. Then he hunted up a subaltern of his own grade whom he knew would probably be the detail for officer-of-the-guard that evening. "Brooke," he said, "will you swap tours with me if Gordon's willing? I have—I'd like mightily to exchange if it's all the same to you."

Brooke hesitated. He had social hopes and aspirations of his own. By "swapping" with Gray he might find himself doomed to a night in camp when he had accepted for some pleasant function in town.

"Thought you were keen to go in tonight—right after retreat," he hazarded.

"Well, I was," said Gray, pulling his drab campaign hat down over his eyes to shut out the glare of the westering sun. "But I've got—a new wrinkle."

"Some bid for Friday? That's your tour, isn't it?" And Brooke began counting on his fingers. "Wait till I look at my notebook. Friday? Why, that's the night of the Burton's card party—thought you didn't know them."

"I don't," said Gray, glad enough to escape the other question. "And you hate card parties, you know you do. It's a go, is it? I'll see Gordon at once." And off he went, leaving Brooke to wonder why he should be so bent on the arrangement.

But Gordon proved an unexpected foe to the plan. "Can't be done, Billy," said he, sententiously. "Canker watches those details like a hawk. He hasn't forgotten you only came off two days ago, and if I were to mount you tonight he'd mount me—with both feet."

"Think there's any use in asking him?" queried the boy, tossing a backward glance toward Canker's tent.

"Not unless you're suffering for another snub. That man loves to say no as much as any girl I ever asked, and he doesn't do it to be coaxed, either. Best leave it alone, Billy."

And then the unexpected happened. Into the tent, with a quick, impetuous step, came the commanding officer himself, and something had occurred to stir that gentleman to the core. His eyes were snapping and his head was high.

"Mr. Gordon," said he, "here's more of this pilfering business, and now

"Will you swap tours with me if Gordon's willing?"

they're beginning to find out it isn't all in my camp by a damned sight. I want that letter copied at once." Then with a glance at Gray, who had whipped off his cap and was standing in respectful attitude, he changed his tone from the querulous, half treble of complaint. "What's this you'd best leave alone?" he suddenly demanded. "There are a dozen things you'd best leave alone and a dozen you would do well to cultivate and study. When I was—however, I never was a lieutenant except in war time, when they amounted to something. I got my professional knowledge in front of the enemy—not at any damned charity school. You're here to ask some new indulgence, I suppose. Want to stay in town over night and fritter away your money and the time the government pays for. No, sir; you can't have my consent. You will be back in camp at 12 o'clock, and stop and report your return to the officer of the guard, so that I may know the hour you come in. Who's officer of the guard to-night, Mr. Gordon?"

"Mr. Brooke, sir."

ONE WAY OUT.

A Resident of Plainfield Shows the Way.

Only one way to cure a bad back.
Liniment and plasters may relieve it.
They won't cure it.
Backache means sick kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.
Plainfield people prove this.
Read a case of it:

Mr. S. J. Conkling, traveling salesman for a New York confectionery house, 134 West Front street, says: "I was subject to pain in the back and hips which at times I felt in my side. I tried different kinds of kidney cure but received little or no relief. I read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I took three boxes altogether and was wonderfully improved. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and accomplish all that is claimed for them."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Ice Shock for Hiccoughs.

Ice has been used with success in a Pennsylvania hospital as a remedy for hiccoughs. It is applied in small pieces to various parts of the body. In the case of one patient, on whom every means to stop the hiccoughs had been tried, as a last resort a piece of ice was placed on his stomach when he was not expecting it. It is the application of the simple, old-fashioned cure of "scaring the hiccoughs away." The man was so frightened that he stopped the spasmodic coughing at once.—Ledger Monthly.

A Royal Entomologist.

Among illustrious personages with queer fads must be numbered Prince Luitpold of Bavaria. His collection of beetles is the most extensive and complete in the world, and the prince is a skilled entomologist, deeply versed in the habits of ants, bees, moths, flies, earwigs and the insect world generally.—N. Y. Sun.

A Social Success.

"What kin' of a time did you hab at de pahty de yuthuh evenin'?" asked Miss Miami Brown.

"Well," answered Erastus Pinkley, "to tell de troof, dah was so much blackberry an' gin dat I can't recall de details. But jedgin' fum de nicks in my razor it mus' o' been purty good."—Washington Star.

A Lamp Roost.

Nellie was much interested in Aunt Mary's chandelier when she went to the city to stay with her, and when she went home she exclaimed:

"Oh, mother, I do wish we had a place for our lamps to roost on like Aunt Mary has!"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Season Has Opened.

"Well," said Mrs. Wiffles to the tramp, "I suppose you want something to eat this morning?"

"No, kind lady," replied the wayfarer, "I called to see if you had a cast-off bicycle to give a deserving man."—Stray Stories.

No Reason Apparent.

Mrs. Fijit—Why doesn't Mr. Smithers come to our house any more?

Mr. Fijits—I can't imagine; I'm sure I always tried to entertain him by the smart things our baby does, too.—Ohio State Journal.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

A New York business man of sedentary habits who has for years occasionally used a Ripans Tabule to aid digestion, relates that he awoke one morning recently with a violent headache of a pronounced type. It was so severe that he considered a dose of calomel and a day in bed, but as the latter was impossible, owing to the business requirements of that particular day, he started from home at the usual hour and in an unusual state of depression and temper. Arriving at his office, his eyes happened to rest upon the packet of Ripans Tabules that he kept in his desk, and in a somewhat desperate state he took three of the Tabules at one swallow and sat down to attend to the work of the day. A half hour later he realized to his surprise that the headache had left him and that he was in his usual good health. Moreover the headache did not return. He went immediately to the office of the company and narrated his experience, with a suggestion that the story be told for the benefit of others. That day's time was saved to him and it was worth more than ten dollars in cash, to say nothing of the discomfort he escaped.

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS in the formula. All druggists sell them. RIPANS 10 for 5 cents; may be had at any drug store. For the special needs of children and infants RIPANS will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded by the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

CHIC UNDERWEAR.

White Petticoats Are Once More In Fashion.

White petticoats have again replaced silk ones. They are of the finest lawns, muslins and nainsook and are beautifully trimmed with lace embroidery and insertion. One of the newest trimmings consists of a wide lace flounce appliqued at intervals with medallions bearing in the center the wearer's initials. Plain petticoats with hemstitched ruffles and several tucks are worn with pique and duck suits. Those trimmed with lace and insertion are ornamented with ribbon bows. The new princess petticoat is combined with the corset cover. It is cut low, is edged with lace, and the skirt is trimmed with a wide flounce held in tucks part way down to insure slenderness to the figure.

A neat, smart sailor suit in cream serge is the subject of today's drawing. It is made in the new collarless style, with a striped plastron and sailor collar. This striped effect is made by appliqued bands of red taffeta. The sleeves have an irregular band of the red taffeta and an anchor embroidered in red silk. The belt is of the red taffeta, with a rosette and long fringed ends.

To go with this there are a parasol of red taffeta and a sailor hat of cream straw trimmed with red velvet ribbon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

AFTERNOON GOWNS.

Some of the New Ways of Trimming Them.

Some dainty and new effects are observed on the latest gowns. The key pattern is a favorite method of trimming. On a white organdie this is very effective when carried out in embroidery and lace, the inner portion of the band being finely tucked and the outer edges consisting of a tiny frill of valenciennes. Fichus are perhaps the most stylish form of trimming next to the bolero, and these are made out of every conceivable material, net and point d'esprit being the favorites. Lace figures appliqued on net are much used to trim crepe de chines and the finer muslin dresses. Persian scarfs of chiffon in all the pale colorings are being used for rosettes and sashes.

The cut shows an afternoon gown of coffee colored veiling trimmed with chiffon embroidery of the same shade. A dainty note of color is introduced by taffeta strappings of pale blue. These run perpendicularly, forming a yoke on the waist and a ruffle on the skirt. Two long strips run on both sides of the front from the waist to the edge of the skirt. The sleeves are elbow length, finished with ruffles of white lace. The belt is of pale blue taffeta.

The wide Gainsborough hat is of coffee colored mull trimmed with two long blue ostrich feathers.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Biblical Bull.

The following is the thirty-sixth verse of the thirty-seventh chapter of the book of Isaiah:

Then the angel of the Lord went forth and smote in the camp of the Assyrians a hundred and fourscore and five thousand, and when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

FIRST WHIRL WAS ENOUGH.

He Took a Ride in an Automobile But Hereafter Will Stick to Horses.

"No more automobiles for me," remarked the visitor from New York, mopping his brow at the very remembrance of a recent experience, relates the Detroit Free Press; "henceforth, or until those that deal in them are willing to furnish an iron-clad guarantee that the patron will return sound in nerve and body, I prefer to be loyal to the good, old reliable horse. If the latter does take a notion to run away once in awhile he has a speed and time limit—the runaway automobile doesn't know when to stop.

"For some time my wife has been trying to induce me to adopt the newest style of street transportation. In New York city, you know, we have some very fashionable auto turnouts, and they serve various purposes. The city authorities are even thinking of using them as street-sweepers. My better-half harped on the matter so persistently that I finally consented to give one a trial, and I engaged a brougham to take us to a swell reception. The 'doings' were only a few blocks from where we live, but it was not without some trepidation that I entered the horseless vehicle. We started off at a nice sober gait, which soon increased to a wind-splitting speed that quite took my breath away. As we whirled along through the crowded street, cutting off trolley cars and other rapidly moving vehicles, my wife's face suddenly assumed a concerned look.

"'Why, I do believe,' said she, 'that the man has forgotten the place. I'm sure we must have passed it.'

"Just then I caught a fleeting glance of a familiar corner, quite a distance beyond our destination.

"I stuck my head out of the window and hailed the cabby. He seemed to be very busy at the moment, and it was difficult to attract his attention. I then gave my lungs full play and managed to get his ear.

"'We've passed that address long ago,' I shouted.

"'I know it,' he replied; 'I've forgotten how to stop the blamed thing.'

"'Then for heaven's sake, man,' I cried, 'steer up on a back street, or get out into the country, out of danger.'

"Luckily, he was a skillful helmsman, and he managed to guide the auto out to a little park, which is not frequented very much at this time of year. Well, sir, I guess we must have circled that park a hundred times before the power ran out. There was nothing else to do. It was hard enough to overtake us in the first place, and the person that did understand the method of stopping the carriage couldn't have gotten aboard. It soon became noised abroad that there was a runaway automobile in the park, and we were pursued by a horde of policemen, small boys and dogs. The experience forcibly reminded me of John Gilpin's famous ride. It was 12 o'clock midnight when the blamed thing finally came to a standstill. The cabby said there would be no etxra charge, and my wife and I were satisfied to take a street car home. She has never mentioned automobile since and we are now going to receptions behind a horse."

A STORY OF FISH.

It Really Was the Largest One He Ever Caught, and No Lie About It.

"The biggest fish I ever caught," began the story teller, a scholarly looking party who evidently knew more about school books than fly books—

"Got away," interrupted a thin-faced little man with a nose like a shingle, relates the Washington Star.

"I'm no liar," the story teller flared up. "This is a true story, and I'm prepared to swear to it. It was in the year '89, when we had the hottest summer—"

"I didn't know the summer of '89 was so very hot," said a man in a weather-beaten straw hat.

"If all you didn't know," said the story teller, "was piled on top of you, you'd be flatter than a flounder and deader than a mackerel. As I was saying, in the summer of '89 a party of us went to upper Canada on a fishing expedition. It wasn't hot up there a little bit. On the contrary, it was so cold that the ice froze the first night we got there."

"Gosh!" exclaimed the little man with a shingle nose.

"As I was saying," said the story teller, showing genuine gameness, "it froze the first night we got to our fishing ground, but we went out the next morning just the same, and I hadn't been fishing more than 15 minutes when I had a bite that I thought was going to pull the boat under. I let go of my rod and it went scooting through the water, but I soon got it again, and the fight over the water and under it began in earnest. I hadn't been fishing for a long time, and was nervous as the dickens, but I had some sense left, and I didn't intend to let that fish get away if I could help it. I was so excited that I never did know how long I tussled with it, but in time I landed him in the boat, and he was the biggest one I ever caught in my life. It was ex—"

"How much did he weigh?" eagerly inquired the man in a straw hat as he drew up close to the story teller.

"Exactly half a pound," said the story teller, as serious as a sermon.

"You think you are dern smart, don't you?" sniffed the little man with the shingle nose, as he got up and walked outside, where he could get more breathing room.

WOMAN MAIL CARRIER.

Twice a Week Plucky Sarah M. Burks Traverses a Wild, Desolate Region on Horseback.

Miss Sarah M. Burks is probably the only woman mail carrier in the west, and her route is one of the most desolate conceivable. From St. John's to Jimtown, A. T., she travels twice a week, covering a distance of 208 miles, as the towns are 52 miles apart. The intervening country is practically a wilderness, the settlers being few and far between.

It would be difficult to imagine a more uninviting region than that traversed by Miss Burks. What tiny streams are found there are poisoned with alkali. Navajo Indians and occasionally an Apache are somewhat plentiful, but white men seldom go there, and then only to get the gold, silver and copper. Nothing in the way of vegetation can grow there. It is simply a region of rich minerals deposited in titanic volcanic action ages ago.

MISS SARAH M. BURKS.
(How She Carries the Mail in the Wilds of Arizona.)

Along the western border of this desolate, uncanny wilderness Miss Burks rides twice a week. Generally she is alone, and if she has a companion he is likely to be a miner, a commercial traveler, or, mayhap, a lawyer, who has rented a horse from Miss Burks' father, and she is to collect payment and to see to the care of the horse. She is always armed with shooting irons, and when a child she was the crack shot of the mining camp at Harqua Hala.

Her hat is a white straw. She wears short skirts of blue serge, a corduroy or canvas jacket, leather leggings and heavy shoes.

AN ASBESTOS HOUSE.

It Will Be Inhabited by Count Waldersee, the German Commander in Chief in China.

The picture is from a photograph of the interior of the fireproof asbestos house which the German commander in chief, Count Von Waldersee, is taking with him to China. The house, which is built throughout of asbestos, is 17 feet in height and has a frontage of 60 feet. It contains seven large rooms, four in the front and three in the back. It can be taken out of the packing cases in which it is carried and set up ready for occupancy in eight hours, and in case of an emergency can be taken down and packed in two hours and a half. The outer walls of the house are formed of two slates of asbestos, with an air space between, thus making it easy to heat in the winter and comparatively cool in hot weather. When packed ready for transportation the house is contained in a number of comparatively small packing cases, fitted with iron handles, so that where railroads do not run and it is not possible to use animals they may be carried by hand. It is said that Count Von Waldersee will make this queer house his headquarters during the whole period of his stay in the orient. The members of his personal staff will also be quartered in the asbestos house. The house was planned and constructed by a German firm in a single week.

Back at His Starting Point.

The crooked streets of Boston are always a source of wonder to visitors. A Cincinnati man, who was a guest at the Tremont house, made up his mind to go out to see the "Hub." As he had three hours at his disposal, he wandered around leisurely but aimlessly until he was tired with his long walk. He calculated that he must have covered nearly ten miles, when he stepped up to a policeman on the corner, and asked to be directed to the Tremont house. "Well, sir," said the policeman, courteously, "you might cut across the street to the front door, but if I were you I'd walk over on the crossing." He was exactly opposite the hotel.

SOMNAMBULIST'S END.

Young Iowa Farmer Kills Himself in His Sleep as One He Had Read Of Did Awake.

A correspondent of the New York Sun, writing from Clinton, Ia., says that after doing odd things in his sleep nearly all his life, Clifford Saddoris, the only son of a prosperous farmer living near Dewitt, capped them all by committing suicide while in a somnambulistic condition. In the middle of the night he got up, loaded his gun with buckshot, went down to the barn and fired the charge into his heart, making a frightful wound. His father found him dead next morning.

The young man's sleep-walking feats had been for several years the subject of gossip among his neighbors. He had been known to get up in the night, do all the chores he was in the habit of doing in the morning and return to bed without awakening. One night he took his bed apart, carried it down to the parlor, set it up there and slept half the night in it. Then he took it apart and was carrying it upstairs again when he was awakened. On another night he had hitched up a team and was driving off to work when his father waked him up.

Before he went to bed on the night on which he killed himself, the young man had been reading to his parents a story in a newspaper about another young farmer who committed suicide in the barn by firing a charge of buckshot into his body. The story told how the other farmer did it and it impressed young Saddoris greatly. He expressed great sympathy for a man whose mind was in such a condition that he would so end his life. Soon afterward he went to bed. Some time in the night he killed himself in exactly the same manner as the man of whose death he read.

His parents testified at the inquest that he was happy and had no reason to kill himself, but the verdict was suicide.

END OF A ROMANCE.

Ohio Girl, Clothed in Male Attire, Marries Man of Her Choice in a Chicago Police Station.

Capt. Mahoney's office at the Harrison street police station, at Chicago, was the scene of a marriage that would have made a fitting climax to a melodrama. Cruelty of a stepfather, flight from home over many miles on freight trains, disguise of the bride in male attire to escape detection and finally arrest and detention in a Chicago police station figured in the first act. Martha Snyder, the bride, was 19 years old, and Fred Cooper, the bridegroom, two years older. Justice Prindiville performed the ceremony.

Martha was still attired in male garb, which she had donned before leaving Steubenville, O. For a time Justice Prindiville was under the impression that he was being made the victim of a practical joke.

"WHERE'S THE GIRL?"

"Where is the girl?" asked the magistrate as he entered the captain's office.

"I guess she's not far off," Capt. Mahoney answered. "See if you can find her."

"Give it up," said the justice after scrutinizing every face in the room. "Matron Murphy is the only woman I see here."

The magistrate would hardly be convinced even when the girl was pointed out to him. She resembled a schoolboy of 16. The ceremony was performed and then Capt. Mahoney proposed that a purse be raised to buy the girl a wedding gown. In five minutes the captain collected ten dollars, which he presented to the bride. She thanked the captain and then burst into tears.

VIRGINIA CHAIN GANG.

Obsolete System of Punishing Petty Offenders Still Obtains in Progressive Newport News.

Up to date in almost all things, Newport News, Va., clings to the obsolete idea of the chain gang. It is no uncommon sight to turn a street corner and come upon half a dozen negroes of all ages hobbling about with ten-pound balls attached to their ankles, their hands busy with brooms or shovels.

There is about a yard of chain attached to the ball at one end, and riveted to a cuff going around the prisoner's ankle at the other end. Some of the negroes cleverly "pocket" the ball in the angle formed by the handle of the dust cart and the circular rim that holds the can, and move along blithely singing some ragtime air.

PRISONERS IN CHAINS.
(How Negro Jail Birds Are Employed at Newport News, Va.)

The chain gang is made up of men found guilty of petty offenses and sentenced to a few days' labor by the municipal magistrates. Usually the offense is drunkenness or disorderly conduct. The men do not seem to mind this form of punishment, though the ctitzens are divided into two camps—those who approve of this cheap method of getting the asphalt swept and the gutters cleaned daily, and those who do not approve of the spectacle afforded by tethered prisoners at large, and who maintain that the punishment is no deterrent.

The negro population living in Bloodtown and the suburbs of Newport News is large, saloons are not scarce, rum is plentiful and disorderly scenes are consequently frequent. The local jail is rather small. If the prisoners were all kept there it would be congested, so the chain gang idea obtains in this otherwise beginning of the new century city, whose rapid advance has been one of the features of the census of 1900.

THE EARL OF CADOGAN.

Appointed to Retain His Post as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland for Another Parliamentary Term.

Earl Cadogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, whom the new Salisbury ministry has decided to retain in his present position, was appointed to the place when the conservatives went into power in 1895. The earl is 61 years old, and has been prominent in British politics since he succeeded to the title on the death of his father in 1873. He has been parliamentary under secretary for state and for the colonies, and in 1878 he was made

THE EARL OF CADOGAN.
(Reappointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland for Another Term.)

chief secretary for Ireland. When the conservatives secured the government in 1886 the earl was appointed lord privy seal, without a seat in the cabinet. In the year of his ascension to the earldom he married Beatrix, the daughter of the second earl of Craven. As wife of the lord lieutenant her entertainments in Dublin have been notable, and her social sway the most brilliant of any vicereine of Ireland. Lord Cadogan's salary is $100,000 per year.

Municipal Telephone System.

The municipal telephones established at Tunbridge Wells, England—the first in the country—have been warmly supported. The municipal telephones are cheaper by about ten dollars a year, and absolute secrecy is assured. The National Telephone company is now introducing the party system, under which subscribers are charged two pence a day, and is otherwise endeavoring to meet the opposition of the town council.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Although previously scheduled, the Hope team will not play the Bronx team, Saturday. The latter team has shown an inclination to disband and it was deemed best to cancel the game. The Hopes will, instead, play the Clover A. C., of Brooklyn, which they defeated twice Decoration Day at Prospect Park.

A good game may be expected on the St. Mary grounds, Saturday afternoon. Manager Monahan has arranged for a return game with the Lexington A. C., of New York, which the St. Mary's defeated two weeks ago by a score of 12 to 11. It was one of the best games of the season. If the Lexingtons are in good shape Saturday it will be an exciting contest.

The Hope team has suffered an almost irreparable loss in its crack centre fielder, Glaude Roseberry. He has been ordered by his physician to refrain from all violent exercise for the present season at least. He played his last game a week ago. In the Hope-New Providence game, Saturday, his place was filled by short stop Charles Smith, who did very good work. The latter's place was taken by Brit Martin, of the Clinton Avenues. If possible, Manager Thompson, of the Hopes, will arrange to have Martin retained permanently.

The result of the St. Mary-High Bridge game, Saturday, was a great surprise to the rooters at the Hunterdon county town. When the Plainfield boys alighted at the High Bridge station, they were met by a crowd of 200 men and boys who wanted to look at the "kids." One big fellow confided to another, making sure that the Plainfielders heard him, that they were nothing but youngsters and that the High Bridge team was going "to eat 'em up." There was no eating, however, and the High Bridge people did not draw an easy breath until the game was over. In fact, the home team played harder than it had done before in weeks, but after all the game wasn't won through its efforts, but on account of a miserable error which came at the wrong time.

Nine bluecoats, representing the baseball team from the local police force, will journey to Elizabeth, tomorrow, and cross bats with the police nine of that city. It will be the first of a series of three games which will be played alternately at Elizabeth and Plainfield. The local nine has secured its uniforms and all paraphernalia and is an up to-date organization in every respect. The suits are of grey material, cap to match, and red stockings. The words, "Plainfield Police," are in red letters on the front of the shirt. It is considered to be one of the neatest uniforms put out this season. The positions of the Plainfield team will be as follows: Conroy, c.; McGinley, p.; Totten, 1b.; Overbaugh, 2b.; McCarthy, ss.; John Flynn, 3b.; Myers, lf.; Higgins, cf.; Lunger, rf. The start from this city will be made at 12:45, and from all indications the policemen will be accompanied by a large crowd of rooters. The second game will be played in this city, on the Hope grounds, August 14.

you want to be clean and pure, no matter what it is. If it's wine you want pure wine, if it's water you want pure water.
Very often pure water is made impure by placing in it impure ice.
But when Hygeia Ice is placed in a tank of pure water the water remains pure. Pure water and pure ice will make pure ice-water. It has been proven that Hygeia is a pure ice. Frozen from pure, sparkling, artesian well water, after that water has gone through a process of filtering.
Isn't that the kind of ice you should be using. Don't you think you ought to order it of us today?

WHITE ROBED FIGURE DASHED THROUGH STREET

Sensational Departure of Charles Moore From the Hospital Last Evening.

SAID HE DIDN'T LIKE IT THERE

SO HE SPRANG FROM BED AND RAN TO HIS BROTHER'S HOME.

Nurses, Orderly and Doorboy Pursued and Crowd Joined in the Chase, But Moore Was Fleet-footed and Escaped.

A week at Muhlenberg Hospital, whither he had gone for treatment, failed to overcome Charles Moore's aversion to that institution and he made his escape from the place at dusk, last evening, in a sensational manner.

When taken sick a short time ago, his brother, Otto Moore, of West Third street, decided that Charles should be taken to the hospital. The latter always entertained a horror of physicians and hospitals in general and objected strenuously. His objections were overruled and he was admitted for treatment. It settled the matter as far as his relatives were concerned but not for Charles.

He decided to bide his time and wait for an opportunity to get out. The chance came last evening and it mattered not to him that he was clad in raiment suited only for the bed room. He leaped from his cot and, with surprising agility for a sick man, run through the ward and out of the front door. He was immediately seen by three nurses, an orderly and a door boy who joined the chase, but the fleeing white figure outdistanced them all.

The pursuing force was soon joined by a man in a wagon, and a dozen boys, but Moore was clipping minutes off all previous running records and soon left them behind. He reached his brother's home two blocks away, out of breath but triumphant, frightening the inmates out of their wits. In fact, one woman who was standing on a porch nearby, took the spectre and the white robed nurses for an invasion of ghosts and fell in a faint.

The nurses attempted to get Moore back to the hospital but he positively refused all offers. He even refused to go back for his clothes. The attendants then returned leaving Moore secure in his brother's home.

MADE NO STATEMENT.

Neuman Brothers Say That the Clerks Were Not Discharged for Absence.

WASHED THEIR FEET

Emperor of Austria's Humble Service to Twelve Old Men.

Impressive Annual Ceremony Has a Gorgeous Aspect and Is Attended by Court Dignitaries and High Diplomats.

In the presence of the imperial family, the diplomatic corps and the highest officials of Austro-Hungary the emperor on April 18 knelt in his palace in Vienna and washed the feet of 12 poor and aged men. This ceremony, commemorating Christ's washing the feet of His disciples at the last supper, has been regularly carried out at the Austrian court for more than 200 years. It was introduced from Spain. It was the fifty-third occasion on which Emperor Francis Joseph has performed the service, he having ascended the throne in 1843.

The great ceremonial hall, in the new wing of the imperial hofburg, where the service was held, presented a magnificent and gorgeous spectacle. In the body of the hall were scores of military officers in their most brilliant uniforms—knights of Malta, cabinet ministers and court functionaries. The diplomatic corps was accommodated in boxes ranged along one side of the hall. Immediately in front of these was a raised dais, upon which stood a long table covered with a white cloth and laid for 12 guests to be seated along one side.

Shortly before the time fixed for the ceremony, writes a Chicago Record-Herald correspondent, the 12 old men were brought in, supported by court officials, and each accompanied by two relatives, mostly women, who were privileged to stand behind them during the ceremony. Clad in ancient pilgrim garb, with quaint broad-rimmed beaver hats and wide linen collars, the men, whose ages ranged from 96 to 87, formed a picturesque sight. After them came a dozen stalwart lifeguardsmen, in scarlet and gold, and stood behind the old men and their relatives. In the meantime the diplomats and distinguished guests had been filling the boxes reserved for them.

The approach of the emperor's procession was the signal for silence, and everyone stood to receive his apostolic majesty. Heading the procession were two archbishops and the papal nuncio, followed by the court chamberlains, 12 archdukes and last of all the emperor, wearing the uniform of an Austrian field marshal. The archdukes formed in line facing the old men and the emperor stood at the end of the table. Two officers with drawn swords then marched into the hall, followed by 12 seminarians, bearing trays containing meats and delicacies, and stood before the table. The emperor then deftly and speedily took the dishes from the trays and placed them before each old man, returning afterward to his former position. As he walked down the table he was followed by the grand court chamberlain, Prince Lichtenstein, bearing his white wand.

At the conclusion of this part of the ceremony the officials removed the table and spread a long roll of white linen over the knees of the old men. Then the emperor, assisted by two ecclesiastics in purple vestments, began the foot-washing part of the service. The first prelate carried a golden ewer of water, and, kneeling, poured a little on the right foot of the first of the 12. The emperor, also kneeling, rubbed the water over the foot and dried it on a napkin.

The emperor and his companions proceeded along the dais on their knees, rising only at the conclusion of the service. Then, for the last time, he walked down the line and hung an the neck of each man a silken purse containing 30 silver crowns. The imperial party then left the hall. The ceremony was conducted in a silence broken only by the solemn chanting of the Gospel by the archbishop during the foot-washing.

It would appear that the trade of tailor is conducive to long life in Austria since no less than six of the 12 men had been engaged in that work.

How Shad Are Propagated.

When the United States government discovered that shad were growing scarce shad nurseries were established and millions of shad eggs planted, not only in the old swimming grounds of the shad, but also in the Pacific ocean and its rivers. The experiment was so successful that it is said there is now no danger of the extinction of the shad.

JERSEY TRADES UNION WILL HOLD CONGRESS.

Will Be Held at Camden, August 19 and 20—Many Delegates Expected.

ONE OF ITS CHIEF OBJECTS.

WILL BE TO UNITE LABOR ORGANIZATIONS IN CLOSER TIES.

Other Things to Be Done at the Congress—All Sorts and Varieties of Trades Will be Represented—An Interview.

A congress of the New Jersey Federation of Trades and Labor Union will be held at Camden, Monday and Tuesday, August 19 and 20. The meeting is expected to be a monster affair. All sorts and varieties of trades will be represented. Among them will be the glass blowers and workers, boot and shoe workers, butchers, bakers, buffers and polishers, brass moulders, iron workers, barbers, bartenders and waiters, trunk makers, hosiery workers, musical unions, masons' helpers, car workers, hatters, cigar makers, printers, the various building unions, brewers, ship carpenters and joiners, carpenters and joiners, carpenters, allied printing trades, retail clerks, machinists, electrical workers, garment workers, painters, plumbers, bricklayers and masons.

The convention of last year appointed a committee on revision of constitution and this body has found it necessary to prepare an almost entirely new constitution. It has been recommended that the name of the organization be changed to the New Jersey State Federation of Labor and this title will in all probability be adopted.

Many subjects of vital interest to the wage earner will be discussed at the congress, which is expected to be one of the most important gatherings of representatives of labor unions which has ever been held.

A prominent officer of the organization in speaking of the subject said:

"One of the principal objects of the convention will be to unite the organizations throughout the State in closer affiliation with each other and make them one solid body. The revision of the constitution and means for agitating the greater use of union labels on goods are two important things that will also be considered. The convention will probably demand the passage of more favorable laws to the workingman at the next meeting of the legislature, among them a law making eight hours labor upon all municipal and State work a legal day.

"A demand will be made that both the Republican and Democratic parties acknowledge as part of their platform a request for a constitutional convention for the reforming of the present system of electing senators by counties and the substituting of districts arranged according to the population.

"The convention will also declare against the proposed change of the legislative sessions from annual to biennial meeting and will ask that this be a part of the platform of the two great political parties. We will probably demand that the Legislature pass a law compelling all minors under fifteen years of age to attend school not less than nine months in the year and will request that legislative steps be taken toward providing that the union label shall appear on all State printing used by candidates. The election of United States senators by popular vote is another request we will make, we will insist that the governor and State officials properly enforce the law relative to factory inspection and remove all incompetent and negligent deputy factory inspectors.

"We shall insist that the State Board of Arbitration be endowed with power to subpœna witnesses and compel them to give testimony under oath in reference to all facts in connection with any strike or lock-out, and that they be empowered to compel the production of all books, papers, etc., having any bearing on the case."

In Justice Mosher's Court.

Suit has been instituted in Justice Mosher's court, in tort, by Lucy C. McVey against Fred Jones. The complainant alleges that Jones appropriated to his own use, thirty-five yards of linoleum belonging to her. The case will be heard Monday.

Colored Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

The colored Y. M. C. A. will meet in its rooms, on West Second street, Sunday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, to discuss the subject, "Why was there more joy over one sinner repentant than the ninety and nine just."

LOOKED OVER PLANS FOR NEW HOSPITAL.

Building Committee Received Six Sets and Found Them Very Satisfactory.

WILL TAKE ACTION LATER.

YESTERDAY'S MEETING WAS FOR A PRELIMINARY LOOK AT PLANS.

New Buildings for Muhlenberg Hospital Will be on the Pavillion Plan—Plans Will be Selected Soon and Work Started This Fall.

The building committee from the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, of which C. J. Fisk is chairman, met yesterday afternoon and received plans for the proposed new hospital buildings to be located at the corner of Park avenue and Randolph road. Nine architects were asked to submit plans, but only six responded. They are A. L. C. Marsh, Evarts Tracy, Charles H. Smith, Woodruff Leeming, A. E. Barlow and Louis E. Hickman. These plans were received by Street Commissioner Gavett, who numbered each one, withholding the names of architects.

Yesterday's meeting was intended for a preliminary look at the plans and nothing else was done. The committee seemed to be well satisfied with the plans. A meeting will be held next week to examine them more closely. The committee knows the names of the competing architects, but as the plans are numbered the name of the successful architect will not be known until after his plans are accepted. This is considered very fair, as it gives no one the advantage.

The buildings will be on the pavillion plan. It is proposed to have an administration building, an operating department, dispensary, private wards, public wards for men and women, a nurses' home, kitchen, laundry and mechanical department and an isolation department. The estimated cost of this work has not yet been exactly determined. This will be ascertained after a thorough examination of plans and bids are received for the work. It is believed that the work can be started and be well under way before cold weather sets in.

CLERKS' CLAMBAKE.

Will Be Held at Dewey Park, Labor Day—Will Also Be Baseball and Athletic Games.

Owing to the fact that the Grocers' Association will not hold an excursion this year the grocer clerks and butcher clerks called a meeting last night and decided to hold a picnic, athletic games and their first annual clambake at Dewey Park, Labor Day. Admission to the picnic will be free, but no person can compete in the athletic games unless he purchases a clambake ticket.

The races will be held on a track that will be made in the grove of Dewey Park and not on the road, and the following events will be decided: Baseball game; fat man's race; 100 yard dash; 440-yard run; one-mile run; tug-of-war between a team of the Pond Tool Works and the Scott Press Works, and a relay race of one mile between the grocer clerks team and the butcher clerks team, each man to run one-quarter of a mile, and each team to consist of four men. Valuable prizes will be given to the winner of each event. Conrad Knoth, of 175 North avenue, has been secured to take charge and receive entries for the games. The well-known J. Foss, of Fred Endress', will have full charge of the bake, of which profession he is considered quite an expert.

Tickets will be for sale by Conrad Knoth, 175 North avenue; J. L. Bennett, care of J. A. Smith & Bro., 119-125 West Front street, and Jere Foss, care of Fred Endress, 131-135 West Front street.

Permits for New Houses.

Building Inspector Doane Monday granted permits to the following: Charles L. Stanley, greenhouse on South avenue, 100x20 feet; William B. Wadsworth, brick addition to residence on West Eighth street, estimated cost $3,000; Charles J. Fisk, alterations to Smith property at Seventh street and Arlington avenue, to cost $17,000; John Dahl, frame building corner LaGrande avenue and Centre street, to cost when completed $2,000.

Victim of Trolley Accident.

Councilman Frank Randolph, of West Front street, one of the victims of Sunday night's trolley accident, is still detained at home. His injuries are not serious, however, although it will be several days before he will be able to return to work.

WAIVED EXAMINATION, WAS HELD FOR TRIAL.

Charles P. Adams Placed Under $1,000 Bail On Charge Of Aiding Swindlers.

APPEARED AT JERSEY CITY.

REFUSED TO REVEAL CONTENTS OF TELEGRAMS TO THE POLICE.

Western Union Company's Attorney Explains The Position Taken By Mr. Adams And Says It Could Not Be Otherwise.

Waiving examination at the advice of his counsel, Charles P. Adams, of Fairview avenue, superintendent of telegraph of the Jersey Central Railroad, was held under $1,000 bail in the First Criminal Court of Jersey City, yesterday. He was charged with aiding and abetting "green goods" men in their attempt to swindle various people. The arrest was caused by the refusal of the telegraph railway officials to assist the police in their attempt to locate "green goods" men through the telegrams.

Mr. Adams appeared, in company with his attorney, Walter McDermott, of Jersey City. Bail was promptly furnished and Mr. Adams returned to his duties in New York. Alfred Keyser, the operator at the Claremont station, who was arrested at the same time as Mr. Adams, and on the same charge, also waived examination and was held under the same bail. He had some trouble in securing bail, and was not released until late yesterday afternoon.

The Western Union Telegraph Company will take no action in the matter of the accusation of the Jersey City police. The company will not prosecute Adams or Keyser.

G. H. Fearons, the company's attorney, said yesterday at his office No. 195 Broadway, New York city:

"It is nonsense to talk of collusion between our employes and 'green goods' men. We are compelled by law to transmit all messages which are not palpably improper for us to send, on account of profanity or otherwise. Do you suppose that in each of our thirty-five thousand offices we could establish a censorship? How long do you suppose the public would tolerate such a rule?

"Our operators cannot pass upon the contents of a message. It is their business to receive and transmit whatever is given them that is couched in proper language. None of our men can divulge the contents of telegrams, except to the sender or addressee. It is not our business to assist the police in ferretting out criminals. It is our business to look out for the interests of our customers. We cannot go into the question of cross-examining our employes. Swindlers have used our wires many times before. The only way to stop the practice is for the Government to order us to censor dispatches. I fancy the order would not be popular."

NEW OFFICE.

Better Accommodations for New Jersey Central Patrons.

The new management of the Central Railroad of New Jersey has inaugurated changes in the methods of handling its commutation business, which will be recognized as a decided improvement. Heretofore the commuter has been obliged to go to the seventh floor of the Central building for a renewal of his ticket, but under the new arrangement a new and convenient office has been established in the Liberty Street station, where the commutation business will hereafter be conducted. A bureau of information has also been established at the Liberty Street station, which will prove a decided convenience to the public.

Trip to the Shore.

Everything is now in readiness for the annual excursion of the Trinity Reformed church and Sunday-school to Asbury Park tomorrow. The train will leave Plainfield at 8 o'clock and returning will leave the Park at 7 o'clock in the evening. The weather indications are favorable for a pleasant day and everyone should avail himself of this opportunity for a day at the shore.

UP AT THE INN.

Several Members of the Lumber Trade Proved Delightful Entertainers.

In the New York notes of the American Lumberman, the principal lumber trade journal which is published in Chicago, was the following item of local interest:

"There are some members of the lumber trade whose versatility is surprising. H. C. Magruder is best known as a seller of hardwoods. Last Saturday he surprised his friends by appearing in another role. On invitation of F. R. Stevens, of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Magruder, accompanied by W. I. Boyer, of Boyer & Boyer, and his wife, and J. Q. Barker, of the Kanawha Lumber Company, Charleston, W. Va., sought relief from the city's heat at Mountain Park Inn up in the Orange mountains. There was a polite vaudeville entertainment and from being entertained Mr. Magruder became entertaining, proving the star of the evening as a negro comedian. He told a number of darkey stories and showed some new cakewalk steps, with the result that, with Mrs. Magrauder, who sang charmingly, he was lionized the entire duration of his stay.

PLAYED LOTTERY EUCHRE.

GUESTS AT HOTEL NETHERWOOD ENJOYED THEMSELVES LAST NIGHT.

Played for Prizes and Drew Lots for Them After They Were Won.

Despite the fact that the rain came down in torrents last evening, the guests at the Hotel Netherwood were unmindful of it and thoroughly enjoyed the lottery euchre arranged for the evening. It produced the wildest enthusiasm and after twelve games were played, the interest was so great, that three more games were played. The euchre was played for the greatest number of points, yet the one receiving the most number did not get the best prize. All the prizes were placed inside of various shaped boxes and packages and there was unlimited fun in drawing for them after the games. Some of the successful players thought they were going to get a suit of clothes, while others speculated in an amusing way on what they would get.

The prize winners were Mrs. Beasley, Miss Bertha Angevine, Miss Florence Bruen, Mrs. F. J. Cokefair, Mrs. Ricardo Struller, Miss Morris, Mrs. Seeley, Miss Humphrey, Mrs. Heberton and Mrs. VanRensselaer Smith. The men who won prizes were M. C. Ogden, Edward Stirling, Leland Morris, Oscar Bruen, Fred Kane, George Williams, Edward Fuller, Samuel C. Carson and J. B. Schoonmaker.

The prizes consisted chiefly of solid silver articles, while there were some pretty prizes in the shape of china and bric-a-brac. The men's booby prize was a drum bearing the inscription "Something you can beat," while the booby prize for the women comprised a pair of old shoes, beneath which was inscribed "Fo' defeat."

The affair was managed by J. B. Schoonmaker, ably assisted by A. Willis West, F. J. Cokefair and S. C. Carson. After the games a dance was enjoyed. It is quite likely that another lottery euchre will be given next week, so successful was the affair of last evening.

DEATH OF WM. EGLINTON.

Young Man Passed Away Yesterday After Illness of Eight Years.

William Eglinton, aged twenty years, died yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Cashman, Jr., on West Fourth street, near the city line, after an illness of eight years with rheumatism. During that time he was unable to do much of anything. He is survived by a mother, another sister and three brothers. The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

WON A MEDAL.

Geo. Wharton Edwards Received Award at Pan-American Exposition.

George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, was one of the artists to receive a bronze medal in the awards for paintings conferred yesterday by the Jury of Fine Arts of the Pan-American Exposition. The jury gives the opinion that the exhibition of fine arts in the present Exposition is the most complete and representative of American art ever got together.

The awards in the section of architecture have not yet been awarded.

Wheel Dished.

A butcher wagon owned by Clark Mundy, the Somerset street butcher, was dished this morning in front of Henry DeMott's residence on that street. The wagon was heavily loaded, and it was with difficulty that another wheel was substituted for the wrecked one.

Mrs. H. A. Schuyler, of LaGrande avenue, has gone to Norwalk, Conn.

POLICE ARE HUNTING FOR HER ASSAILANTS.

But the Men Who Assaulted and Robbed Mrs. Demko Cannot Be Found.

LONG SEARCH IN THE RAIN.

CHIEF KIELY FOLLOWED UP A CLUE TO SOMERVILLE.

Police Do Not Believe Men Were Tramps—Strange Story Told By a Resident of Dunellen—Will Continue the Search.

A steady search through mud and incessant rain on the part of Chief Kiely, Railroad Detective William Dougherty, Patrolman McCarthy and several of the local police, ended last night without placing the officials any nearer the assailants of Mrs. Mary Demko. The search led as far as Somerville and the countryside about Dunellen for several miles north and south. A number of supposed clues were furnished at times by residents, but when traced down revealed nothing.

Late yesterday afternoon, Chief Kiely received word which led him to believe he might gain some important information by visiting a tramp rendezvous between Bound Brook and Finderne. He hurried to the place in company with Patrolman McCarthy and surprised several hobos who were sleeping in an old barn. He put them all through a rigid examination and also searched them but he was satisfied the men had nothing to do with the Demko affair.

In his canvass about Dunellen for any one who might have seen the men, such as Mrs. Demko imperfectly describes, an incident was related to Chief Kiely yesterday by Mrs. O. A. Douglas, which may prove of value in the future.

Mrs. Douglas said that her attention was attracted, Sunday evening, by the actions of three men, who loitered for some time about the corner near her house. They were strangers to her, and from the place where she was sitting upon the porch, she could just discern their features. One of them, she thinks, was a negro. They spoke in guarded tones, but loud enough for her to hear snatches of the conversation, one of which was: "Well, there's money there, and we might as well go and get it." From this and other circumstances, it is thought the robbery was committed by persons, not only familiar with the outskirts of Plainfield, but the borough of Dunellen and the Demko house.

In their flight from the house, the men left behind them a cheap belt which had been used in strapping Mrs. Demko to the bedpost. It was comparatively new and its appearance furthers the police in their view that it was not wandering tramps who committed the outrage. There is no sign of coal black on it, which it would have if worn by a tramp, and a belt is something seldom used by a true knight of the road.

Mrs. Demko is rapidly recovering from the effects of the assault and fright and is giving a much more coherent account of what happened. She still shakes her head, however, when asked for a description of the men, merely muttering "bums" time and again.

Through an interpreter, today, she said that one man came to the house first and offered to sell her a watch. The fellow insisted on showing it to her when she declined to buy and stepping into the room seized her by the arm. He was immediately followed by several more and in a trice she was bound, gagged and tied to the bed. It is thought she may possibly be mistaken in the number of men, as she states they all did not come in until the pillow was placed over her head.

Patrolman McCarthy and Detective Dougherty are still searching today and will continue to do so as long as there is a chance of getting the men. The police of nearby cities have all been notified and in other ways every possible means is being taken to effect their capture.

Made Application for Charter.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association, recently organized in this city, held a meeting in the rooms, 204 West Front street, Monday evening and made application for a charter. Steps were also taken toward the furnishing of the room and the installation of a library.

Will Complete It Soon.

It is believed that the storm sewer work on Somerset street will be completed inside of another week. There is a little over one block yet to be finished.

BEGUN WAR AGAINST THE LOCAL SPITTERS

Board Of Health Passed Ordinance Against Expectorating In Public Places.

OTHER CITIES EXAMPLES.

THERE IS A FINE FROM $2 UP TO $20 FOR IT.

Local Police Will Assist In Its Enforcement—Refers To Trolley Cars, Other Means Of Public Conveyance And Public Places.

Following the example set by the officials of New York, Newark, Jersey City and other large cities, the local Board of Health, took steps at its meeting last evening, to commence warfare against expectorating in public places. This menace to the health of citizens has been combatted successfully in other places and it has long been under consideration with the Plainfield board. Case after case of infectious diseases has been traced to this source, women with trailing skirts being its greatest abettors, and it became evident long since that active measures should be taken to terminate the nuisance.

Some time ago an ordinance was drafted, tending to attain the desired result, and at last night's meeting it was passed on its third reading. In part it reads as follows: "Spitting upon the floor, steps, or other portion of any trolley car or other public conveyance engaged in carrying passengers in the city of Plainfield, is hereby declared to be a nuisance, and any person or persons creating or maintaining such a nuisance shall, upon conviction thereof, pay a penalty of not less than two dollars or more than twenty dollars."

While the ordinance specifies public conveyances, it also includes other public places where the danger from disease is just as great and arrests will be made just as readily. In New York city, the health department maintains a special corps of policemen for the purpose of apprehending spitters and scores of arrests are made every day. While no particular officer will be detailed for the purpose in this city, the Board of Health has been assured of the hearty co-operation of the local police in abating the pernicious habit.

Aside from passing this ordinance, several other matters of importance were transacted at last evening's meeting. An excellent report was received from the health inspector, showing that the milk supply in Plainfield is entirely satisfactory. The various dairies in this city and vicinity were reported to be in good condition and at some, many improvements are being made. As the Board requires a certain proficiency there are not many milk dealers who are applying for a license at present. As the dealers gradually reach the desired standard they make application for a license and if everything is found satisfactory, by the inspector, it is granted. The milk supply is being closely watched and every dairy is being inspected frequently.

TO BE BRIDEMAID.

Miss Marion Bowen Will Take Part in a Notable Wedding.

A notable wedding, in which a Plainfield family is interested, is that of Miss Grace Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Holt, and granddaughter of Mrs. Henry C. Bowen, to Ralph Duryea Reed, son of Mrs. Josiah Reed, which will take place Aug. 28 in the Congregational church, Woodstock, Conn. A wedding breakfast for relatives and intimate friends will follow at Roseland, the summer home of the bride's grandmother. Miss Marion Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, will be one of the four bridemaids.

Too Wet to Go Out.

On account of the incessant rain last evening, none of the members of the Board of Education made their appearance at the Stillman building and consequently no meeting was held. The meeting will now be held subject to the call of President Probasco.

GEN. JAMES S. NEGLEY DIED THIS MORNING

Passed Away At His Home On West Seventh Street After a Brief Illness.

HE WAS A FAMOUS SOLDIER

COMMANDED NOTED PENNSYLVANIA BRIGADE IN CIVIL WAR.

Fought In Mexican War When Still In His Teens—Had Lived In His Present Home For Twelve Years.

Major General James Scott Negley, one of the most noted officers and fighting men, participating in the Civil War, on the Union side, passed away at his home on West Seventh street at 10 o'clock this morning.

He had been suffering for the past two years with diabetes in a light form, but otherwise he had enjoyed good health, until a few weeks ago, when a carbuncle of inordinate size developed. Since then he has been very ill. Monday his strength began to decline and he failed rapidly until the end came this morning.

Gen. Negley came to Plainfield from Pittsburg Pa., and had been a resident of this city many years. The famous Pennsylvania Brigade, under Brigadier-General James S. Negley, distinguished itself during the Civil War.

He was a veteran of the Mexican War, where he served while yet in his teens. He won a commission for gallantry.

When the Civil War broke out he was given a command of honor and won further distinction for bravery.

He was a personal warm friend of Gen. Grant. The latter's operations were so well planned that they attracted attention at Washington.

One day Grant was surprised by the appearance of six magnificent river steamboats, all lashed together, and loaded to their guards with troops, cannon, horses and all the paraphernalia of war.

It was the famous Pennsylvania Brigade, under Gen. Negley. Grant said afterwards, that Gen. Negley's use of steamboats, for the transportation of his brigade from Pittsburg, had taught him a lesson that he never forgot.

Gen. Negley did splendid service during the war, and he possessed a record of which anyone might be proud.

Gen. Negley moved to this city 12 year ago, coming here from Pittsburg, where he had long made his home.

His present residence on West Seventh street was built ten years ago and Gen. Negley always took much interest in keeping the property in excellent condition. His flower beds and garden were greatly admired.

He is survived by a wife and three daughters, Edith and Mabel, who reside at home, and Mrs. Farson, of Philadelphia.

Gen. Negley retired from active business operations some time ago, although he commuted to New York frequently.

Gen. Negley was seventy-four years of age.

DAY AT SEWAREN.

Given To Hillside Caddies By Councilman Geo. P. Mellick.

Through the generosity of Councilman George P. Mellick, the caddy boys at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club enjoyed a trip to Sewaren yesterday. There were fourteen in the party, and the boys were taken to Sewaren and back in one of Wm. Hand & Son's stages. In spite of the fact that it rained nearly all day, the boys had a good time.

They spent most of the time crabbing and succeeded in capturing one hundred crabs. Others, who did not fancy crabbing, sought the other amusements to be found at that resort. It was 8:30 o'clock last evening when the party returned, and all thoroughly appreciated Mr. Mellick's kindness. Edward Erickson, the expert at the club, was in charge of the boys, and assisted in giving them a good time.

Hasn't Worked Since.

George Frazee, one of the victims of Sunday evening's trolley collision, has been unable to work since the accident, and has suffered considerable from internal injuries. He is under the care of Dr. Jenkins, who expects no serious results.

Harold Hageman, of West Sixth street, has just returned from the Pan-American and brought with him a native hat from the streets of Mexico.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

GEO. B. WEAN, City Clerk pro tem.
Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 5, 1901.

AN ORDINANCE

to Provide for the Construction of a Further Addition to the System of Sewerage already Constructed in the City of Plainfield.

WHEREAS, There has been constructed in said City a system of sewerage and such action in relation thereto has from time to time been taken as is set forth in the preamble to the ordinance of said City entitled, "An Ordinance to provide for the construction of an addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield", approved November 6, 1897, to which preamble reference is hereby made for greater certainty; and

WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Common Council the public good requires that a further addition, as herein described, to the system of sewerage already constructed, should be now constructed in and for said City under the provisions of the Act in said preamble referred to, and the Common Council has so determined and does hereby so determine: therefore,

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct and order that a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed under said Act, be constructed in and for said City under the provisions of the Act of the Legislature above referred to, with all the appurtenances necessary to complete the same, and of such dimensions and material and according to such plan as the said Common Council may hereafter direct, in and through the following described avenue, property, land and right-of-way described, mentioned and referred to in this ordinance, to wit:

AID FOR COLONIES.

British House Discusses a Grant For the Boer People.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The house of commons last night discussed a vote of £6,500,000 as a grant in aid of the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt and others severely criticised the government's measures.

Mr. Chamberlain in replying said he quite agreed that the government's first duty was to the loyalist refugees, and he declared that money would not be spared for that purpose.

"It is also a matter of imperial policy," continued the colonial secretary, "to give the necessary support to those of our enemies who come into our hands. One million of the vote is for extra rolling stock. A large sum will be devoted to reinstating the Boers on their farms, and an experiment will be made in the direction of agricultural settlements.

"There is no intention of confiscation. We have had offers of land at reasonable prices, and a portion of the vote will be devoted to the purchase of such land, with a view of enabling men who volunteered for the war to settle when the war is over."

Mr. Chamberlain dwelt at great length upon the native question, which he described as "most difficult and delicate." He declared that anything in the nature of slavery ought not to be permitted, that a revision of the "cruel and arbitrary native labor laws" was necessary and that, although the natives must be taught to work, they should have just and humane treatment.

SEVEN KNOWN TO BE DEAD.

Search For Bodies Still Continues In the Philadelphia Ruins.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—Seven dead, three or four probably fatally injured and more than 60 other persons hurt more or less seriously is the latest revised record of Monday night's explosion in the block of buildings on Locust street above Tenth street in this city. How many more victims, if any, are still in the ruins will not be known until all the debris has been cleared away, which will require many more hours of hard work. The latest find was made at 8 o'clock last night, when the badly burned remains of a colored man was found in the wreckage on the sidewalk.

Undeterred by the incessant rain, the work of searching for the dead has been kept up continuously since the explosion occurred.

Temporary electric lights have been erected at the scene of the explosion, and last night 200 men, under the direction of the department of public safety, were vigorously pursuing the search. Many of the residents of the neighborhood believe there are more bodies in the wreckage. There are several persons missing.

The police and fire officials are also making a search for the cause of the explosion, but have no positive proof as to its cause. They hold to the theory that gasoline did the damage and that it had been stored in one of the three grocery stores.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The New York state building at Buffalo has been dedicated.

The British ship Discovery has sailed from Cowes for the antarctic.

The British minister at Peking has declined to sign the settlement protocol.

A bill to further restrict immigration is to be presented to congress next session.

The weather bureau reported early corn ruined, but late sown decidedly improved.

The steamer Gera, with Count von Waldersee on board, has arrived off Helgoland.

Scores of medals and honorable mentions were conferred by an art jury at the Pan-American exposition.

American shipyards on both coasts and the great lakes were declared to have orders ahead for a year or more.

Iowa Republicans to Name Cummins.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Aug. 7.—It appears to be practically settled that the Republican state convention which is in session here will nominate Albert B. Cummins for governor. A combination against Cummins had been formed by the adherents of the other candidates, Messrs. Harriman, Herriott, Trewin and Conger, with the intention of combining their forces after the first ballot and stampeding the convention for one of Cummins' opponents. The combination was broken by a large number of the Herriott delegates who abandoned their candidate and announced their intention to vote for Cummins.

Stockings Used For Hanging.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Miss Clara Eaton of Unionsville, N. Y., went to a grove, made a rope of her stockings and hanged herself. She was a victim of religious mania.

STRIKE ORDER GIVEN

Shaffer Sends Expected Call to Steel Workers.

IDLE MEN MAY NUMBER 100,000.

Date Fixed For the Shut Down Is Aug. 10—"We Must Fight or Give Up Our Personal Liberties," Says the Call.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 7.—A general strike order from President Shaffer has been mailed to all the vice presidents of the Amalgamated association ordering the men out on Aug. 10 unless there is an adjustment of the differences in the meantime. The strike will affect all the Amalgamated men employed by the National Steel company, Federal Steel company and National Tube company. President Shaffer says the manufacturers have had sufficient notice. He does not anticipate any settlement before the strike goes into effect. The men are ordered out after the last turn on Aug. 10. The order will throw idle about 12,000 union men and about 60,000 in the mills who are connected with the Federation of Labor and who are not organized, but who will have no work by reason of the strike of the skilled men. Altogether 100,000 men will likely be idle. The order, it is said, will also call out the men at the furnaces owned by the United States Steel corporation who are not members of the Amalgamated association, but who are connected with the American Federation of Labor.

Not only are the Federation of Labor men in the mills and furnaces directly involved, but there is an ominous threat that structural steel workers will refuse to handle the corporation steel in building operations.

The text of the call follows:

"Brethren, the officials of the United States Steel trust have refused to recognize as union men those who are now striving for the right to organize. The executive board has authorized me to issue a call upon all Amalgamated and other union men in name and heart to join in the movement to fight for labor's rights. We must fight or give up forever our personal liberties.

"You will be told that you have signed contracts, but you never agreed to surrender those contracts to the United States Steel corporation. Its officers think you were sold to them just as the mills were, contracts and all.

"Remember, before you agreed to any contract you took an obligation to the Amalgamated association. It now calls you to help in this hour of need.

"Unless the trouble is settled on or before Saturday, Aug. 10, the mills will close when the last turn is made on that day.

"Brethren, this is the call to preserve our organization. We trust you and need you. Come and help us, and may right come to a just cause."

FRISCO'S LABOR TROUBLES.

The Strike Spreads and There Is No Sign of Settlement.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—The only development of importance in the labor situation so far as the extension of strikes is concerned is the walk out of more than 400 union boxmakers who had been employed at the various box factories of the city. The men assert they were so often urged to sign an agreement which meant their resignation from the union that they decided no longer to brook the menacing attitude of their employers and to join the forces of the idle. Mayor Phelan declares that as far as he is concerned peace negotiations are at an end, he having done all that he could to bring about a conference.

This morning the sand teamsters, some 500 in number, refused to go to work, having been ordered out. This will tend to cripple the building industry of the city, as material cannot be hauled.

The building trades council claims that there are only 150 idle union painters and that in a short time the master painters' association will be brought to terms.

The Municipal league officials are hopeful that a conference can yet be arranged, and it has been suggested that Governor Gage be urged to assume the role of mediator.

There were the usual daily assaults on nonunion workmen. Two came very near ending seriously.

Samuel Cole, a striking teamster, was shot in the breast and badly injured by Henry Davis, a nonunion teamster. According to Cole's story, he was arguing with Davis, who drew a revolver and shot him. J. Watt, a nonunion teamster, when going to work was met by a union man who tried to dissuade him. On Watt's refusal the union man struck him in the neck with a rock. Watt drew a pistol and shot at his assailant. Watt was watching the man run when two shots were fired by some one in the crowd on the other side of the street at Watt. The bullets narrowly missed lodging in Watt's head.

Tornado at Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Aug. 7.—Norfolk was visited by a tornado shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The whirlwind came in the usual funnel shaped cloud and was about 50 feet in width. Fortunately its path was in the outlying portion of the city and not through the thickly populated sections. The roofs of about 20 houses were blown away, and several people were injured by falling timbers. In the country all the outbuildings on a large farm were demolished. Several houses in the town of Berkeley were unroofed. Trees were torn up and chimneys blown down throughout the section passed over by the cyclone. No fatalities have been reported. The whirlwind was followed by a rainstorm that almost equaled a cloudburst.

New Plan For Recording Checks.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—A plan for recording checks with a photographic apparatus controlled by electricity has been successfully put into operation here in the National Bank of the Republic. The machine will take pictures of 10,000 checks in an hour. A roll of film 120 feet long is placed in the receiving box, and the checks are put automatically into transparent holders. It is claimed for the instrument that it will perform what it would take nine clerks to do and that there is no opportunity for mistake.

Western Bank's Big Dividend.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 7.—The Indiana National bank has declared a dividend of $700,000, or 233 1-3 per cent. Of this $450,000 was declared out of surplus and $250,000 out of undivided profits. The capital stock was increased from $300,000 to $1,000,000.

A BIG HAUL OF GOLD

Over Half a Ton of Bullion Stolen From a Smelter.

THE PLUNDER VALUED AT $280,000.

Thieves Dug a Tunnel From the Shore of San Francisco Bay and Entered Vaults From Beneath the Floor—No Clew.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—The Selby Smelting and Lead works at Vallejo has been robbed of $280,000 in gold bullion. The thieves tunneled from the bay and carried off the plunder in boats.

The facts of the robbery were discovered by the finding of a bar of bullion dropped by the thieves on their way to the water. The whole route which they took had been marked by red pepper that had evidently been dropped with the intention to prevent the tracing of their course by dogs. The robbery had evidently been long planned, and considerable time had been occupied in its execution.

The thieves obtained access to the vault where the bullion was stored by tunneling from a railroad tunnel through about 150 feet of clay. Arrived at their destination, they proceeded with their work without interruption, for, although the works were in full blast and the plant was lighted by electricity, the vault lay in darkness and had been approached from below and out of sight.

Many men must have been engaged in the transportation of the plunder to the boats, as the bullion stolen weighed about half a ton in the aggregate. All was in gold bars and numbered, some of it being of fineness requisite for shipment to the mint in this city. The loss falls on the Selby Smelting works and is the first of the kind in its long history.

The robbery is the most successful and remarkable ever accomplished on the Pacific coast and was evidently the work of skilled mechanics. The whole affair was skillfully planned and executed. It is supposed that when the robbers secured their loot they loaded it into a boat that was waiting and disappeared in the fog that had arisen over San Francisco bay. In their haste to get away they left two gold bars worth nearly $50,000 lying on the bank at the water's edge.

The police at all the bay cities were immediately notified of the crime, but all they could discover was a few of the tools that the robbers had used.

The Selby Smelting and Lead company is the largest concern of its kind on the Pacific coast. Ores are sent from all over the western country to be smelted and refined, and the gold is then turned over to the mint. A steamer makes special trips between the smelter and San Francisco, carrying the ores one day and bringing back the refined gold. Yesterday morning when the workmen entered the vault to prepare the gold for loading on the steamer the robbery was discovered. The thieves had taken the precaution of fastening the door of the vault from the inside so that it would be difficult to open from the outside in case they were interrupted in their work.

Preparatory engineering extending over several weeks probably was done before the robbery could be accomplished. Close to the wall of the building in which the vault is located a shaft was sunk below the foundation. Then a tunnel was run to the vault and holes were bored in the iron floor until an aperture sufficiently large to admit a man was made. It was then easy work to pass the treasure down into the tunnel and load it into a boat.

There were four fine gold bricks in the vault which the robbers looted. Each was 10 inches long, 5 inches wide and 4 inches in height. They were all stamped with number, weight and fineness. All the bricks were .998 fine and worth $20.60 per ounce.

In addition to this there was stolen from the bullion vault crude gold in all shapes and sizes and some of it in bars of different lengths.

"It is the boldest robbery in the history of the state," said Chief of Detectives Seymour, "and from all the information that can be obtained at this time there is absolutely no clew to the robbers. In fact, we do not know whether the crime was committed by one man or five. The probabilities are, however, that more than one man was concerned in it."

Cuban Constitutional Convention.

HAVANA, Aug. 7.—The Cuban constitutional convention met yesterday, but made no progress. Senor Juan Gualberto Gomez moved an amendment to the electoral law proposing that all public officials who are candidates in the coming elections shall cease to exercise their offices for a month before the elections take place. He argued that this would tend to assure fair elections, pointing out that heretofore elections had been "shamefully falsified by officials, who have used their positions to favor their own election." This proposal was violently opposed by members of the convention who were officeholders, those chiefly affected being the civil governors of provinces. These officials violently antagonized the amendment, which was rejected by a vote of 12 to 10.

Claim Valued at $50,000.

FORT SILL, O. T., Aug. 7.—John Wood of Weatherford, O. T., who drew No. 1 in the Lawton land district, created a sensation at the land office when in filing for his claim he chose 160 acres running the entire length of the town site on the south. According to the government plan the two most valuable sections in the whole reservation were made to adjoin the town site on the south. Miss Mattie Beals, the Wichita (Kan.) telephone girl who had drawn No. 2 from the wheel, had counted on selecting one of these, but when Wood made the selection noted she had to content herself with a tract south of Wood's and two sections away from the town site. Wood's claim is valued at $50,000.

A Fifteen Inch Rainfall.

ALBEMARLE, N. C., Aug. 7.—The most destructive rain fell at and around this point that has fallen here in 40 years. Little Long creek washed out a fill on the Yadkin railroad and swept away about 200 feet of the track. Trains have been tied up here for 12 hours. Great damage also was done to crops. Several bridges and water mills were washed away. The rainfall was about 15 inches.

Electricity For Swedish Railways.

VIENNA, Aug. 7.—The Swedish government, according to a dispatch from Stockholm to the Politische Correspondenz, is considering plans for the installation of electricity throughout the whole railway system of Sweden.

MARYLAND REPUBLICANS MEET.

The Democratic Cry of "A White Man's State" Ridiculed.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 7.—The Republican state convention held here placed in nomination the following ticket: For state comptroller, Hermann S. Platt of Baltimore; for clerk of the court of appeals, Thomas Parran of Calvert county.

Both nominations were made by acclamation, no other names coming before the convention. Interest, therefore, centered mainly in the platform and the speeches, all of which teemed with denunciation of Democracy in general and former United States Senator Gorman in particular. The "white supremacy" issue raised by the Democrats in the platform adopted by them at last week's convention was ignored in that upon which the Republican candidates will stand, but it came in for its share of unfavorable mention in the speeches. Phillips Lee Goldsborough, chairman of the Republican state central committee, indicated clearly the course to be pursued by his party in the coming fight with regard to this issue in his opening address to the convention.

"To the cry that this is a white man's state," said he, "we answer that the negro bogy will scare no man. It is disgusting, but humorous; it is a sham and fraud; it is without force. The suggestion that the more than 80 per cent of the white population of the state is in jeopardy from any standpoint from the less than 20 per cent of negro population is an insult to a brave and intelligent people, who are justly proud of the glory of their state, that as a colony was the first to ordain liberty of conscience and freedom of religion. It remained for the present boss governed Democratic machine, in order to hide its own hideousness, to conjure such a spectacle. There has never been a time when there has not been a white man's government in Maryland, and as the percentage of colored people has steadily decreased in the state each decade since 1810, when it was 38.22 per cent, to the present time, when it is but 19.78 per cent, the puerility and absurdity of crying aloud a white man's government is apparent."

A SIMPLE FUNERAL.

Last Rites For Dead Empress to Be as She Desired.

CRONBERG, Aug. 7.—In accordance with the expressed wishes of the deceased the funeral services will be simple, as simple as possible under the circumstances. The body will remain on the bed where she died until ready for the coffin. The roses in which it is almost buried are from her private garden, many of the blooms being from bushes cultivated with her own hands. No one will be allowed to view it except the members of the immediate family and household.

Emperor William had a long interview with Count von Bulow. He drove from Homburg to Friedrichshof, and soon after his arrival there the following official announcement regarding the funeral arrangements was made:

"On Thursday the royal family will attend the funeral service in the castle, at which the bishop of Ripon, who was summoned by the empress, will officiate. Only the immediate family will be present.

"Saturday evening the coffin will be escorted from Friedrichshof to the Protestant church in Cronberg by a torchlight procession, followed by the royal family on foot.

"Sunday afternoon a funeral service will be held in the presence of the family of the empress, her household and a few of her friends and other privileged persons. It is expected here that King Edward will be present.

"The royal family will go to Potsdam Sunday evening, and the body will be taken there Monday evening.

"The funeral service in the mausoleum at Friedenskirche, Potsdam, will be held Tuesday. As it was the empress' wish that there should be no state ceremony the service will not be attended by all the German royal personages. It will be as simple as possible."

Emperor William has received a private telegram of sympathy from the pope.

KITCHENER'S LATEST REPORT.

General Viljoen Driven Back—Boer Losses Given.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Lord Kitchener telegraphs the war office from Pretoria as follows:

"Since July 29 the columns report 48 Boers killed, 19 wounded, 220 prisoners taken and 57 burghers surrendered. One pompom, 141 rifles, 8,660 rounds of small arm ammunition, 182 wagons and a large number of horses and stock were captured. The casualties on our side are included in all that were reported separately during the past week.

"Viljoen has been driven across Olifant's river. Kekewich and Allenby are moving against the Boers in the Magaliesberg. The British under Scobell have inflicted heavy loss on the Boers under Lategan."

Lategan has been operating in Cape Colony.

Germany's Industrial Crisis.

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—Advices from various parts of Germany show that the financial and industrial crisis is spreading. The Rheninische Immobollen Aktien bank of Cologne has been declared insolvent, and the calico mill of Ehrenberg & Richter, in Ellenburg, has suspended. Nothing has yet been published regarding their respective liabilities. Dr. Vierlin, chairman of the overseers of the W. H. Popp spinning machinery factory in Werdau, has been arrested. Two of the directors are wanted under suspicion of having forged checks.

Railway Strike Unsettled.

KNOXVILLE, Aug. 7.—No settlement has yet been reached in the street railway strike here, nor is one likely, as the two factions are wider apart than ever. The traction company operated 14 cars yesterday, and Manager Howell says he will have the entire system in operation in a few days. He says the company will take back the best of the old men, but they must come in "behind" the new men.

Harvest Riot In Ireland.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—A dispatch from Tipperary, capital of the county of the same name in Ireland, says the harvest women are parading through the town headed by a bellman in a riot against the use of harvesting machinery and demanding fixed wages. Requisitions have been sent out for extra police.

WORN OUT

Pale Weak, Run-down Overworked Women half sick, nervous, tired out with household and maternal cares, constipated, liver torpid, with blotched, muddy, sallow complexions, blood thin and impure, need building up and a thorough renovation of their systems. This is the time you need such a great nerve and stomach builder as the great tonic laxative. It gently moves the bowels and thus removes the cause, and acts directly upon the liver and kidneys, keeping them active and strong, while its marvellous tonic properties clears the complexion, stimulates the liver, quickens the circulation, increases the flesh, brightens the eye; the nervousness speedily disappears, and the entire system recuperates and tones up to a condition of perfect and permanent health.

Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or free sample of THE LAXAKOLA CO., 152 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 350 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

LAXAKOLA FOR CHILDREN

Give the children Laxakola. It is absolutely safe, being purely vegetable, containing nothing of a harmful character. It builds the little ones up instead of debilitating them. It reaches every organ, cleanses and strengthens the liver and kidneys, purifies the blood and makes them hearty and strong. It tastes good. Children like it and ask for it.

HOWISON CHOSEN.

Schley Court of Inquiry Completed by His Appointment.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The court of inquiry to investigate the conduct of Rear Admiral Schley in the war with Spain was completed by the appointment of Rear Admiral Henry L. Howison as the third member, to succeed Rear Admiral Kimberly, who was relieved.

Rear Admiral Howison's name was one of the several submitted to the navy department by Captain Parker, associate counsel for Rear Admiral Schley, as acceptable to Rear Admiral Schley. Rear Admiral Howison is now at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and has notified the navy department that he will be able to serve. He also avers that he has not at any time expressed himself in regard to the controversy.

The navy department has already begun the summoning of witnesses to appear before the court. A list of persons whom Rear Admiral Schley desired to have examined was received from him several days ago. It contained the names of Commander Seaton Schroeder, now governor of Guam, and Lieutenant B. W. Wells, Jr. Lieutenant Wells was a staff officer on the Brooklyn during the Santiago campaign and acted as Schley's private secretary. He is now in Europe on leave, and orders will be issued in a few days directing his return.

An order has already been prepared at the department directing Commander Schroeder to return to the United States to appear before the court. The order was cabled to Rear Admiral Rodgers, commanding the Asiatic squadron, with instructions to forward it at once to Guam by the Yorktown.

It is very probable that Commander Schroeder will therefore take passage on the Yorktown to Yokohama, where he will take a commercial steamship to the United States. The department is preparing orders for other witnesses on foreign stations directing them to return without delay, so as to be on hand on Sept. 12, when the court will begin its work.

STRIKE LEADERS MISSING.

Tampa Citizens Refuse to Divulge Whereabouts of Deported Men.

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 7.—The strike situation is one of bewilderment on the part of the strikers and immovable determination on the part of the citizens. No word has been received from or about the Rosistencia leaders who were deported, and the vigilantes are sworn to secrecy, further than they admit the men will never return to Tampa. The exact number of the men deported is not yet known, but every prominent leader of the strike is missing. It is said that others are marked and that deportation may take place at any moment.

The kidnaping had been well planned for days. A great open air meeting in the evening had been arranged, to which all the Resistencia leaders had been invited, the purpose being to catch them all in a bunch. They were all present. Music had been provided, and the streets were lined with thousands of people. Shortly before the posse of citizens reached the place the news reached the strike leaders, and they quickly dispersed.

The posse was not daunted and commenced a man to man search through the streets and snatched the men from the crowds. They were placed in carriages that had been provided between heavily armed guards and driven away. The captured leaders were at once driven to the county jail, where they remained on the outside under guard for a few minutes. Then they disappeared and have not been seen or heard of since. Various rumors as to their disposition have been circulated in the city, it being most generally reported that they were taken into the gulf in an unknown and mysterious vessel.

All of the deported strike leaders were Spaniards and Cubans. The boldness of the whole affair and the accomplishment of the deportation without bloodshed is one of the remarkable features.

New York Odd Fellows.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 7.—The grand lodge of the state of New York Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, now in annual session here, will complete its labors today by electing officers. The grand lodge was in executive session until a late hour last night. Reports and addresses of all officers were received, showing a steady growth of membership and lodges during the past year. Plans for the ensuing year were discussed, but no definite action was taken. There is an exciting contest on for the election of officers.

On the Lookout For Yankees.

VIENNA, Aug. 7.—At a largely attended meeting of shoemakers here it was decided, in spite of the announcement that an American firm would not open a branch in Vienna, that the shoemakers should continue the anti-American crusade with the view of guarding against a recrudescence of "Yankee schemes." No definite decision was arrived at as to what form the next action of the shoemakers will take.

A CHINESE UPRISING.

The Tienchuanlui Rebellion Said to Be Growing.

"SWEEP CHINA AND DESTROY ALIENS"

A Large Force Enlisted to Repel the Movement of Tung Fuh Siang, Who Is Marching Upon Sian, but They Lack Arms.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 7.—The steamer Queen Adelaide brings news that the Tienchuanlui rising is growing. A report has reached the French force in Peking from Chengtingfu to the effect that a large number of defeated soldiers of Tung Fuh Siang, being combined with Lian Chwang Hui, have unfurled in the government premises of Shenchow many banners with the motto, "Sweep China and Destroy Aliens!"

On the receipt of a report that Tung Fuh Siang has started a rebellion and is marching upon Sian, says a Shanghai paper, the Chinese court has enlisted braves in order to prevent him, the number of the present imperial bodyguards being inadequate to meet his forces. The braves of the two provinces of Shensi and Honan have now gathered, and their number has reached some 15 or 16 battalions already, but they are devoid of good weapons. The governors and other officials of the two provinces are therefore ordered by the court to procure arms for them at once.

From an unimpeachable source the Nagasaki press learns that General Gribski, the military governor of Blagovestchensk and districts, committed suicide on July 14 as he was approaching the above city on his return from St. Petersburg. He was returning in disgrace after endeavoring to explain away the massacre of thousands of Chinese by his Cossacks a year ago by the fact that the telegram, "Fling Chinese across Amur," sent from St. Petersburg, was received in his absence and interpreted "Fling Chinese in Amur."

From Hokhardo, Japan, news was received of the alleged murder of Otto Schroeder, 22 years of age, of New York on the whaling bark California by a shipmate, William Stuart, 21 years old, of Los Angeles. Stuart was held on board, according to the Hokhardo correspondent, for the United States consul at Yokohama, and the Japanese consul declined to interfere.

Grand Lama Acha of Tibet and suit are visiting Japan, and large Buddhist celebrations are being held.

A large loss of life has occurred in Japan because of the floods. In the Iwaskai colliery 69 were drowned, and the loss of life is also reported from many places as well as destruction of property.

Minerals In Palestine.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Ernest L. Harris, United States consular agent at Eidenstock, has informed the state department that valuable mineral treasures have recently been discovered in Palestine and that it is safe to say the industrial awakening of the Holy Land is no longer a dream. He says it is true that the greater part of the once flourishing country is a barren desert. The lines of communication are miserable, and traffic is unsafe, aside from the one from Yafa to Jerusalem. Mr. Harris says that the newly discovered mineral deposits lie on both sides of the Jordan and the Dead sea. The consul considers phosphate the most important of all deposits, and he says the immense fields of that mineral to the east and west of the Jordan need only better means of traffic and communication in order to insure their development. This, it would seem, is not far distant, as the Turkish government is planning a continuation of the Yafa-Jerusalem railroad, and steamboats are already plying the Dead sea.

Isthmus Trade Interrupted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—A dispatch from Consul Gudger at Panama may prove of some importance in determining the course of the United States toward the Colombian uprising, as Matachin, the point mentioned where the revolutionists stopped a train, is directly on the line of the Pan-American railroad and the proposed route of the canal. It is the first official indication that there is an interruption of the traffic across the isthmus. The United States is bound by treaty to keep this traffic open to the world. Whether any positive steps will be taken depends upon the extent to which the revolutionists are able to interfere with free transit across the isthmus. As Mr. Gudger's dispatch indicates that the delay was only one hour and, moreover, that no damage and no looting occurred, it is hardly likely that this would be such an interference with free transit as to call for energetic steps by this government.

Captures In the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The war department has made a compilation of the captures and surrenders in the Philippines in addition to the lists heretofore made public during the month of June. The new list covers the period from May 10 to June 18, 1901, and shows certain captures and surrenders at previous dates not heretofore reported. During the period stated 8 officers and 352 men of the insurgent forces were captured and 181 officers and 2,440 men surrendered, making the total number of insurgents captured or surrendered up to June 18 last 41,029. There also have been captured 113 rifles of various batteries, and 1,099 rifles were surrendered, together with 7,530 rounds of ammunition and 1 cannon.

Wants to Attend Reunion.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7.—Ben de Lamos, a United States prisoner from Alabama in the Ohio penitentiary here, is preparing an unique request to the United States authorities. He offers to give bond in $100,000 if permitted to attend the G. A. R. encampment at Cleveland. He says he has never missed one. De Lamos was sentenced for a technical violation of the pension laws. He is the man who slept in the speaker's chair in the Alabama house as a tramp and within two years was elected as a member and afterward filled the chair as speaker.

American Jockey to Quit.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Daniel Maher, the American jockey, will probably never reenter the race course. Owing to a serious hemorrhage of the lungs his physicians have cautioned him that a further attempt to ride would be fatal. It is understood that he will cancel all engagements and return to the United States.

Political Rumors.

The rumor comes down from Somerville to the effect that Former Assemblyman Edward E. Cooper, of Warren, is no longer a candidate for the shrievalty nomination of the Somerset County Republicans. At the same time, a Warren county politician, who is close to the Former Assemblyman, comes out with the statement that Mr. Cooper is not saying anything at present, but that he understands that it is to be Former Assemblyman P. V. D. Van Doren, of Millstone, and not Mayor N. B. Smalley, who is to be the candidate of the Reed faction.

It is but to be expected that Somerset county will be rife with all kinds of political rumors for the next few months. There is a sheriff and a State senator to be chosen over in Somerset this fall, and there naturally will be a lively little time before the places are filled. Of course, Senator Reed will not return to the Upper House of the State Legislature. That will give some other favorite son a chance.

As far as the candidacy of Mayor Smalley is concerned, the Warren township politician is rather in a hurry when he says that His Honor is no longer a candidate. Mr. Smalley hasn't come to the front as yet and he appears to be keeping very quiet but the knowing ones in the borough are keeping their eyes on him, all the same, and expect to see his name brought forward at the proper time. Many a political boom has met an untimely death, long before this, through its premature appearance on the field.

The Elizabeth Journal does not seem pleased with the reasons made public by the officers of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company as to why they would not locate their plant in Elizabeth. The Journal then tried to cast reflections on Plainfield and repeated a time-worn story, originally told years ago about Bayonne, as an evidence that mosquitoes were much thicker in Plainfield than at the county seat. The Journal cannot, however, change the stubborn facts for it is a well-known thing that Elizabeth possesses many thousands of mosquitoes for every one that haunts Plainfield.

Some time ago a proposition was made to the city by the owners of the Plainfield Sanitary Company's plant that the city purchase and operate it. The street committee looked over the subject and at the Council meeting, Monday evening, reported adversely against the proposition. The company started with excellent prospects of success, but they failed to materialize. Since then the interested capitalists have been trying to find a market for the plant.

The arrest of Charles P. Adams, superintendent of telegraphs of the Jersey Central Railroad, on the charge of aiding the green-goods men, does not, in reality, reflect on the integrity and honesty of Mr. Adams as would seem at first glance. It is one of the rules of the company that no information is to be given out about any of its business and Mr. Adams is merely following the instructions of his superiors.

How deep an impression is made on the public by persistent advertisers may be judged, says the Philadelphia Record, from the report of an "Advertisement Ball" held in Melbourne, Australia, last winter for the benefit of a children's hospital. The great ballroom was crowded with ladies and gentlemen, each of whom represented a well-known advertised article. The net profit of the affair was $5,000.

If the trolley company officials are right, and some outside party is to blame for Sunday's accident, then nothing should be left undone to discover the identity of the persons and see that they are properly punished. There should also be some provision made against a repetition of such a thing.

The trouble between the members of Company K and one of Plainfield's leading merchants is greatly to be deplored. It is too bad that the subject could not have been satisfactorily settled long ago. It would have saved much undesirable publicity and been to the advantage of all concerned.

The West End has finally found a spectre which flitted through the streets for a brief interval and badly frightened some of the residents. This spectre appeared to be, however, composed of fairly healthy flesh and blood.

Professor Woodrow Wilson, of Princeton University, has been appointed by Governor Voorhees to fill the position on the commission to revise the laws of New Jersey, left vacant by the resignation of Justice Fort.

The State Reformatory at Rahway is now open for the reception of prisoners. First offenders will be sent there with an effort to reform rather than to punish them.

All that is needed to bring about the adoption of water meters by the Plainfield Water Supply Company is a united demand on the part of its patrons for meters.

The Plainfielder who desires to keep posted with the news of this city during his summer vacation, has the Daily Press sent to his summer address.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

It is claimed that noteworthy success is attending the energetic efforts of South Orange to get rid of the mosquito pests by the methods recommended by Professor Howard—spraying all ponds, swamps, cisterns and cesspools with petroleum and draining low and wet places. As a result of the campaign opened on the mosquitoes this is the first summer in years when the residents of South Orange could sit on their piazzas in the evening in comfort.—New York Herald.

* * * * *

The automobile is coming into vogue with surprising rapidity. The sizes and forms in which the horseless vehicle appears are remarkable, rivaling those of ordinary carriages. The procession of these machines that one sees on the roads at the summer resorts is unceasing, and suggest that their manufacture must have reached great proportions. And coincident with this the use of the bicycle is becoming much less common as a mere instrument of recreation than it formerly was. The "wheel" is, in fact, now mainly put to practical uses, and the only time when it is seen in large numbers is when people are going to or returning from their work at morning, noon and evening. The automobile, however, has apparently come to stay—at least until some other new contrivance for getting over the ground drives it out in turn. It is by no means an impossible thing that the next invention to promote the great American ambition of "getting there" will be a practicable flying machine.—Paterson Press.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Hardly an excursion goes from Plainfield to Asbury Park but some belated excursionists manage to get left behind. Sometimes it is a child and there is wild excitement for the rest of the family until the missing one is found. Occasionally, an older person arrives in time to see the last cars fast disappearing in the dim distance. Some of these latter have been remarkably lucky in that other excursions have followed the Plainfield one and they have thus been able to reach here without a great deal of trouble. It is usually the Somerville excursions which collect one or two of the left-overs and bring them home.

RAIN AND MORE RAIN AND STILL MORE RAIN.

Succession of Deluges Began Yesterday Morning and Ended This Morning.

WAS STRENUOUS WEATHER.

BROOKS ARE HIGH AND THREATEN TO OVERFLOW.

High Water Made Trouble for the Trolley.—No Business Done in Town—Everybody Was Decidedly Wet.

"Strenuous times these," remarked the grey Cab Horse to his sleek and well-formed equine friend, one of a team of bays attached to one of Plainfield's finest equipages, as they stood in front of the North Avenue station, yesterday afternoon, awaiting the arrival of the commuters' ttain. A fresh deluge of rain appeared to emphasize the remark.

"So unpleasant," replied the other. A gust of wind and rain from out of the east seemed to laugh at the evident displeasure of the Bay Horse. Just then the long train came puffing in and the crowd rushed through the heavily falling rain to the shelter of the station platform.

"Such a day," mourned poor Dabby as he whipped into line for his load of passengers. "Never saw it rain harder in my life. Looks as if it was never going to stop." His further remarks were drowned in the fresh outburst of the elements.

As each succeeding train drew up to the station, a new and more full developed shower appeared and the poor commuter, wet and bedraggled after wading about all day in the metropolis, renewed his acquaintance with the elements. Shoppers in the business section of the city were as scarce as policemen in time of need and the local stores did little or no business most of the day.

When the clouds swept out of the west, Monday afternoon, it looked like a summer shower, one of the St. Swithin breed. It clouded up quite briskly Monday night, however, and the rain began in earnest shortly after seven o'clock. Since that time it appears to have forgotten how to stop. But for the new storm sewers, which drain the business section of the city, that part would be under water. As it is, the residents on the outskirts have found a miniature Venice formed before their eyes, and boats appear to be the only convenient means of transit.

Even little Cedar brook, a water course in name only a week ago, is now an angry plunging torrent which actually threatens to overflow its banks. Green brook is higher than it has been since the spring freshets and all the streams in the surrounding country are far above their usual magnitude. In the Scotch Plains and Watchung notches, the waters are very high and is flowing over the dams in a mighty stream. At Bound Brook, the Raritan is rising rapidly and the flat lands which border it are flooded.

The trolley system here and all along the line from Elizabeth to Somerville and New Brunswick, has been considerably troubled by the water. At Ravine road, a torrent of water swept over the tracks and covered them with sand making progress for the cars rather difficult. In other places the cars had to dash through huge puddles which threatened to burn out the motors.

The clouds broke away during the morning and the sun was welcomed once more. There still are clouds in the sky which seem to threaten rain. According to Weather Observer Neagle, it will be partially cloudy today with clearing tonight and tomorrow.

The rainfall during the twenty-four hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning, was a remarkable one. It amounted to 2.95 inches. During the few days of August that have now passed by, the rainfall has been 4.21 inches.

Miss Susie Stump, of Ravine road, is visiting relatives at Flemington.

A. E. LaPorte, of Grandview avenue, is spending his vacation at Glen Wild.

Rev. G. K. Newell, of West Fifth street, will return tomorrow from Orient, L. I., where he has been spending his vacation.

FOUR MEN BEATEN OFF.

TRIED TO HOLD UP J. E. JOHNSON NEAR ROSELLE.

Suppose To Be Same Gang That Assaulted And Robbed Mrs. Demko In Plainfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 7—The police of this city are searching for four men who attempted to rob a man on the outskirts, Monday night, and who, it is believed, are part of the gang which assaulted and robbed Mrs. Mary Demko, of Plainfield. So far the gang has escaped capture, but it is possible they may be arrested shortly.

The intended victim, Monday night, was J. E. Johnson, a produce dealer, of Westfield. He was driving along Westfield avenue, near Roselle, when four men sprang out from the side of the road and stopped his horse. They started to climb in the wagon from the front and rear, despite heavy blows laid on their shoulders from a whip in Johnson's hands.

Finding his efforts to beat them off were futile, the produce man drew a revolver, at the sight of which the footpads beat a hasty retreat. Johnson then whipped up his horse and drove rapidly to this city. He is positive his assailants were Italians.

Ready Reference Guide.

The Travelers' Ready Reference Guide is out for August with all the time-tables. It also contains a list of the books issued by the railroad and steamboat lines describing summer resorts, a most useful addition for prospective tourists, as it enables them to ascertain at once where they can obtain information in regard to places which they desire to visit, hotels, etc. This guide is the successor of Appleton's and is the one which is carried upon all the Pullman cars, which is a guarantee of its reliability. It is published by the Knickerbocker Guide Company, 24 Park Place, New York, price 25 cents.

New Council of Juniors.

Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold its next preliminary meeting this evening in Washington Hall building, West Second street. It has been arranged to institute the council August 14 in the Sons of Temperance rooms.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Billy Gray, young college student, secures a lieutenant's commission on breaking out of Spanish-American war. He meets a Mr. Prime, Miss Prime and Miss Amy Lawrence.

CHAPTER II.—After a conference in his official tent, Gen. Drayton joins a gay company in his personal tent—Mrs. Garrison doing the honors as hostess.

CHAPTER III.—Lieut. Gray is invited to join the Prime party, to go over in Mr. Prime's carriage to see the review, but is denied leave by Col. Canker, whom the regiment had nicknamed "Squeers." Vacant seat in carriage is given Col. Armstrong.

CHAPTER IV.—On the way to the review the Prime party witnesses the capture of two soldiers suspected of having been accomplices in the stealing of stores intended for the soldiers—even of dainties contributed by the Red Cross.

CHAPTER V.—Gray receives a note from a prisoner, who is suspected of having been a large recipient of the stolen goods, but who declares his innocence, begs Gray's help and signs himself "George Morton," adding the Greek letters of the same fraternity Gray had belonged to in college. Gray had planned a night in town, expecting to meet the Prime party. In spite of the fact that this might be his last chance for a chat with Amy Lawrence, Gray manages to secure duty as officer of the guard, that he may have an opportunity to have an interview with Morton.

"Mr. Brooke! Why, I thought I told you he was to take those prisoners in town to-morrow. He has to testify before that court in the case of Sergt. Kelly and it saves my sending another officer and having two of our lieutenants away from drill and hanging around the Bohemian club. Detail somebody else!"

"All right, sir," answered Gordon, imperturbably. "Make any odds, sir, who is detailed?"

Canker had turned to his desk and was tossing over the papers with nervous hand. Gray impulsively stepped forward, his eyes kindling with hope. It was on the tip of his tongue to launch into a proffer of his own services for the detail, but Gordon hastily warned him back with a sweep of the hand and a portentous scowl.

"No. One's as bad as the other. Next thing I know some of 'em will be letting prisoners escape right under my nose, making us the laughing stock of these damned militia volunteers." (Canker entered service in '61 as a private in a city company that was militia to the tip of its spike-tailed coats, but he had forgotten it.) "I want these young idlers to understand distinctly, by George, that the first prisoner that gets away from this post takes somebody's commisison with him. D'you hear that, Mr. Gray?" And Canker turned and glared at the bright blue eyes as though he would like to blast their clear fires with the breath of his disapprobation. "Has that young fellow, Morton, been put in irons yet?" he suddenly asked, whirling on Gordon again.

"Think not, sir. Supplies limited. Officer of the day reported half an hour ago every set was in use. Sent over to division quartermaster and he answered we had a dozen more'n we were entitled to now. Wanted to know 'f we meant to iron the whole regiment—"

"The he!! he did!" raged Canker. "I'll settle that in short order. My horse there, orderly! I'll be back by four, Mr. Gordon. Fix that detail to suit yourself." And so saying the irascible colonel flung himself out of the tent and into his saddle.

"You young idiot," said Gordon, whirling on Billy the moment the coast was clear. "You came within an ace of ruining the whole thing. Never ask Canker for anything, unless it's what you wish to be rid of. Tell Brooke you're for guard, and he's to go to town instead."

"Hopping mad," as he himself afterward expressed it, Col. Canker had ridden over to "have it out" with the quartermaster who had ventured to comment on his methods, but the sight of the commanding general, standing alone at the entrance to his private tent, his pale face grayer than ever and a world of trouble in his eyes, compelled Canker to stop short. Two or three orderlies were on the run. Two aids-de-camp, Capt. Garrison and a comrade were searching through desks and boxes, their faces grave and concerned. The regimental commander was off his horse in a second. "Anything amiss, general?" he asked, with soldierly salute.

The general turned slowly toward him. "Can our men sell letters," he said, "as well as food and forage? Do people buy such things? A most important package has been—stolen from my tent."

CHAPTER VI.

The great thoroughfare of that wonderful city, seated on more than her seven hills, and ruling the western world, was thronged from curb to curb. Gay with bunting and streamers, the tall buildings of the rival newspapers and the long facades of hotels and business blocks were gayer still with the life and color and enthusiasm that crowded every window. Street traffic was blocked. Cable cars clanged vainly and the police strove valiantly. It was a day given up to but one duty and one purpose, that of giving Godspeed to the soldiery ordered for service in the distant Philippines, and, though they hailed from almost every section of the union, except the Pacific slope, as though they were her own children, with all the hope and faith and pride and patriotism, with all the blessings and comforts with which she had loaded the foremost ships that sailed, yet happily without the tears that flowed when her own gallant regiment was first to lead the way, San Francisco turned out en masse to cheer the men from far beyond the Sierras and the Rockies, and to see them proudly through the Golden Gate. Early in the day the guns of a famous light battery had been trundled, decked like some rose-covered chariot at the summer festival of flowers, through the winding lanes of eager forms and faces, the cannoneers almost dragged from the ranks by the clasping hands of men and women who seemed powerless to let go. With their little brown carbines tossed jauntily over the broad blue shoulders, half a regiment of regular cavalry dismounted, had gone trudging down to the docks, cheered to the gateway of the pier by thousands of citizens who seemed to envy the very recruits who, only half-uniformed and drilled, brought up the rear of the column. Once within the massive wooden portals, the guards and sentries holding back the importunate crowd, the soldiers flung aside their heavy packs, and were marshalled before an array of tempting tables and there feasted, comforted and rejoiced under the ministrations of that marvelous successor of the sanitary commission of the great civil war of the sixties—the order of the Red Cross. There at those tables in the dust and din of the bustling piers, in the soot and heat of the railway station, in the jam and turmoil at the ferry houses, in the fog and chill of the seaward camps, in the fever-haunted wards of crowded field hospitals, from dawn till dark, from dark till dawn, toiled week after week devoted women in every grade of life, the wife of the millionaire, the daughter of the day laborer, the gentle born, the delicately reared, the social pets and darlings, the humble seamstress, no one too high to stoop to aid the departing soldier, none too poor or low to deny him cheer and sympathy. The war was still young then. Spain had not lowered her riddled standard and sued for peace. Two great fleets had been swept from the seas, the guns of Santiago were silenced, and the stronghold of the orient was sulking in the shadow of the flag, but there was still soldier work to be done, and so long as the nation sent its fighting men through her broad and beautiful gates San Francisco and the Red Cross stood by with eager, lavish hands to heap upon the warrior sons of a score of other states, even as upon their own, every cheer and comfort that wealth could purchase, or human sympathy devise. It was the one feature of the war days of '98 that will never be forgotten.

At one of the flower-decked tables near the great "stage" that led to the main deck of the transport, a group of blithe young matrons and pretty girls had been busily serving fruit, coffee and bouillon and substantials to the troopers, man after man, for over two hours. There was lively chat and merry war of words going on at the moment between half a dozen young officers who had had their eyes on that particular table ever since the coming of the command, and were now making the most of their opportunities before the trumpets should sound the assembly and the word be passed to move aboard. All the heavy baggage and ammunition had, at last, been swung into the hold; the guns of the battery had been lowered and securely chocked; the forecastle head was thronged with the red trimmed uniforms of the artillerymen, who had already been embarked and were now jealously clamoring that the troopers should be "shut off" from the further ministrations of the Red Cross, and broadly intimating that it wasn't a fair deal that their rivals should be allowed a whole additional hour of lingering farewells.

Lingering farewells there certainly were. Many a young soldier and many a lass "paired off" in little nooks and corners among the stacks of bales and boxes, but at the table nearest the staging all seemed gay good humor. A merry little woman with straw-colored hair and pert, tip-tilted nose and much vivacity, and complexion, had apparently taken the lead in the warfare of chaff and fun. Evidently she was no stranger to most of the officers. Almost as evidently, to a very close observer who stood a few paces away, she was no intimate of the group of women who with good right regarded that table as their especial and personal charge. Her Red Cross badge was very new; her garb and gloves were just as fresh and spotless. She had not been ladling out milk and cream, or buttering sandwiches, or pinning souvenirs on dusty blue blouses ever since early morning. Other faces there showed through all their smiles and sweetness the traces of long days of unaccustomed work and short nights of troubled sleep. Marvelous were Mrs. Frank Garrison's recuperative powers, thought they who saw her brought home in the Primes' stylish carriage, weak and helpless and shaken after her adventure of the previous day. She had not been at the Presidio a week and yet she pervaded it. She had never thought of such a thing as the Red Cross until she found it the center of the social firmament after her arrival at San Francisco, and here she was, the last comer, the foremost ("most forward" I think some one described it) in their circle at one of the most prominent tables, absorbing much of the attention, most of the glory, and none of the fatigue that should have been equally shared by all.

"Adios!" she gayly cried, as the "assembly" rang out, loud and clear, and waving their hands and raising their caps, the officers hastened to join their commands. "Adios, till we meet in Manila."

"Do you really think of going to the Philippines, Mrs. Garrison?" queried a much older looking, yet younger woman. "Why, we were told the general said that none of his staff would be allowed to take their wives."

"Yet there are others!" laughed Mrs. Garrison, waving a dainty handkerchief toward the troops now breaking into column of twos and slowly climbing the stage. "Who would want to go with that blessed old undertaker? Good-by—bon voyage, Geordie," she cried, blowing a kiss to the lieutenant at the head of the second troop, a youth who blushed and looked confused at the attention thereby centered upon him and who would fain have shaken his fist, rather than waved the one unoccupied hand in perfunctory reply. "When I go I'll choose a ship with a band and broad decks, not any such cramped old canal boat as the Portland."

I know a lady who was troubled with what her doctors termed intestinal indigestion. Her last doctor had her pursue the Salisbury treatment, which consists of eating only beef and bread dried in the oven and drinking all the hot water she could. I have seen her in the office where she is employed walk along with a glass filled with water steaming hot. The Salisbury treatment did give her some relief and she persisted in it for three months. It was then that she was induced to try Ripans Tabules, and now she finds that there are many eatables (chicken for instance) which she was not allowed to eat at first which she can now eat without distress. She says Ripans Tabules seem to counteract the acidity of her stomach. Their effect upon her has been wonderful and the relief she gets is as much as she ever experienced with the Salisbury treatment, and she can now choose from a more liberal bill of fare.

MILLINERY NOVELTIES.

Ready Made Trimmings Which Can Be Utilised by the Amateur.

Millinery is made easy for the amateur nowadays. The most fascinating trimmings are sold ready to put on the hat with a few stitches. There are striking and very chic looking wired bows, fancy quills intermingled with straw, ribbon and long, narrow bows of panne or soft satin ribbon which make desirable trimmings for simple sailor shapes. The most effective of these panne bows are spotted and bear a broad hemstitched border of mousseline, the latter usually corresponding in shade to the spot. Thus a black spotted with red has a red hem, a white spotted with mauve a mauve hem, and so on. Big rosettes are made up in infinite varieties of muslin and ribbon. When massed together artistically, these rosettes are hard to beat for securing a decorative effect with a small outlay. As to quills and odd feathers, their like has never been seen before. There is a particularly large quill which is meant to be worn across the front of a soft draped turban toque with an upturned brim. Then there are huge pompons of black and white feathers, which are used on soft hats. Long white breasts tipped with black are also very popular.

The illustration shows a neat gown of blue linen. The skirt is circular and laid in deep folds to the knees. The waist is the conventional sailor blouse, with a wide collar of white pique and a soft tie of white taffeta. The little chemisette is of the white pique, and the collar is of blue and white embroidery. The sleeves are finished with a row of tucks.

The coarse straw sailor is trimmed with white liberty satin ribbon dotted in blue. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SEPARATE WAISTS.

All Kinds of Materials Are Being Used For Them.

There are many materials for blouses, including louisine silk, glace taffeta, crepe de chine and a very light weight silky material called crepe de Paris. Handsome white glace silk waists are trimmed with heavy yellow guipure lace and medallions of Persian chiffon. Plain blouses of cream oriental satin are perishable, but rich looking. Morning blouses of French muslin have dainty fronts of white embroidery or tucked white muslin. The greater part of the elaborate waists fasten down the back, as this permits a greater variety of trimming.

A new variety of gingham called cotelaine is made up in conventional figures, such as bowknots and fancy floral designs. The wash silks have ribbon stripes in different widths, mostly white on a colored ground.

A very attractive boating costume is the subject of today's sketch. It is of white pique dotted with red. The waist is made blouse fashion, with a vest of plain red pique. The wide sailor collar is edged with red pique, as well as the standing collar and the cuffs. The skirt fits closely around the hips, and additional fullness is afforded by two circular ruffles edged with the pique.

The hat is of white taffeta trimmed with red poppies and black velvet ribbon. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Drop Too Much.

"What's the matter with Bagley? He looks as if he had been in a fight."

"He has. Indulged in a drop too much."

"You don't mean to say so. Why, I never knew he drank."

"It wasn't drink. He dropped a hint that a bigger man didn't like."

HAD A SWEET TOOTH.

Murderer Under Sentence Sells His Body for Ten Dollars to Buy a Supply of Ice Cream.

Some weeks ago Thomas Jones, a negro of Raleigh, N. C., sold his body to Dr. A. L. Goodwin for ten dollars. With the money Jones procured fruit, ice cream and other delicacies and lived high until the day he was hanged.

Shaw university, a college in Raleigh for negro boys and girls, has a medical department and several white physicians deliver lectures to the students of medicine.

Dr. Goodwin purchased the body for the purpose of dissecting before the students. At the time of the execution the university had not opened for the fall session, and in order to preserve the body Undertaker Brown embalmed it. It is now many weeks since Jones was put to death and his body has been on exhibition in the undertaker's shop since.

JONES MURDERED A WOMAN.

As soon as it was known that the body could be seen the colored people commenced to swarm around the shop and the undertaker was compelled to fix a way so that they could view it and then pass out. Thousands of colored people have passed the body and the greatest curiosity has been exhibited concerning it.

Jones murdered a colored woman, set fire to the house and burned four children. The negroes were greatly incensed at this wholesale murder and wanted to lynch Jones, but were prevented by the white people.

Demands have been made by negroes on the sheriff for pieces of the rope used in the execution. They say it will keep away the witches and is a never-failing badge of good luck.

COW MEANT BUSINESS.

Red Dress Excited Her to Madness and Caused Her to Make Richmond Lively for a Time.

A Holstein cow, which was driven 25 miles to Richmond, Va., for the market, created a panic in the eastern part of that city, and did battle with the inhabitants for several hours. Five persons were injured. They are Logan Mann, ankle sprained and cut and bruised; Willard Carson, six years old, gored in back, badly cut and bruised; Thomas Fernandez, 55 years old, face and body bruised and neck cut; Alexander McCabe, hand cut and internally cut; Vernal Fernandez, aged seven, cut face.

The cow went wild over a blood red dress worn by Vernol Fernandez, and made a dash at the child, whose brother was seated on a velocipede. The boy was hurled to the ground and the cow ran around the streets with the velocipede hanging on her horns. As soon as the conveyance fell from her horns she gored the child badly, and tossed him high in the air. Mrs. Fernandez appeared and was viciously attacked, but a boiler maker, Alexander

VELOCIPEDE ON HER HORNS.

McCabe, rushed out of his shop and broke one of the cow's horns with a six-pound hammer, which was also broken. McCabe's brother ran to his aid and was also attacked. Both men used heavy hammers, and several strong men joined in the fight for five minutes. The cow put them all to flight. The animal then took to the streets, and a policeman appeared, only to be attacked. A red electric car came along and the cow made a dash for it, but the car got away. A passenger named Logan jumped off the car, and the cow made a rush for him. He escaped by jumping, but badly sprained his ankle. The animal then made a hard run of five miles toward her home.

Juvenile shoes are in demand in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman McKinnis, of Farmington, Ill. They have been married nine years, and a few weeks ago Mrs. McKinnis gave birth to her fourth pair of twin boys. All of them are alive, the eldest couple not yet eight years old.

BIG CATCH OF SNAKES.

French-Canadian Doctor Uses the Skins of the Reptiles in His Rheumatism "Cure."

A correspondent of the New York Sun, writing from East Orrington, Me., says that for the second time within a year the French-Canadians who live in Old Town and Orono have visited Fields' pond and caught water snakes from the top of the receding ice of winter. Last year they came with nets of fine mesh and set them in front of the holes which lead in among the ledges. Only a few were caught by this method, though the snake hunters passed more than a week near the pond.

This year the Frenchmen adopted new tactics. They built bright fires on the center of the ice at night and smeared a circle of coal tar around the blaze, so when the snakes wriggled along to learn what the fire was they smeared themselves with the viscid tar, rolled in knots, got mixed up with others that were similarly afflicted, and ended the job by becoming glued together in a great gummy lump of tar and snakes. In this manner more than 600 snakes were caught in one night.

The snakes were taken ashore and soaked in warm water until the tar came off, when they were skinned and the skins were stretched over long tapering poles to dry. The man who has a use for these skins is Felix Thirrault, of Eagle Lake, a French doctor, who has gained money and reputation for his cures in cases of rheumatism. His treatment consists of giving his patients a strong dose of squaw bush tea, which produces nausea, which relax the muscles and produce perspiration.

As soon as the sufferer is in a sweat he is put to bed, covered with warm blankets and a snake skin is stretched in hot water and firmly knotted about his waist. As long as the skin stays in place no rheumatism can affect him. The catch in the treatment is that as soon as the water dries out the skin it contracts, pressing the patient so hard that few can stand the pain. Those who have strength to bear up under the agony until the skin expands from the strain have no more trouble with rheumatism, while the ones who are compelled to cut the skin to relieve their agony have to take a new treatment.

Thirrault has become rich at the business, the people believing that some of his cures are nothing short of miracles.

SMASHING A MASHER.

"Terrible Turk" Defends an Unprotected Female and Punishes Her Dude Tormentor.

Nourolah, the "Terrible Turk," stood under an awning at Broadway and Twenty-ninth street, New York, the other afternoon, watching a miniature flood resulting from some sewer trouble. Nourolah is nearly seven feet high, broad in proportion, and a superb athlete. A pretty young woman crossed Broadway, struggling in the wind and rain to keep her umbrella upright. An officious young man, loud as to dress and actions, appeared from beneath another awning and proffered his services. They were declined abruptly and with some alarm. The overdressed young man persisted.

Nourolah lounged forward and took a hand in the conversation. "You want him to go away?" he inquired of the young woman in broken English. "Oh, yes, please," she replied. Without a word Nourolah calmly lifted the masher by the nape of his neck, carried him leisurely to the edge of the curb, as a boy would carry a small dog, and flung him into the water. Then, without giving the unhappy victim another look, or deigning to notice his torrent of curses, the Turk strolled leisurely back under his awning and contemplatively lit a fresh cigarette. An object, muddy, drenched, and scarcely human, staggered down Broadway, spluttering in impotent rage.

CLEVER GIRL BURGLAR.

Twelve-Year-Old Katie Allen Confesses to Long String of Very Neatly Executed Thefts.

Residents in the fashionable section of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., have been complaining for some weeks of petty robberies and several servants have been discharged on suspicion. Unusual efforts have been made to discover the thief and the mystery was cleared when Chief of Police McCabe arrested 12-year-old Katie Allen, who confessed to a series of burglaries and thefts which astonished the police.

Katie admitted that after school it was her custom to visit the houses of the well-to-do as a beggar. At the home of Mrs. H. Raymond, in Hooker avenue, she was met in the yard and accused of having taken some money.

"I am only begging," she said, "but I just met a rough looking man going out of the gate. He must have stolen the money."

Suspicion was averted, says the New York Journal, Katie's basket was filled with good things and she was allowed to go.

At the home of Mrs. Eliza Leroy, in Mill street, Katie received no answer at the kitchen door and climbed through a window. She then plundered the lower part of the house while the family were upstairs.

In the home of Mrs. Frederick Lucas, in Montgomery street, Katie made her way to the upper floor in the afternoon and stole its contents. She was met by a servant as she was going out the back door, and, telling a tearful story of poverty, obtained some food.

In one instance, where she was intercepted by a servant, she diverted suspicion by promptly inquiring for a little girl who was known to frequently visit that house.

When arrested she said at first that she had lately gone to work in a factory and had earned the money, the spending of which attracted attention.

HERMIT BUILDS HOUSE.

Even to the Bricks This Odd-Looking Dwelling Is Its Queer Owner's Handiwork.

Valentine Fulbas, the hermit of the Schuylkill, finished the latest addition to his house the other day and to celebrate the event sat in his shirt sleeves on a stump in front of his doorstep and viewed his handiwork with a smile of satisfaction.

His house is the delight of his life. It stands on a piece of Reading railway property near the river and opposite Shawmont. For three years he has been working upon it. From an island above he brought boatload after boatload of river clay and baked it into bricks in a rudely constructed kiln, says the Philadelphia North American. With a pointed stick he carved and molded some of the clay into images. Slowly the walls grew to completion.

Above the door is a mysterious coat-of-arms and the initials V. F. The chimney port rises on the wings of a white-robed angel, and about the main doorway are pilasters of the apostles looking sternly out along the road.

"My father lived along the Rhine and I must stay by the river," said the hermit. "Its ceaseless motion is company to me. As for my house, it is finished, and I will rest. I will live here always, for the railroad said I could have the ground until I die. As for my images, they are my own. I know what they mean, but you never will, for I will not tell you. Some persons call me a hermit. In my idle hours I have built my house. It kept me occupied—it kept me from thinking."

Very Good to His Wife.

"Believing," says the editor of the Gaylord (Kan.) Herald, "that it is the duty of every man to be as good to his wife as circumstances will permit, we have just bought our better half a nice new hoe and garden rake, and, if some of our subscribers, who ought to have done so long ago, will pay up, we shall buy her a wheelbarrow and shovel."

you want to be clean and pure, no matter what it is. If it's wine you want pure wine, if it's water you want pure water.

Very often pure water is made impure by placing in it impure ice.

But when Hygeia Ice is placed in a tank of pure water the water remains pure. Pure water and pure ice will make pure ice-water. It has been proven that Hygeia is a pure ice. Frozen from pure, sparkling, artesian well water, after that water has gone through a process of filtering.

Isn't that the kind of ice you should be using. Don't you think you ought to order it of us today?

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

An exciting game of baseball was played on the New street grounds Monday afternoon between Bert Glaentzer's team and John Casey's team. The former won by a score of 10 to 4 The battery for the winners was Glaentzer and Trembly, and for the losers Casey and Hoagland.

After making several dates only to cancel them, the Hope team has again decided not to play at Lambertville, Labor Day. It was on this date that it was first intended to play the deciding game between the Hope's and St. Mary's, but this was afterward declared. It is now a question as to who the Hopes will play on that date.

The employes of the local shop of the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Company have completed the picking out of the baseball team to play a return game Saturday with the nine from the Perth Amboy factory. In the first game played in this city, the local team was defeated. The team has since been strengthened in several positions, and will give the Perths a much harder battle.

Out of the several baseball diamonds in this vicinity, the police have selected the Hope grounds on which to play their match with the Elizabeth police in this city. They are located on the north side of Sherman avenue, between Plainfield and Clinton avenues. The best way to reach the grounds from the centre of the city is to take a Fourth street car and get off at Spooner avenue. A five minute walk will suffice to reach the field.

There is no denying the fact that the St. Mary team has a crack-a-jack catcher in Joe Barry. It doesn't make any difference how swift Doyle or Keeffe throws the leather, or how much of a twist there is to it, once it touches Joe's hands it stays there. A glance over the averages show but very few wild pitches credited to the St. Mary twirlers. It is because Barry has a knack of leaping after high or side throws, seldom letting one get by him. He has been behind the bat in every game the team has played this year and has made for himself an enviable record.

GOLF.

During R. F. Murray's absence from the city, his place as chairman of the golf committee will be taken by Howard Huntington, a member of the committee.

If consistent improvement counts for anything, then Senator Charles A. Reed is deserving of standing at the head in the race for the President's cup at the Park Golf Club. Since the Senator first took up the game, he has shown steady improvement until now he can honestly be numbered not far behind of the head of the list of the club's best players. His achievement of Saturday in making the course in 45 was the result of consistent good golf.

One of the most remarkable achievements ever made at the Park Golf Club was done by W. J. R. Thiers. Twice in one afternoon, he made the fifth hole in three. The hole has a fairly easy bogey of five. He drove for 200 yards on both occasions and then laid the ball on the green with the brassey. He completed the hole by putting out in one. While there are plenty that do the hole in five and a few who make an occasional four, three is a score for that hole of which very few, indeed, can boast.

The golf committee at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club is watching the individual players very closely this season, and when a player makes a low score with a fat handicap, the latter is promptly reduced. The committee has been at work lately and changes have been made as follows: F. C Talmadge, 0; W. C. Faber, 27; Miss Helen S. Martin, 35; Miss Edith Tracy, 18; Miss Majorie Fleming, 25; Miss May Evans, 33; Miss May Holly, 30; Miss Margaret Holly, 35. Other cuts can be expected in the near future, as some of the players are making rather low scores.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The race committee of the New Brunswick Bicycle Club has decided to hold its fifth annual race meet on Labor Day at the Driving Park track in Highland Park. Like at the other races held by this club, the prizes will be diamonds. There will be five events, a mile novice, a half-mile handicap, a mile handicap, a half-mile open and a boys' race. There will also be some special attractions. The racing will commence at 2:30 o'clock. Entry blanks will be issued this week. The past meets of the club have been very successful and there is every reason to expect that this one will exceed all the others.

ROD AND GUN.

George Macintyre, of Elm place, has returned from a three days' fishing trip at Barnegat.

Eugene O'Reilly, of North avenue, in company with a party of friends, spent yesterday at Amboy, fishing. A large catch is reported.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Eastside Bowling Club, composed of seventy-five members will meet this evening at Conover's bowling alleys, East Second street, for organization. It is hoped that every member will be present as business of importance will be considered.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The athletic games scheduled by Conrad Knoth to take place at Dewey Park on Labor Day have been declared off so as not to conflict with the butcher clerk's and grocer clerk's clam bake.

REMODELLING HOTEL.

Improvements Being Made to Park Avenue Hotel This Summer.

Manager John D. Bailey, of the Park Avenue Hotel, who is also managing a hotel at Bradley Beach this summer, was in Plainfield yesterday looking after improvements that are being made at the hotel in this city. The hotel is being remodelled. The interior is being papered throughout and is also being painted in white. Many other improvements, that will add to the comfort of guests are being made. The rooms will also be recarpeted. Patrons who have been away this summer, and many others, are expected to arrive at the house about September 1 for the winter months, and a successful season is predicted under Mr. Bailey's management.

Triennial Conclave of K. T.

The triennial conclave of Knights Templar will be held at Louisville, Ky., August 25 to September 1, and many members of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, of this city will attend. The Templars from this section will make the trip over the D. L. and W. R. R. in a solid vestibule Pullman train. While at Louisville they will sleep in the Pullman coaches and get their meals at a hotel.

Promised to Desist.

Chief Marshal Campbell, of the borough, detained a stranger in the borough this morning for selling a headache cure. The man claimed that he was the manufacturer of the preparation, but in the eyes of the law the man was violating the borough ordinance. He was taken before Recorder Doud and upon a promise to desist he was allowed to depart.

Tied Up Trolley System.

The entire local trolley system west of Richmond street, was completely tied up this morning by a break in the electric circuit. The trouble occurred at 9:45 and not a car moved until nearly 12, when the break was discovered by the wrecking crew. It was immediately repaired and the cars have since been running on schedule time.

Union Business College to Open.

The Union Business College, 208-210 Broad street, Elizabeth, will open September 3 for day sessions. The office will be open August 27 and after, when arrangements for entering the college can be made. This college has an excellent reputation and is worth consideration. See advertisement in today's Press.

Meeting of Swedes.

An interesting meeting of the Swedes of this city, will be held tomorrow evening in the Congregational church. The speaker of the evening will be Axel Kumlin, and Fred Blom will play and sing.

Will Preach Sunday.

Rev. Dr. Stifler, of Crozier Theological Seminary, will preach at the First Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. He will also preach the following Sunday.

—If the action of your bowels is not easy and regular serious complications must be the final result. DeWitt's Little Early Risers will remove this danger. Safe, pleasant and effective. L. W. Randolph.

HORSE WHIPS A DOG.

Bellicose Terrier, However, Leaves Marks of Its Sharp Teeth on Its Big Opponent.

Every dog has his day, but Slats, the fighting bull terrier of "Billy" Simpson, a Chicago barkeeper, had a whole week condensed into 50 seconds the other afternoon. Incidentally he put out of active service for a time the 1,200 pound horse, belonging to an expressman, which started the sequence of happenings that made life interesting to Slats and a small crowd at the corner of Oak and Wells streets.

Slats was working off a surplus pressure of animal spirits by leaping up in front of the passing horses, barking joyously the while. The expressman horse failed to see the joke; with a cleverly directed side kick he bowled Slats over into the current of Wells street's liquid mud. The bull terrier countered with a mouth grip on the right hind leg of the horse, and the next instant was flying through the air over the car tracks to the opposite curb line. A passing hearse caught Slats on the rebound and tossed him onto the resilient fender of a southbound Lincoln avenue grip car; the recoil of the springs shot Slats back into the funeral procession, and the horses of the carriage following the hearse walked all over the yelping dog. Slats managed to escape the carriage wheels, and gathering himself together loped on three legs down Wells street for the side door of his home saloon.

Sampson and the expressman had almost reached the bare-knuckle point of their argument as to whether the dog or the horse was the practical joker, when Slats' yelps of pain and surprise, the frenzied clanging of the grip-car bell and the warning shouts of the onlookers broke the thread of the debate. Sampson hurried after Slats, and the expressman tore a blanket to bandage his horse's wounded leg.

NO HOPE FOR HIM.

Why the Doctor Referred His Unfortunate Patient to the Undertaker Around the Corner.

The eminent physician shook his head. "You are in a bad way," he said, firmly, to the hollow-cheeked patient awaiting his verdict. "You must be very careful of your diet."

The patient grew visibly more depressed.

"You must eat wholesome, plain food.

The patient sighed and turned a shade grayer.

"I should prohibit all fancy dishes, hot biscuits, all pastry, and—er—kickshaws of evry kind—eat stale bread, rare beef, and no sweets or involved salads."

The patient held his head in his hands and wept.

"Don't despair," said the eminent physician. "The diet I prescribe is within reach of the humblest purse. The preparation of it is of the simplest and needs only common sense. I predict an immediate cure."

The patient spoke. "I'm afraid," he said, in a hopeless voice, "you do not understand. My—my wife has just joined a cooking school. You see—"

The physician, says the Chicago Daily News, grasped his hand impulsively and tears stood in his eyes. "I see," he said, gently. "Poor fellow! I understand it is useless. Don't waste any more time on me—what you want is an undertaker. There's one right around the corner."

Her Wish Was Granted.

A runaway horse caused the death of its owner, Edward Madison, at Bethel, O. The widow persisted in driving the same fractious animal, and said that she wished to die as her husband had died. A short time ago her wish was granted. The unruly horse dashed over an embankment and Mrs. Madison's lifeless body was found, some hours later, battered and bruised, among a mass of rocks.

SOUNDED FISHY.

So City Judge Runyon Fined Young Peddler $5 For Not Telling the Truth.

Edward Fisher, a young lad from New York, learned to his sorrow in the City Court this morning, that it does not pay to tell lies. He was arrested on Park avenue by Roundsman Flynn, who watched him peddling feather dusters and saw him sell one in a store.

Despite the Roundsman's story, he denied peddling and declared the storekeeper had called him in. He furthermore stated that he had never been in Plainfield before, yet, when questioned, he showed a surprising knowledge of its suburbs for one who had never been in the city. Taken as a whole City Judge Runyon decided Fisher's story was a fabrication and imposed a fine of $5 or twenty days.

HOWARD GROBES ARRESTED.

Charged With Larceny Of Property Where He Worked In New York.

Howard Grobes, a young colored man who resides at the corner of St. Mary's avenue and Hill street, this city, was arrested this morning in New York, charged with larceny. He has been employed by Lewis G. Timpson, for the Astor estate at 302 Broadway. For some time past various articles have disappeared from the premises, being taken from rooms that were locked. Grobes, it is alleged, was found to have in his possession keys which fitted the locked doors and it is believed by the police that he has been taking the articles.

Another Hansen.

In relating the case of Hansen against Maessener, in Justice Hand's court yesterday, in which the latter was charged with the theft of a clock, it was stated that the complainant lived on East Front streett. It should have been 683 West Front street. The Hansen of East Front street is an uncle of the other. The costs of the case were not settled for by Hansen.

Death of a Child.

The death of Percy Webster Vermeule, infant son of Frank W. and Margaret Vermeule, aged four months, occurred last evening at the home of the parents, 115 Watchung avenue. The funeral services will be held from the house Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

ONE OF NEW JERSEY'S MOST UNIQUE RAILWAYS

Description Of a Remarkable Trip Over The Rockaway Valley Railroad.

MANY SIDE ATTRACTIONS.

THIS LINE RUNS BETWEEN MORRISTOWN AND WHITE HOUSE.

How It Came To Be Built—The Equipment And The Roadbed—The Trip Itself Through Picturesque Country.

Those Plainfielders, who have travelled over the Rockaway Valley Railroad, which runs between White House and Morristown, have some queer stories to tell about the way in which traffic on that road is cared for. It is, without doubt, one of the most unique railroads in this part of the country, and a trip over it is, for the searcher after novel sensations, a delightful one.

Many strange stories have been published about the Rockaway Valley line. The Jersey City Journal recently described a trip over that road and incidentally sketched its career.

The late J. N. Pidcock, says the writer in that journal, was the promoter of the road, the construction of which was begun in March, 1888 Several years were consumed in building the twenty-seven miles of road from Whitehouse to Morristown—or, more properly, Watnong, one and a-half miles from Morristown—and the property has changed owners several times since then. Mr. Pidcock let the road be sold to foreclose a mortgage once, and then it was sold and resold, and at present George H. Fisher, a New York capitalist, is the possessor of the property.

The rolling stock of the road consists of one good passenger coach and one which has passed its palmy days and now rests serene in the glory of old age on the siding at Watnong. The locomotive is of the ten-wheel or freight class and is rented from the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The only possible manner in which any one can obtain a true conception of this unique system is by making a trip over the line, preferably from the northern terminus, as passenger connections are all made at Morristown.

Going out from New York on the Morris and Essex road to Morristown one steps off the train at the county seat to find the Rockaway Valley stages waiting to transfer them to Watnong, which is located within sight of the Morris Plains Asylum. Dan Losey, the livery stable man, gives personal supervision to this important part of the system, and one or two stages are always in waiting for the 8:40 a. m. and 5:13 p. m. Morris and Essex trains, with which the Rockaway Valley connects. An express wagon conveys the mails, baggage and express matter for all the trains.

There is no delay on the start from the Morristown station, and it is a mad dash to the Watnong terminus, where the Rockaway Valley train is waiting. The time allowed for the transfer of passengers is only from fifteen to twenty minutes, so that the train is always late in leaving Watnong. Arriving at Watnong, but little time is allowed for the inspection of the terminal facilities, and at this time of year the weeds and bushes are too prolific to permit any extended view.

The start is made generally with the one passenger coach and two or three freight cars or gondola coal cars, and everything usually runs smoothly until Brookside is reached some four or five miles down the line. The intervening track is a beautiful specimen of scrap iron laid loosely upon the top of the ground, and practically covered with weeds and grass and overhung by bushes.

One or two small hills give the engine a tug, but it is after Brookside is left that the "fun" begins. The passenger looking out of the car door suddenly sees a piece of track looming into view over the top of the engine, and it is up this incline that the tug of war begins. Four cars can usually be pulled up this incline when the track is not slippery, but the engine occasionally gets stuck with only three and the train has to be "cut" and taken over the hill in sections.

Once over this incline, Pitney is reached. Leaving Pitney behind a dash is made down the long grade to Mendham, which is chiefly known as a resort for New Yorkers. The whole

WERE WEDDED AT ST. MARY'S

MISS MARY V. LYNCH AND MICHAEL D. O'KEEFFE MARRIED.

Ceremony Took Place At Saint Mary's Church Yesterday Afternoon

St. Mary's church was filled to its capacity yesterday afternoon with relatives and friends when, at 5:30 o'clock, the wedding ceremony was solemnized which united in the bonds of matimony, Miss Mary Veronica Lynch, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Lynch, of Elizabeth street, and Michael D. O'Keeffe, of West Fifth street. It was one of the prettiest weddings which has taken place in the handsome edifice in some time.

The altar was lavishly decorated with beautiful flowers and potted plants, while palms abounded in profusion. Other parts of the church were adorned in a similar manner.

Miss Lynch was attired in a becoming gown of white organdie and white lace over white silk. She carried an ivory bound prayer book. She was attended by her sister, Miss Susan Lynch, who acted as bridemaid. Her gown was of pink organdie over pink silk, while she carried pink carnations. The groom's attendant was his brother, Dennis O'Keeffe. The bridal party was completed by the ushers, John McNally, Thomas O'Keeffe, John Lynch and James Monahan, of this city.

The bride proceeded to the altar escorted by her uncle, John Collins, who gave her away. Rev. Father J. A. McGeary, curate of St. Mary's church, pronounced the words which made them man and wife.

Following the ceremony, the guests repaired to the home of the bride's mother where Mr. and Mrs. O'Keeffe were tendered a pleasant reception which lasted until late last evening. It was a brilliant affair and was attended by friends from New York, Newark, Brooklyn, Elizabeth, Raritan, Metuchen and this city. The young couple will take up their residence on Spooner avenue where the groom has furnished a handsome home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. O'Keeffe are popular young people and no better evidence of the esteem with which they are regarded by hosts of friends could be shown than by the beautiful array of presents which were extended them. They comprised a profusion of cut glass articles, silverware, bric-a-brac and many other useful as well as ornamental articles.

STATION IMPROVEMENTS.

New Entrance For South Branch Railroad To Somerville Station—Other Changes.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, August 8—Work has commenced on the improvements at the Central Railroad station. A trestle is being constructed across the meadows south of the station, upon which the South Branch tracks will be run straight to a covered platform opposite the station. As now arranged, the South Branch trains are obliged to back down over the Bridge street crossing. A tunnel will be run under the tracks to the covered platform, and all east bound passengers will use the tunnel. The freight station will be moved to a point near Bridge street. Sargeant's coal yard and Gallagher & Richards' ice house are also to be moved.

The work of placing the block signals on the Central Railroad will be finished as far as Phillipsburg this week. The car of the Union Switch and Signal Company will be moved next week from this place to Bethlehem, Pa., and the work of putting in block signals continued as far as White Haven.

LOST TWO FINGERS.

Smashed In a Planer By Bert Sherman at Pond's Yesterday.

Bert Sherman, of Astor place, suffered the loss of two fingers by a painful accident yesterday. He was engaged at his work at a wood planer in the Pond Machine Tool Company's Works yesterday when through some mishap two of his fingers were severed by the machine. At the hospital the injured hand was dressed and he was relieved of pain as much as possible.

Will Start Macadamizing Then.

As soon as the storm sewer on Somerset street is completed steps will be taken to macadamize the same from the bridge to Jackson avenue. It is proposed to make a good job of it and give the people a street that will be a credit to the borough.

Getting Ready For Parade.

The members of Warren Engine Company have engaged William C. Smith to drill them in marching so that they may make a good showing at the firemen's parade October 17.

A PROMINENT CITIZEN WAS GENERAL NEGLEY

Represented Pennsylvania Both on the Battle Field and in Halls of Congress.

HE HAD AN EVENTFUL LIFE.

HAD MADE HIS HOME IN PLAINFIELD FOR OVER A DECADE.

Was In Both Mexican and Civil Wars, Serving With Credit and Honor—Had Lately Been a Promoter of Railways.

In the death of Gen. Negley, whose death occurred yesterday morning, as reported in these columns, Plainfield has lost a distinguished citizen and the country a brave soldier. During his residence in this city he was known as a man of reticence, though he made many warm friends, who today mourn his death. He was one of a very few who won the highest distinction and honor that could come to a man through war and his record shows that he was justly entitled to it.

Gen. Negley was born December 22 1826, at East Liberty, a suburb of Pittsburg, Pa. His mother was of French ancestry, while his father was of Scotch-Irish decent and was a relative of Sir Walter Scott. Gen. Negley attended local schools at his home, after which he was graduated from Western University at Pittsburg. At the age of 19 years he ran away and enlisted under Gen. Scott in the Mexican War, serving with distinction from 1846 to July 5, 1848, when he was honorably discharged. He took part in many well-known battles and exhibited much bravery. After his discharge he returned home and organized the Duquesne Grays, a local military organization.

Upon the outbreak of the Civil War, Gen. Negley's love for military life was again evidenced, and in December, 1860, he organized a brigade which he offered to the Governor of Pennsylvania, April 17, 1861. It was accepted and Gen. Negley joined the command of Major-General Robert Patterson. He took part in many battles, winning additional honors. He was a personal friend of Gen. Grant, and received high praise for daring deeds. As a result of this he was made a Major-General and put in command of the Eighth Division of the Fourteenth Army Corps. He was honorably discharged January 19, 1865, after which he engaged in politics. He was elected a member of the Forty-first and Forty-second Congress from the Twenty-second Congressional District of Pennsylvania. He was an honorary member of the Military Order Foreign Wars, chairman of the Board of Steam Navigation, president of the National Union League and vice president of the Mexican Trust Company, also a promoter of many railroads. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity.

Gen. Negley's first marriage was to Miss Kate Losey, of Pittsburg, who was a niece of Commodore VanVoorhees. His second marriage to Miss Grace Ashton, of Philadelphia, took place in 1869. She and three children survive him. The funeral services will be held from the late residence tomorrow evening and interment will be in the family plot at Pittsburg.

The funeral services will be held from the late residence, 60 West Seventh street, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The interment will be at Pittsburg, Pa.

Exempts Invited To Parade.

The Exempt Firemen of this city have received an invitation to join in the firemen's parade to be held in the borough October 17. Many of the members want new uniforms and to force the question to an issue have declared that they will not parade unless new uniforms are purchased. This will cost $300 and other members do not favor the expense. The final decision will be reached at a meeting to be held soon.

Only One Sharpshooter.

Among the members of Company K who went to Sea Girt and qualified as a marksman at the rifle range, was Percy Vail, of Washington street. He made some fine shots, considering it was the first time he had been up for practice. He was awarded a medal which will be forwarded to him soon. A. E. Pearsall, another member of the company, was the only one to qualify as a sharp-shooter.

Hibernians To Install.

Division No. 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians, will install their officers this evening in Washington Hall. There will be an entertainment and refreshments afterward.

KNOCKED DOWN AND ROBBED

Colored People Arrested and Held at Somerville for the Offense.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, August 8.—Philip Yager, a German, living on the mountain, north of town, was in Somerville Monday and acquired a jag. During the afternoon he decided to go home, but in crossing the Cliff street bridge, it is alleged, that he was knocked down by George Vandervoort, colored, while Sally Lewis, colored, went through Yager's pockets. Only finding fifty cents for their trouble, it is further said that they kicked and pounded their victim viciously.

Vandervoort and the woman and Jacob Sears, colored, were subsequently arrested. The two former were committed to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury, and Sears was released on bail.

COAL TRAIN WRECKED, WRECKER IN RIVER.

Double Wreck on Jersey Central Tracks Near Wilkes-Barre Yesterday Morning.

CAUSED BY RAILS SPREADING

WRECKER CAME TO GRIEF WHEN GOING TO THE FIRST WRECK.

Engineer and Fireman Badly Hurt—Two Other Men Were Injured—Lehigh Valley Gave Assistance to Central.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., August 8 — A double wreck occurred on the Central Railroad of New Jersey at Oxbow yesterday morning. Eight steel coal cars were wrecked and four went into the Lehigh river, while the engine and crane car of a wrecking train that went to the coal train's assistance also plunged over the bank into the water.

The first wreck occurred about 10 o'clock. A long coal train, east-bound, was going down the mountain when a broken rail threw the eighth car from the end off the track. The other seven followed it and the last four were swung over the bank into the river, which is about fifteen feet deep. The trainmen escaped by jumping.

An hour later the division wrecking train from Mauch Chunk pulled into sight and as it approached the wreck the rails spread and the engine and the crane car, with the heavy crane and wrecking apparatus, went over the bank and plunged into the water. Engineer Owen Bevins and Fireman John McKinley were unable to jump, so suddenly did the accident occur, and they were severely scalded by escaping steam before they managed to crawl out of the cab and escape. The condition of each man is serious.

On the crane car Theodore Smith and James Kruger, crane tenders, were injured, being thrown from the car with pieces of wrecking material. The tool car, in which were a number of men, went to the edge of the embankment and there broke from the plunging crane car and its men were unhurt.

The tracks were so badly torn up that the aid of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company was solicited and a couple of wrecking trains sent to the assistance of the Central workers. The tracks were cleared last evening. All the wounded men are from Mauch Chunk.

Much To Be Done.

Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, I. O. R. M., will meet this evening. There will be one adoption and the chief's degree will be worked on one. There will be a report from the committee on clam bake and the date for the bake will be set.

Defendant Failed to Appear.

In the contract case of the Old East Bangor Slate Company against J. E. Brown, which was tried in Justice Mattison's court Tuesday afternoon, judgment was given the plaintiff for full amount and costs. The defendant failed to appear.

Demonstration of Welsh's Grape Juice.

Miss Cockran, of New York, is spending this week at E. S. F. Randolph's drug store, corner of North and Watchung avenues, giving a practical demonstration of Welsh's grape juice, and would be pleased to serve all who may come.

Seems To Please Them All.

Up to the present time no further complaints have been received concerning the public drinking fountain on North avenue. It is now in operation and so far as can be ascertained everyone seems to be pleased.

TRINITY HAS GRAND WEATHER FOR OUTING.

Thirteen Cars Carried Excursionists To The Twin Cities By The Sea This Morning.

EVERY CAR WAS CROWDED.

THE RETURN WILL NOT BE MADE UNTIL SEVEN O'CLOCK.

Train In Charge Of Conducter Knapp—Departure Was Made Without Accident—No One Was Left Behind.

With light hearts and full expectations for an enjoyable day at the shore, a big crowd gathered at the North Avenue station, this morning before 8 o'clock, anxiously awaiting the excursion train run under the auspices of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school to Asbury Park to draw into the station. There were people of every age in the gathering. Fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers and friends made up the merry throng. Little fellows, who had kept count of the days until excursion time would roll around, romped about in the crowd planning how they would spend the day by the huge blue waves.

Sharply at the appointed time, 8 o'clock, the excursion train made up of twelve passenger coaches and a baggage car pulled into the station slowly. Conductor M. A. Knapp, of Somerville, was in charge of the train, and Bertram Frazee, of this city, was a member of the train crew. Assistant Train Master English was on hand to see that everything went right.

It did not require the customary signal of "all aboard" for the mass of people to take possession of the cars, for no sooner had the train stopped than the crowd surged to the platforms. Ten cars were quickly filled and the aisle-ways blocked. Someone passed the word that there was accommodations in the rear end of the train and it took no time at all for those who were standing to make a rush for remaining vacant seats. When the signal was given the engineer to turn on the throttle the entire train was filled and the station platform, which a few minutes previously had been packed, looked deserted.

As is usually the case nearly everyone had provided himself with the necessary lunch and from the huge size of some of the packages it could be judged that not a few expected to be very hungry before night.

While the cars were being loaded with human freight, an excursion train from Somerville en route to the twin cities by the sea whizzed by the North Avenue station, and it also was crowded. As far as could be learned not a single person was left behind when the cars pulled out of the station. No one was going to risk the chance of an opportunity for a pleasant day at the shore and consequently all were on hand bright and early.

Many were congratulating themselves on the lucky weather. The sky was clear of clouds and the atmosphere seemed to contain little humidity. Added to this was a cool breeze which could not help but make the ride to the shore all the more comfortable. The excursionists will not leave the Park until 7 o'clock this evening and it will be nearly 9 o'clock before they reach this city.

WRITES FROM JAPAN.

Plainfield Boy, a Marine on The New York, Writes Home.

Friends in this city have received a letter from Randolph Giles, a Plainfield boy, who is sergeant of marines on the flagship New York. He is at present at Yokohoma, Japan. In his letter he states that he is delighted with the climate there and in all his travels has seen nothing to equal it. He has ben in the marine service for several years and it has agreed with him to such an extent that he now weighs over two hundred pounds.

Trouble Over Taxes.

It is quite likely that William Newcorn, attorney for Charles Smith, will agree to paying the taxes with 10 per cent. interest on property owned by the latter on West Fifth street, if the Common Council will remit the Martin Act costs. This property was sold in error, and the owner feels as though the city should remit the costs.

Rains Damaged Sewer Work.

The recent rains have been playing havoc with the work on the Somerset street storm sewer. The workmen have been seriously handicapped in being obliged to wait, while the rains have been causing many depressions in the street which will require extra time to repair.

TAKEN FOR A ANARCHIST.

COUNCILMAN VAN HERWERDEN ARRESTED WHILE IN HOLLAND.

It Was All a Mistake And He Was Released—Wanted To See The Queen.

It is a true saying that "when in Rome you must do as Romans do," and the fact that a Plainfielder, now traveling abroad, failed to follow this injunction, landed him in trouble, from which he experienced some difficulty in extricating himself. The person is Councilman Jan. vanHerwerden, of South avenue.

Several weeks ago he went abroad to visit relatives and friends in Holland, intending to remain there most of the summer. It was while attempting to see Queen Wilhelmina that he got into trouble Just what course he pursued is not known, but at all events he was accosted by some of the guards of the Court, who, is said, regarded Mr. vanHerwerden with suspicion, and took him to be an anarchist. He attempted to explain matters, but all in vain. The guards placed him under arrest and he was taken before a magistrate for a proper explanation of affairs.

As soon as Mr. vanHerwerden was given due opportunity he gave a satisfactory explanation as to his actions, after which he was released. Mr. vanHerwerden's friends in Holland, as well as those who live in this country, view the affair as a great joke that he should be thus caught while visiting the country of his birth. Mr. vanHerwerden is expected to return home in a short time and no doubt he will be sought for a more complete explanation of his troubles while visiting Holland.

BEAT HILLSIDE CADDIES.

Team From Baltusrol Defeated Hillside Boys by a Score of 21 to 10.

The caddies of the Baltusrol Club defeated the caddies of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club in a team match on the Hillside course Monday afternoon by a score of 21 to 10. This is the worst defeat experienced by the local team this year, and shows that the members had a decidedly off day.

Prior to the winning of the match, T. Farley, the captain of the visiting team, made a new caddie record for the course. He made the eighteen holes in 84, which is claimed to be two strokes better than any previous play by a caddie. It being Farley's first play on the course, his score was considered excellent.

His card:

T. Farley—
Out..5 5 5 4 5 3 6 4 6—43
In....3 5 5 4 5 4 6 4 5—41—84

The score of the team match was as follows:

PROGRAMME COMPLETE.

All Arrangements Made for Emancipation Proclamation.

All arrangements for the exercises commemorative of the Emancipation Proclamation, to be held by the colored citizens of this vicinity Thursday, August 29, have been perfected and an elaborate programme has been planned.

Hon. Jesse Lawson, of Washington, D. C., will deliver a patriotic address on the significance of the occasion at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Lawson is a former Plainfielder and is very popular here. He will, no doubt, draw a large audience. In the evening, Rev. Dr. G. L. P. Taliferro, of Philadelphia, will speak on an appropriate theme. There will be a musical programme for the afternoon as well.

NEW HOSE WAGON.

Has Been Ordered By West End Hose Company Of The Borough.

The new hose wagon of the West End Hose Company has been ordered, and according to the agreement made with the builder, W. J. Conroy, of Somerset street, it will be finished in time to be used in the parade to be held by the borough fire department, October 17.

At a special meeting of the company, Tuesday evening, it was decided to have the wagon made in the borough, and the contract was awarded to Mr. Conroy. The estimated cost of the wagon, which will be a rubber tired vehicle, is $500.

Has Left His Home

Charles Robinson, the eighteen-year-old son of Peter Robinson, of Mountain avenue, has left his father's home. Mr. Robinson wishes it made known that he does not want him harbored by any of his friends.

UNION CO. PRISONER ASSAULTED A KEEPER

Murderer Manshande Had a Fierce Struggle With Deputy Carroll at State Prison.

HE USED CHAIR FOR A CLUB.

LOSES ALL CHANCE OF CUTTING HIS SENTENCE SHORT.

Was Implicated In Murder of Farmer Pitts at Summit, For Which Theo. Roesel Was Hanged—Serving Sentence of Twenty Years.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, August 8—A well directed attempt was made yesterday afternoon by George Manshande, a convict murderer, to brain Deputy Keeper Thomas Carroll, of the State Prison. The trouble started in the trouser-making department in which Mr. Carroll is employed as deputy. Two negroes engaged in a quarrel, and it was while Deputy Carroll was settling this dispute and leading one of the disputants away, that Manshande rushed up behind him and assaulted him with a chair. The deputy's nose was cut open and deep gashes were cut in his forehead. At this time, Michael J. Murphy, another convict, ran up and tried to save the deputy.

Deputy Carroll drew his revolver, and his first though was to shoot his assailant. Instead of that he took the butt of his revolver and directed a well-aimed blow at the head of the murderer. Blow after blow was given him, and finally, with the assistance of Deputy Provost, Manshande was gotten under control. He was taken to the hospital, where his wounds, as well as those of Deputy Carroll, were attended to. The trouble did not break the discipline among the other prisoners.

Manshande is serving a twenty-year sentence from Union county. Nearly three years ago he was convicted of complicity in the killing of Farmer Pitts and wife, who lived near Summit. To save his own neck he turned State's evidence, with the result that his companion, Theo. Roesel, was convicted and hanged a year ago last January. On the scaffold the young man protested that he was not the one who should hang.

Manshande has been an ugly customer at the prison. About a year ago he attempted to kill Deputy Carroll with an iron bar. By his act of yesterday he will forfeit all claim which he might otherwise have had to the four years' commutation for good behavior.

Twenty-five Went.

ONE WAY OUT.

A Resident of Plainfield Shows the Way.

Only one way to cure a bad back.
Liniment and plasters may relieve it.
They won't cure it.
Backache means sick kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.
Plainfield people prove this.
Read a case of it:
Mr. S. J. Conkling, traveling salesman for a New York confectionery house, 134 West Front street, says: "I was subject to pain in the back and hips which at times I felt in my side. I tried different kinds of kidney cures but received little or no relief. I read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I took three boxes altogether and was wonderfully improved. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and accomplish all that is claimed for them."

Exposition Cycle Meet.

BUFFALO, Aug. 8.—A vast crowd witnessed the national amateur championship bicycle meet on the new four lap board track in the Stadium of the Pan-American exposition. The features were the ease with which Marcus Hurley disposed of Frank Denny in the final of the one-third mile national amateur championship, the first race on the card. Denny took the lead at the gun, but before one-half of the distance had been traversed Hurley shot to the front and maintained his lead over the tape, winning by a full wheel's length. Hoffman, Ingraham, Hurley and Grady won their right to compete in the grand semifinal of the one-half mile national championship. George Wiley of Troy rode rings around his opponents in the hour event, one-half of which had taken place on Tuesday, but was postponed on account of rain. Wiley was the leader in 54 laps, thus winning a big share of the prizes. Walter Smith, the midget rider of the Kings County Wheelmen of New York, gave another grand exhibition.

A World's Record Broken.

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—One world's record was broken at Charles River park last night, it being the first heat, one mile, of the match race between Albert Champion and "Major" Taylor, the former covering the mile in 1:29 4-5 from a flying start. The previous record was 1:30 by Michael. "Major" Taylor seemed to be in hard luck. In the semifinals of the one-third mile championship while racing with Lawson, the latter leading, "Major" Taylor ran off the track and fell. He was carried to his quarters, but was not hurt badly enough to prevent his riding later in his match with Champion.

Football Coach For Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 8.—It is learned here that Dan Reed, '98, has been engaged as one of Cornell's football coaches for this year. In reply to a query from a friend at Cornell Reed wired that he expected to come to coach the team in September. He is one of Cornell's best known football players. He played left guard on the '96, '97 and '98 teams and was elected captain in 1898, but resigned to practice law.

Girl Killed Little Brother.

TUCKERTON, N. J., Aug. 8.—Elmer Hanley, 5 years old, was shot by his sister Ellen, 11 years old, and died four hours later. The parents of the children were out, and the little ones were alone in the cottage occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hanley. Owing to a recent burglar scare in the village Mr. Hanley had purchased a revolver, which he kept in the bureau drawer. His daughter found the revolver and suggested that she and her brother play Indians. She held the revolver and pointed it at her little brother and snapped the trigger. The bullet struck the boy over the right eye, and he fell to the floor. He died without regaining consciousness.

Machinists to Return to Work.

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 8.—Although they voted a few days ago to continue the fight, many of the machinists and molders formerly employed in the shops at Drifton of Coxe Bros. & Co. who have been on strike since June began to apply for their former positions, and the strike is now practically broken. The men have gained no concessions.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; fresh west to northwest winds.

FIGHTING THE TRUST

Steel Strikers Score Gain and Suffer Loss.

PLANT AT NEW CASTLE SHUT DOWN

The Manufacturers Succeed In Starting Up One Mill In Pittsburg—A Plan to Start Other Plants.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 8.—In the big steel strike honors are easy in this section. The Amalgamated association has succeeded in closing down the big steel plant at Newcastle, and the manufacturers partially broke the strike at the Clark mill in this city. Neither side is exulting, nor is there any expression of discouragement. Victory or defeat of either at this early stage of the warfare can have but little effect beyond indicating the probable line of battle to be pursued by each.

Up to this hour not the slightest trouble has occurred at any point in this immediate territory, and Amalgamated men are correspondingly happy because this condition would seem to be the carrying out of the association's new departure in the handling of strikes. The quiet waiting of the strikers may be one of the surprises hinted at by the national officers. From one or two points the strikers are reported as restless and eager for action, but so far have kept faith with their leaders and refrained from committing any breach of the peace.

The United States Steel corporation, it is learned from an official source, will at once proceed in a systematic manner to start its closed sheet mills, making the nonunion plants of the Kiskiminetas valley the cradle where strike breakers will be trained and then sent out to the mills that are closed.

So far as President C. M. Schwab is concerned no overtures will be made by the trust to the workers. In a talk with a Pittsburg man in New York Tuesday he said:

"We have made our last proposition to the Amalgamated association and will now proceed to start our works."

President Shaffer made this counter statement:

"The next proposition must come from the United States Steel corporation officials."

Thus the two executives stand. It seems as if only outside efforts can bring them together.

The trust officials have decided to go ahead slowly in the matter of starting mills and to do so with as little publicity as possible.

The strongholds of the sheet company are the mills at Vandergrift, the largest in the country; Leechburg, Apollo and Scottdale. It has been decided to take as many skilled men away from these places as possible without retarding operations there and start the mills where there is the least danger of an outbreak. The places left vacant at the mills mentioned will be filled with men deserving of promotion, and they will be given better positions. This move will be undertaken slowly and with caution. The plan further contemplates that after a time many of the strikers will return when they see one after another of the closed mills resuming.

This plan was tested the first few days of this week and found to be feasible so far as the mills at Hyde Park and Wellsville go, and it has been decided to adopt it so far as the sheet and hoop mills are concerned.

Plans for starting the closed tin plate mills have not been completed. In this branch the situation is different. The tin plate company has only six of its 232 roll trains going, while the sheet company has a few less than half.

The officials of the Amalgamated association say that this move will in a measure play into their hands. At McKeesport President Shaffer said that he himself would lead men from Vandergrift into the Wood mill. The officials feel that if they can get the Vandergrift men away from their environments there little trouble will be found in bringing them into the association.

The American Sheet Steel company made an increase of 12 men in the working force of the Wellsville plant. A special train of two coaches came in from Pittsburg bearing the 12 youthful looking strike breakers from Vandergrift and Scottdale, Pa., in charge of Harry H. Thompson, the young civil engineer who has been reported missing for several days past. The coming of the train was unknown to the strikers, and the company intended that its coming should be kept a secret to all, and the officials were much surprised and chagrined when the news writers put in an appearance five minutes before the train was scheduled to arrive.

Gompers Refuses to Talk.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 8.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has gone to Washington. From there he is going to Pittsburg. Vice President Hayes of the federation said that Mr. Gompers has made no public statement whatever relative to the federation's position on the steel strike. "All alleged interviews," Mr. Hayes said, "are untrue."

New York Port Collections.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—A statement shows that the amount of duties collected at the port of New York during July on passengers' baggage was $70,456 as against $18,971 collected during July, 1900, when the number of arriving passengers was over 2,000 in excess of those during last month. Since March 1 last, when the new regulations went into effect, the amount of collections have been $301,648 as against $66,550 collected during the corresponding period last year.

The San Francisco Strike.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The feature in the local strike is the walk out of 500 sand teamsters and all the firemen of the Pacific Coast company's vessels in port. By the strike of the sand teamsters the hauling of building material is brought to a standstill save in a few instances where contractors have their own teams. The strike of the Pacific Coast Steamship firemen was unexpected by the steamship people, who had made no preparations to obtain nonunion men.

The Kaiser Gives Away Wild Beasts.

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—Emperor William, reciprocating the recent courtesy of the sultan of Morocco, has presented to Abdul-el-Aziz for the new zoological garden at Fez a lion, a Bengal tiger, leopards, bears, stags and Indian and Japanese cranes and parrots, all purchased through a German dealer.

TO QUIT OCEAN TRADE

Chicago Shippers Complain of Ruinous Discrimination.

INSURANCE RATES ARE TOO HIGH.

Northwestern Steamship Company Will Give Up the Costly Experiment and Go Into the Lake Business.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Ruinous discrimination in insurance rates, according to officials of the Northwestern Steamship company, has decided them to withdraw from the transatlantic route the company's steamships. The withdrawal will be made on the return of the two steamships to Chicago from Liverpool. Similar action will be taken with the company's other two steamships unless the alleged extortions shall be abated during the six weeks' interval that will elapse before the steamers again make this port, and the route will be abandoned until such time as satisfactory rates can be arranged.

As high as $1.75 on $100 has been charged shippers for cargo insurance to Liverpool from this port, and the average rate has been not less than $1.25, at which figure there is a discrimination against the Chicago company of about $3,500 a cargo, or $7,000 a round trip.

Lines running to Europe from New York or Montreal are able to secure insurance as low as 30 cents.

In explanation of the abandonment of Chicago as an ocean port by the Northwestern Steamship company Charles Counselman, president of the company, said:

"We have been compelled to pay about three times as much as other steamship lines shipping from Atlantic ports. No shipping business can stand this, and consequently we have decided to draw off until such time as we can secure fair treatment.

"The reason for the discrimination is simply the fact that the Atlantic companies carry many times as much insurance as we do, and as they do not wish the growth of the district export trade from Chicago they use their influence with the insurance companies and throttle our efforts by tripling our insurance rates. Whether there is any insurance pool I do not know, but I know that there is not sufficient competition to assure us fair treatment."

"The Northwestern and the Northtown on their return from Europe in about a week," said General Manager Purdy of the steamship company, "will be put into the lake grain trade. The Northwestern and the Northman are on their way to Liverpool. They, too, may be taken off the transatlantic route unless the insurance companies shall come to terms with us."

The Tampa Labor Troubles.

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 8.—The Resistencia union has changed its position several times. At first the strikers were for taking an obligation to leave Tampa in a body and never return under any circumstances. Then they issued a statement that if their leaders are returned to them they will then be ready to arbitrate and settle. They declare that they will do nothing until this is done. Citizens say they will have a long job of waiting on their hands. It seems to be settled positively that these leaders are gone beyond reach, and this is impressing itself upon their minds. Resistencia has been telegraphing to Key West and New York trying to employ attorneys to come here and take their case, but with what success is unknown. This action was upon the belief that the men were in jail. They are not and never have been. From their vacillating moods it is interpreted that they are wavering and soon will be ready to reason and resume work where they left off. Tampa served them with notice that if they desire to leave in a body they can do so without objection being raised.

Artillery Officers Promoted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Under the instructions of Secretary Root that the artillery arm be increased one-sixth whenever 1,800 men have been recruited, the war department has directed the issue of an order carrying out these instructions to date Aug. 1. This will cause the promotion of the following officers: Lieutenant Colonel J. R. Myrick, to be colonel; Majors A. H. Merrill and W. Ennis, to be lieutenant colonels; Captains H. L. Harris, A. A. Murray, W. E. Birkhimer, T. R. Adams and J. A. Lundeen, to be majors, and a number of first lieutenants to be captains.

No More Corn Pools.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—"No more corn pools for me," said George H. Phillips. "I knew that I was standing over a can of gunpowder all the time, and it was only by the merest chance that I escaped total annihilation. I was forced into the May pool, but I won't be forced into another. They're too risky and not at all to my liking." The corn king made this emphatic declaration apropos of the resolution against pools passed by the board of directors of the board of trade.

Trolley Car Takes a Plunge.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 8.—A trolley car belonging to the Memphis Street Railway company was derailed while crossing a bridge over a bayou at Second and Mill streets and went down a 20 foot embankment. Five persons were injured more or less seriously. The injured will recover.

Knoxville Strikers Left Out.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 8.—The entire system of the Knoxville Traction company has resumed operations on regular schedule after a strike of over one week. New men are manning all cars with the exception of four employees who did not strike.

Italian Cabinet Changes.

ROME, Aug. 8.—It is announced that Signor Alfred Bacelli, undersecretary of state for agriculture, has been transferred to the ministry of foreign affairs and that Signor Fulci, minister of posts and telegraphs, has accepted the portfolio of agriculture.

A New Steel Steamer.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 8.—W. A. Hawgood has placed an order with the American Shipbuilding company for a new steel steamer to cost $270,000. The vessel will be 6,000 tons capacity and will enter the ore and grain trade next year.

Large Amount For Charity.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Under the will of the late James Toleman of London the sum of £250,000 is bequeathed to charity, and the executors are given an absolutely free hand in its distribution.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

Convention Disturbance Dropped. Tobacco Men Express Themselves.

HAVANA, Aug. 8.—At the last meeting of the constitutional convention Senor Cisneros presented his resolution that Senor Giberga be called upon to explain what he meant in his recent declaration that Marti was the evil genius of Cuba or to withdraw from the convention.

The convention adopted a modification of the resolution, expressing sympathy with the attitude of Senor Cisneros and disapproving the conduct of Senor Giberga, but at the same time asserting that it had no power to go further into the matter.

The Tobacco Buyers' union of Havana was recently asked by the Merchants' union to give an opinion as to the duties levied by the United States upon Cuban tobacco. The reply was to the effect that duties on cigars should be reduced to $2.50 per pound irrespective of value and that the duties on wrappers and fillings should be reduced 20 and 25 cents respectively per pound.

A long preamble asserts that Cuba, if she does not obtain concessions to which she has a perfect right in view of the fact that she is under the economic as well as the political protection of the United States, should ask for annexation. "This the United States would grant," the preamble goes on to say, "as it would be in conformity with the desire of a majority of the American people. Thus the successful opposition of the sugar and tobacco interests of the United States to granting concessions to Cuba would only result in the ruin of those interests, since with annexation Cuba would have free trade, and this would mean the overthrow of the sugar and tobacco industries in the States."

A WARSHIP TO COLON.

The Machias Ordered to Protect Our Interests In Colombia.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The state department has called upon the navy department to send a naval vessel to Colon to watch developments in connection with the Colombian uprising. The Machias, now at Boston, has been ordered to hold herself in readiness to go to Colon and will sail as soon as she can be made ready.

The action of the state department was based upon a dispatch received from Consul Gudger, at Panama, saying that a passenger train had been detained at Matachin and several government officers captured. So far the state department is not informed of any trouble which has already affected American interests, but the purpose of sending a vessel there is to watch the situation and be on hand in case of trouble.

Acting Secretary of State Adee explained that a wrong impression had been created as to the liability of the United States in connection with keeping open the traffic across the isthmus. The United States is only obligated to preserve neutrality across the isthmus and has not the right under the treaty to interfere where the trouble is caused by an insurrection among the people of Colombia. It would be different, however, if Colombia and Venezuela should get into a difficulty, as in that case the United States would have to preserve the neutrality of the line across the isthmus.

Explosion Delays Lake Steamer.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The steamer Northwest has arrived here from Buffalo 12 hours late, having been delayed by an explosion in the boiler room which injured two men. George Lewis was seriously burned on the face and body and was taken to the hospital here. The other injured man was sent back to Buffalo. All the rest of the crew escaped injury. The explosion was caused by the blowing out of one of the boiler tubes. The engine and boiler rooms were quickly filled with escaping steam.

Another Explosion Victim.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—Another body was found yesterday in the ruins of Monday night's explosion on Locust street, making a total of eight fatalities as a result of the disaster. The body found was that of an unknown negro about 50 years of age. His remains were found sitting upright in a chair in the debris of the Jones restaurant. He had evidently been eating a late supper when the explosion occurred. It is believed that all the victims have now been recovered.

A Suspected Gold Thief.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—It is learned that the police have in custody a man who was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the Selby smelter works robbery in which $280,000 worth of gold bullion was stolen. The identity of the suspect is not known. The police will give no information on the matter.

Hoyle's Literary Work.

The father of the game of whist, Edmond Hoyle, lived to be 97 years old. His treatise on cards has been published in all languages and probably no work except the Bible has passed through more editions. The original work appeared in London in 1742 and 1770 it had reached its fifteenth edition. Then the commentators, revisers, critics, iconoclasts, pirates and expounders set in and from that time on down to the present day innumerable "Hoyles" have been issued.

IOWA REPUBLICANS.

Cummins Named For Governor After a Sharp Fight.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Aug. 8.—The ticket nominated by the Republicans in convention here is as follows: Governor, A. B. Cummins, Des Moines; lieutenant governor, John Herriott, Stuart; judge of the supreme court, S. M. Weaver, Iowa Falls; railroad commissioner, E. C. Brown, Sheldon; superintendent of public instruction, R. C. Barrett, Osage.

Cummins swept the board. He and his followers took everything that they went for, and from the first rap of the gavel to putting out the lights there was no time when they did not have the situation well in hand. They had a hard fight before the committee on credentials in the effort to save the delegations of Jackson and Carroll counties and came from the committee room beaten men. They expected to have 6 out of 11 members of the committee, but the vote in the committees went against them in both cases by a vote of 5 to 6. This defeat was of no particular consequence, however, as they had the strength on the floor of the convention to seat their men whenever the question came up. They won their fight on the first ballot taken in the convention, and from that time to the finish there never was the slightest doubt of the ultimate result.

Although Herriott and all his personal following denied up to the time the convention opened that he would take nothing on the ticket less than first place, there is no doubt now that the deal was fixed up with the Cummins men. The platform adopted expresses "gratification over the indorsement given to the administration of President McKinley by the decisive majorities of last year and rejoices in the manifold benefits resulting to the country from his re-election, which has inspired new confidence to the business world, established authority and order in our new possessions and strengthened the position of this country before the world."

The people of the country are congratulated upon the "enjoyment of a state of prosperity that blesses every class and community."

The work of the Fifty-sixth congress, its legislation for the reduction of taxation and its constructive legislation, giving effect to the party declarations of 1896 and 1900, are approved.

The administration of Governor Shaw is declared to have reflected honor upon the state, and discussion of great questions is declared to have placed him as a leader of national influence and renown.

A. B. Cummins of Des Moines, who was nominated at the Republican state convention, is one of Iowa's representative men. Born in Greene county, Pa., 51 years ago, of Scotch-Irish parents, he worked himself through the common schools and the Waynesburg academy, and when his school education was completed he came west. In 1869 he located at Elkader, in Clayton county, Ia., and there secured a clerkship in the recorder's office. Some time afterward he engaged in carpentering, and still later he was an express messenger. In 1871 Cummins went to Indiana and was deputy surveyor of Allen county, a short time afterward becoming division engineer of the Cincinnati, Richmond and Fort Wayne railroad. At the age of 23 Cummins began the study of law, and two years later was admitted to the bar at Chicago. That city was his home until 1878, when he removed to Des Moines and formed a law partnership with J. C. Cummins. He was a member of the twenty-second general assembly of Iowa and for four years was a member of the Republican national committee.

EXPRESS ROBBERY RECALLED.

An American Arrested In Berlin For Offering Stolen Checks.

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—A man claiming to be E. C. Bolles of San Francisco, but who registered at the Kaiserhof as Bolles of Boston, was arrested yesterday for presenting at a branch of the Dresden bank checks identified as part of the booty obtained by the robbery of the American Express company's office in Paris during the month of April last. Bolles claims he acquired the checks legitimately.

Three masked burglars entered the American Express company's office the night of April 26 and escaped with 30,000 francs after dynamiting the safe in the office. The burglars left behind them a complete outfit of American burglar's tools.

Before beginning work on the safe the burglars bound and gagged the colored porter, who was asleep on the second story. They overlooked a packet of French bills worth 3,000 francs and a number of goldpieces.

Tom Edwards, said to be a native of Chicago and described as the leader of the gang, was arrested the following day, and George Nuber, reported to be the second member of the gang, was taken into custody at Amiens May 1. In his possession were found burglar's tools and a number of checks that had been stolen from the express office.

On June 8 the police of Paris arrested a notorious woman named May Churchill, known as "Chicago May," who was suspected of complicity with Tom Edwards in the robbery. Finally in June last Eddie Guerin of Chicago was also arrested by the French police on the charge of being one of the three burglars concerned in the express company's robbery.

Guerin, it was said by the police, is the man who ten years ago robbed the Bank of Lyons, France, of 250,000 francs. The police of Chicago assisted in the identification of Guerin by means of the Bertillon measures of the man taken years ago by the French police.

Waldersee's Return.

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—The return of Count von Waldersee from China has been quite overshadowed by the melancholy event at Cronberg. Some of the papers indulge in general reflections upon his career in the far east, commenting upon the results in somewhat disappointed tones. His work is highly praised, but running through the commendation is an admission that the German nation a year ago greatly misconceived the scope and character of his mission. The Deutsche Tages Zeitung admits that he brings no laurel wreaths, but explains that this is because such things were not to be obtained in China.

More Gold Arrives.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 8.—The steamship Islander has arrived from Skaguay. She brought $150,000 in treasure. News has been brought down of a great drought on the creeks, which will be the means of very much reducing the estimated output. The Bank of British America shipped via St. Michael's to San Francisco $315,000 just before the steamer left.

BIG FLOODS IN CHINA

Thousands of Persons Reported to Have Been Drowned.

THE YANGTSE RIVER RAGING.

A Rise of Forty-six Feet at One Point—Large Area of Country Inundated—Property Loss Large.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 8.—Advices by the steamship Empress of Japan of disastrous floods in China because of the overflowing of the great Yangtse river were received yesterday. Since July 7 the water had been steadily rising and was reported to be 46 feet above its normal level on July 10 at Kinkiong. The loss of life is enormous, and millions of persons have been rendered homeless. A large region was converted into a lake, with the tops of trees and occasionally the roof of a house above water.

All the environs of Hongchow were inundated, but the town and the foreign settlement escaped. Lower down the river, however, the whole country was completely inundated, and there the greatest loss of life occurred. At Kinkiong there were two feet of water in the foreign settlement, built high above the native town. At Anking the houses outside the walled city were all flooded, some to the roofs.

Lower down as far as Wuhu the same terrible state of affairs prevailed. The boatmen in this district compute the loss of life there alone at 20,000.

Kiangsu and Hunan will suffer most, as the floods there are caused by the overflow of the big lake. Viceroy Chang Chih Tung in his report says that he is in great fear that the high water will cause a breach in his newly constructed embankment on the south side of the district, the building of which involves a tremendous cost. Thousands of men were employed at this embankment, lying about a mile and a half from Wuchong, throwing in bags full of beans, mud, etc., to prevent the bursting of the bank, which had already cracked.

Should the dam break and the river break through and flood the country in that district thousands of houses will be washed away and many thousands of persons drowned.

A SUCCESSOR TO LI.

New Viceroy to Be Taken From Shangtung.

PEKING, Aug. 8.—It is reported and not denied by Li Hung Chang that Yuan Shih Kai, the governor of Shangtung, who has been regarded as friendly to foreigners, is to be transferred to the province of Chi-li. This change is desirable, as Li Hung Chang, the present viceroy, is too infirm to supervise the affairs of the province, and Yuan Shih Kai's troops are needed to restore order. Yuan Shih Kai's transfer, however, would be detrimental to the interests of Shangtung, as his removal with his troops would probably cause a renewal of the disturbances in that province, which another officer would find it difficult to restrain.

The Canadian missionaries are making plans to return to northern Honan within two weeks. This is near the line of the court's return. The missionaries have received promises from the Chinese that a guard will be sent with them for their protection. The officers are apparently anxious that the missionaries shall return.

Negro Burned at the Stake.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 8.—With agonizing screams and his eyes bulging from his head John Wesley Pennington, a negro, was burned at the stake near Enterprise, Ala., before a crowd of 500 enraged and determined citizens of Coffee county. The mob was composed of both whites and blacks, and, though the suffering man pleaded for mercy and frantically endeavored to break the chains that tightly bound him, not a trace of sympathy was shown on the faces that peered at him through the flames. Pennington had committed a brutal assault upon Mrs. J. C. Davis, the wife of one of the most prominent farmers of Coffee county, and had confessed his guilt.

Boers Still Confident.

TOPEKA, Aug. 8.—Thomas Aderhold reached his home here yesterday direct from the Transvaal, where for eight months he had been ministering to the sick and wounded Boers as a Red Cross surgeon. He went to South Africa with the Irish-American hospital corps of Chicago. Mr. Aderhold says the Boers are as far from defeat now apparently as a year ago and that they are confident of winning. His return is due to being captured by the British and being sent from the country. The English were very bitter at those aiding the Boers, and only by persistent efforts of the American consul was Mr. Aderhold permitted to escape a term at St. Helena.

The Acis May Be Saved.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 8.—The latest information received from the wrecked steamer Acis, which lies on the rocks west of Cape Race, is that she has sunk four feet farther by the head, but that aft of No. 3 hold she is free of water. The engine room is dry, the engineers are standing by the machinery, and there is full steam on in readiness for the first favorable opportunity to tow her off the rocks. All the cargo is being hoisted out by her own steam. Five steamers are now lying near salvaging the portions of the cargo still removable.

Fusion In Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 8.—Meetings were held last night by the Democratic, Populist and Free Silver Republican state central committees, and fusion of the three parties was practically agreed upon, the state conventions of all being fixed for Sept. 17 at Lincoln. William J. Bryan addressed the Democratic and Popolist committees and expressed himself strongly in favor of fusion.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Plans For Hospital.

Despite many things which have tended to interfere, the day is near at hand when ground will be broken for the new buildings for Muhlenberg Hospital. The committee from the Board of Governors, which has the building operations in charge, has received six sets of plans and will shortly select the most desirable one. Then will come the advertising for bids and the first steps will be taken.

It is a subject for general satisfaction on the part of every Plainfielder that this city is soon to have a hospital which will be adequate to the demands of a city of this size. The present quarters are not, as is well known, large enough, while their location is not a desirable one. The railroad and noisy machine shops are too near for the comfort of the sick and injured whose nerves are ill-fitted to withstand the roar and din.

There is no doubt but that the committee will select a design for the building which will conform to the demands of the modern hospital as well as being an architectural ornament to that neighborhood. It is possible to combine both utility and beauty and the committee will no doubt insist that they are united. Other cities have hospitals which are much admired and Plainfield should keep in line with the others. There is an urgent demand for a hospital and the sooner it is built the better it will be for the whole community.

The New Ordinance.

It is very likely that there will be more than one extremely angry man when the ordinance, just passed by the Board of Health, is put rigidly into force. The custom of expectorating in any place has become such a habit with many men that they are likely to seriously object when the officers of the law hale them to a court of justice for that offense.

Despite these indignant protests that are sure to be made, the new ordinance is not an unreasonable one and is now being enforced in New York and most of the other large cities of the east. At best, it is a most unclean and vulgar habit and contains the possibilities of transmitting contagious disease. The floors of trolley cars and other public conveyances are not made to spit on. There is a proper time for all things and because a very poor custom has been practiced in the past is no reason why it should be continued.

There will be no special officers appointed by the Board of Health to secure the strict enforcement of this ordinance. It will be left with the regular police. While, in a few cases, they may be content at first with simply warning the offender, a further violation is sure to be followed by arrest. According to the ordinance, a fine of from $2 to $20 can be imposed by the judge.

One of the leading figures in Pennsylvania's quota in the Civil War has passed away by the death of Major-General James Scott Negley. He was a brave soldier and won a military record of which anyone could be very proud. Hardly a day passes now but some of the veterans of that great conflict pass on into the Great Unknown.

The interview with Former Assemblyman E. E. Cooper, in another column, will be read with interest by all those who are at all interested in Somerset county politics. Mr. Cooper says he is in the race for the shrievalty nomination until after the convention.

The fight against bar-maids in Hoboken has begun. A girl was sent to jail for fifteen days for acting in that capacity. In order to protect her from the evil influences of the bar-room, they put her in jail with the criminals.

Si Drake seems to be the only one who has shown any disposition to hustle after the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company. It is a wonderful opportunity for the Board of Trade. Will it take advantage of it?

When you come to realize that almost three inches of water fell in twenty-four hours, ending yesterday morning, it means that a very large quantity of it dropped. No wonder the streams are high.

A sheriff and an assemblyman will be elected in Somerset county this fall. The Daily Press was in error yesterday in stating that Senator Reed's term expired this fall. He holds over until another year.

It is all very nice to go away to the seashore or the mountains for an outing during the summer months but there are very few who are not glad to return to Plainfield again when the fun is all over.

A young woman in St. Louis attempted to ride a horse after the fashion of man. She lost her stirrups and fell off. There are some people who might be able to find a moral in that attempt.

The summer is rapidly slipping past and still there is no prospect of a public swimming pool for the boys of the city and borough.

On general principles it is to be hoped that the successful architect for the new hospital buildings will be a Plainfielder.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Chief of Police Murphy, of Jersey City, has decided to make another effort to convict employes of the Western Union Telegraph Company of aiding and abetting "green goods" men. A similar attempt some years ago failed because of the State's inability to secure sufficient evidence, but the chief thinks that he has all that is necessary now.—Newark News.

* * * *

The "special session" of the Legislature at Pleasure Bay was intended to be an occasion of good feeling, but while Republicans fraternized with Democrats, Hamilton Fish Kean and Charles Nelson Codding sat opposite each other at the festive board and did nothing but frown. While others were eating clams, these two leaders of opposing Republican factions in Union county were thinking only of how they might devour each other and their followers. When the opportunity for this anticipated cannibalistic banquet arrives, the Keans and the Coddings may find themselves on the boards with the Democrats as the feasters.—Newark News.

MR. BARTLE EXPLAINS.

Asks That Neighbors Have a Little Patience And He Will Try Not To Maintain a Nuisance.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:

I wish to say a few words in your paper in reply to the charge, made before the Honorable Common Council, that the stone yard at the corner of Second and Church streets is a nuisance.

I must express regret that I located at that place, but did not know that it was exclusively a residence district until it was too late to retrace my steps. I do not wish to maintain anything which is thought to be a nuisance, and if the people will have a little patience until the buildings are completed and the plant in good running order, they may find, instead of an eye sore, something which is the opposite.

I promise the public to put on as good an appearance as the business and my means will permit.

W. E. Bartle.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, August 8—The Borough Board of Education, at its last meeting, appointed Miss Martha Whitenack, of Somerville, as a school teacher in the Whittier building. A number of bills for repairs, which have been completed, were paid.

A wagon, overloaded with lumber, broke down yesterday afternoon near Rock avenue. The front axle gave way and let the end of the wagon to the ground. A new set of wheels was procured at Plainfield.

The funeral of William Eglinton will be held from the residence of his mother, Mrs. Agnes Eglinton, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The interment will be made at Hillside Cemetery, Samptown.

The funeral of Robert Mundy will be held this afternoon at his late home at 1 o'clock, and 2 o'clock at the Park Avenue Baptist church, Plainfield.

Mrs. John Wehrly, of Somerville, has returned home after spending several days with her parents, the Mayor and Mrs. Swackhamer.

Miss Ethel Fenner, of Pluckemin, who is residing with her sister, is improving from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Randolph have returned home after a visit with out-of-town friends.

Mrs. Owen Mohan has returned home after a visit with her brother at Oyster Bay.

The repairs to the railroad crossing have been completed and traffic again resumed.

Arrangements are being made for a baseball game here Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. J. J. Stites has returned home after a visit with friends in Bayonne.

Miss Frances Hayes is being entertained by friends in Brooklyn.

The W. C. T. U. meets this afternoon at 3 o'clock in its rooms.

NEW MARKET

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, August 8—J. Y. Rupell has been taken ill with malaria. It is thought that the nearness of the pond is the cause of much of the malaria.

Miss Mabel Hummer, of New Durham, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Hummer.

Miss Alice Pierce is entertaining her cousin, Miss A. Pierce, of Philadelphia.

Charles L. Kelly, of Philadelphia, is being entertained by local friends.

Dr. W. J. Nelson has had plans drawn for a new dwelling house.

Charles Ward is out of town on a two weeks' vacation.

Miss Ethel Rogers has purchased a new bicycle.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, August 8.—The trolley patronizing public of Scotch Plains is fairly well pleased by the regularity with which the cars pass through the town. Sometimes, however, the cars will be as much as five minutes ahead of time or ten minutes late. Yesterday they ran very erratically.

Prof. Joseph Gerstel spent Tuesday with Edward Hand. Mr. Gerstel is a very clever billiard and pool player.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church met last night and held an interesting meeting.

Repairs are being made to the public school building. John Bornman has the contract.

Miss McNabb, of Netherwood, is being entertained at the home of Mrs. Whitenack.

Mrs. Dreier, of West Front street, Plainfield, spent yesterday with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles French are visiting Mr. French's father, Augustus French.

Thomas Paff has returned home from a visit with out-of-town friends.

Miss Cora Miller is spending a few weeks with friends at Asbury Park.

Miss Elsie Cook is visiting friends at Chatham.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, August 8—It is fast becoming necessary for the local grocers to hire an interpreter in order to do business with the Hungarians and Italians who come after goods. In the Manning grocery store one may see any night five or six of these foreigners who know but one or two words of English, and when at last their wants are guessed they wear a smile like a basket of chips. One man came in this store and asked for chick, chick, and after the clerk had made several furtive guesses he happened to think of eggs, which was the article desired. There are about 250 of these men employed on the railroad.

A large number of South Plainfielders accompanied the New Market Sunday-schools on their picnic to Sewaren today. They went by trolley from Plainfield.

Miss Laura Manning won the first prize, a table ornament, at a progressive euchre party in Bound Brook last night.

Parker Morris has returned to his home near New Brunswick after a few days' visit with local friends.

Mrs. Morris Higgins, who is at Muhlenberg Hospital, is improving rapidly.

MR. COOPER IS A CANDIDATE.

DENIES STORY THAT HE NO LONGER WANTS SHRIEVALTY NOMINATION.

Says He Will Remain in the Race Until the Ballot is Cast at the Convention.

There is no truth in the rumor emanating from Somerville to the effect that Former Assemblyman E. E. Cooper is out of the race for the shrievalty nomination of the Republicans of Somerset county. The authority for this statement is Mr. Cooper himself. He was interviewed regarding the rumor by a Press reporter yesterday afternoon when he happened to come to town.

"Yes," said Mr. Cooper, "I am a candidate. There is not a bit of truth in the story that I have withdrawn. I have not been near Somerville for some time and haven't talked politics with any Somerville men either. I'd like to know where they get their authority for that statement. You may say I'm a candidate and am going to remain so until after the ballot is cast at the convention."

Mr. Cooper is a believer in a frank, open confession. He would like to be sheriff and he does not care who knows it. His friends have assured him of their support and he is going to make a hustle for the nomination anyhow.

Mr. Cooper is the first man on the Republican side to definitely declare that he was a candidate for the nomination for sheriff. He will undoubtedly have the support of Former Chancery Clerk L. A. Thompson and his friends. The other two men mentioned are Mayor N. B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, and P. V. D. Van Doren, who was defeated for the office three years ago by Sheriff Schoonmaker. The Thompson faction has been held, with good reason probably, responsible for his defeat.

Installed an Officer.

Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., held an interesting meeting last night which was well attended. Deputy Grand Chancellor Putnam installed as master at work, George Radford, of Spooner avenue. George Liable entertained the members with songs. Mr. Liable claims the honor of being the smallest K. of P. in the supreme domain.

Meeting of Consistory.

After prayer meeting last evening, the consistory of Trinity Reformed church met in regular monthly session. Elder G. L. VanEmburgh was elected chairman in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck. No important business was transacted, only routine matters being before the meeting.

HUYLER'S CANDIES FRESH

road is operated with respect to this one village, and for this reason the passenger connections are made at Morristown instead of Whitehouse.

When the stop at Mendham is made the traveler sees nothing but a small station, a coal yard and a frog pond, but the village is just a little ways up the hill. At this point the Rockaway Valley has in operation a plan which possesses the unique distinction of being the only one of its kind known.

The general station agent, Mike Coghlan, as he is familiarly known to all the residents, is provided with horses and a roomy stage coach, and about half an hour before train time he starts out to gather up passengers around the town, and when a train arrives a delivery is made in the same way. Baggage, express and freight receive the same consideration as the passengers. There is a two-fold object in this—the accommodation of the public and a successful competition with the stage line which runs between Mendham and Morristown.

Leaving Mendham behind, the descent continues to Ralston and then a series of hills are encountered which taxes the ability of the engineer, Lew Harr, to the utmost. "Bucking" these hills is a regular feature of the trips. The Englishman's definition of American railways—"hairpins laid on toothpicks"—would apply directly to the Rockaway Valley. When Peapack is reached a new complication arises. The station is so located that the train cannot be started if it's stopped in front of that structure, so a stop is made about 100 yards away. When the start is made all the steam is crowded on as a short "dip" is made to a high trestle bridge, and then an incline which rivals the switchback, but of shorter duration.

After Pottersville is passed all hands breathe a sigh of relief, as the best part of the road is reached. While there are numerous hills, all of them can be successfully mounted with even seven or eight cars.

New Germantown is the last place of any importance upon the line. Whitehouse is the southern terminus, and here freight connections are made with the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The passenger connections are poor, though, as there is usually a wait of from one to three hours for eastbound trains.

The north-bound trips have about the same characteristics as the south-bound, excepting that there are fewer hills to buck, the ascents being more gradual and all the pitches downward. The 6:00 o'clock train north is one which taxes the ability of Engineer Harr and Conductor J. O. Young to the utmost. One hour and twenty minutes is allowed, and the train must be on time at Watnong in order to connect with the 7:50 and 7:53 trains at Morristown, which take the mails. Another trip north is made at 2:48 in the afternoon.

It is customary to carry freight on this as well as on the other trains, and after Brookside is passed the engineer makes the best time he can, regardless of schedule. Not only has he to see that his train is on time, but he has to be prepared for the most unexpected and astounding emergencies imaginable.

Only last Sunday he and his crew spent the day in putting new wheels and axles under the passenger coach, a deed which they successfully accomplished.

For a number of years there was no method of communication between the stations or the terminals, but a telephone wire now runs from Whitehouse to Watnong. High speed cannot be made, either with safety or by the present engine, although considerable distances are run at from forty to forty-five miles an hour.

When the road was first constructed there was an overplus of trouble with people through whose lands the line passed, and one old lady successfully collected a bill for damages by having employes erect a heavy post and rail fence across the track until the stopping to take it down threatened to paralyze the system. It was not safe to buck into the fence on the southern trip, as the locomotive was running backward, and one rail dropping in the proper place would have thrown the train from the track.

TO GOOD ROADS CONVENTION.

R. A. MEEKER NAMED AS A COMMISSIONER FROM NEW JERSEY.

Governor Appointed Twenty-Four to Represent State at Meeting of National Good Roads Association.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, August 8—New Jersey will be well represented at the coming convention of the National Good Roads Association of the United States, which meets at Buffalo, September 16 to 21. The Governor has named twenty-four commissioners to represent the State at the convention. Among these was Robert A. Meeker, of Plainfield, one of the State supervisors of roads.

"It is highly proper," said the Governor yesterday, "that the State should be represented at the convention and the persons named are all prominently identified with the good roads movement in New Jersey. Included in the list are eminent engineers and practical men from all sections of the State, who will undoubtedly be able to materially assist by their voice in the construction of roads in their several counties."

The Governor will invite persons interested in automobiles to suggest a few other commissioners.

The committees named yesterday are: Frederick Schubardt, Egg Harbor City; Theodore V. Terhune, Ridgewood; Samuel L. Allen, Moorestown; Henry I. Budd, Mt. Holly; John J. Atherton, Magnolia; Dr. Wesley R. Wales, Cape May City; James Owen, Montclair; Charles W. Knight, Woodbury; William A. Poland, Trenton; John Correja, Jr., Iselin; William H DeMyse, Long Branch City; Thomas H. Hoagland, Rockaway; William E. King, Landing; George G. Smith, Lakewood; Edward N. Sultan Settles Claims Held Against Him by Uncle Sam.

European Diplomats Astounded by Minister Leishman's Success Which Was Due to Firmness and Persistency.

John G. A. Leishman, United States minister to Turkey, who collected the long-outstanding debt of the sublime porte to the American government, was recently transferred from his post as minister to Switzerland to the mission at Constantinople. He is a native of Pennsylvania and a resident of Pittsburgh. His wealth, which is very great, was accumulated in the iron and steel industry, from which he retired a few years ago. This successful diplomat was reared in the Protestant orphan asylum at Allegheny. He began his business career as an office boy for a physician and left that place to accept a similar occupation with the Shoenberger Steel company. This was a lucky stroke. In 12 years he was cashier of the company and later formed a partnership with W. P. Snyder in the iron brokerage business. In 1886 he formed his connection with the Carnegie company and remained with that concern until 1897. He is noted for his fine judgment of paintings and for his rare capacity as a host.

Congratulations are appropriately offered to Secretary Hay and Mr. Leishman upon their remarkable success in collecting that old $5,000 claim of the United States. The achievement will be regarded as almost a miracle by the statesmen of Europe, says the Chicago Post. Nearly every civilized nation is Turkey's unwilling creditor, in the sense in which the United States was her creditor, but Uncle Sam is the only member of this "concert" who has actually "seen the color" of the sultan's money.

There seems to be no doubt that the debt has been collected. The amount was handed over to Minister Leishman, and by him placed in the Ottoman imperial bank to the credit of the United States. The United States has indulged in no threats or bluster; it has made no naval demonstrations in Turkish waters, though at one time the sensational newspapers published cock-and-bull stories about the likelihood of "war" between this country and Turkey over the claims in question.

JOHN G. A. LEISHMAN.
(United States Minister at Constantinople, Turkey.)

The state department has been gentle, but firm and persistent. It has been at it for more than a decade. The claims, as readers are aware, are chiefly based on the property losses and other injuries sustained by our missionaries and educational institutions in connection with the Armenian atrocities. At first the porte denied all responsibility for the damage, asserting that it had been inflicted by rebellious subjects numerically stronger than the forces of the government. This excuse was easily riddled, and then the familiar game of procrastination and subterfuge was resorted to and continued for years.

Four or five American ministers have successively labored with the sultan and his advisers. They finally convinced him that, unlike Europe, the United States did not mix business with international politics. The future of Turkey, the designs of this or that power on Constantinople, the Balkan troubles and the whole question of the near east had nothing to do with the clear and simple case of discharging a just debt.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Billy Gray, young college student, secures a lieutenant's commission on breaking out of Spanish-American war. He meets a Mr. Prime, Miss Prime and Miss Amy Lawrence.

CHAPTER II.—After a conference in his official tent, Gen. Drayton joins a gay company in his personal tent—Mrs. Garrison doing the honors as hostess.

CHAPTER III.—Lieut. Gray is invited to join the Prime party, to go over in Mr. Prime's carriage to see the review, but is denied leave by Col. Canker, whom the regiment had nicknamed "Squeers." Vacant seat in carriage is given Col. Armstrong.

CHAPTER IV.—On the way to the review the Prime party witnesses the capture of two soldiers suspected of having been accomplices in the stealing of stores intended for the soldiers—even of dainties contributed by the Red Cross.

CHAPTER V.—Gray receives a note from a prisoner, who is suspected of having been a large recipient of the stolen goods, but who declares his innocence, begs Gray's help and signs himself "George Morton," adding the Greek letters of the same fraternity Gray had belonged to in college. Gray had planned a night in town, expecting to meet the Prime party. In spite of the fact that this might be his last chance for a chat with Amy Lawrence, Gray manages to secure duty as officer of the guard, that he may have an opportunity to have an interview with Morton.

"Oh! I thought perhaps your husband," began the lady, dubiously, but with a significant glance at the silent faces about her.

"Who? Frank Garrison? Heavens! I haven't known what it was to have a husband—since that poor dear boy went on staff duty," promptly answered the diminutive center of attraction, a merry peal of laughter ringing under the dingy archway of the long, long roof. "Why, the Portland has only one stateroom in it big enough for a bandbox, and of course the general has to have that, and there isn't a deck where one couple could turn a slow waltz. No, indeed! wait for the next flotilla, when our fellows go, bands and all. Then we'll see."

"But surely, Mrs. Garrison, we are told the war department has positively forbidden officer's wives from going on the transports"—again began her interrogator, a wistful look in her tired eyes. "I know I'd give anything to join Mr. Dutton."

"The war department has to take orders quite as often as it gives them, Mrs. Dutton. The thing is to know how to be of the order giving side. Oh, joy!" she suddenly cried. "Here are the Primes and Amy Lawrence—then the regiments must be coming! And there's Stanley Armstrong!"

Far up the westward street the distant roar of voices mingled with the swing and rhythm and crash of martial music. Dock policemen and soldiers on guard began boring a wide lane through the throng of people on the pier. A huge black transport ship lay moored along the opposite side to that on which the guns and troopers were embarked, and for hours bales, boxes and barrels had been swallowed up and stored in her capacious depths until now, over against the tables of the Red Cross, there lay behind a rope barrier, taut stretched and guarded by a line of sentries, an open space close under the side of the greater steamer and between the two landing stages, placed fore and aft. By this time the north tide of the broad pier was littered with the inevitable relics of open air lunching, and though busy hands had been at work and the tables had been cleared, and fresh white cloths were spread and everything on the tables began again to look fair and inviting, the good fairies themselves looked askance at their bestrewn surroundings. "Oh, if we could only move everything bodily over to the other side," wailed Madam President, as from her perch on a stack of Red Cross boxes she surveyed that coveted stretch of clean, unhampered flooring.

"And why not?" chirruped Mrs. Garrison, from a similar perch, a tier or two higher. "Here are men enough to move mountains. All we have to do is to say the word."

"Ah, but it isn't," replied the other, gazing wistfully about over the throng of faces, as though in search of some one sufficient in rank and authority to serve her purpose. "We plead in vain with the officer-of-the-guard. He says his orders are imperative—to allow no one to intrude on that space," and madam looked as though she would rather look anywhere than at the animated sprite above her.

"What nonsense!" shrilled Mrs. Garrison. "Here, Cherry," she called to a pretty girl, standing near the base of the pile, "give me my bag. I'm army woman enough to know that order referred only to the street crowd that sometimes works in on the pier and steals." The bag was duly passed up to her. She cast one swift glance over the heads of the crowd to where a handsome carriage was slowly working its way among the groups of prettily-dressed women and children—friends and relatives of members of the departing commands, in whose behalf, as though by special dispensation, the order excluding all but soldiers and the Red Cross had been modified. Already the lovely dark-eyed girl on the near side had waved her hand in greeting, responding to Mrs. Garrison's enthusiastic signals, but her companion, equally lovely, though of far different type, seemed preoccupied, perhaps unwilling to see, for her large, dark, thoughtful eyes were engaged with some object on the opposite side—not even with the distinguished looking soldier who sat facing her and talking quietly at the moment with Mr. Prime. There was a gleam of triumph in Mrs. Garrison's dancing eyes as she took out a flat notebook and pencil and dashed off a few lines in bold and vigorous strokes. Tearing out the page, she rapidly read it over, folded it and glanced imperiously about her. A cavalry sergeant, one of the home troop destined to remain at the Presidio, was leaning over the edge of the pier, hanging on to an iron ring and shouting some parting words to comrades on the upper deck, but her shrill soprano cut through the dull roar of deep, masculine voices and the tramp of feet on resounding woodwork.

"Sergeant!" she cried, with quick decision. "Take this over to the officer in command of that guard. Then bring a dozen men and move these two tables across the pier." The cavalryman glanced at the saucy little woman in the stunning costume, "took in" the gold crossed sabres, topped by a regimental number in brilliants that pinned her martial collar at the round, white throat, noted the ribbon and pin and badge of the Red Cross, and the symbol of the Eighth corps in red enamel and gold upon the breast of her jacket, and above all the ring of accustomed authority in her tone, and never hesitated a second. Springing to the pile of boxes he grasped the paper, respectfully raised his cap and bored his stalwart way across the pier. In three minutes he was back—half a dozen soldiers at his heels.

"Where'll you have 'em, ma'am—miss?" he asked, as the men grasped the supports and raised the nearmost table.

"Straight across and well over to the edge," she answered, in the same crisp tones of command. Then, with total and instant change of manner, "I suppose your tables should go first, Madam President," she smilingly said. "It shall be as you wish about the others."

And the Red Cross was vanquished.

"I declare," said an energetic official, a moment later, leaning back on her throne of lemon boxes and fanning herself vigorously, "for a whole hour I've been trying to move that officer's heart and convince him the order didn't apply to us. Now how did—she—do it?"

"The officer must be some old—some personal friend," hazarded the secretary, with a quick feminine comprehensive glance at the little lady now being lifted up to shake hands with the carriage folk, after being loaded with compliments and congratulations by the ladies of the two favored tables.

"Not at all," was the prompt reply. "He is a volunteer officer she never set eyes on before to-day. I would like to know what was on that paper."

But now the roar of cheering and the blare of martial music had reached the very gateway. The broad portals were thrown open and in blue and brown, crushed and squeezed by the attendant throng, the head of the column of infantry came striding on to the pier. The band, wheeling to one side, stood at the entrance, playing them in, the rafters ringing to the stirring strains of "The Liberty Bell." They were still far down the long pier, the sloping rifles just visible, dancing over the heads of the crowd. No time was to be lost. More tables were to be carried, but—who but that—"that little army woman" could give the order so that it would be obeyed. Not one bit did the president like to do it, but something had to be done to obtain the necessary order, for the soldiers who so willingly and promptly obeyed her beck and call were now edging away for a look at the newcomers, and Mrs. Frank Garrison, perched on the carriage step and chatting most vivaciously with its occupants and no longer concerning herself, apparently, about the Red Cross or its tables, had the gratification of finding herself approached quite as she had planned, by two most prominent and distinguished women of San Francisco society, and requested to issue instructions as to the moving of the other tables. "Certainly, ladies," she responded, with charming smiles. "Just one minute, Mildred. Don't drive farther yet," and within that minute half a dozen boys in blue were lugging at the first of the tables still left on the crowded side of the dock, and others still were bearing oil stoves, urns and trays. In less time than it takes to tell it the entire Red Cross equipage was on its way across the pier, and when the commanding officer of the arriving regiment reached the spot which he had planned to occupy with his band, his staff and all his officers, there in state and ceremony to receive the citizens who came in swarms to bid them farewell, he found it occupied by as many as eight snowy, goody-laden tables, presided over by as many as 80 charming maids and matrons, all ready and eager to comfort and revive the inner man of his mighty regiment with coffee and good cheer illimitable, and the colonel swore a mighty oath and pounced on his luckless officer of the guard. He had served as a subaltern many a year in the old army, and knew how it was done.

"Didn't I give you personal and positive orders not to let anything or anybody occupy this space after the baggage was got aboard, sir?" he demanded.

"You did, sir," said the unabashed lieutenant, pulling a folded paper from his belt, "and the Red Cross got word to the general and what the Red Cross says—goes. Look at that!"

The colonel looked, read, looked dazed, scratched his head and said: "Well, I'm damned!" Then he turned to his adjutant. "You were with me when I saw the general last night and he told men to put this guard on and keep this space clear. Now, what d'you say to that?"

The adjutant glanced over the pencilled lines. "Well," said he, "if you s'pose any order that discriminates against the Red Cross is going to hold good, once they find it out, you're bound to get left. They're feasting the first company now, sir; shall I have it stopped?" and there was a grin under the young soldier's mustache. The colonel paused one moment, shook his head and concluded he, too, would better grin and bear it. Taking the paper in his hand again he heard his name called and saw smiling faces and beckoning hands in an open carriage near him, but the sight of Stanley Armstrong, signaling to him from another, farther away, had something dominant about it. "With you in a minute," he called to those who first had summoned him. "What is it, Armstrong?"

PROGRESSIVE CURE.

Mrs. Williams: "How is it, Doctor, that you who always object so strongly to patent medicines, make an exception of Ripans Tabules? Aren't you rather inconsistent?"

Doctor Brown: "Not in the least, Mrs. Williams. Every disease manifests itself in several different stages, one after another. When any one is suffering from digestive disorder he usually imagines it is a very simple matter instead of a very complicated one, and makes the mistake of relying upon some single drug which only affects one stage of the complaint, leaving the others to take care of themselves or develop into something worse than the original trouble.

"An intelligent physician aims at a progresssive course of treatment to meet the different phases of a case, step by step, each with its appropriate remedy, and beats the disease at each successive point of attack, so that when the final symptoms are overcome, the disease is thoroughly routed. Physicians recommend Ripans Tabules because they are compounded upon this very principle of overcoming disease progressively.

"In nervous indigestion or costiveness the Tabules act successively upon the different organs involved and overcome each symptom in turn. Headache, sour stomach and nervous depression are relieved almost immediately. The bowels are affected more gradually but surely and thoroughly; and what is of more account, the relief and benefit to the entire system is permanent. That is what physicians call scientific cure. That is why I recommend Ripans Tabules."

WANTED—A case of bad breath that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package of seventy-two for sixty cents. RIPANS 12 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. STYLES FOR CHILDREN.

Most of Them as Elaborate as Those Worn by Grown Ups.

There are many pretty styles for the younger generation this season. One of the smartest boys' suits is made of white drill, with a sailor blouse and a dark blue collar and cuffs, while the trousers can either be of the long, loose sailor variety or simply reach to the knees. Little Russian suits of navy blue or red pique are worn with patent leather belts and shoes. For little girls the prettiest styles are the Parisian ones in which the waist is made quite long and the skirt correspondingly short. Big sashes are of course a necessity with such dresses. For older children the waist is made the ordinary length, and the skirts are much trimmed and tucked, after the fashion of the older people.

A pretty afternoon gown for a dark haired child is shown in today's illustration. It is made of red veiling over silk of the same shade. The little blouse waist is collarless and is trimmed with narrow velvet ribbons. These simulate a yoke in front, and two of them run down to the waist line. There is a narrow collar of heavy guipure lace, edged with the black velvet and terminating in two rosettes. The belt is made of the narrow velvet, and the skirt is outlined with it. The front seams are opened part way to show an underskirt of the lace. The sleeves are short and finished with puffs of lace.

The hat is made of red mull and is trimmed with a full bow of white taffeta.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

AS REGARDS SKIRTS.

They Are Fitted Very Snugly Around the Hips.

All the fashionable skirts fit skin tight around the hips. There is absolutely no fullness at the top, as any superfluity is set in a cluster of pin tucks or the flat plaits meet very closely in the center of the back. The godet flounce appears in a variety of styles. The lining is often cut plain, but the flounce itself is made up of three or four narrower godets, which give a very full and fussy effect.

Many street gowns are made of etamine and veilings. These come in both coarse and fine weaves. Some of the prettiest of separate skirts come in this material. It is also made with a wide silk border of the same or a contrasting shade.

The illustration shows a stylish gown of old rose veiling. The skirt, which is cut with a decided flare, is trimmed with arrow shaped appliques of satin of a deeper shade. The waist is also trimmed with these arrow shaped straps, running down in irregular lengths from an irregularly shaped yoke. The yoke is of renaissance lace, as is also the collar. This is trimmed with three narrow black velvet ribbons. The sleeves end at the elbow and are finished with a very full puff of the lace. The belt is made of narrow velvet ribbons clasped with an art nouveau buckle.

The hat is of white straw and is trimmed with a garland of pink azaleas.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Curing a Child's Cold.

It is an excellent plan directly a child is observed to have a little cold to rub the chest with sweet oil morning and evening. First warm the hand and apply about a teaspoonful of sweet oil and, if time allows, continue rubbing for five minutes. If this remedy were resorted to directly a cold was observed, many childish illnesses would be prevented.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, July 11, 1901, at 2 30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present—17.

The minutes of the previous meeting (reading of bills being omitted) were on motion approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

From Mrs. M. A. Ehrlich, as follows:

Rahway, June 24, 1901.

To the officers and members of Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—I desire to thank you for your sympathy to myself and family in our hour of trial and sorrow over the death of my husband, Christian Ehrlich, who was a member of your honorable body; also accept my thanks for your beautiful floral offering.

Yours respectfully,
Mrs. M. A. Ehrlich.

The foregoing communication was received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By the committee on Jaques avenue bridge in Rahway:

July 11, 1901.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county:

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed to investigate as to the advisability of widening the present bridge on Jaques avenue, in Rahway, would report that they have examined said bridge, and would recommend that the same be widened to the full width of the street at an expense not to exceed $1,200. Signed.

John Farrell, M. M. Scudder, Benj. King, Aug. Gerstung, E K Adams, Committee.

Freeholder Brucklacher moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

By county road committee on Randolph avenue, Rahway, etc:

July 11, 1901.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county:

Gentlemen: The county road committee, to whom was referred the petition and resolution respecting the grading and constructing of the road known as Randolph avenue, extending from Hart street westerly to the road leading from Rahway to Woodbridge, being about 2,330 feet, would respectfully report that we have inspected said road, and inasmuch as it is not a connecting link between two macadamized roads, and that until the direct road leading from Rahway to the State Reformatory is macadamized the macadamizing of the section asked for is not imperative.

It is not in our opinion advisable at the present time to proceed with the same, and would so report. Signed,

Respectfully submitted,
Benjamin King, Henry Krouse, Jacob Brucklacher, W. H. Swain, E. K. Adams, County Road Committee.

Freeholder Miller moved that the report be received and the recommendation adopted, which was so ordered without dissent.

By the lunacy committee:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county:

Gentlemen: Resolved that the county attorney be directed to desist from the further prosecution of the suit instituted against Abner P. Stiles and Wm. B Stiles as bondsmen for payment of board and expense of Susan W. Stiles, a lunatic until further order of this board. Signed.

Fred. Miller, E K Adams, W. H. Swain, Committee.

Freeholder Krouse moved the adoption of the report, which was duly seconded.

Freeholder Miller stated that the Messrs. Stiles were until recently able to meet the expense of maintaining their sister, but were no longer able to do so, and the passage of the resolution would be but a simple act of justice.

A. P. Stiles being present stated briefly that he had gone on the bond in good faith, but that all his financial resources were now needed for the care of an invalid wife.

Freeholders Scudder and Bonnel, who were familiar with the facts in the case, spoke in support of the resolution.

Freeholder Farrell moved to amend, that the Messrs. Stiles be released from the bond entirely, which after some discussion was withdrawn, and the report, with resolution therein contained, was adopted without dissent.

Freeholder King, chairman of county road committee, reported that the said committee had examined into the complaint of A. A. Constantine and others, relative to encroachments on county road at West Summit, and had found the same to be without foundation, which was received.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Cady:

Resolved, That the county collector be instructed to pay S. Wright & Son the amount of contract (viz $780) for the construction of the Florida avenue bridge in Summit, upon the approval of bill by committee.

Freeholder Swain moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Swain:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed with power to build a new bridge on Ashwood avenue, Summit, at an expense not to exceed $780.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Swain, Gerstung, Cady, Robison and Miller.

By Freeholder Miller:

Resolved, That the Elizabeth drawbridge committee be and is hereby empowered to engage Soloman Brown as bridge tender of Bridge street bridge for the sum of $100 annually.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Bonnel:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed with power to examine a bridge on Springfield avenue, in Springfield township, and to rebuild same if necessary at an expense not exceeding $950.

Freeholder Miller moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was adopted unanimously.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Bonnel, Cady and Robison.

By Freeholder Bonnel:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to inspect bridge over Turkey Road, Springfield, N. J., to determine what is best to do with it.

On motion of Freeholder Robison the resolution was adopted without dissent.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Bonnel, Cady, McCandless, Wahl and Adams.

By Freeholder Westphal:

Whereas, The bridge over Green Brook, at Grand avenue, in the city of Plainfield, is in an unsafe condition; and

Whereas, Said bridge is a wooden structure and inadequate; be it

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed with power to build an iron bridge over said brook at Grand avenue, and that Somerset county pay one-half of the cost, the same not to be more than $5 200.

Freeholder King moved that the resolution be adopted, which was duly seconded.

Freeholder Westphal then briefly explained that the bridge in question was a line bridge between Somerset and Union counties, was greatly needed on account of increasing travel, and that Somerset county had agreed to pay one-half the expense of a new bridge.

The resolution was then on roll call unanimously adopted.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Westphal, King, Robison, Scudder and Gerstung.

By Freeholder Woodruff:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine a bridge on branch of Elizabeth creek, near Theodore Faitoute's, and report the probable cost of repairs to same at the next meeting.

On motion of Freeholder Robison the resolution was adopted without dissent.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Woodruff, Krause and Miller.

On motion of Freeholder Farrell the clerk was directed to notify the Common Council of the city of Rahway that a vacancy existed in the Board of Chosen Freeholders of this county, caused by the death of Christian Ehrlich, a member of said board from the city of Rahway.

The following resolution on the death of Freeholder Ehrlich was then read and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, God has seen fit in His all-wise and inscrutable wisdom to remove from our midst our co-worker, Christian Ehrlich.

Whereas, In his death the Board of Chosen Freeholders has lost an active and honored member; therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend to his family in their bereavement our sincere and heartfelt sympathy for the loss they have sustained; and be it further

Resolved, That an engrossed copy of these resolutions be presented to the family, and that the same be entered upon the minutes of the board and published in the Rahway papers.

John Farrell, Jacob Brucklacher, Benjamin King, Committee.

Freeholder Farrell asked of the county attorney whether he had consulted with Judge Vail regarding the final disposition of the slot machines now in the hands of the sheriff. The county attorney reported that he had. Judge Vail said that he understood it was the duty of the prosecutor of the pleas to destroy the machines, but that the court would give the question further consideration.

Two bills from the N. J. State Village for Epileptics, for care of Jas. Miller, of Elizabeth, and Josephine Conly, of Springfield, amount in all $104, were on motion referred to the county attorney for investigation.

The following bills, properly audited and approved, were read, and on roll-call unanimously ordered paid, viz:

GROUND STONE AS FOOD.

Scarcity of Edible Matter in India Leads to the Consumption of Friable Rock.

On account of the absence of seeds and succulent roots of grasses, says the chief medical officer of Rajputana in a recent report, the bark of trees and even ground-up rocks are used, principally to give bulk to the scanty meal, and thereby stay the pangs of hunger for a longer time. At present small proportions of ground Khejra bark are in use nearly everywhere, and in the proportion of about one part to twenty of flour it does not impair the digestion of the laboring classes, although it does so if taken in excess, says St. James' Gazette. Indeed, small quantities of this bark, well ground, are said to aid digestion, and to make up to some extent for the want of fresh vegetables. A soft stone, plia Chata, found on the Bikanen-Marwar border of Jaipur, is largely used in that part of the country to give bulk to the meal. This stone is friable, and easily ground into fine powder. It contains an oleaginous substance, which has some nutritious qualities, and the people have found that when finely ground and used in the proportion of about one-fourth to three-fourths of flour it does not impair digestion for a considerable time; but when it is used in excess it soon gives rise to malnutrition, emaciation, bowel disease, swollen feet and other signs of starvation. Other barks and earthy substances are more injurious, but the flesh of the cattle that died, which was used extensively, had no ill effects.

TRICKS OF MONKEY TRAINER.

Chicago Dealer in the Animals Tells How His Imitators Come to Grief.

"I had a couple of imitators last fall," said a Chicagoan who made a business of furnishing monkey aeronauts for country fairs and street shows, reports the Chronicle, "but they came to grief, and as a result the monkey market is pretty stiff. These fellows lessened the visible supply by a considerable number of the simians, who lost their lives by dropping from a perilous height. The secret of my business is the naturalness with which the monkey hangs to the trapeze-bar of the balloon or parachute attached to it.

"Last summer I explained that the trick was easy, that the monkey would never let go a nut in his hand and as long as he gripped it with the hand thrust through a manacle attached to the bar he maintained an acrobatic attitude. I said the other arm was held down by a bandage and the monk could not reach the nut with his other hand. A few slick fellows got some monkeys and started in opposition."

"Why should not the trick work for them?" inquired a listener.

"They forgot that the monk's feet are as serviceable as his hands, and as I had not enlightened anyone on the care of that part of the simian's anatomy they lost some high-priced animals."

MONTANA POKER GAMES.

One Man Lost $50,000 in a Night and Another Won a Jackpot with $40,000 in It.

The recent closing of the faro and roulette games in Helena and Butte, Mont., has turned the gambling element toward poker, and in the last week there have been some of the stiffest games of draw poker ever played in Montana.

"I witnessed one of these games in a hotel room the other night," said a gambler, "and I must say that despite my long years in the business I never before saw such nervy plays and for such large amounts.

"On this particular night Silas King, the Butte sport, lost nearly $50,000, and of this Kit Carson and Swede Sam won the major portion. The game was for table stakes and at times there was fully $75,000 on the table. Swede Sam had three aces beaten by a flush once for $7,500, and again the Swede lost $8,000 on three deuces against three treys held by King. The game lasted all night.

"On another night a member of the legislature won $16,000. He had been a heavy loser up to that time, and opened a jackpot with three sixes for $1,000. Five stayed, and all seemed to have strengthened their hands. He bet $5,000, four men staying, the fifth laying down two pairs.

"Swede Sam raised another $5,000, he having caught to his heart's desire. The others dropped out. The raise was met by the legislator, who in tur

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Bronx team, of New York, which has played three games in this city with the St. Marys, has secured a game with the Hope team. It will be played some time during the latter part of the season.

The Clover A. C. team, of Brooklyn, which is to play the Hope's Saturday, has sent word through its manager that everything is in readiness for the game and an exciting contest may be looked for. The Brooklyn team is anxious to win this game and help wipe out the stain of the two defeats on its own grounds Decoration Day.

The inclement weather yesterday and the subsequent postponement of the policemen's baseball game at Elizabeth, was a great disappointment to many Plainfield rooters. A large number had made preparations to accompany the patrolmen and help them along with their enthusiastic cries. It is possible, however, that the majority of them will go no matter when the game is played.

The baseball game at Westfield, Saturday, will be with Clark's O. N. T. team, of Newark. Westfield defeated this nine early in the season, 17 to 4, but the O. N. T.'s are coming to wipe out the blot. Kinney and Boland, a crack pair, will be their battery. Fox, who covered second base for Westfield, will play short, and Adair, of the Murray Hill's, will be on second. The O. N. T.'s reserve battery, Wildte and Troy, will be in the game also.

GOLF.

The next team match on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course will be Saturday, September 21, between the local team and Harbor Hill.

The events at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Saturday will be the weekly play for the Mellick and Golf Committee cups. A large field of players is looked for and the events should be interesting.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The track at the Gentlemen's Driving Park is in fine condition for the matinee races to be held Saturday afternoon. Several fine races have been arranged and they should attract a large number of people. Stages will meet the trolley cars and carry people to the grounds, admission to which will be free.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The athletic committee of the Y. M. C. A. has refused to hold a meet at Dewey Park next week, because of the fact that the members are scattered around in many places.

NEW RECORD FOR WOMEN.

MADE ON HILLSIDE COURSE YESTERDAY BY MRS. N. P. ROGERS.

Did The Eighteen Holes In 92—Miss vanHerwerden's 101 Has Been The Best Heretofore.

A new record for women was made on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course yesterday afternoon by Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers. Since the difficulty between Mrs. Rogers and the golf committee regarding her handicap, she has withdrawn from all competitions at the club and does not intend to resume play in those events. She still leads with six points in the competition for the Golf Committee cup, having held this for several weeks.

Yesterday Mrs. Rogers made the eighteen holes, in competition with her son, N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., in 92, while the latter made the round in 88. The best score for women up to yesterday was 101. This was made by Miss vanHerwerden. The new score is an excellent one. The course was very wet in places, owing to the recent rains, but altogether it is in fine condition. Mrs. Rogers expects to lower her score of yesterday at the first opportunity. She still follows the game and may be heard from later on in some of the championship tournaments.

Her card is as follows:

MR. CARR TALKS.

Says Contest for His Place on Election Board Should Not be Taken Too Seriously.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 8—William C. Carr, who has been appointed on the County Board of Elections by Governor Voorhees, yesterday had this to say about the contest which C. Addison Swift has begun in the Supreme Court against him for the place:

"I regret that this contention has arisen as the position is really not of sufficient importance to make such a fuss about. I think the newspapers agitating the subject are investing it with more importance than it deserves. I do not think Senator Kean is taking any part in the affair."

When asked if he thought the contest against him was backed by Hamilton Fish Kean, chairman of the County Republican Executive Committee, Mr. Carr smiled significantly and replied: "I really have nothing to say on that point."

PLEASANT TIMES.

Several Events Planned For This Week at Mountain Park Inn.

For the entertainment of the numerous guests and their friends, as well as the many Plainfielders who pay occasional visits to the summer resort on the mountain, a number of events have been arranged to take place at Mountain Park Inn. This evening the regular weekly progressive euchre will be given. Saturday evening a musicale will be the entertainment afforded and it will be followed by the customary hop. The "Holy City" will be rendered by some of the guests Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Given to Mrs. Chas. F. Meyer by Ladies Society of Spengerbund.

A birthday surprise party was tendered to Mrs. Charles F. Meyer, of South Second street, by the Ladies Society of the Gesang and Turn Verein last evening. Music and dancing made the occasion a joyous one. Towards the end of the evening a number of the members of the Gesang and Turn Verin appeared on the scene and joined in the merry-making. Refreshments were served before the conclusion of the happy function.

Mass Meeting Tonight.

A mass meeting of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers is scheduled to take place in Trades' Council Hall, this evening. Among the speakers who will address the meeting are I. Cowen and G. Mahl, of New York, both of whom are affiliated with the organization. Machinists, patternmakers, blacksmiths and machine men have been invited to be present.

Endeavorers Going to Camp.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will go to the Westfield Fresh Air Camp tomorrow evening and take charge of the meeting. Miss Sadie Searing will lead the meeting and it is earnestly hoped that as many members as possible will go. The Endeavorers will take the 7:15 o'clock trolley from North and Watchung avenues.

Work Well Done.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Vail, of Craig place, have returned from Merchantville, where Mr. Vail has been engaged in supervising the construction of macadam roads and culverts. He had full charge of the work and was highly praised by the officials of Merchantville for the way in which the work was done.

GRANGERS UP IN HUNTERDON

ANNNUAL PIGNIC BEGAN AT FLEMINGTON YESTERDAY.

It Being Continued Today With Large Attendance—The Speakers.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, August 8—The second annual picnic of the Grangers of Hunterdon county began on the Flemington fair grounds yesterday. The Grangers with their wives and families were early upon the ground, but it was nearly 1 o'clock when Past Master John T. Cox, of Burlington, introduced the first speaker, Professor E. B. Voorhees, of the New Jersey Experiment Station at New Brunswick.

Owing to wet grounds the crowd was small. Former Senator John R. Foster said that today would be the big day. The ice cream and soda water men did a flourishing business as did the men who ran the merry-go-round and the fellow who set up dolls to be knocked down. Music was furnished by the Flemington Cornet Band.

Politics was absolutely tabooed. "This is a gathering for social pleasure," said one of the Grangers, "and no politics will be allowed." Nothing but questions pertaining to the farm will be discussed by the speakers.

The following Granges were represented: Spring Mills, Oak Grove, Grand View, Riverside, Ringoes, Barbertown, Locktown and Sergeantsville. Each of the subordinate Granges was represented in the following Committee of Arrangements: John C. Holcombe, of Ringoes; Henry F. Bodine, of Locktown; J. DuBond, of Oak Grove; W. Fryer, of Spring Mills; William Y. Holt, of Flemington; David Agans, of Three Bridges, and former Sheriff John T. Cox, of Readington.

Among the members of the National Grange who today will deliver addresses are: N. J. Bachelder, of New Hampshire, worthy lecturer of the National Grange; G. W. F. Gaunt, worthy master of the State Grange; George L. Gillingham, worthy lecturer of the State Grange, and Franklin Dye, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture.

The address of Professor Voorhees yesterday afternoon was listened to attentively by the Grangers. Mortimer Whitehead, of Middlebush, followed in address on topics pertaining to the farm. Yesterday's festivities wound up with a dance in the pavilion. The delightful weather of this morning attracted a very large crowd.

NOT A CASE.

Borough Health Inspector Is Taking An Enforced Vacation At Present.

The present condition of the borough health, according to a statement made by Health Inspector Pangborn, is excellent. At this time, says he, there is not even a case of mumps, whooping cough or measles. A contagious disease, he says, is unknown, and consequently he is taking an enforced vacation.

In speaking on the subject the inspector contrasted the present state of health in the borough with what it was at this time two years ago. "Then," said he, "there were sixty-two cases reported and I was kept constantly busy." This appears to be the greatest number on record at one time in the borough. The health inspector believes that the attention given the milk supply is largely responsible for the good condition of the public health.

ONE MUSTERED IN.

At The Meeting Of Antietam Command, Union Veteran's Union Last Evening.

One old soldier, Thomas McGovern, of Newark, who was on the firing line in the dark days of the Rebellion, was mustered in as a member of Antietam Command, No. 3, U. V. U., at the regular monthly meeting of the organization held last evening. Appropriate subjects addresses were made by Lieut.-Col. Henry C. Drake, Officer of the Day Albert G. Perry and Chaplain John Goodwin. A special meeting will be held in a fortnight.

Veterans Invited.

The members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., have been invited to attend the funeral of the late Gen. J. S. Negley, which will be held tomorrow afternoon. The invitation has been accepted and the veterans will attend. Early tomorrow evening the remains will be taken to Pittsburg on the Pennsylvania Railroad, to be interred in the family plot at that place.

Secret Session.

A meeting of Company K was held last evening for the purpose of considering matters of great importance. It was unanimously decided to keep the business secret for the present. In a few days there will be something to report.

STATE REFORMATORY READY FOR GUESTS.

Something About New Jersey's New Institution Located Close to Rahway.

BUILDING NOT COMPLETE.

PRESENT OCCUPANTS WILL BE KEPT IN ONE WING.

Central Building is Something of a Trouble—Three Prisoners Received Tuesday—Some Talk of Military Instruction There.

The State Reformatory at Rahway was formally opened Tuesday and by the first part of next week a number of prisoners will take up their residence there for the present. It is expected that it will be several months before a full commitment will be received. The buildings, generally speaking, are in an unfinished state, workingmen being engaged in putting the finishing touches to some parts of the work.

Warden Joseph P. Heg is now in charge and he is supervising the work and giving instructions to his deputies. The institution has a capacity for 256 prisoners, but it will be some time before that many can be cared for. The warden and Governor Voorhees believe in making the commitments direct by the courts. As already known, the institution is intended for the reformation of first offenders, short term prisoners, between the ages of 16 and 30 To assign men who have already done part of their time in the State Prison might militate against the usefulness of the institution.

There is a second story platform erected in the centre of the building under the dome. This will be thrown open to the prisoners. It was at first thought that this platform could be used as a place for devotional exercises, but the echo from the dome overhead is so great that it will be impossible to make use of it. Warden Heg believes that he will have trouble with the prisoners on this account, that they will constantly be making disorder on purpose to make the echo.

There is a large central building with a dome, the building being 160 feet in diameter. The one wing already built extends to the north from this central building. The cells are located in the wing. About 1,000 feet from the main building is another building, in which is located the kitchen and mess rooms. The laundry and work shop are on the second floor, and in the rear is an engine and boiler house. From this place light, power and heat are supplied. Surrounding the grounds is a high board fence. The central building and dome were considered needless before the construction, and Warden Heg says that he does not know what to do with it. He is much afraid that it will be impossible to heat it in winter, in fact, he thinks the temperature of the whole building will be too low for health.

All the buildings are of brick and fire-proof. There are four tiers of cells. Everything is substantial and the sanitary arrangements are very complete. Provisions and fuel are now being delivered at the place preparatory to the reception of prisoners. Capt. Joseph Martin has been made deputy warden and Fred Abbott head keeper. Ernest Brown, of Rahway, has been appointed chief of the kitchen force.

The big alarm electric whistle has been put in position by Chief Engineer Carley. The cell locks have all been tested and found to be satisfactory. All keepers and officers who have no families must be in the place by 11 o'clock at night as everything is then locked up. The prisoners will leave their cells at 6:30 o'clock in the morning for breakfast. The keeper for the day takes charge of this squad, returning its members to supper at night, after which they are marched to their cells for the night.

Much interest is now being taken in next Sunday's happenings. The choir from St. Paul's church, Rahway, has volunteered to sing at the religious services. How the singing will sound in conjunction with the echo is a question.

Regarding the report that the institution is to be conducted on military lines, there seems to be a mistake. Gov. Voorhees says that he has been misquoted. It was he that suggested the appointment of Col. Gilmore as the head of the military instruction if such an office was created by the Board of Governors. Col. Gilmore

LABOR ORGANIZATION BOOMS ITS INTERESTS.

Propagation Meeting of Amalgamated Society of Engineers in Trades' Council Hall.

HISTORY OF SOCIETY TOLD.

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZER COWEN ADDRESSES LOCAL MACHINISTS.

Superiority of Association to Advance Interests of Workmen Claimed By Speaker—J. W. Parks, Head of Local Branch, Presided

A session of the local branch of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, Machinists, Millwrights, Smiths and Pattern Makers, styled a propagation meeting, was held in the Trades' Council Hall last evening and was devoted exclusively to a dissertation of the labor question, and the benefits to be attained by a strong bond of unity among workmen, by Isaac Cowen, who spoke for nearly two hours on the subject.

Mr Cowen is the international organizer and he, together with George Mahl, of Brooklyn, the local organizer, had arranged to address the Plainfield machinists in the interest of the local branch, but Mr. Mahl failed to put in an appearance and as a result Mr. Cowen occupied the floor for the entire evening's session after a short introduction delivered by J. W. Park, the president of the local branch. In all there were less than forty men present to listen to the discourse, but nevertheless the speaker received undivided attention throughout his talk.

Launching forth on his subject, Mr. Cowen gave a detailed history of strikes in this country from 1870 to the present time, and declared that the recent strike of machinists was the greatest ever known. He related the story of the various movements which had brought about these conditions, and dwelt particularly upon the practical workings of the several unions which had them under control. The claim he made was that the Amalgamated Society was and is better able to control the efforts and advance the interests of workmen than any other labor organization of its kind in existence. A sketch of the victories gained by the association he represents was detailed, as was also the superior features of its workings over other unions.

The Amalgamated Society of Engineers came into existence in 1851 and in its inception was confined to the British Isles and Continental Europe. Subsequently it spread to other parts of the earth and for the past twenty-five years has occupied a foothold in the United States and Canada, where it now has forty-three local branches and a membership of two thousand workmen. Being international in its scope it is the only labor organization, he claimed, that can successfully advance the best interests of workmen of the class for which it is intended. He declared that it is established on a rock bottom basis and has a sound financial system. At some length the pension and benefit features as well as other attributes of the organization were discussed by him. When he had concluded his remarks, Mr. Cowen answered questions propounded by his hearers anent the subject.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS PAYS CLAIM.

Secretary of Local Section Pays Insurance in Full to Daughter of Late C. Jones.

Mrs. Sarah H. Saums, formerly of Clinton avenue, but now of South Somerville, who is a daughter of the late Cadwallader Jones, was the recipient yesterday of a check of $1,000 from the Endowment Rank, Knights of Pythias. The check was delivered to Mrs. Saums by Samuel L. Miller, secretary of Section No. 387, of this city, and a letter addressed by her to S. T. Champion, of Atlantic Highlands, who is State Organizer, shows her appreciation. Of late there has been much said as to the soundness of the Endownment Rank, but according to reports from officials, it seems to have regained its former prestige throughout the country.

IS STILL LOOKING FOR PROPER LOCATION.

Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Co. Has Yet Taken No Action As To New Factory.

S. D. DRAKE IS HUSTLING.

BELIEVES THAT HE CAN LAND THE COMPANY NEAR PLAINFIELD.

Elizabeth Is Trying Its Best—What Location Of The Plant Means To The Lucky City Which Gets It

No decision has been arrived at by the officials of the Ingersoll Sergeant Drill Company, of Easton, Pa., as to where the new plant of the concern will be located. Former Mayor Wm. L. Saunders, when seen this morning, summed up the present condition of the deliberations of the company in this matter by saying that nothing had been settled.

Within the last few days many towns in the northern section of the State have awakened to the great advantages to be derived by the presence of a plant of this nature. Steps have been taken in a number of these places to induce the company to consider offers made in these various towns. East Trenton, which made a bid sometime ago, will not be considered, as the amount of land needed can not be had.

Every effort is being spent in Elizabeth to favorably impress the company with the desirability of locating there. This is one of the cities now under contemplation by those having the matter in charge for the company. The officials selected to choose the site are the president of the company, Former Mayor Grace and his son, of New York, Former Mayor Saunders, of North Plainfield, and John Y. Swan.

All the way down the line as far as Camden, offers are being presented to the committee. Right here, where the vice-president of the company, Former Mayor Saunders, lives, no concerted effort has been made by the citizens to induce the concern to locate in this vicinity. S. D. Drake has taken the matter in hand and will endeavor to point out advantages to be gained by locating on his properties. But the public spirited citizens of this community as far as can be learned have done practically nothing in the matter.

There appears to be an unanimity of opinion that the addition of such a plant to Plainfield's manufacturing industries would be a great help to the interests of the municipality. Some have taken occasion to point out the fact that the presence of such a body of workmen as would necessarily be employed by the company would greatly increase local trade as well as add a desirable class of citizens to the population.

Wherever the concern does finally decide to locate, a little colony will spring up. It is estimated that between seventy-five and 125 acres will be required for the use of the industry. Surrounding the buildings of the plant will be clustered comfortable homes for the workmen. It is understood that just as soon as the proper place is found a contract will be awarded for the erection of at least 500 dwellings for the men to be employed in the works. These houses will accommodate the majority of the families of the men and it is possible that others will be erected later.

It is proposed to erect a plant second to none now in existence, so far as all modern conveniences are concerned. No less than twelve separate buildings will be constructed for the use of the concern's machinery and about these will be ample yard space.

Silas D. Drake appears to be the one man in this vicinity, who is not letting any grass grow under his feet in an effort to land the plant here. He is hustling and wants it to be known that if a straightfoward and advantageous business proposition will induce the concern to leave its present home the population in this vicinity will likely increase materially in the near future.

For the past few days he has been in constant communication with the officials of the company and believes that his offer is the best that has yet been made. Mr. Drake will give 100 acres of fine land, or, it is understood, as much more in addition as may be required.

As an extra inducement he will bear the responsibility of relieving the company from the burden of taxation for a term of ten years. Just how this will be accomplished he declines at present to make public. Added to this, Mr. Drake says that all advantages can be obtained at the place he has named. These include an abundant supply of water, telephone, telegraph and transportation facilities.

Three distinct propositions have been made by him. Each offer names a distinct site and all three are located on the Lehigh Valley and Central Railroads. They are located on land situated between this city and Bound Brook. Mr. Drake feels much encouraged from the attitude of the company and feels secure in the opinion he voices that his propositions are the best that can be obtained.

In speaking of the subject, this morning, Mr. Drake said that the company employes at least 1,300 workmen, which represents a citizenship of 6,000 souls approximately. The addition of a population of 6 000 would be of untold benefit to any community and he is determined to bring this into this vicinity. "This is the fight of my life," said he, "and I intend to leave nothing undone to win."

WHY CARD PLAYING HAS BEEN STOPPED.

Officials Of The Jersey Central Railroad Will No Longer Allow Games On Cars.

BROUGHT ABOUT BY A FIGHT.

MAN FROM CRANFORD AND TWO FROM ELIZABETH QUARRELLED.

Card Players Tried To Reserve Seats For Fellow Players And Other Men Objected—Chas. L. Barry Arraigned In Court At Jersey City.

The officials of the Jersey Central Railroad have very abruptly put a stop to card playing on their trains, a source of passing time away enjoyed by hundreds of patrons of the road. The new order was given out this week and was issued as a result of a quarrel between Charles L. Barry, of Cranford; Jacob Coyne, eastern agent of the Union Pacific Railroad, and M. B. Heilner, president of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, both of whom live in Elizabeth.

The trouble occurred on a local train of the Jersey Central Railroad in the Jersey City station Saturday afternoon. Barry and three Cranford friends are regular patrons of this train, and pass the time away by playing whist. Barry reached the train early and took possession of two seats for the card party. When Mr. Coyne arrived, the car was well filled, and he stopped in front of the reserved seats, attempting to sit down. Barry promptly informed the intruder that the seats were reserved, whereupon Mr. Coyne replied that it was neither a Pullman nor a club car, and consequently no seats vacant could be engaged, and added, emphatically, "I want this seat!"

This excited the determination of Barry, who raised his knee as Coyne attempted to pass. A moment later, it is said, the men were fighting, and it is alleged that Barry struck Coyne and that Heilner, who went to Coyne's assistance, was also pummelled. Following the trouble, Barry, it is said, offered apologies, which were not accepted and complaints were made.

Barry was arrested yesterday morning getting off a train. He was arraigned in the First Criminal Court, Jersey City, yesterday, on two charges of assault and battery. Heilner did not appear in court at the time, but Coyne was present. Each side desired an adjournment to produce witnesses, and the trials were fixed for August 26. Barry was released on bail.

AT THE FAIR.

Thomas MacNabb Muir Writes Home That It Is Tame Compared With Coney Island.

Thomas MacNabb Muir, of the reportorial staff of The Daily Press, has laid down the pencil and brushed aside the cares of keeping abreast of the news to take in the sights of the Pan-American Exposition and enjoy life in a strange city.

The Daily Press Owl writes home that he is somewhat disappointed in the exhibition, but he fails to state whether he means the exposition proper or the Midway. Possibly he has started at the Midway end of the show and has not yet reached the main part of the huge fair.

In summing up his opinion of the exposition, Tommie tersely says "it is positively tame compared with Coney Island."

Excursion Arrangements.

The excursion committee of Hope chapel met last evening and perfected arrangements for the annual trip to be made to Asbury Park, Saturday, August 17.

BROTHER SCOTT WAS DRIVEN TO THE WALL.

But First He Held the Crowd at Bay Like the Horatius of Old Rome.

BATTLE WAS FOUR TO ONE.

THEN DEACON CONWAY APPEARED IN ROLE OF PEACEMAKER.

All Were Haled to Court Where a Thrilling Trial Took Place—Judge Sunk in Mire of Evidence—Will Give His Decision Later.

The spectacle of no less than half a dozen men each anxious to explain the true version of the affair, which amounted to a fistic encounter participated in by some employes of McDonough Brothers and two colored gentry, was the condition that confronted City Judge Runyon yesterday afternoon. He made a futile endeavor to sift the testimony in the case and find out which was which. For once His Honor was nettled. His broad brow was deeply furrowed and a worried look took possession of his countenance. At last he sunk in a mire of testimony and the audience was with him in this respect. "I'll try to digest this testimony," said His Honor, "and, in the meantime, will reserve my decision."

From what could be learned at the hearing, which lasted for nearly two hours, it appeared that John Scott, a wiry built colored citizen with decided pugilistic ability, was the principal actor in a one-act melo-drama enacted yesterday morning. Brother Scott, in company with Deacon Spencer Conway, had driven up to McDonough Brothers' place, at the corner of West Third street and Madison avenue, and purchased a quantity of ice.

The team driven by the colored men stood on West Third street for a longer period than was thought necessary, and in an endeavor to get past it Patrick McDonough's team effected a rear end collision with some force. This angered Mr. Scott, who alleged that he tried to reason with Mr. McDonough. The rest of the act is confined to the heavy work of the villians in the cast.

Jim Moore would not stand by and see his "buddy" get "pushed in the face" and hence assumed the leading role. Joseph Miller, a stout little dutchman, thought something was doing and he got in the game with both feet and a club, which as Deacon Conway explained fortunately "hit de groun' and broke into three halves." James Tobin and John Dixon then jumped into the comic-tragedy to help their white brethren. The conflict waxed warm, if any opinion could be formed from the theatrical rehearsal which Deacon Conway gave before the court.

The modern "Horatius," in the person of John Scott, held the crowd at bay, according to his story, and in this he was assisted by "Herminius" Conway, who on this occasion used his energy to effect a peaceful settlement of the battle royal. At last Mr. Scott was driven to the wall and he presented a woeful sight when Patrolman Maurice Higgins came bounding before the footlights and placed the disturbers under arrest while the curtain fell on the scene.

Before the trial, while resting in the station house, each of the prisoners explained his part for the benefit of the local representative of the National Association of Police Chiefs, Mr. Kiely. As a Biblical scholar, Brother Scott stated that the reason that one of his white antagonists had a black heart "war because' he am brack in sin."

While Patrolman McCarthy was registering the names of the men on the court docket for the benefit of His Honor, Spencer Conway requested that inasmuch as he was not under arrest but only appeared as a "frien of Mister Scott," that his name be omitted. Drawing himself up at full height and throwing out his chest, Deacon Conway commanded that his name be "rubricated" as he was a deacon of "de chorch" and did not wish to appear in scandal.

WESTFIELD TURNS DOWN THE COMPANY'S OFFER.

Sentiment Was Much In Favor Of The Township Becoming Owner Of a Plant.

THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

SO PROPOSAL OF WESTFIELD'S WATER CO. WAS LAID ON TABLE.

Citizen's Meeting Was Afterwards Held And The General Sentiment Seemed Strong For The Municipal Ownership Idea.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Aug. 9.—The proposed contract of the Westfield Water Supply and Power Company to supply Westfield with a sufficient quantity of water for public and private use, with the privilege of the township to buy the plant at the expiration of a term of years, was turned down and placed on file by the township committee here last evening.

At the meeting held a week ago an advisory committee, consisting of seven members, was appointed and they reported to the town committee unfavorably with this resolution.

"Whilst the advisory committee approves and commends the action of the township committee in seeking a new source and method of water supply, it is the opinion of the committee that no contract be entered into which shall impose upon the township a fixed obligation without a corresponding fixed return and which shall prevent the township committee or its successors, from owning, at some future time, its own water supply and distributing plant, and it is the opinion of the advisory committee that the proposed contract of the Westfield Water Supply and Power Company should not be entered into.

"The advisory committee further recommends that the town committee call a special election for the purpose of taking action with respect to the acquisition of a distributing plant by the township."

The town committee then laid the contract on the table and, having adjourned, a citizens' meeting was held. J. A. Dennis, the chairman of the town committee, was appointed chairman and Henry M. Green, secretary. The meeting discussed many ways of providing the town with its own system of waterworks instead of going into any other contract with a private concern, however favorable the terms might be. Prominent among those who asked pertinent questions of the chairman were Hon. Charles N. Codding, A. L. Russell and Alfred Mills, while the chairman of the meeting and A. N. Pierson, of the company, endeavored to answer their inquiries.

The meeting passed the motion that the resolution of the advisory committee, in so far as it related to the ownership of plant by the town itself, was the sense of the meeting. This was carried and another committee, consisting of the advisory committee and four new members to be appointed by the chair, was chosen to find out and report how such a step could be accomplished.

Hon. C. N. Codding said that the present law did not allow the constructing and operation of a water plant by a township, but that he would have Assemblyman C. M. Smith, who was present, introduce a law which would remedy this defect. Mr. Smith assented.

There is not much question that it will be but a short time before Westfield will own its water plant and will be incorporated into a city, if the sentiment of this meeting shows the public view of these questions.

CAMP MEETINGS.

Will be Started at Vail's Grove Sunday Afternoon.

An open air meeting, usually styled a camp meeting, will be held at Vail's Grove, Sunday, at 3 o'clock. It is the purpose of the management to continue these meetings every afternoon and evening, until August 28.

They will be conducted in a manner somewhat changed from the original. Rev. A. T. Little will preach in the afternoons and his sermons will be of twenty minutes duration. The main part will consist of a praise service, with frequent singing.

Trial at Stirling Tomorrow.

OFFICERS INSTALLED BY LOCAL HIBERNIANS

Gala Time Attended the Customary Ceremony Held Last Evening.

PROMINENT MEN PRESENT.

APPROPRIATE ADDRESSES MADE DURING THE ENTERTAINMENT.

Smoker and Refreshments Concluded the Festivities Which Were Attended by a Large Number of Friends—Who the Officers Are.

The members of Division No. 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians, met last evening in regular session and installed the newly-elected officers. This is an annual event and the members always arrange for a good time. Last evening the division was honored with the presence of the county president, Thomas F. Cumming, of Elizabeth, and P. McGinn, State Secretary, of Paterson.

The first part of the meeting was devoted to the transaction of routine business, after which the officers were installed by the county president. The officers include Thomas Brown, president; Patrick Diver, vice-president; Patrick Harrington, treasurer; James Fosburg, secretary. They were all installed in proper form, and then the meeting was thrown open and a few invited guests were admitted.

Patrick Casey, who was chairman of the entertainment committee, took charge, and called upon State Secretary McGinn for a speech. The latter gave a brief history of the order and told of the marked and steady growth. He said that it was seventy years ago that the order was established in this country, and today the membership is 130,000. Mr. McGinn told of the part taken by the Hibernians toward alleviating the suffering and oppressed of Ireland. His remarks were received with rounds of applause. Remarks by the county president followed, while the retiring president, Mr. Ryan, gave expression to his appreciation for the noble manner in which the members had supported him. An Irish song by Thomas Driscoll was enjoyed by all. Other speeches were made. During this part of the programme a committee served refreshments. Each person was given a clay pipe and all the tobacco he could smoke. After enjoying other social features the pleasant event came to an end. Among those present were P. W. Gray, a member of Division No. 1, Turners Falls, Franklin county, Mass. J. J. Goff, an active member of the local division, assisted in making the affair a success.

TO WIDEN ROADWAY.

Jersey Central Makes Application to Lay Additional Tracks Through Jersey City—Other Improvements.

The officials of the Jersey Central Railroad Company have applied to the Street and Water Board, of Jersey City, for permission to widen their roadway and lay three additional tracks through Jersey City. The improvements will necessitate much work and the application for permission has already been met with much opposition. The point of contention is Communipaw avenue, and to pass that point an ordinance will have to be drafted giving the company the necessary power.

There will be a meeting of the Street and Water Board next Tuesday, when some decision may be reached. The company has been engaged for some time past on the work of elevating the tracks through Bayonne. At present all traffic is being conducted over two tracks, while the other two are being elevated. When that work is completed the tracks now being used will be raised.

NO EVIDENCE.

So Howard Grobes Was Released on Charge of Larceny.

After being examined by a police magistrate, Howard Grobes, of St. Mary's avenue, was released from custody in New York yesterday morning. Grobes had been arrested on a charge of larceny. All that was found on his person was a bunch of keys and this he claimed to have picked up. As soon as he was set at liberty Mr. Grobes returned to this city.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The experience of being locked out of one's own office is not a pleasant one, but the trouble of getting back is sometimes the most aggravating of all. Such was the experience of Francis J. Blatz, of the law firm of Murphy & Blatz, yesterday morning. When he left his office Wednesday night he shut the door in such a way that he could not open it with his key yesterday morning. Mr. Blatz was obliged to go through Lawyer George Bird's office and carefully climb along the ledge to one of the windows in his office. If the feat had been performed at night no doubt the police would have had their suspicion aroused, but as no legal light was needed on the subject, the affair passed off quietly.

The Chicago Inter Ocean has an article on "Baptism in Chicago," in which the story is told of Chicago Baptists using their influence to stop the alleged persecutions of their co-religionists in Persia. Before the recall of Herbert W. Bowen, former United States Minister to Persia, he had been requested to lay the matter before the Shah and ask him to give the Baptists fair treatment. Since his recall, the matter has been referred to his successor, Lloyd Griscom, who is on his way to Persia. This reference to Baptism, an offshoot of Mahometanism, might seem like a far-fetched subject did not this same article with a history of the religion and its extent, give among the centres of its influence in this country most of the large cities and Newark, Fanwood and Hoboken in New Jersey. The cult, introduced into this country in 1893, at the World's Congress of Religions in Chicago, when a certain Rabbi gave fifteen lectures on Mahometanism and the various movements which had grown out of it, is described as a religious great-grandchild of Mahometanism, which however, it seeks now to destroy.

Cresceus Was Slow.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 9.—About 7,000 people were disappointed in the exhibition by Cresceus at the Hudson River Driving park yesterday afternoon. Paced by a running horse and driven by his owner, George H. Ketcham, the champion went his mile in 2:06¼. He started shortly after 4 o'clock, after Mr. Ketcham had driven him three warming up heats in 2:48, 2:32 and 2:17. On the trial the racing horse picked him up near the quarter, which Cresceus made in 31¼ seconds. He went to the half in 1:03, to the three-quarters in 1:35¼ and to the wire in 2:06¼. There was faint applause when the time was posted. Mr. Ketcham said, "My horse did the best he could under the bad conditions of track and weather, and, although the time seems slow, he was more distressed than he has been after any mile he has gone this season."

Cycling at the Exposition.

BUFFALO, Aug. 9.—Marcus Hurley was again the star in yesterday's bicycle races in the Pan-American Stadium. He won both the half mile and mile championships and in an easy manner showed that he has not a peer among the amateurs in this country. Hurley won the finish of the half mile by a length from Graham of Chelsea, Mass. Hurley, Losee, Metting and Hoffman were the starters in the mile championship. Beam of Buffalo was put in to pull the riders out. Hurley started the sprint and gained a length before the field got to moving. He retained the lead coming down the straight and crossed the mark a length ahead of Losee of Brooklyn, with the other two close up for third place. Walter Smith continued his record breaking trials, but a high wind that blew across the track was not conducive to record breaking.

Jenkins Threw Maher.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 9.—The wrestling match between Champion Thomas Jenkins of Cleveland and Peter Maher, the pugilist, at Inlet park here yesterday afternoon was won by Jenkins in two straight falls. The first bout was catch as catch can, and Jenkins threw Maher in 10½ minutes. In the second bout it took the champion 17 minutes and 25 seconds to throw Maher at the Greco-Roman style.

New Yorker Got Only Third Prize.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Two private contests arising out of a challenge from G. M. Carnochan of New York to British breeders of fox terriers were decided at Mitcham, Surrey, with the result that Mr. Carnochan failed to get better than third prize in either contest. The Duchess of Newcastle won the first prize in the first contest, and Messrs. Mason and Wood of Leeds carried off first honors in the second.

Lawson Yacht May Be Destroyed.

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—If no yacht can be found to race against the Independence by Sept. 5, Mr. Lawson, the owner, will order her broken up as old metal. This was his instruction when the only chance for a race against either the Constitution or Columbia slipped by because the managers of those yachts would not enter a regatta in which there was to be a class for 90 footers.

Cycle Record Lowered.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 9.—William Stinson defeated Archie McEachern in a 20 mile motor paced bicycle race at the Coliseum here in 30m. 18 2-5s., lowering the world's record.

A Limit on Jewish Students.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 9.—The government will hereafter limit the number of Jewish students in Russian universities to 3 per cent of the total number of students, except in the University of Moscow, where they are entirely prohibited.

STEEL MILLS OPENED

Trust Has Succeeded In Starting Four Already.

SHAFFER AND HIS MEN CONFIDENT.

Claim That When the General Order Is Obeyed They Will Have More Than Enough Strength to Cripple the Corporation.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 9.—The contending sides in the steel strike are centering their energies for a show of strength on the day that the general strike order becomes effective. The United States Steel corporation is reopening mills closed by the first strike call to show its independence of unions and gathering strength wherever it may to lighten the effect of the general strike order, and the Amalgamated association bends its energies to the extension of its membership and to obtain the support and co-operation of the American Federation of Labor.

The general strike order becomes effective tomorrow night, and the claims put forth on either side as to the results that will accrue from it are widely at variance. Officials of the steel companies admit that thousands of men will obey the order of President Shaffer of the Amalgamated association and go out, but they positively deny that the tie up will be general. They point to their success in reopening four mills that were closed and say that they have strongholds at points where the Amalgamated claims the greatest strength.

The steel officials are inclined to minimize the sympathetic assistance which the Amalgamated association will get. One official stated the matter this way: "What can the machinists do? Have they not just been beaten? And the mine workers! Did they aid the firemen?"

President Shaffer and his associates, on the other hand, insist that the strike order will be generally obeyed and that they will obtain more than enough support to cripple the steel corporation. "We have these people licked to a standstill already," was the way that Vice President Elect Gibson of Pittsburg voiced the feelings of the Amalgamated people.

With both sides arming for the conflict and a general strike but 36 hours away, many ordinarily well informed persons hold the belief there will yet be a settlement of the strike. Some of the men who predict a settlement believe there will be outside intervention from powerful interests and a submission of the dispute to arbitration. Different men of national reputation, including Archbishop Ireland and Senators Hanna and Scott, have been named in this connection, but if efforts are being put forth in that direction they have not yet appeared upon the surface.

President Shaffer devoted yesterday to a conference with President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, who came here for a personal study of the situation before committing himself or his immense organization in any manner. The conference reached no conclusion and was resumed at 10 o'clock this morning. President Gompers came here in company with Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation.

The steel corporation succeeded in getting the Farm mill at the Lindsay & McCutcheon plant and another mill at the Clark works in operation. They also received reports that at Hyde Park four of the mills did perfect work and an announcement from Wellsville that the strike was virtually over there. They met with no opposition at any of the four points where they have reopened mills and expressed their satisfaction at the progress made.

The strikers insist that there are not enough men at the Lindsay & McCutcheon establishment to operate the one mill started and predicted that it would close down during the day. It was kept going, however, until night. It is planned to open another mill at Lindsay & McCutcheon's and also to start the Painter mill and the Chartiers plant at Carnegie, but just when they will be started remains to be seen.

The steel corporation is evidently putting forth its greatest effort at Pittsburg, the headquarters of the strike, for the moral effect elsewhere.

Steel Company Reaching Out.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—It is announced here that the United States Steel corporation has obtained control of the great Shelby Tube works. The corporation owns 15 mills. The location of these mills is as follows: Shelby, O.; Greenville, Pa.; Elwood City, Pa.; Toledo, Newcastle, Pa.; Hartford, Albany, Ind.; Auburn, Pa.; Beaver Falls, Pa.; Garwood, N. J.; Mansfield, O., and Tioga Falls, O. The plants are operated by nonunion men.

Crooks Driven From Lawton.

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 9.—The business men of the new town of Lawton, O. T., have organized a vigilance committee and arrested 130 gamblers, grafters and suspected pickpockets, took them to the city limits and ordered them to leave town. The work of expulsion was accomplished without firing a shot. The proscribed gamblers and their associates must march overland 28 miles to a railway, and as there is no means of getting food and very limited opportunities to find water they will suffer much hardship.

Many Failures In Germany.

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—The weekly reports show an unusual number of business disasters. The concern of Weltmann & Schlesinger of Dresden, one of the most important grain firms in Saxony, is in difficulties. At a meeting in Dortmund yesterday of the creditors in bankruptcy of the Treber-Trocknung Grain Drying company of Cassel, Director Otto showed that the assets were about 500,000 marks and the liabilities over 20,000,000 marks.

Excursion Trains Crash.

PITTSBURG, Aug 9.—The third section of the Atlantic City excursion over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad ran into the second section, injuring at least a dozen persons. The second section was waiting to get another engine to help the train over the mountains, when the third section came speeding along and crashed into it. Fireman Diamond of the third section was seriously injured.

Speaker Henderson Leaves Berlin.

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—David B. Henderson, speaker of the United States house of representatives, has left Berlin for Dresden and Vienna.

DOLIS PLAN HALTED

Issuano of Bonds In Hawaii Not Allowed.

SECRETAR HITCHCOCK'S FIRM STAND

Governor (the Islands Has Twice Requestt Permission to Issue Bons For Public Improvements.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—It has developed that te governor of Hawaii has twice propose the issue of bonds to effect needed blic improvements. The secretary of te interior on both occasions declined entertain the plan. Governor Dole firs requested on June 4 the approval of thepresident for a proposed issue of an unated amount of so called Hawaiian treasry notes under act 79 of the provisional lawaiian government, a part of the civilaws of Hawaii in 1897. The object wasto procure a temporary loan to replenish he territorial treasury.

Secretary Hitcock replied that the fact that the amunt was neither stated nor estimated ws of itself a sufficient objection. The geernor had inclosed an opinion of the terrorial attorney general, which the secretar in his reply declining to take up the plaisays does not directly express the opinio that the proposed indebtedness can be lwfully incurred under existing laws.

He inclosed a cerfied copy of act 71 of the laws of 1896 providing for a loan of $2,000,000 and staments of the treasurer showing that tere remain unissued bonds amounting to $799,000 authorized by the act, that the ssessed value of the territory is $97,094,94 and that the outstanding bonded indbtedness after payment of the $4,000,00 assumed by the federal government wil be $940,000. The governor then recomends issuance of territorial bonds for $99,000 chargeable on the general revenus of the territory, but not on the credit of the public domain, to be redeemable in ot less than five years, payable in not more than 15 years from date of issue, provided that the territorial legislature shal pass the necessary appropriate bill roviding for the expenditures set forth in section 55 of the territorial act.

The secretary of the interior in his latest reply says that new egislation is undesirable to the bond issue and that the governor has not indicated that any such legislation has been had nor can it be safely anticipated.

The purchases by employees of the Hawaiian territorial government of lots or other public property at public auction have called forth a communication from Secretary Hitchcock to Governor Dole, in which he says that even if here be no legal objection to these employees making such purchases permitting them to do so is a matter of questionable propriety.

In response to an inquiry fron the interior department Governor Doe has reported that in cases of exchanges of land authorized by the laws of Hawaii it has been his custom to have private parties convey titles to such lands to the territory of Hawaii and not to the United States.

Secretary Hitchcock in reply has requested that no further conveyinces of this kind be made until further advised by the department. Governor Dole has reported to the interior department that the Hawaiian territory will adopt the rules and regulations of the interior department in executing its bonds and contracts in the future.

Clouds Hid Eclipse.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Professor C. G. Abbot of the Smithsonian institution, who went to Sumatra to observe the eclipse of the sun May 18, has returned here after an absence of six months. He reports that the day of the eclipse at Solok, Sumatra, where he was stationed, together with most of the naval observatory representatives, was cloudy, and no observations were possible. A small part of the naval observatory party, however, was at Fort Dekock, where there was a clear sky part of the time, permitting some interesting photographs of the corona.

Bolles Not an American.

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—The Lokal Anzeiger asserts that Bolles is not an American, but a notorious thief of Warsaw, who from time to time has stolen securities and other valuables and has long been well known to the European police. The Paris police, who had measured him by the Bertillon method, sent the measurements and a photograph to the Berlin police, and in this way he was identified. Bolles professed to be greatly surprised at the similarity of the photograph to himself.

Exposition Workers In Germany.

BERLIN, Aug. 9. — Congressman Richard Bartholdt and J. Brucker have begun work here in the interest of the St. Louis exposition of 1903. They will see the officials and leading editors and explain the plans and scope of the undertaking. It is believed that the Germans will take a greater interest in this exposition than they took in the one held in Chicago, owing to the immense development of trade between Germany and the United States since 1893.

MALVAR FORMS A JUNTA.

Rebel Leader Evades Our Troops. Financial Aid For Filipinos.

MANILA, Aug. 9.—Several Filipino leaders left here yesterday for a visit to the camp of General Malvar for the purpose of forming a local junta and deciding upon a policy as against that dictated at present by the insurgent junta at Hongkong.

Captain Brown of the First United States cavalry, with Troops L and M of that regiment and a company of the Twenty-first infantry, had a five hours' fight in Batangas province Wednesday with the insurgent force commanded by Malvar. Two cavalrymen were killed. The insurgents escaped.

General Sumner has returned from Batangas. He states that the recent American re-enforcements are most active, but the troops had not succeeded in engaging Malvar's men up to the time he left. The insurgents had temporarily retired.

Governor Taft held a conference yesterday with the governors of Panay and the Camarines and officers of various places on the island of Luzon in regard to the financial situation. For the purpose of relieving the present trouble it was arranged that the central treasury shall advance funds sufficient to cover immediate necessary provincial improvements and also to restock the numerous districts which have been impoverished through the prevalence of rinderpest among the cattle and the plague of locusts.

Cattle plague in the provinces of Camarines, Capiz, Iloilo and Pampanga has decimated the carabaos, and the planters are unable to cultivate their crops. Civil Governor Taft has authorized the governors of the affected provinces to open public works in order to prevent suffering. Carabaos have also been shipped at the government's expense and furnished to reliable farmers on long term payments.

A civilian hospital is being organized. Two surgeons have been detailed to attend the civil employees and their families.

Three Filipinos, members of the advisory city council, have resigned because their compensation was only $10 for the monthly meeting.

Judge Kincaid is sentencing to the limit of the law those convicted of torturing prisoners to extort evidence.

EVIDENCE AGAINST WINTERS.

Man Arrested In San Francisco Suspected of Being Gold Thief.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—Captain Seymour of the local detective force has disclosed the identity of the man whom the police department has in custody on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery of $288,000 worth of gold bullion from the Selby smelter works at Vallejo Junction. The suspect is John Winters, 37 years old, a former employee of the smelting company. Captain Seymour also outlined the evidence on which Winters is being held, as follows:

"A man's cap which was found in the railroad tunnel last Tuesday morning has been positively identified as a head covering worn by Winters, and to strengthen this fact there is the further one that the suspect has been wearing a new cap ever since the time of the robbery. He explains his loss of the old one by saying it blew away.

"The cover of the tunnel excavated by the thieves was constructed of laths, upon which some cloth was fastened with tacks of a peculiar pattern, and tacks similar to these were found yesterday in Winters' cabin. Portions of laths similar to those composing the framework of the cover have been found at the same place.

"A pistol owned by Winters and found in his cabin is covered with mud which corresponds exactly with the earth taken from the tunnel.

"In the tunnel were found several cubes of peculiar chalk which had evidently been used to smother the grinding sound made by the drill by which the floor plate of the vault had been bored, and pieces of chalk like them were discovered in Winters' residence.

"In the cabin was also found a new implement designed to cut gas pipe. A small electric battery and a tiny electric bulb, the latter being covered with dirt similar to that in the tunnel under the vault, were found in the cabin.

"Winters had been seen late at night in the vicinity of the railroad station several times by persons who had occasion to pass that way."

Winters, however, stoutly maintains that he knows nothing whatever about the robbery.

The Funeral at Cronberg.

CRONBERG, Aug. 9.—The funeral service held at Friedrichshof late yesterday was simple, but highly impressive. It was performed, at the request of the late dowager empress, by the bishop of Ripon, her own chaplain, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Teignmouth Shore, canon of Worcester. The coffin stood in the death chamber, covered with a long black pall and strewn with white roses. At the foot, with bowed head and slightly in advance of the other mourners, stood Emperor William in the uniform of the Black hussars, the regiment of the late dowager empress. Just behind him were all the other members of the royal family except Prince Henry of Prussia. The other mourners formed two lines in the rear. The service was conducted entirely without music. It consisted of a portion of the burial service of the Church of England, the ninetieth psalm, a reading from the First Epistle to the Corinthians and the benediction. The congregation rendered the responses.

Sunk by the Oceanic.

QUEENSTOWN, Aug. 9.—The big White Star steamship Oceanic, which sailed from Liverpool for New York, collided off Tuskar rock, Ireland, in a dense fog with the steamship Kincora of the Waterford Steamship company, limited, which sank. Seven of the crew of the Kincora were rescued. Eight of the crew of the Kincora are missing. It is possible that they were picked up by other vessels during the fog. The Oceanic has a hole four feet long in the plates of her port bow two feet above the water line. As the result of an examination by divers the Oceanic left here yesterday for New York.

Jamaica to Seek Our Markets.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 9.—At a meeting of influential merchants and representative fruit growers the preliminary steps were taken for the formation of a company, with a capital of $200,000, to establish a line of fruit steamers between Jamaica and American ports, not named. This action was taken in consequence of the great supply of fruit which cannot be handled by the two existing lines trading with the United States and Europe.

A FORTUNE FOR SOME ONE.

United States Treasury Holds Over Two Million For the Right Man.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—A fortune of $2,000,000 is now in the United States treasury awaiting a young Pole named Dembitzky provided he can trace his relationship to Baron Ludwig Napoleon Demitzky, who fought in the Union army and died on the battlefield during the civil war. An attorney of this city has been retained by the young man, who is now living in Russia. The attorney, who has been in communication with Secretary Gage, said that the record of the government's indebtedness to the original Dembitzky had been found.

Baron Dembitzky, according to the story furnished to several of the newspapers here, left Poland in 1863 because of political troubles and came to this country. He had $400,000 in American money, the proceeds of the sale of his estates. This he deposited with the federal government at Washington and went into the army. He was killed in the battle of the Wilderness.

In 1897 his grandnephew in Russia received a communication from Joseph Howics, consul of the United States at Warsaw, informing him of the money left by the old soldier in the government's care and asked for proof of relationship. The sum, with compound interest, now amounts to more than $2,000,000.

Considerable difficulty was encountered in establishing the relationship because records in churches and courthouses in Poland were destroyed by fire by Russian troops. Not later than a month ago a Bible containing the family tree was found, completely establishing the claims of the nephew.

AIRSHIP WRECKED.

Santos-Dumont Has an Accident In Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—M. Santos-Dumont, the aeronaut, met with an accident yesterday. He started at 6:12 o'clock in his attempt to make the trip from St. Cloud around the Eiffel tower and return in order to secure the Deutsch prize. He reached the tower in nine minutes.

When half way back, about 15 minutes after he started, he noticed that the front of the balloon was collapsing, which would indicate that the gas was escaping. Thereupon M. Santos-Dumont attempted to drive air into the balloonet, which is a small balloon within the larger one, but the motor failed to act. Then the gas went out of the rear of the balloon, which hung in a flabby way and threatened to catch the screw.

M. Santos-Dumont became fearful of an explosion and fall, and in order to avoid this he stopped the motor, thus leaving the balloon at the mercy of the winds. It drifted about awhile and then came down in an awkward position between two blocks of the exposition Trocadero hotel, where it hung suspended. M. Santos-Dumont climbed up to the roof as quickly as a cat by means of a rope which was lowered and escaped without injury.

A FATAL STORM.

Two Killed and Several Injured at Portsmouth, N. H.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 9.—The most disastrous windstorm since the summer of 1898, when a pavilion at Hampton Beach was demolished and several persons killed, passed over here, causing the death of two persons on Seaver's island and injuring half a dozen others. The dead are Mrs. L. M. Mealey of New York, wife of Howard H. Mealey, member of the naval band at the navy yard, and Joel Pearson, stonecutter.

The storm came dead from the west. The greatest force of the wind was exerted on Seaver's island, where the big granite shed of Contractor John Pierce of New York, who is constructing the new drydock at the navy yard, was converted into a mass of debris. The shed consisted simply of a large roof supported by timbers, with no sides to it, and under this several persons had gathered seeking protection. The roof was lifted bodily from its supports, and the large traveling crane even was lifted from its foundations.

Petroleum Rates Reduced.

DALLAS, Aug. 9.—The state railroad commission has reduced the maximum rate on crude petroleum from 15 to 12 cents per 100 pounds in common point territory. The present rate on carload crude petroleum of 60,000 pounds from Beaumont to Dallas is $60. The reduction in rate makes the freight $48. The reduction from Beaumont to Austin is 3½ cents on 100 pounds, or $14 per car, which means that all state institutions will be able to use oil instead of coal at a large saving to the state. The reduction in rates is graduated and grows lower with the distance.

Labor Troubles In Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9.—At the Crescent Tin Plate works yesterday carpenters were engaged in erecting a large building which, it is said, will be used as a boarding house for nonunion men to be employed at the plant. Union men visited practically every merchant in Newburg and asked all to decline to sell supplies for the use of the nonunion men. Butchers and grocers especially were urged not to sell food to be given to nonunionists. The same request, it is said, will be repeated to all food dealers in the city.

MAY GO TO PANAMA.

Battleship Wisconsin Ordered to Be Ready.

ISTHMIAN SITUATION IS SERIOUS.

The Machias Has Already Been Dispatched, and It Is Thought a Ship May Be Needed on the Pacific Coast.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—An order has been sent to Captain George C. Reiter of the battleship Wisconsin, now at Anacartes, near the Puget sound naval station, to proceed to San Francisco, from which point the battleship will be dispatched to Panama in case the state department requests the presence of a warship on the Pacific side of the isthmus. This action was taken after Acting Secretary Hackett had received from the state department a communication from Mr. J. Edward Simmons of New York, president of the Panama Railway company, setting forth the seriousness of the situation on the isthmus and suggesting that warships be sent both to the Atlantic and the Pacific side.

While this was not a request for a ship, yet Mr. Hackett felt that it was quite desirable to have one in readiness to go should the request be made. He therefore directed that the order be sent to the Wisconsin to come down to San Francisco and there await further orders.

The selection of a battleship for this prospective duty apparently gives a gravity to the situation which in reality it does not possess. Unfortunately most of the smaller ships are in Asiatic waters, and the department was obliged to choose between unserviceable old wooden ships and the fine new battleships on the Pacific coast.

In view of Mr. Simmons' letter, which was construed to be a request for the protection of American interests, it was deemed best to have the battleship at San Francisco, where she can proceed without delay to the isthmus.

The Wisconsin is one of the finest ships of the new navy, and if she should be sent this will be practically her first active duty, as she has been in commission only a short time. She has a displacement of 11,500 tons, is heavily armored and has a main battery of four 13 inch breechloading rifles and fourteen 6 inch rapid fire guns, which, with her second battery, makes her one of the most formidable ships afloat. Her complement is about 500 officers and men, including about 75 marines.

Strike Ties Up Street Cleaning.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—Owing to an order issued by the Sand Teamsters' union the drivers on the wagons employed in hauling street sweepings did not report for work, and it was therefore useless to send out the sweeping gang. The result is that the streets, especially in the down town district, are becoming filthy, to the dismay of business men and city officials and the annoyance of passers by. The president of the labor council is appointing the retaliation committee provided for in the resolutions of the Typographical union, and the committee will make a business of urging a boycott upon the trade of members of the Employers' association throughout a wide field. Building is being brought to a standstill for want of material, and many hundreds of men who are not on strike will soon be idle.

Strange Death In Ithaca.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Miss Allegra Eggleston Seelye was found dead in the edge of Fall Creek gorge late yesterday, and the theory is that she was killed by lightning. Her body was hanging by her feet, which were entangled in a bunch of roots. Miss Seelye was the granddaughter of Edward S. Eggleston, historian and novelist. She was graduated from Cornell in 1900 and was a member of the Kappa Gama fraternity. She was noted for proficiency in philosophical studies. She was living in the Ithaca home in University avenue while her people were at their summer home at Lake George.

Balfour's New Rule Tested.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—At 10 o'clock last night, in a crowded and exciting session of the house of commons, Mr. Balfour's new rule of voting estimates by wholesale closure came into operation. Lumped in "classes," more than £67,000,000 was by this scheme voted in a series of divisions before 1 o'clock this morning, the government majorities always exceeding 100.

Heavy Death Rate Among Blacks.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 9.—One colored person in every 22 in Baltimore died during the month of July. Among the whites the deaths were 1 in 41. This establishes a record unsurpassed in recent years. The death rate for whites was 24.65, for colored 43.3 and for the whole population 28 per cent. The total number of deaths was 1,260.

Dr. Menchen's Massacre Avenged.

BRISBANE, Queensland, Aug. 9.—The German punitive expedition sent to avenge the massacre of Dr. Menchen and other members of the first German south sea expedition on the cannibal island of St. Matthias landed from the German cruiser Cormoran near the scene of the massacre, killed 80 natives and captured 17.

Central New York Crops Damaged.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 9.—A heavy rain and wind storm passed over sections of Cortland county, doing heavy damage to crops, particularly to corn. In many places entire fields were leveled to the ground, and the damage will amount to thousands of dollars.

One of the Thousand Islands Bought.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 9.—Charles G. Emery of New York has purchased Washington island, between Clayton and Round island, in the St. Lawrence river, the owners, H. S. and S. B. Barker of Clayton, receiving $5,000 for the property.

Keene Buys a Stock Farm.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 9.—The Castleton stock farm in this county has been sold to James R. Keene of New York for $85,000. The farm contains 612 acres and was the property of the Ford estate of Virginia.

Costly Explosion at Tiflis.

TIFLIS, Russia, Aug. 9.—The explosion of a cask of spirits caused a conflagration at the freight depot of the Transcaspian railway here yesterday, and the bonded warehouses, together with 16 carloads of merchandise, were destroyed.

Are They Fairy Tales?

The campaign in Somerset county has not yet begun but somebody is doing considerable talking. Somerville seems to be the headquarters for these rumors. If this gossip is to be believed the Thompson faction is going to bob up in Republican circles again and make another bid for the commanding place in the party councils of Somerset.

To what an extent, these rumors regarding the strength of Former Chancery Clerk Thompson's strength have a basis of fact, it is impossible to say. After the bitter contests which have marked Somerset county affairs among the Republicans during the last three years, it is impossible for there to be no hard feeling left. These three years have seen Senator Charles A. Reed come to the front until, at the close of the last campaign, he was the undisputed leader of county affairs.

When a sheriff was elected three years ago, it will be remembered that Mr. Reed's choice, Former Assemblyman P. V. D. VanDoren, of Millstone, won out in the convention but was defeated at the polls. It was claimed at that time, and probably with good reason, that the faction which met defeat in the convention refused to abide by the choice and knifed the candidate at the polls. Mr. VanDoren was the only one on the Republican ticket who failed of election.

Now comes the story that Senator Reed will back Mr. VanDoren for the office once more and will try, this time, to see that the plans do not miscarry. But it is also said that Senator Reed is in favor of Mayor N. B. Smalley, of the borough, for the office. Such are the rumors now afloat. It is too young, however, to talk politics this season and the plans of the leaders must remain a secret until the cool weather comes. Meanwhile, however, Former Assemblyman E. E. Cooper is in the race.

While the Palisades have been threatened with destruction in the advancement of commercial plans, the ruthless hand of man is now at work destroying one of the most picturesque spots in all Somerset county. There was no prettier place in all New Jersey than the "notch" at Chimney Rock before the stone crusher was located there. Now the jagged rock walls are being eaten away with considerably rapidity by the steam drills, and the beauty of the place is fast being lost.

The Trade Register repeats a statement, says the Philadelphia Record, the truth of which is obvious, yet which cannot be too often impressed on beginners and small dealers. It is that most of the successful business men had their start under the same conditions that surround nine-tenths of the small merchants, and that their success has been due to their courage and persistence in advertising.

A new order has been issued on the Jersey Central Railroad forbidding the train hands from furnishing cards and boards to those desiring to play during their trips to and from this city. Hundreds of cummuters, who were accustomed to a game of whist or euchre in the morning and at night, have been compelled to do with out their usual game.

There are many Plainfielders who remember Jesse Lawson, a young colored man who graduated from the Plainfield High School and now holds a position of trust under the United States Govenment at Washington. It is expected that he will visit this city and make an address on the occasion of the celebration of the Emancipation Proclamation.

There appears little chance of finding out the men who assaulted and robbed Mrs. Demko at her home on Dunellen avenue. She cannot give any description of the men and there seems to be a question as to just how many there were. The police have put forth every possible effort, but the clues were too meagre.

William O. Carr is of the opinion that too much importance is being given to the attempt to oust him from his position on the Board of Elections. It is too late to stop the story now, for it has gone the rounds of the State, and Union county has come in for some more notoriety.

The Dutch guard, who took Councilman vanHerwerden for an anarchist, must think that the American specimens of that kind are a particularly favored class. That Plainfielder does not appear to represent the ideal anarchist by any means.

There is going to be more talk about the water company when the bills come in next October. Why not have the water meters put in at that time so that the charges will hereafter be on a more equal basis.

Chief Kiely's last call regarding the muzzling of dogs appears to have had the desired effect for no one has yet heard of any arrests as the Chief promised if the ordinance was not obeyed.

It is too bad that the Hope Chapel and St. Mary's nines cannot meet on a local diamond in the near future. There is no combination which would better please the local cranks.

The Raritan Traction Company has persevered and finally secured the franchise from Perth Amboy to Metuchen. The next step will be a line from Metuchen to this city.

It appears that there were some things about the State Hospital for the Insane at Trenton which were not conducted on entirely satisfactory lines.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

New Jersey is to be congratulated on the smoothness of the opening of the Rahway Reformatory. Not a single prisoner was received on the opening day to jar the running of the machinery and disturb the calm of the officials on guard. It is welcome news that in this emergency every employe did his duty—and began drawing his regular stipend. There are now three prisoners in the reformatory. None of the officials has yet complained of overwork.—Newark News.

Perth Amboy will some day in the not far distant future find herself the heart of a great metropolis. The spirit of growth with which she has been blessed for the past few years appears to have a contagious effect on her neighboring town across the Staten Island sound. During the past year a rumor has been current in this city to the effect that a city is to be built on the western shore of Staten Island, on the high ground overlooking the beach to the southeast of Tottenville. The source from which the capital is to come is not available for publication, but it is intimated that it wil be forthcoming when the time for action arrives. The first buildings will be commeced on the land mentioned and will spread as necessity demands. Developments are promised within a half year.—Perth Amboy Chronicle.

The fierce fight in Union may have serious effect upon the hopes of Franklin Murphy for the nomination for Governor. The Voorhees faction is said to have declared for him there, and to have begun the necessary work for gathering the delegates, but if the disturbance shall continue there is scarcely any probability of his getting the large vote of the county beneath his banner. Moreover, Mr. Murphy is said to have used the influence of his post as State chairman to help the Voorhees wing, in that he endorsed the re-appointment of Carr in spite of the recommendation of County Chairman Kean. Without the power and financial help of Kean the Republicans of Union county will have a hard enough time to win a majority on governor, and at this stage of the game it looks as though it would go Democratic without much doubt.—Trenton Correspondence of Philadelphia Record.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, August 9—The funeral of Robert Mundy was held at the Park Avenue Baptist church, Plainfield, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market, a member of the G. A. R., preached the sermon and, as Mr. Mundy was also an old soldier, it was eminently fitting that his funeral should be conducted by a comrade. A large number of the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., were present. The pall-bearers, all of whom were in uniform, were A. B. Kenny, Worth Coddington, J. B. Clarkson and L. C. Sheppard. The firing squad, in charge of Colonel Perry, was John B. Vail, Samuel Moore, Edward Vanderweg, Edward Devine and John Wagoner. They fired three salutes as the body was being covered. Interment was made in the soldiers' plot at Hillside.

A very unusual accident happened to Mrs. Peter Mohan yesterday, which caused her a great deal of pain. While in the act of drawing a long breath she dislocated her jaw bone, and in spite of all efforts to get the member back into place, her friends could not relieve her. She remained in this unfortunate condition until Dr. Brakeley arrived upon the scene and replaced the jaw properly. Aside from a little soreness, Mrs. Mohan is none the worse today for her experience.

Mrs. Mary Demko, whose house was robbed of over $200, is moving out of town today. She says she does not like the place and is going to live at Raritan. Her boarders, who are employed at the stone crusher, will accompany her.

The Dunellen Junior baseball team met the Clinton Avenue Juniors in a game of ball yesterday morning. The visiting team succeeded in defeating the local players by a score of 2 to 1. Only seven innings were played.

Dunellenites to the number of fifty went to Sewaren today in company with the Baptist churches of New Market. No special transportation was provided and many went by trolley, while others drove.

Miss Burt, formerly a teacher in the Whittier School, has been assigned to teach in the Lincoln building. This change is made necessary by the resignation of Miss May Fulper.

Mrs. J. E Touzeau, who has been spending several days with relatives in Pattenburg, returned home yesterday.

Joseph Thomas, of Ocean Grove, who has been visiting relatives here, returned to his home yesterday.

Benjamin Carpenter has accepted a position with a manufacturing concern in Bound Brook.

Mrs. J. D. Garretson has gone to Ashaway, R. I., for a visit of two weeks with relatives.

G. R. Crandell has secured a position with the Bound Brook Cash Register Company.

S. O. Sutphen left yesterday for Riverton, N. J., where he will spend two weeks.

Miss Mary Garretson is spending two weeks at Ashaway, R. I.

HUYLER'S CANDIES FRESH

NEW MARKET

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, August 9—The First and Seventh-Day Baptist churches were at last successful in securing a pleasant day for their picnic at Sewaren. A large number from New Market, Piscataway and vicinity took their lunches and spent the day at the shore.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Abbie Giles to Isaac Newton Line. The ceremony will take place Wednesday evening, September 4.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ackerman have returned home from Asbury Park, where they have been for the past week.

Charles S. Day is attending to duties at the postoffice, while his clerk, Miss Lillian Gaskill, is enjoying a vacation.

Miss Nettie Marsh, of Newark, has returned home after a visit at the home of Mrs. Maitland.

Aaron Brower, who has been spending several days at the seashore, returned home today.

Rev. F. R. Wagner, of Gettysburg, has gone to Easton after a visit with friends in town.

William Piddington has returned home after spending a week at Asbury Park.

James Wallen is improving from a severe illness of two weeks duration.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, August 9—In an eight-mile road race, held Wednesday evening, Herbert Marsh won both the first prize, a silver berry dish, and the time prize, an engraved berry spoon. His time was twenty-three minutes. Others who entered were Edward Baker, Roy Day and James Gates. Baker secured the second prize, a pair of bicycle pedals. The course was from Berckman street, Plainfield, to Westfield and return. A hundred yard dash was also a feature of the meet. Henry Angerbauer, Conrad Knoth, Carl Fuch, J. Bowser and S. Baldwin each finished in the above named order. The races were gotten up by Henry Augerbauer and Conrad Knoth, who furnished the prizes.

A big black bass was seen in what is known as the "Back" pond, yesterday. Ryan Drake hooked the fish but it got away by breaking the line. This specie of fish is very scarce in this part of the State.

The prospects are that the next convention of the Baptist Union will be held at Providence, R. I. If this is the case many who are interested in local church affairs will be able to attend.

The Township Committee is at work having some needed improvements made to the sidewalks and ditches which need attention. Farley avenue is the latest to receive repairs.

A woman living on the outskirts of Scotch Plains was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday for treatment. She is suffering from an attack of acute rheumatism

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., met last night in the town hall. Arrangements were made for participation in the parade at Asbury Park next week.

Miss Nellie Fitzgerald has started on a trip to Europe. She will remain away six weeks and intends seeing nearly all the points of interest on the continent.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Darby, of Brooklyn, have returned home after a few days' visit with Mrs. Thomas Paff.

The regular weekly prayer meeting of the Baptist church will be held this evening in the parlors of the church.

Mrs. Noble, Mrs. George Johnson and family, and Mrs. Dobbins spent yesterday at Sewaren.

Mrs. Stites Parse is improving from a recent attack of illness.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, August 9—Last night at the regular meeting of the Patriotic Order Sons of America there was a good attendance, even though it was a warm-weather night. The ceremony of installation was conducted by District President Daniel Applegate, who was upheld in administering the rites by Past President George W. Smith. The following list of officers, after being duly installed, exchanged stations with their predecessors: President, Joseph Eckert; vice-president, William Clawson; master of forms, Reune B. Manning; inspector, Charles Brantingham; guard, Richard Elliott. After the inducting into office, a social session, with lemonade, cake and cigars, was enjoyed. At the next meeting State Master of Forms Condit will be present and address the meeting. The peach festival committee met before going home and decided to hold the festival during the last week in August. It has also made arrangements to secure music, which will be furnished by a member of the lodge.

Among those who went to Asbury Park yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Boice, Miss Estella Conger, Miss Mabel Smith, Miss Randolph, Mrs. Samuel Pyatt and Mrs. J. A. Cubberley.

A number of South Plainfield ers enjoyed the breezes at Sewaren yesterday. They joined the New Market Sunday-schools which were represented there.

T.H. Brantingham, accompanied by A. MacFadden, spent yesterday fishing on the Raritan river. They brought seventy-five crabs home with them.

Thomas Brantingham has been entertaining Adam MacFadden, of Tarrytown, during the past few days.

Mrs. W. E. Smith and daughter Flossie have returned home after a visit with friends in Brooklyn.

WANT NEW TIME SCHEDULE.

DRAUGHTSMEN OF POND TOOL WORKS WOULD WORK LESS TIME.

Waited On General Manager Stebbins And Asked To Be Given Same Hours As Others.

The draughtsmen at the Pond Machine Tool Company, feeling aggrieved that they were not included in the new arrangement that went into effect at the works, August 1, have waited on A. C. Stebbins and informed him that unless the same concession is granted to them by Monday next, they will all go on strike.

The concession made to the other employes at the works is sixty hours' pay for fifty-seven hours' work. This was given to the men without their asking, announcement being made of such concession after the men returned to work on the old schedule. The men were much pleased with the new arrangement and counted themselves fortunate. That the draughtsmen should be left out of the deal was not thought of seriously until a few days ago. They called a meeting among themselves and agreed to strike unless they were granted the same number of hours with increased pay.

As yet no word has been received by them from Mr. Stebbins, and just what action the company will take has not been given out. The draughtsmen feel that there complaint is just one, inasmuch as the new arrangement applies to everyone in the works except themselves. They claim that their work is just as difficult and more so than some other kinds, while it requires a great amount of care and skill, all of which they claim entitles them to a raise as well as any other department.

STATE REFORMATORY READY FOR GUESTS.

will not take the place at this time, if he is compelled to give up his present position as Colonel of the Second Regiment. Warden Heg is desirous of having a military department for the prisoners. There are such departments in other institutions, and he believes that the office of military instructor could be combined with that of some other office needed for the institution.

The first three prisoners to enter the new reformatory were received Tuesday from Paterson. The next morning at 5:30 o'clock they were taken to the dormitory, placed under the care of their respective keepers, and set to cleaning up the hallways and rooms. Next week they will be set to learning trades of some kind, as there will probably be a score of them in the place.

The prisoners seemed cheerful and conversed quite freely with Colonel Heg who cheered them up. They had a hearty laugh before entering their cells.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Billy Gray, young college student, secures a lieutenant's commission on breaking out of Spanish-American war. He meets a Mr. Prime, Miss Prime and Miss Amy Lawrence.

CHAPTER II.—After a conference in his official tent, Gen. Drayton joins a gay company in his personal tent—Mrs. Garrison doing the honors as hostess.

CHAPTER III.—Lieut. Gray is invited to join the Prime party, to go over in Mr. Prime's carriage to see the review, but is denied leave by Col. Canker, whom the regiment had nicknamed "Squeers." Vacant seat in carriage is given Col. Armstrong.

CHAPTER IV.—On the way to the review the Prime party witnesses the capture of two soldiers suspected of having been accomplices in the stealing of stores intended for the soldiers—even of dainties contributed by the Red Cross.

CHAPTER V.—Gray receives a note from a prisoner, who is suspected of having been a large recipient of the stolen goods, but who declares his innocence, begs Gray's help and signs himself "George Morton," adding the Greek letters of the same fraternity Gray had belonged to in college. Gray had planned a night in town, expecting to meet the Prime party. In spite of the fact that this might be his last chance for a chat with Amy Lawrence, Gray manages to secure duty as officer of the guard, that he may have an opportunity to have an interview with Morton.

"I wish to present you to some friends of mine—Miss Lawrence—Miss Prime—Mr. Prime—my old associate, Col. Stewart. Pardon me, Mrs. Garrison. I did not see you had returned." She had, and was once more perched upon the step. "Mrs. Garrison—Col. Stewart. What we need to know, Stewart, is this: Will all your men board the ship by this stage, or will some go aft?"

"All by this stage—why?"

But the colonel felt a somewhat massive hand crushing down on his arm and forebore to press the question. Armstrong let no pause ensue. He spoke, rapidly for him, bending forward, too, and speaking low; but even as she chatted and laughed, the little woman on the carriage step saw, even though she did not seem to look, heard, even though she did not seem to listen:

"An awkward thing has happened. The general's tent was robbed of important papers perhaps two days ago, and the guard-house rid of a most important prisoner last night. Canker has put the officer-of-the-guard in arrest. Remember good old Billy Gray who commanded us at Apache? This is Billy Junior, and I'm awfully sorry." Here the soft gray eyes glanced quickly at the anxious face of Miss Lawrence, who sat silently feigning interest in the chat between the others. The anxious look in her eyes gave way to sudden alarm at Armstrong's next words: "The prisoner must have had friends. He is among your men, disguised, and those two fellows at the stage are detectives." A low cry came from her lips, for Mrs. Garrison dropped at the instant and lay half under the wheels in a deathlike swoon upon the dock.

CHAPTER VII.

Billy Gray was indeed in close arrest and the grim prophecy was fulfilled—Col. Canker was proving "anything but a guardian angel to him." The whole regiment, officers and men, barring only the commander, was practically in mourning with sorrow for him and chagrin over its own discomfiture. Not only one important prisoner was gone, but two; not only two, but four. No man in authority was able to say just when or how it happened, for it was Canker's own order that the prisoners should not be paraded when the guard fell in at night. They were here at tattoo and at taps all right. The officer of the guard, said several soldiers, had quite a long talk with one of the prisoners—young Morton—just after tattoo, at which time the entire guard had been inspected by the commanding officer. But at reveille four most important prisoners were gone, and such was Canker's wrath that not only was Gray in arrest, but the sergeant of the guard also, while the three luckless men who were successively posted as sentries during the night at the back of the wooden shell that served as a guard-house—were now in close confinement in the place of the escaped quartette.

Yet those three were men who had hitherto been above suspicion, and there were few soldiers in the regiment who would accept the theory that any one of the three had connived at the escape. As for the sergeant — he had served four enlistments in the—teenth, and without a flaw in his record beyond an occasional aberration in the now distant past, due to the potency of the poteen distilled by certain Hibernian experts not far from an old-time plains fort, where the regiment had rested on its march 'cross continent. As for the officers—but who would suppose an officer guilty of anything of the kind—a flagrant military crime? And yet—men got to asking each other if it were so that Bugler Curran had carried a note from the prisoner, Morton, to Mr. Gray about 2:30 that afternoon? And what was this about Gray's having urged Brooke to swap tours with him an hour later, and what was that story the headquarters clerks were telling about Mr. Gray's coming to the adjutant and begging to be allowed to "march on" that evening instead of Brooke? It wasn't long before these rumors, somehow, got to Canker's ears, and Canker seemed to grow as big again; he fairly swelled with indignation at thought of such turpitude on part of an officer. Then he sent for Gray—It was the afternoon following the sailing of the ships with the big brigade—and with pain and bewilderment and indignation in his brave blue eyes the youngster came and stood before his stern superior. Gordon, who sent the message, and who had heard Canker's denunciatory remarks, had found time to scribble a word or two: "Admit nothing; say nothing; do nothing but hold your tongue and temper. If C. insists on answers say you decline except in presence of your legal adviser." So there was a scene in the commander's tent that afternoon. The morning had not been without its joys. Along about ten o'clock as Gray sat writing to his father in his little canvas home, he heard a voice that sent the blood leaping through his veins and filled his eyes with light. Springing from his campstool and capsizing it as he did so, he poked his curly head from the entrance of the tent — and there she was — only a dozen feet away — Maj. Lane in courteous attendance, Mr. Prime sadly following, and Miss Prime quite content with the devotions of Capt. Schuyler. Only a dozen feet away and coming straight to him, with frank smiles and sympathy in her kind and winsome face—with hand outstretched the moment she caught sight of him. "We wanted to come when we heard of it yesterday, Mr. Gray," said Amy Lawrence, "but it was dark when we got back from seeing the fleet off, and uncle was too tired in the evening. Indeed, we are all very, very sorry!" And poor Billy never heard or cared what the others said, so absorbed was he in drinking in her gentle words and gazing into her soft, dark eyes. No wonder he found it difficult to release her hand. That brief visit, filled with sweetness and sunshine, ought to have been a blessing to him all day long, but Canker caught sight of the damsels as they walked away on the arms of the attendant cavaliers—Miss Lawrence more than once smiling back at the incarcerated Billy—and Canker demanded to be informed who they were and where they had been, and Gordon answered they were Miss Lawrence, of Santa Anita, and Miss Prime, of New York—and he "reckoned" they must have been in to condole with Mr. Gray—whereat Canker snarled that people ought to know better than to visit officers in arrest—it was tantamount to disrespect to the commander. It was marvelous how many things in Canker's eyes were disrespectful.

So he heard these stories with eager ears and sent for Gray, and thought to bully him into an admission or confession, but Gordon's words had "stiffened" the little fellow to the extent of braving Canker's anger and telling him he had said all he proposed to say when the colonel called him up the previous day. The result of that was his being placed in close arrest and informed that he should be tried by general court-martial at once. So he had taken counsel, as was his right, and "counsel" forbade his committing himself in any way.

"Then you refuse to divulge the contents of that note and to say why you were so eager to go on guard out of your turn?" said Canker, oracularly. "That in itself is sufficient to convince any fair-minded court of your guilt, sir." Whereat Gordon winked at Billy and put his tongue in his cheek—and Billy stood mute until ordered, with much asperity, to go back to his tent.

But there were other things that might well go toward convincing a court of the guilt of Lieut. Gray, and poor Billy contemplated them with sinking heart. Taking prompt advantage of his position as officer of the guard, he had caused the young prisoner to be brought outside the guard-house, and as a heavy, dripping fog had come on the wings of the night wind, sailing in from the sea, he had led the way to the sheltered side, which happened to be the darkest one, of the rude little building, and had there bidden him tell his story. But Morton glanced uneasily at a sentry who followed close and was hovering suspiciously about. "I cannot talk about—the affair—with that fellow spying," he said, with an eager plea in his tone and a sign of the hand that Gray well knew and quickly recognized. "Keep around in front. I'll be responsible for this prisoner," were his orders, and, almost reluctantly, the man left. He was a veteran soldier, and his manner impressed the lieutenant with a vague sense of trouble. Twice the sentry glanced back and hesitated, as though something were on his mind that he must tell, but finally he disappeared and kept out of the way during the brief interview that immediately followed. The prisoner eagerly, excitedly began his explanation—swiftly banishing any lingering doubts Gray might have entertained as to his innocence. But he had come from a stove-heated guard room into the cold sea wind of the Pacific—into the floating wisps of vapor that sent chill to the marrow. He was far too lightly clad for that climate, and presently he began to shiver.

"You are cold," said Gray, pityingly. "Have you no overcoat?"

EVENING COSTUMES.

Princess Gowns Are Not Much Worn by Young Girls.

The princess style is the most stylish for evening dresses. However, this fashion can only be carried out successfully by a very clever dressmaker. When the waist is made separate from the skirt, the trimming is often arranged so as to give the princess effect. In every case a long effect in trimming is the one striven for. Young girls do not wear these princess effects unless they are very tall and well developed.

Lace gowns are very popular, and many are extravagant, handsome as they are, enriched with spangles, embroidered flowers and medallions of other lace. It is now a fad to trim a gown with appliqued lace figures of a different shade from the lace of which the gown itself is made. Stamped net is one of the novelties of the season. This comes in most beautiful flower designs.

A dainty evening gown is shown in the sketch. This is of pale blue china silk, made with a full blouse waist, with gathers held in to the waist line by a jacket of cream lace. The waist is held on the shoulders by a jeweled chain of turquoises. A soft twist of mull and a bit of lace fall across the arms a couple of inches below, giving that breadth of shoulder so much sought after. The upper edge of the waist is also finished with a twist of the mull. The skirt is cut in a flower petal effect, which means that there are two full overskirts cut in deep points. The fullness is held close on the hips by means of tucks stitched flat.

TAFFETTA SUITS.

Though Unpractical, They Are Much Worn by Stylish Women.

Many people are becoming tired of coats and skirts in tailor made materials, and some of the most stylish women are traveling in well made taffeta and veiling gowns with pretty jackets which can be worn or not, as the occasion requires, and shirt waist hats which are simply trimmed to match the suit. Rainproof cloth is made up into plain skirts and double breasted jackets. Happily women are learning to hold their dresses more easily, so they do not find it necessary to have them severely short for traveling.

A stylish costume consists of a tailor made waist jacket and skirt of black taffeta, with the seams of the jacket and skirt heavily stitched in white.

Black taffeta suits, though unpractical, are very smart, and the illustration shows one of the most fetching of these. The jacket is made either to open or close, and the collar can be worn up or down. The sleeves are tucked very closely and finished with deep pointed cuffs. The jacket is lined with white silk and trimmed with a broad band of white silk, outlined and barred at intervals by narrow silk braids. The full skirt has a circular flounce outlined by the white strapping.

The smart little traveling hat is of beige straw, trimmed with two ruffles of pale blue taffeta.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 11—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Enemies and arms.—Eph. vi, 10-18.

In this familiar passage Paul represents the Christian life as a warfare. His residence as a prisoner at Rome may have suggested this figure. The equipment and discipline of soldiers were a daily spectacle in Rome and would naturally suggest such a parallel. The figure, moreover, is an exceedingly apt one. The Christian life is a struggle, a warfare. It is a fight for God, for truth, for righteousness, for justice against the opposites of these things. It is a constant struggle and warfare.

Ne'er think the victory won
Nor lay thine armor down.
The heavenly race will not be won
Till thou attain thy crown.

"There is no discharge in this war." It continues so long as life itself continues.

The enemies and the arms of the Christian warfare are the especial subjects of our study.

1. The enemies. (1) These enemies are not physical, but spiritual. "We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." (2) Being spiritual, these enemies are invisible. The enemy of the human soul and his hosts are shrewd and cunning and all the more powerful because invisible. "Their battles are the rush of a sudden ambuscade. They fight not on a pitched field, but by sudden assault and secret and cunning onslaught." (3) The enemies of the Christian are powerful. Just how much power satan has over man we do not know, but we do know that his power is great and is not to be despised, but constantly guarded against.

2. The arms. To meet such enemies both defensive and offensive arms are necessary, and they have been provided. The Christian soldier has an armor. Paul calls it the "whole armor of God" and specifies its separate pieces. (1) The girdle. The girdle in the ancient armor was the military belt, which held the rest of the armor in its place, and hence was very important. The spiritual girdle is truth. (2) The breastplate. The Roman breastplate covered and protected the heart. The Christian's breastplate is righteousness—not his own righteousness, but Christ's righteousness. (3) Sandals. The legs of the Roman soldier were covered with greaves, a kind of military leggings, and the feet with sandals, a kind of light, spiked shoe. To give swiftness of movement was the purpose of the sandal. The Christian needs to be prompt and swift, and the sandals which assist him are the effects of the gospel of peace. The gospel brings peace. It scatters doubts. In so doing it destroys timidity and fear and inspires courage and promptness in obedience to all orders. (4) The shield. Roman soldiers used two kinds of shields—a small shield, called a buckler or target, which was held in the left hand during a hand to hand struggle, and a larger shield, which covered the entire person. Paul refers to the large shield, which covered the person and protected the armor of the soldier from being pierced. The Christian's shield is faith, unwavering confidence in God, which guards the mind against doubt or unbelief. (5) The helmet. The Roman helmet protected the head and enabled the soldier to hold his head erect without fear. The Christian's helmet is salvation—not merely the hope of salvation, but the assurance that we are saved here and now. (6) The sword. This is the only offensive weapon that Paul mentions. The Christian's sword is the "sword of the Spirit, the word of God." With this weapon Christ beat off satan, and with it we can do the same. Let us put on and keep on the armor of God that we may withstand the wiles of the devil.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have a chalk talk or object lesson talk on the subject.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. lix, 17; Math. vi, 9-13; Rom. xiii, 12-14; I Cor. xv, lviii; II Cor. vi, 1-10; x, 1-5; I Thess, v, 6-9; Jas. iv, 7; I Pet. iv, 7; v, 8, 9.

He Loves Me.

If God be my Father, He loves me. That means everything to me. It means provision for my necessities, protection in all my vicissitudes, guidance in all my perplexities, friendship in my loneliness, comfort in my sorrows, success in Christian work, victory over my temptations, triumph over sin and at the last an abundant entrance into His heavenly kingdom.—American Friend.

Identify Yourself With the Church.

For the sake of others, as well as for your own, identify yourself with the Christian church; be not a visitor, but a member. Example is more potent than word. The spectacle of a dozen manly men and womanly women walking up the aisle to devote and dedicate their lives to the cause of Christianity will move a congregation more deeply than a year's preaching.—Universalist Leader.

The Best.

Home lived religion, like homemade bread, is the best.—Christian Leader.

Prayer.

Witness ye men and angels; now
Before the Lord we speak;
To Him we make our solemn vow,
A vow we must not break:

That long as life itself shall last
Ourselves to Christ we yield,
Nor from His cause will we depart
Or ever quit the field.

Lord, guide our doubtful feet aright
And keep us in Thy ways,
And while we turn our vows to prayers
Turn Thou our prayers to praise.

—Rev. Benjamin Beddome, 1817.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 11, "Enemies and Arms." Text, Eph. vi, 10-18.

Enemies oppose us at every step of our progress in this life—not always openly, most frequently in disguise and difficult to be recognized. Often they appear as friends and in attractive form and thus are more effective in alluring us from the ways of right. Our enmity is to be directed not at the persons of our fellow men. We are to discern the evil spirits which impel them and direct our opposition toward these spiritual wickednesses with the idea of overcoming their influence in ourselves and rescuing our friends and neighbors also from their power. The powers of this world's darkness are the foes we are to fight. Whether we hold them to be individual personalities or simply influences personified, we must make no mistake as to the deadliness of their enmity and the tremendous sweep of their power.

We must get a firm hold, as wrestlers do, on these influences which are harmful to our spiritual life, and we must throw them and show no mercy until they are destroyed. Look closely to your own life and see what are its most powerful temptations. Does pride of any kind puff you up with a sense of superiority over your fellows? Do a crippling diffidence and timidity keep you in constant restraint? Does a sense of envy and jealousy torment you as you see the work and ability of others? Do a narrowness of mind and niggardliness of spirit keep you from open handed and open hearted generosity in dealing with others? Does a self seeking and grasping desire begin to creep over your thought and calculation? Do a lightness and jaunty frivolity, a free and easy air of recklessness, attract you in others until you imitate them as a mark of distinction? Are you beginning to crave pleasure more than worth and praise above consciousness of merit? Then put yourself in shape for a settled war on the evil in yourself.

Equipment.—Principles never change, and laws in the natural world and spiritual realm are the invariable modes in which powers act. Applications are incessantly changing. The same arms which Peter and Paul found effective in their warfare will be efficient in our times.

We need the whole armor of God. To use a part only will leave us exposed at some vulnerable point.

Truth.—It is like the girdle or belt which, buckled tightly around the waist, gives strength and permits strenuous exertion without danger of rupture in vital parts. What a figure of speech is this, and how accurately does it fit the case! The first essential in all godliness is absolute truth; not a weak desire for some truth and a fear of the whole, not a wavering and compromising half hearted falsity. Genuine, deep, unreserved truth will make one strong and fearless. Pull up another notch in that belt of yours and buckle it tighter lest you go to pieces in the critical moment of life and death wrestling. Live the truth, all and only.

Righteousness.—As a breastplate it keeps the soul securely. There can be no fear, no timidity, no distressing doubt, where there is the clear knowledge, "I know I am right." No panic, no stampede, can affect such a heart. It is rock based and immovable. On it all weapons shall beat and break, but shall not break it, for it is impenetrable, stronger than triple steel. It is armor plate unpierceable.

Peace.—Feet swift to spread harmony! How different from the foot of mischief and strife!

Faith.—Confidence unwavering in God is protection against all arguments and adverse evidence. We see only a part, but by faith we know the facts of the whole. Disaster here is only a local incident and cannot shake confidence, for we are assured and confident that on the field, as a whole, God moves His squadrons to irresistible victory.

Salvation.—That covers the head. "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day."

Finding Time to Read the Bible.

He who cannot find time to consult his Bible will one day find that he has time to be sick. He who has no time to pray must find time to die. He who can find no time to reflect is most likely to find time to sin. He who cannot find time for repentance will find an eternity in which repentance will be of no avail. He who cannot find time to work for others may find an eternity in which to suffer for himself.—Hannah More.

No Fear of Sudden Death.

Some persons entertain great fear about sudden death and desire to have some warning of its approach and time to prepare for the king of terrors, but to a faithful and active Christian it ought to matter very little how or when he is called from time to eternity. God knows best the season and manner of our exit from earth and entrance into heaven.—Presbyterian.

In Thy Strength.

Strong in Thy strength all right to do,
Life's battle I can win,
And in Thy strength will put to flight
Each soul destroying sin.

Strong in Thy strength, Thy will to love,
This restless heart I'll calm,
And in Thy strength vain joys forsake,
Which bring no healing balm.

Strong in Thy strength to live or die,
I'll trust Thee day by day
And in Thy strength will be content
That Thou should'st choose my way.

Strong in Thy strength, oh, let me be
Till victory is won,
And in Thy strength at length I rise
To hear Thee say, "Well done!"

Interesting Reminiscences of the Late Pierre Lorillard

PIERRE LORILLARD, the late millionaire, possessed an individuality among American turf magnates that has left a deep impression. So long as the thoroughbred shall race in this country, the name of this foremost patron of breeding and racing will be a byword among followers of the turf. His name will be associated with that of the late August Belmont and William C. Whitney. Had Mr. Lorillard's great Leamington—Maggie D. B. colt, Iroquois, not won the English Derby in 1881, ably trained by Jacob Pincus, and magnificently piloted by Fred Archer, the name of Lorillard would have been just as prominent in American racing. Iroquois is dead, so is his owner, but the fact that Mr. Lorillard's great breeding establishment at Rancocas, near Jobstown, N. J., has more than held its own in the matter of equine produce with the farms of Kentucky and Tennessee is a monument to both horse and owner.

Besides Iroquois, who won the Epsom and St. Leger, Mr. Lorillard's colors have been worn to the post and past the wire winner by such great animals as Parole, Dew Drop, Wanda, Parrett, Sachem, Pinafore, Drake Carter, Pizarro, La Tosca, Locohatchee and Lamplighter, to say nothing of the horses that he had in his English string when illness compelled him to leave the foreign races to return home. It may be recalled by many who followed the turf closely that Mr. Lorillard had many vicissitudes in his racing career, and several times threatened to withdraw entirely from the business of racing, although he never said that he would discontinue the raising of finely-bred horses.

LAMPLIGHTER.

Like the late Mr. Withers, and like that fine old gentleman, August Belmont, Pierre Lorillard obtained the greatest amount of enjoyment from winning races with animals of his own breeding. However, if he could not breed stake winners, he never hesitated to pay liberal prices for animals that were ranked in the highest classes.

It was many years ago that he bought the Duke of Magenta for $15,000 from his brother, George L. Lorillard, and sent the colt to England. However, this was a futile venture. He next bought Falsetto, the horse that defeated the mighty Spendthrift—Lamplighter, once the apple of Pierre's eye, was a son of Spendthrift—and Falsetto, like the Duke of Magenta, fell sick when landed in England. Years ago I was told that $20,000 was the price that he paid for Falsetto. Of course, this sire has been represented by winners on the American turf, but Mr. Lorillard never got his money back from him. That astute old turf general, Green B. Morris, who once added the American Derby to his list of winnings, sold Drake Carter to Lorillard for $17,000, and the fine-looking gelding for a time was as much of a sensation as is that other gelding, Robert Waddell.

THE LATE PIERRE LORILLARD.

It is history—among turfmen—how he fancied Lamplighter in 1892 and bought him for $30,000 from Brown & Rogers. Later, when Lamplighter became the property of a rich Guttenberg racing and gambling magnate, the west had an opportunity to see this beautiful horse raced to defeat behind such animals as Yo Tambien and Clifford.

For his judgment about the get of the English stallion, Leamington, the late Mr. Lorillard will always be remembered kindly by American breeders. He thought that the animal that was on a farm so many years near Philadelphia was the greatest sire that ever lived. Certainly the distinguished sons and daughters of Leamington bear witness to this. Longfellow, Eolus, Iroquois, Sensation, Harold, Spinaway, Parole and others are monuments to the blood lines of the sire Leamington. George Lorillard, it is hinted, first thought more of the Leamington blood than did Pierre, and he was successful racing his get. In one season, Pierre went into the market and bought all of the produce of stock farms that had Leamington for a sire, and was fortunate enough to acquire the illustrious Iroquois.

It was in September, 1893, that I had the pleasure of a chat with Pierre Lorillard, and he told me that his physician had ordered him to free his mind from cares, sell his racers and live in the open, or his ills would bring him to an early grave. He had one ambition—that was to keep Lamplighter—but another idea crossed his mind, he said. He knew that Marcus Daly—the late copper king, who loved to race horses as well as he liked to live—wanted Lamplighter, and he realized that Dr. Rogers would like to buy him back, but he felt that if anyone should get Lamplighter it would be Trainer Huggins. Finally, he decided that Huggins should have him, and pay for the horse whenever he could afford the money. But Huggins never came up with the money, and the horse went to Wallbaum.

"Lamplighter had the hardest time of his life in the Brooklyn handicap, and never recovered from the jostling he received in that race," said Mr. Lorillard, eight years ago. As a three-year-old he carried loads of weight, but as a four-year-old he could not catch the lightweights. In the Suburban he showed this. In the cases where Lamplighter was called upon to pack a lot of weight, he fretted, and when the pace was cut out fast from the start, he yielded to the lighter weighted horses.

Mr. Lorillard has one hobby that he discussed many times—that of fighting shy of aged animals. He thought that as soon as an animal passed the three-year-old stage he became a precarious racing tool, and should be disposed of. The two-year-olds and three-year-olds have the call on valuable stakes and turf honors, and if good horses were kept beyond the three-year-old limit, the handicappers would load them down so in the handicaps that he could not win.

"If an owner is inclined to race his older horses short of work and get them beaten, he can get weight off and thus win handicaps, but I do not care to win that way," said Pierre. What an arraignment of the system that is followed to-day by plenty of owners of handicap animals! For the sake of capturing a handicap with $3,000 added money, say, they will start in overnight events and see their horses finish in the ruck, and smile to think of how light these horses may get in when the weights for some large handicap are announced.

Another thing that Mr. Lorillard had pronounced views upon—betting on horse races. He told me that unless horse racing was saved from the taint of "business propositions only," and made more of a sport, it would decline, just as trotting did.

"Abolish public bookmaking, as it is conducted on all of the race courses, and substitute for it the French mutual system of wagering," was his panacea. The reason that the American Jockey club, which tried this plan, many years ago, and abandoned it, according to Mr. Lorillard, was that other clubs refused to try the experiment. The present system of bookmaking, he thought, was a menace to fair racing, because money "talked," and dishonest bookmakers could reach the riders to have the favorites pulled, whereas in the French system the inducement to stop a favorite never obtains.

you want to be clean and pure, no matter what it is. If it's wine you want pure wine, if it's water you want pure water.

Very often pure water is made impure by placing in it impure ice.

But when Hygeia Ice is placed in a tank of pure water the water remains pure. Pure water and pure ice will make pure ice-water. It has been proven that Hygeia is a pure ice. Frozen from pure, sparkling, artesian well water, after that water has gone through a process of filtering.

Isn't that the kind of ice you should be using. Don't you think you ought to order it of us today?

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMCND.

The Hope chapel nine and the Clover Club's team will cross bats Saturday afternoon on the Plainfield avenue grounds. The visitors hail from Brooklyn.

The Lexington A. C. nine, of New York, and the St. Mary's team will cross bats on the St. Mary's diamond Saturday afternoon. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

H. B. Thompson, manager of the Hope chapel baseball team, has returned from a trip to Asbury Park, where he endeavored to arrange a game to be played between the Hope boys and an Asbury Park nine. The team will visit the Park Saturday, August 17, when they will accompany the Hope chapel excursionists, and the attempt is being made to arrange a match to add interest to the occasion.

GOLF.

The interest in the competition for the President's cup at the golf course of the Somerset County Country Club, Findern, it steadily increasing. Last Saturday George Nolan, of Somerville, finished first, and T. G. Winsor, also of Somerville, came in second. This gives Winsor the lead with 11 points, while Baker and Nolan are tied for second place with 8 points each. A team from the club comprising Messrs. Hartwell, Barcalow, Baker, Pool and Bergen, played a match with a team from Kenilworth Inn, at Pluckemin, last Saturday. The country club boys won by a score of 16 to 6.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Henry Angerbauer and others interested in athletics are arranging for a meet to take place over the Fanwood course Wednesday, August 21. An eight-mile bicycle race, as well as a one-mile handicap foot race and a one-hundred-yard dash, are among the events scheduled.

Mike Murphy, who is to have charge of the team which Yale University will send into the international games with Cambridge and Oxford next month, arrived at New Haven this week to arrange for the training of the team. Chas. Dupee, of Washington Park, has been selected as one of two substitute sprinters. He may have an opportunity to distinguish himself and secure a position on the regular team.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The energetic members of the Plainfield Driving Club are now making arrangements for a big race meet, trot and pace, to be held at their track on Park avenue, Labor Day. There will be three important races for purses of $150, $100 and $100 for 2:25, 2:30 and 2:40 classes. There will probably be other special races of importance.

There will be twelve horses entered in the three races at the Gentlemen's Driving Park, tomorrow afternoon. All of these horses have been put in the best of condition and every event will be full of interest. It is expected that the old rivalry between the Westfield and Plainfield horses will attract a large number of people from the former place. Plainfield horses, in the past, have always defeated their Westfield neighbors.

ALL TREES MUST BE TRIMMED.

MAYOR SMALLEY DECIDES TO ACT UNDER BOROUGH ORDINANCE.

Must be Trimmed to Height of Twelve Feet—Work Will Begin There Monday.

The hot weather is not deterring Mayor Smalley from keeping a vigilant eye on the interests of the borough and, as a consequence, some improvements are to be made in the immediate future. Most important among these will be the trimming of all trees along the line of the various thoroughfares throughout the town.

His Honor has issued orders to the proper authorities to commence operations Monday morning and to spare no tree in trimming it according to the provisions of the borough ordinance. This ordinance provides that all trees along the line of sidewalks shall be trimmed clear to a height of twelve feet. Protruding branches of many of the trees obstruct the rays of the electric lights in the evenings and practically render that service useless at many points. It is to rectify this condition that the Mayor has issued his order.

Anyone desiring to trim the trees in front of his property, His Honor says, may do so, but the trimming must be completed before the arrival of the borough's agent or otherwise the work will immediately be taken in hand by the official himself.

TRYING TO SETTLE.

James McCauley, Victim of Trolley Accident, Has Left the Hospital.

James McCauley, one of the victims of Sunday night's trolley accident, was permitted to leave the hospital yesterday. He will make daily visits there for treatment until he fully recovers. Officials of the company have made a proposition to settle with Mr. McCauley, but he will not decide until tomorrow whether he will accept the amount offered. In addition to the amount offered, the company has agreed to pay his expenses for treatment. Mr. McCauley wants $500 damages. It is understood that the company is not willing to pay him one-half of that sum.

FUNERAL OF W. A. BALDWIN.

Held From the Residence on West Front Street, Last Night.

The funeral services of William A. Baldwin were held last evening at 8 o'clock from the late residence on West Front street. Rev. Dr. W. C. Nelson, of the borough, conducted the services. He spoke words of comfort to the bereaved ones and impressed upon all the uncertainty of life. The floral tributes comprised two large wreaths and a spray. The interment took place today noon at Rosedale cemetery, Orange. The pallbearers were Miles Henshett, Enis Smith, Henry Smith and William Smith.

SCAFFOLD BROKE.

A Painter Working in a Somerville Church Had Three Ribs Broken.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, August 9.—Dominias Huff, a painter, employed in decorating the interior of the M. E. church, fell from the scaffold yesterday, breaking three of his ribs. He was engaged in the peak of the ceiling, when the scaffold broke, and he fell to the seats below, breaking one of the pews. He was carried across the street to Dr. Flynn's office, and after receiving medical treatment was taken to his home.

DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS.

Started by Mrs. John Morecraft Against Her Husband.

The Court of Chancery has issued papers in the divorce proceedings brought by Mrs. Morecraft against her husband, John Morecraft. Constable Peter V. Weaver served the papers on the respondent yesterday afternoon. Reed & Coddington represent the complainant. Friday, August 30, is the date set when an answer is to be made to the charge, which is non-support.

Picnicked at Rockaway Beach.

The Ladies' Society of the Gesang and Turn Verein held a picnic at Rockaway Beach yesterday. Twenty members of the organization went on the excursion, which is an annual event of the society. The club women enjoyed the time so much that they did not return home until the large hours of the evening.

Change in Telegraph Operators.

Edward Golden, night operator at the North Avenue station, has been temporarily transferred to Bound Brook. James Hurley, of Jersey City, is filling his place.

Attended Picnic And Games.

Fifteen Plainfielders attended the picnic and games of the P. Ballentine & Sons Employers' Benevolent Association at Haeberle's Bay View Park, Newark, yesterday.

WILL HUNT FOR GOOD WATER.

BOROUGH AUTHORITIES PREPARING TO DRILL SEVERAL WELLS.

It Will Be First Step Toward Getting Municipal Water Works For North Plainfield.

Although the ears of those who regularly attend the meetings of the Borough Council are becoming accustomed to the report of "progress" made by the committee on municipal ownership, which has in charge the much mooted question of water supply, the subject of borough ownership of the water system is not dead.

Mayor N. B. Smalley is giving the matter his attention, and there is a possibility of some surprises being sprung at a no remote date. Sometime during the coming week His Honor will superintend the operation of drilling for water within the borough limits.

He proposes at the outset to sink a well at a point on Greenbrook road. Just where the exact place is the Mayor declines to state, but he is in earnest in the matter. Afterwards men will bore for water at other places in the borough, and in this manner it will be ascertained definitely the most feasible place where the best supply of water may be obtained.

The Mayor is a pronounced municipal ownership advocate when it is in the best interests of the people and in this case he believes it is.

PROGRESSIVE EUCHRE.

Was the Attraction For the Guests at the Mountain Park Inn Last Evening.

A delightful contest of progressive euchre was held at the Mountain Park Inn last evening and the friendly battle for the prizes was quite keen. About the six tables were a number of guests who watched with undivided interest the plays made by the participants in the game.

The list of captors of the handsome prizes include the following: Miss Jessie Wheeler, of Jersey City, vase; Mrs. Vail, of Brookly, a pin cushion; Mrs. Bowley, of Brooklyn, a half dozen cut glass butter plates; Mr. MacCumber, of Brooklyn, a folding mirror; Mr. Wheeler, of Jersey City, a silver shoehorn and paper cutter and Mrs. Evarts, of Jersey, a match safe in the shape of the image of a mulatto girl.

EUCHRE AT THE HOMESTEAD.

Charming Affair Which Was Held At Fanwood Last Evening.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, August 9.—The progressive euchre at the Homestead last evening, was a marked success being largely attended by the guests of the house.

The success of the evening was due to the junior members of the Homestead. Miss Grace B. Perrell designed very unique tally cards, Miss Elizabeth H. Somerville displayed great taste in the selection of the prizes which were eight in number. J. Harry Stothoff is a very active member of the Homestead party this year and took a very active part last evening.

The prizes were won by Mrs. Watt, Mrs. H. L. Stothoff, Miss Simonson and Miss Pendergast. The men winning were Messrs. Cameron, Stothoff, Pendergast and Bushmore.

GROCERS' EXCURSION.

Want To Go To Coney Island If Boat Can Be Secured For Their Use Alone.

The Grocers' Association of this city is now trying to perfect arrangements for the annual excursion. Coney Island is the objective point, but the committee in charge will not arrange for that trip unless a boat can be engaged for the sole and exclusive use of the association and its friends who want to go. Last year's experience was sufficient, and a repetition of it will not be permitted.

Band Gave Concert.

The Columbian Band, a local organization of colored musical talent, gave a concert at T. A. B. hall last evening, which was well attended. During the course of the entertainment the Rockland orchestra rendered several selections.

Disorderly Conduct.

JUMPED IN CAR'S PATH.

Lad Named Gloak Struck By Trolley Car—Taken To Hospital—Not Seriously Hurt.

A narrow escape from instant death was experienced by a young lad named William L. Gloak on East Second St. shortly after noon today.

The boy was hanging on the rear end of one of J. A. Smith & Brother's wagons when he suddenly let go his hold on the vehicle and darted across the trolley track. At the same moment trolley car No. 85, bound from Scotch Plains for the Watchung avenue station, came along in the opposite direction and struck Gloak, throwing him heavily on the ground to one side of the track.

The little fellowed was picked up and carried into a nearby house, and there it was found that he was not seriously hurt. His injuries consist of a bruised knee, torn ear and mutilated face. The ambulance was summoned and Gloak was conveyed to the hospital. Fortunately the trolley car was not moving rapidly and the motorman stopped his car as soon as the accident occurred.

CITY JOTTINGS.

BARRY BEATEN.

Had Another Hackman, Robert Evans, Arrested On Charge of Assault and Battery.

On the complaint of Charles Barry a hackman, Robert Evans, another hackman, was arrested this morning and arraigned before Justice Nash. Barry charges that Evans struck and kicked him. Evans waived examination and was placed under $500 bail for his appearance before the Grand Jury.

Little can be learned concerning the affair. Barry says that he did nothing to cause the assault, but that Evans without provocation committed it. Barry's face is badly discolored and swollen, and it has every appearance of being severely battered.

At noon Evans was trying to get a bondsmen. He was obliged to wait until 2 o'clock, when a bondsman was found.

OWED POLL TAX.

The Laugh Is On One Of Plainfield's Assessors—Had To Pay The Bill.

A good joke is being enjoyed by the friends of one of Plainfield's assessors. Today while visiting the office of Collector F. H. Smith he was handed a tax bill for $1 57, which includes his poll tax and interest for the year 18[illegible]. At first the assessor could not believe the bill a just one, but when Collector Smith showed him the books and explained matters, the delinquent accepted the bill and agreed to settle. Friends of the assessors are having a good laugh at his expense. He is good natured, however, and accepts the situation cheerfully.

HOW FISHING IS DONE DOWN AT OCEAN GROVE

Plainfielders Have Often Seen the Fish Pound and Wondered How It Worked.

FISH ON EVERY HOTEL MENU.

QUITE AN INDUSTRY HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED THERE.

Fishing is Done Early in the Morning and the Victims Are Captured By the Hundred—How It Is Done.

Many Plainfielders, who are acquainted with Ocean Grove as a summer resort, have observed that fish is on every menu there to be had. In fact it is looked upon as the chief article of food. Served in a variety of forms, known to the chefs at the shore, the dishes are always enjoyable.

It is also a fact not to be disputed that nowhere than by the sea is there a more palatable fish than a nicely prepared piscatorial delicacy. It is because here they are fresh from the deep, cooked almost while kicking and are served upon the tables and eaten within but a few hours of being taken from the ocean.

Where are the fish caught, where sold, how prepared and what are the principal means used in catching them in such large numbers as to supply the demands of the great summer population? is a question often asked by summer visitors.

Looking down the beach and oceanward a little past Lilliagore's pavilion a number of poles can be seen sticking out of the water. They are about a thousand feet from shore and indicate the location of the fish pound owned by the Bradley Beach Fish Company. Most of the fish sold in the twin cities are taken at the pound.

The ocean at the location of the pound is about fifty feet deep, so that the poles, whose tops can be seen protruding above the surface of the sea, are each about eighty feet in length. There are eighty-six of them. New poles are required each season, owing to the ravages of a certain sea worm which gets into them, and though they are cut from hickory and white oak, the worm succeeds in boring them to such an extent as to make them unfit for use a second season.

The poles are placed in position by a suction process. The heavy end is placed upon the bottom of the ocean and then the sand is removed directly underneath by a suction hose, thus permitting the pole to sink and become firmly imbedded until about 15 feet beneath the bottom. It requires a week to place the poles in position. To these poles the nets are fastened.

The fishing season at the pound begins about the first of May and extends to the middle of November. Seven nets are used in the Bradley Beach pound. Each is 252 feet in length, and is heart shaped. Each net contains a huge pocket, which can hold about 25,000 pounds of fish, though they do not often secure that weight.

The average amount of fish taken from the entire pound daily is about 100 barrels, of 200 pounds each.

The nets are relieved of their burdens daily and it requires two crews of six men each to do the work. The crews begin about 3 o'clock in the morning and by 6 have brought tons of fish to shore. Here they are placed in baskets and teams and carts take them to the fish-house on the Bradley Beach side of Fletcher Lake. There they are sold to local dealers or packed in ice for shipment to New York and other points.

The varieties taken include Spanish mackerel, weak fish, or sea trout, butter fish, porgies, sea bass, croakers, plaice and several others. Occasionally a few of the dangerous stingaree, whose sting is poisonous, gets into the nets, but these are killed and thrown again into the sea.

The two crews which bring the fish ashore are composed of men who must be experienced in the business. Their work is most hazardous. The crews mess together at the fish-house. Hundreds of summer visitors call at Bradley Beach in the early morning to see the boats land with their tons of fish or go to the fish-house, where they are courteously shown about by the captains in charge.

Smashed His Foot.

Frank Titus, of Somerset street, an employe of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company, smashed his foot while engaged at work yesterday morning. He is confined to his home and is suffering much pain from the injured foot.

INQUIRED AFTER THE QUEEN.

HOW COUNCILMAN VAN HERWERDEN CAME TO BE ARRESTED.

A Letter and a Dutch Paper Give Some of the Details—Has Sailed for Home.

Mr. vanHerwerden, of South avenue, father of Councilman Jan. vanHerwerden, who was arrested in Holland recently, received a Holland paper a day or two ago giving an account of his son's experience at The Hague. The paper does not give as full an explanation of the trouble as a letter which Mr. vanHerwerden wrote to his father.

In some manner Mr. vanHerwerden entered the palace unnoticed and without permission. He was standing just inside, when a guard appeared. He inquired of the official when the Queen was coming out. This caused suspicion and the guard promptly remarked that he was under arrest. Mr. vanHerwerden attempted to explain and said that he would not leave the palace until he saw the Queen. This did not deter the guard, who promptly took his prisoner to the chief magistrate.

Mr. vanHerwerden was released in a short time, but he believes that his name had much to do with getting off. His father does not believe that he had the proper passports with him. If he had, the trouble would have been averted.

In writing about the affair, Mr. vanHerwerden said that after his release he was constantly watched by two guards, who made a business of following him about. He sailed Thursday on the Maasdam, of the Holland-American Line, for home and should reach Plainfield some time next week.

BIG LABOR DAY MEETING.

PLAINFIELD DRIVING CLUB WILL GIVE A GOOD PROGRAMME.

Three Classes Will Attract Many Good Horses—Three-Cornered Race Meet Given Up.

As stated in yesterday's Press, a big race meet is being arranged for Labor Day on the track at the Gentlemen's Driving Park. It is proposed to make this the event of the season and the members of the Plainfield Driving Club are putting forth every effort with this end in view. Commencing with today and continuing every Saturday until Labor Day there will be matinee races at the park. To these races no admission fee will be charged either to the grounds or the grandstand. Good races will be provided, and the committee propose to make them a strong attraction for all lovers of trotting and pacing.

The track is being constantly worked and is now in fine condition. The races for Labor Day will be mixed, trot and pace, and there will be three classes; 2:25 for a purse of $150; 2:30 for a purse of $100, and a 2:40 class for a purse of $100. Those in charge have received assurance from owners of fast horses throughout this section that they will enter their horses, and it has been arranged that no race meets will be held at New Brunswick or Westfield that day. As an additional attraction there will probably be arranged two or three special races between well-known horses. A reasonable admission fee will be charged to the races on Labor Day.

W. A. Coddington, president of the Driving Club, together with Mayor Smalley and W. F. Williams, of the borough, and Edward White, of this city, are taking charge of the arrangements. Mr. White has charge of the concessions at the grounds and programme of events. The club has given up the idea of entering the three-cornered race meet which was planned earlier in the season. The Plainfielders believe that Newark has the best horses and there would be no question as to their winning the $150 silver cup to be offered as a prize. It is a question as to whether that race-meet will be held, for Westfield has also withdrawn from the affair.

In Serious Condition.

The last report from Charles B. Brown, who is detained at St. Barnabas Hospital, Newark, states that he is very ill and it will be a long time before he will be able to leave the hospital. He has practically no use of his hands or legs, on account of an acute attack of rheumatism.

Increased Death Benefits.

The members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., are now working under the new plan of increased death benefits, the amount having been raised from $250 to $500. By this plan the members pay sixty-five cents a month, instead of fifty cents, as heretofore.

CAMP MEETING.

Big Meeting Arranged At Vail's Grove For Tomorrow Afternoon—Entertainment Tonight.

The camp-meeting at Vail's Grove is attracting large numbers of colored people to that place. During the exercises yesterday over 150 persons were in attendance. This evening an entertainment is to be given.

A big open air meeting will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock and Rev. Dr. Little, of Virginia, will speak. Chorus singing will be a feature of this meeting. In the evening at 8 o'clock a testimonial meeting will be held. One of the ministers of this city will make an address.

No intoxicating drinks are allowed on the grounds. There is a fine spring of pure water conveniently located. Refreshments are on sale, and the comfort of the visitors is attended to by a committee.

FUNERAL OF GEN. NEGLEY.

WAS HELD FROM THE RESIDENCE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., Was Present and Assisted Rev. Dr. Lewis in Conducting Service.

The funeral services of the late Gen. James Scott Negley were held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence, West Seventh street, when relatives, friends and neighbors, together with comrades, gathered to honor the memory of one who was not only admired and esteemed, but beloved by many for his many sterling qualities. Numbered among those present were the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., whose presence was requested by members of the family.

There was a profusion of beautiful floral tokens, including pillows, wreaths and many bunches of cut flowers. One pillow was the gift of Post No. 73, G. A. R., while the other tokens came from relatives and friends, also some of the societies of which the deceased was a member.

The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, a friend and neighbor. Following the wish of the bereaved family, it was a very simple one, including a few remarks and a prayer. The main thought of the remarks was that in such times of sorrow the Divine love covers this as well as the life to come, and in this universal love is to be found the solution and balm for sorrow and bereavement. Words of solace were spoken to the bereaved ones, after which a fervent prayer was offered.

At the conclusion of this service, the G. A. R., conducted a service of their own in simplified form. Commander Berg gave a short recitative part of the ritual, after which sprays of evergreen were placed on the bier by the comrades. After this service an opportunity was given all to view the remains. Early in the evening the remains were taken to Pittsburg, where they will be interred in the family plot.

MEETING AT DEWEY PARK.

Evangelistic Services Will Be Held There All Day Tomorrow.

The colored folks will hold an all day camp-meeting at Dewey Park tomorrow. Rev. B. B. John, of Niagara Falls, who is a celebrated southern evangelist, will be present to speak and sing.

During the rally in the afternoon, a collection will be taken for the purpose of helping to purchase a building lot, upon which to erect a new church. Presiding Elder E. J. Stanton will also be present at the meeting and will discourse upon the Ten Commandments.

CONVENTION OF CLUBS.

State League of Republican Clubs Will Have Big Time Soon.

Senator Herbert W. Johnson, of Camden, and E. E. Jeffries, also from South Jersey, the sub-committee of the State League of Republican Clubs, appointed to make arrangements for the next convention of the league, are paving the way.

The call for the convention will be issued September 1, and President F. F. Meyer, who is working with the sub-committee, predicts that the convention will eclipse any of the former gatherings, both in point of interest and attendance.

Mr. Meyer says there will be work for all the clubs of the State in the coming campaign for governor, and that the members should manifest their interest by sending capable delegates to the league convention, which will be held in Camden early in October.

WILL MAYOR SMALLEY RUN FOR SHRIEVALTY?

His Honor Declines To Talk But The General Feeling Is That He Will.

OTHERS AFTER THE PLACE.

SENATOR REED SAYS MAYOR SMALLEY WOULD BE STRONG CANDIDATE.

But Would Not Declare That He Was Out After The Office—His Probable Backers—Other Names Mentioned.

Although both he and his friends are decidedly reticent in regard to the matter, it is safe to predict that when the proper time arrives Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, will be a candidate for the Somerset county shrievalty nomination this fall.

The Mayor is a past master in politics and knows full well that many a good boom for office has exploded in thin air by being put in operation too early. Hence, he is biding his time and for the present will not discuss the subject and evades all questions pertaining to it. His name has been connected with the nomination for some time past but in no respect has it been used authoritively.

When seen by a reporter of The Daily Press, His Honor was inclined to talk of trotters, municipal improvements, borough water, the weather and, in fact, all subjects except matters of a political nature. He did admit, however, that he had given the matter some attention, although he disclaimed having any bee in his bonnet for the office of sheriff. Paraphrasing the political maxim enunciated by Former President Grover Cleveland, Mayor Smalley said: "I believe if a man is the proper person to fill an office in the gift of the people he will be sought, and it is not right for him to go hunting for it."

State Senator Charles A. Reed, who is closely associated with the Mayor in politics, took the same stand as His Honor in discussing the subject. He could not be induced to say that the chief executive of the borough is a candidate for the office, although he stated that the Mayor would be a strong man before the people. Others who are likewise affiliated with the Mayor politically would not say definitely that he is out for the office.

At the present time there are a number of Republicans nursing infant booms for the office. C. V. D. Suydam, of Franklin township, is looked upon as one who will make a fight for the place on the ticket. Charles Gummerbach, of Bound Brook, is another man to be reckoned with when the time arrives. What his strength will be is not known at present, but it is not unlikely that he will have some supporters.

There is at least one man who is an avowed candidate. He is E. E. Cooper, of Warren township. Mr. Cooper is handicapped by the fact that he lives in a township which is strongly Democratic, there being not more than 100 Republican votes in his district. On the other hand, Mayor Smalley resides in the banner district of the Republican party of Somerset county, and can be counted upon to give an account of himself in North Plainfield at least, where he is strongly intrenched.

If the Mayor announces himself as a candidate it is believed that he will be assured of the fact that he will go before the county convention backed by his home district as well as some of the stronger townships. It can be taken for granted that his intimate political friends, Senator Reed, County Clerk Somers, of Somerville, Postmaster Cooper, of Somerville, Former Assemblyman P. V. D. VanDoren and others will give him their undivided support. The Mayor will most assuredly be heard from the time comes.

LET THEM GO.

City Judge Runyon Suspended Sentence On The Six Men.

City Judge Runyon yesterday rendered his decision in the case against John Dixon, James Tobin, Patrick McDonough, Joseph Miller, James Moore and John Scott, charged with disturbing the peace at the corner of West Third street and Madison avenue Thursday afternoon.

On account of the previous good reputations borne by the combatants, who had engaged in a regulation Kilkenney fight on this occasion, the court was inclined to be lenient with the offenders. After reviewing the evidence and administering a sharp reprimand, coupled with a warning, His Honor suspended sentence.

CONCERT NEXT WEEK.

Subscriptions are Coming in for the Next Band Concert at the City Park.

Success seems assured for the next band concert judging by the way subscriptions are coming in. Yesterday the following were received: George Wharton Edwards, $5; W. L. C. Glenney, $5; Cash, $5; J. A. Machado, $2; Emil Woltman, $2, Cash, $6; A. H. Atterbury, $2.

The concert will be given in the city park next Friday evening and Ben. LaVere, the leader of the band, promises a programme of unusual excellence. He says that he has picked some of the most popular, as well as classical selections, for this concert. Anyone desiring to contribute toward this ideal summer amusement can leave their subscriptions at The Daily Press office or forward the amount to Mr. LaVere.

SACRED CONCERTS TOMORROW

WILL BE GIVEN AT THE LOCAL SUMMER HOSTELRIES.

"Holy City" Will Be Given At The Inn In The Afternoon—Selected Programme At The Netherwood In The Evening.

Sacred concerts will be given at the Mountain Park Inn and the Hotel Netherwood tomorrow. At the former resort the affair will be conducted by Madame Cortada, who has charge of the musical entertainments at the Inn this season. W. H. Stanton will supervise the rendition of the programme arranged to be given at the Netherwood by the Orpheus Club Orchestra, of which he is the leader. Gaul's "Holy City" will form the part of the concert at the Inn, which is set for 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The programme at the Netherwood, which will be rendered at 8:30 o'clock in the evening, will be composed principally of classical selections from various composers.

At the Mountain Park Inn's concert the soloists will be: Soprano, Madame Cortada and Master Francis Cortada; contralto, Mrs. Magruder and Miss Lila Otto; tenor, Messrs. Magruder and Woods, and bass, Messrs. Blake and Shawe. The principal solo parts are: Tenor, "My Soul is Athirst for God;" trio, "It Shall Come to Pass;" contralto, "Eye Hath Not Seen;" bass, Thus Saith the Lord;" tenor, "To the Lord Our God;" contralto, "Then Shall the King Say Come;" soprano, "These are They."

The programme in full at the Hotel Netherwood is as follows: March from "Aida," Verdi; Venetian Love Song, from Romantique, "A Day in Venice," Nevin; Hungarian Fantasia, Tobani; Cavatina, violin solo, Raff; overture, Southern Pastimes, arr. by Catline; Swedish Wedding March, Soderman; Excerpts from "Fiorodora," Stuart; "Am Meer," cornet solo, Schubert; Sanctus, from Mass in E flat, Weber; selection from "The Mikado," Sullivan.

STEAM BUS SYSTEM.

S. D. Drake Promises to Have It in Operation in City and Borough by September 15.

A bus system, consisting of rapid transit stages, covering a route extending over the principal streets of this city and the borough, is promised for the near future. The scheme is being promoted by S. D. Drake who says that according to arrangements made by him the system will be in operation by September 15.

According to plans made by Mr. Drake he will have four carriages made by the manufacturers of the Mobile Rapid Transit Company, of Philipse-on-Hudson, in service when operations commence and this number will be increased as the business increases. The style of bus he proposes to use is now in service between the Cortlandt and Wall street ferries, New York, and is claimed to give general satisfaction for the purpose for which they are constructed.

BULL CAUSED TROUBLE.

Township Committee Says Hummer Paid Too Much; Must Board Animal Himself.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, August 10—The present relations between the Piscataway Township Committee and Manager Hummer, of the poor farm, are not of the happiest nature. The committee complains that Mr. Hummer bought a bull, and paid an excessive price, without the necessary authority from them. It is said that Hummer declared he would keep the animal, but the committee says that it will cost him $1.50 per week for board. To retaliate, it is alleged that Hummer then sold a number of posts for much less than their value. The controversy rests in this state at present.

JERSEY CITY CADDIES HERE.

DEFEATED PARK CLUB AND LOST TO HILLSIDE BOYS.

Played Park Caddies In The Morning—Won 15 To 0—Hillside Won In The Afternoon 7 To 6.

The caddies' team from the Park Golf Club met the team from the Jersey City Golf Club on the Park Club course yesterday morning and suffered the worst defeat of the season, the visitors winning the match by the score of 15 to 0. The home team was not in it at any point in the competition, the vistors simply being too strong for them. The scores for the match are as follows:

Jersey City.		Parks.
H. Munn	1	Stephany	0
H. Childs	3	Trayno	0
W. Carroll	10	McLoughlin	0
E. Henry	1	Smalley	0

In the afternoon the Jersey City boys visited the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course and contested with the team from that club. The visitors this time were not so successful, being defeated by the score of 7 to 6. The match was an intensely interesting one from the start. Munn, of the visiting team, saved his colleagues from a whitewash by making six points. He made the course in 87. W. O'Loughlin, of the home team, also made the eighteen holes in 87. This score was not beaten during the match, although low scores were the rule. The scores are as follows:

Hillside.		Jersey City.
M. O'Loughlin	0	H. Munn	6
W. O'Loughlin	4	H. Childs	0
M. Kane	2	W. Carroll	0
T. Kelly	1	E. Henry	0

MOTORMAN TELLS HIS STORY.

CHAS. ROBERTS EXPLAINS HIS PART IN TROLLEY ACCIDENT.

Claims That He Was Strictly Obeying Rules of Company—Thought Light Was on a Bicycle.

Charles Roberts, motorman, and Charles Ryder, conductor, the crew on trolley car No. 83, which was in the collision last Sunday evening on East Second street, are still off duty. They have as yet received no word from the company as to what action will be taken. The crew of the other car is still at work.

According to Motorman Roberts, he and the conductor waited at the switch on East Second street near Richmond street, six minutes over their time. They are supposed to wait two minutes. When they failed to see the signal light appear telling them that the westbound car was on the single tract, they decided to go ahead and make the point where the double track commences.

Mr. Roberts says that the approaching darkened car did have a light in front, but it was a small lantern hanging on one end of the front of the car. He says that it was difficult for him to determine whether the light was a bicycle or some other thing. It was this that fooled him and when he found that it was an approaching car his efforts were not sufficient to stop his car quick enough to prevent a collision. The westbound car was ten minutes late at the point where the single track runs into Plainfield. Mr. Roberts claims that he strictly adhered to the fixed rules of the company.

T. C. STRYKER DEAD.

Old Somerville Citizen Passed Away Suddenly.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, August 10.—Tunis C. Stryker, a prominent citizen of this town, and a retired merchant, died suddenly yesterday morning from rheumatism of the heart. Mr. Stryker went on the Second Reformed Sunday-school excursion Thursday, to Asbury Park, and returned feeling as well as usual. He was stricken at 5 o'clock yesterday morning with pains in the region of the heart and died soon afterwards.

Mr. Stryker was a member of the Town Commissioners for a number of years, was at elder in the First Reformed church, and was universally respected.

FUNERAL OF WM. EGLINTON.

Took Place Yesterday Afternoon At Home Of His Sister.

The funeral of William Eglinton was held yesterday afternoon, at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Cashman, Jr., of West Third street, at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Eglinton was but twenty-one years of age, and has been ill for nearly eight years. The sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Moore. Interment was at Hillside Cemetery, Samptown.

WERE BLOWING OUT A NEW WATER WELL.

An Artificial Geyser Spouted At Pumping Station At Netherwood Last Night.

AT FIVE MINUTE INTERVALS.

STREAM OF WATER WENT HUNDRED FEET IN THE AIR.

Were Cleaning Out New Well Just Drilled Which Extends Four Hundred Feet Into The Earth—A Strange Sight.

With a roar, as of a tornado, a column of water shot a hundred feet into the air. Such was the decidedly unusual sight at the pumping station of the Plainfield Water Supply Company at Netherwood last evening. It looked like a gigantic geyser, but was in reality a water well which was being "blown out."

The Daily Press told some time ago of the experimental well which was being drilled by the Plainfield Water Supply Company close to the pumping station on North avenue, Netherwood. The well was drilled 400 feet and water of remarkable purity was found below the many strata of rock. It is a ten-inch well. For over ninety feet pipe is run down until rock is reached. Then the well continues right through the rock. Alongside of it a six-inch well, fifty feet deep, was drilled.

After a well is drilled it is customary to clean it out by blowing steam in at the bottom and thus forcing out the mud and dirty water. The small well was thus blown out yesterday morning. Last night the same operation was begun at the bigger well. A steam pipe eighty-five feet long was lowered into the well.

Five minutes after the steam was turned on there was no sign. Then a slight rumbling might be heard. Finally a faint cloud of steam appeared at the top of the well. More rumbling and steaming muddy water bubbled over the top of the pipe. It disappeared for a moment only to spring out in a large column. Then a mass of steam and water shot skyward for a hundred feet. It looked like a monster fountain. It continued but for a minute and then the subterranean stream retired as quickly as it came and all was quiet once more.

This artificial geyser continued to spout all night at intervals of four or five minutes. This morning the muddy water had disappeared and the small overflow preceding the "blow" itself showed the water to be perfectly clear. The steam was then shut off and the cleaning process was over.

These blows are caused by the steam which gathers force enough under the water to finally eject the water above it out of the well with great force.

A few visitors gathered at the pumping station early last evening and witnessed this unusual sight. One local amateur photographer, Vincent B. Miner, of LaGrande avenue, was fortunate enough to secure two views of the "spout" at its best before the sun went down.

MUSICALE AND DANCE.

Such Will Be the Attractions at the Mountain Park Inn This Evening.

This evening a musicale will be given at the Mountain Park Inn and the programme to be rendered gives promise of being quite an elaborate affair. At the conclusion of the concert an impromptu hop will be held.

Hereafter for the remainder of the season dances will be given Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. Cards will be the feature for Tuesday evenings. Thursday evenings progressive euchre will be the entertainment afforded and Saturday evenings a musicale will be regularly given.

The programme for tonight's musicale as has been arranged by Madame Cortada, is as follows: Piano duet, Madame Cortada, Miss Mather; tenor solo, Mr. Magruder; contralto solo, Miss Otto; soprano solo, Master Francis Cortada; contralto solo, Mrs. Magruder; tenor solo, Westley Woods; Vocal duet, Madame Cortada and Master Francis Cortada.

At Fillmore Baptist Church.

The pulpit of the Fillmore Baptist church will be occupied tomorrow by Rev. Dr. E. J. Cruderp, of Newport News, Va. It had been announced that Dr. Cruderp would be unable to be present, but he wired the church authorities today that he would attend both services tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. O. Bell and sons Roy and Milton, of Brooklyn, are guests of Mrs. R. C. Mulford, East Fifth street.

Bed Bugs and Cock; Roaches.

For destruction and complete riddance of Cock Roaches, Beetles, Wood and Water Bugs, Bed Bugs, Ants, Rats, Mice, etc., "Rough on Rats," though poisonous, if used with care is most effective. In fact it is the only thing that will permanently annihilate Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches. As an exterminator of Rats and Mice, "Rough on Rats" is the old reliable that never fails nor disappoints. They "don't die in the house." Is sold all around the world. Is used by all civilized nations of the earth. Is the most extensively advertised, the best know and has the largest sale of any article of its kind on the face of the globe. It gives satisfaction every time. Beware of imitations. I employ no peddlers. Have a suspicion of any dealer offering substitutes said to be as good. 15c. and 25c.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

Manager F. F. Proctor and his business associates are actively engaged these days in preparing for the opening of the season at his three New York theatres which have been dark during the summer. Saturday, August 17, has been selected as the opening date at the Twenty-third Street Theatre and the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre while the Fifty-eighth Street Theatre will swing back its doors on Saturday afternoon, August 31, two weeks later. At the Fifth Avenue Theatre, meanwhile, the F. F. Proctor Comedy and Vaudeville Stock continues to provide New York's only dramatic diversion. For next week the main comedy will be Mrs. Romualdo Pacheco's "Ineog," with little pastoral drama, "Meadow Sweet," as the curtain raiser. This week's list of variety talent embraces Percy Walling, tenor soloist; Al. C. Davis, singing and talking comedian; Layton and Bennett, song illustrators; Billy Gibbons, colored comedian, and moving pictures projected by the kalatechnoscope.

—James White, Bryantsville, Ind., says DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve healed running sores on both legs. He had suffered six years. Doctors failed to help him. Get DeWitt's. Accept no imitations. L. W. Randolph.

—Charles Haggerty, of this city, has secured a position as conductor on the Fourth street trolley line.

—Don't be satisfied with temporary relief from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure permanently and completely removes this complaint. It relieves permanently because it allows the tired stomach perfect rest. Dieting won't rest the stomach. Nature receives supplies from the food we eat. The sensible way to help the stomach is to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat and can't help but do you good. L. W. Randolph.

Isn't it Worth 25c. To Be Cured of Constipation

People who suffer from habitual constipation with all its attendant ills, clogged stomach and bowels, sluggish liver, heartburn, indigestion, and thin and impure blood, are too apt to believe that the only remedy is violent purgatives. The contrary is the case. Such cathartics, even if they do move the bowels, are irritating and griping, leave the stomach inflamed and enfeebled and the constipated condition recurs with greater difficulty of cure and the sufferer constantly growing worse. There is a laxative that moves the bowels without pain or griping, cleanses the stomach, sharpens the appetite, stimulates the liver, strengthens the nerves, and purifies the blood, while its marvellous tonic properties tone up the entire system and keep it healthy.

Laxakola Does It

Its remarkable tonic properties reach every organ—the liver, kidneys and stomach, nerve, heart and brain—and removes the cause of your debilitated condition. This is the only way to secure an absolute and permanent cure.

Laxakola is the only medicine for babies, is purely vegetable and its action is gentle, speedy and effective. For coated tongue, simple fevers, colds, chills and languid feeling it is the ideal medicine.

It tastes good. ☞ Children like it and ask for it.

Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to LAXAKOLA CO., 123 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 356 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

HENRY OF ORLEANS DEAD.

Descendant of French Kings Passes Away In Cambodia.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A dispatch from Saigon, the capital of French Cochin-China, says that Prince Henry of Orleans, who had been seriously ill in Cambodia, is dead.

Prince Henry of Orleans was the oldest son of the Duke of Chartres. He achieved some fame as an explorer. He was born at Ham, near Richmond, England, on Oct. 16, 1867.

Before Prince Henry was taken ill he expressed his intention of visiting the United States, and Newport was expecting that he would reach there before the close of the season. His father, the Duke of Chartres, served in the Italian army in 1859 and in the Federal army in the American civil war in 1862.

Prince Henry was a first cousin of the Duke of Orleans, head of the royalists of France and a great-grandson of Louis Philippe, who was king of France from 1830 until he abdicated the throne in 1848. The present head of the Bourbons of France, Prince Louis Philippe Robert, duke of Orleans, was the son of the late Count of Paris.

Pan-American Cycling.

BUFFALO, Aug. 10.—An excellent programme greeted the Pan-American exposition visitors at the fifth day of the national amateur bicycle meet of the National Cycling association. The feature was the defeat, his first on the stadium track, of Marcus Hurley of the New York Athletic club in the five mile national amateur championship. The trick was performed by T. J. Grady of Chicopee, Mass. Hurley remained in fourth place, with Grady close to his rear wheel. Entering the last turn, Grady spurted and gained a lead which Hurley tried his best to cut down, but failed, the men finishing almost even across the tape. The semifinals of the two mile national amateur championship were won by Grady, McConnell, Hurley and Hoffman, excellent races every one.

Grand Circuit Races.

BUFFALO, Aug. 10.—The third day's racing of the grand circuit under the auspices of the Buffalo Driving club at the Fort Erie course, while they lacked the absorbing interest of the first two days, furnished a good day's sport. The attendance was again good, 5,000 persons being present. The card consisted of a match race and three trots, the 2:24, the 2:19 and the 2:16. The first two trotting events were won in straight heats, the 2:16 resolving itself into a split heat affair requiring six of them to divide the money. The track was in fine condition, but the weather was decidedly cool and not conducive to fast time. The first race and the event of the day, the Electric City stakes, for a purse of $5,000, was won by Neva Simmons in straight heats.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Mrs. Carrie Nation has been released from jail at Topeka.

A Southern Pacific train fell through a bridge over Keith Lake bayou, Texas.

France has given Turkey until Aug. 15 to answer a note on the Quay company claims.

Baron von Ketteler's body has reached Bremerhaven on the German steamer Patricia.

Secretary Long has started for Buckfield, Me., to attend the "old home week" exercises.

George H. Phillips, the Chicago grain operator, says his firm will pay its customers in full.

A delay is reported at Peking due to the British objection to the commission to revise the tariff.

The battleships Massachusetts, Alabama and Kearsarge are to be equipped for wireless telegraphy.

Olanotte, the Paterson (N. J.) anarchist, is reported to have confessed at Rome his complicity in King Humbert's assassination.

ISTHMIAN TROUBLES

Colombians Said to Have Invaded Venezuela Again.

SITUATION IS NOW MORE SERIOUS.

Official and Unofficial Advices Indicate a State of Affairs Which May Lead to War Between the Two Countries.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The situation in Colombia and Venezuela continues to occupy much of the attention of officials here, and while it is not felt that affairs have reached a serious aspect yet it is appreciated that both the official and unofficial advices indicate a condition of affairs which may mean war between Colombia and Venezuela, complicated by revolutionary outbreaks in both countries.

The state department has received a rather lengthy mail communication from Consul General Gudger at Panama, and, though this was dated nearly a month ago, it told of the landing of a revolutionary expedition and expressed the current belief held at Panama that this would be followed by other expeditions. The department also has received a letter from Mr. J. Edward Simmons of New York, president of the Pan-American railroad, confirming his communication of Thursday relative to the trouble on the isthmus and stating that the superintendent of the road had advised him as to the depredations of an insurgent band which did not number, however, much over 50 men.

The more serious aspect of the matter was presented in the press dispatches from Willemstad, stating that the Colombians again had invaded Venezuela. There was no official confirmation as to this, but if it should prove true there seems little chance of avoiding an open conflict between these two countries, as such an invasion by Colombia would be in itself an act of war. But the authorities here prefer to take a conservative view of the situation until official advices are in hand.

When inquiry was made as to why our officials at Bogota and elsewhere did not send full information on the subject, it was stated that these officials were not there to communicate news, but only to advise this government as a preliminary to any official action which might become necessary.

At the navy department no further steps were taken toward sending ships to the isthmus. It was decided definitely, however, to send the battleship Wisconsin down to San Diego, Cal., in case the desirability of that move became evident by the time she reached San Francisco and the state department was so advised. There was some comment also as to the possibility of sending down some of the ships of the north Atlantic squadron, but Acting Secretary Hackett treated these suggestions as rather premature. There is no doubt, however, that an ample force will be sent from the squadron if its presence seems desirable.

President's Day at the Fair.

CANTON, O., Aug. 10.—Arrangements have been made here for president's day at the Pan-American exposition. President J. G. Milburn and Director General W. I. Buchanan of the exposition, Mayor Diehl of Buffalo and John I. Scatherd came here for the purpose. They were met at the station by the president's carriages and taken to the Elks' club for luncheon. They spent several hours at the McKinley home. Besides selecting the date it was arranged that the president should leave here Wednesday morning, Sept. 4, and reach Buffalo the same evening. The details are to be worked out later, but opportunity will be provided the president to see the exposition complete and to the best advantage both day and night. Thursday will be largely given over to the special programme for president's day, with parades, possibly speaking and other features. Friday the presidential party will spend at Niagara falls.

Seneca Indians Have a Bloody Fight.

BUFFALO, Aug. 10.—A special to The Express from Gowanda says that Jesse Jamison, for years the recognized chief of the Seneca National Indians on the Cattaraugus reservation and one of the most prominent red men in this part of the United States, is dead. Richard Crouse, another red man high in the councils of the Indians, is in a precarious condition, and his son Dick is under arrest as the result of a bloody fight which took place on the Grouse farm, about six miles from here, on Thursday night. Feeling runs high among the other Indians. Both were well liked and have many followers. It is said that other Indians who have the reputation of being quiet are arming, and further trouble is expected. Justice of the Peace Fred Plac, who is trying to pacify the warring factions, says that he would not be surprised to hear of an outbreak at any time.

Stinson Won Again.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—About 1,500 people saw Will Stinson of Cambridge, Mass., win the 25 mile motor paced race from Archie McEachern at the Coliseum. The quarter century was made in 30m. 59 1-5s. Some fast time was developed, and the last mile, made in 1m. 26 2-5s., was the fastest made on the track so far and broke the record for the south.

Wrecked Liner Abandoned.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 10.—The wreck of the steamer Acis, which lies on the rocks west of Cape Race, has been abandoned. A high south wind threw a heavy sea against the rocks and tore asunder the steamer's fore part. The salvage steamer Grand Lake, with the commissioner of wrecks and all the salvagers, had to cut clear and make for Trepassey.

Mr. Nation Wants a Divorce.

MEDICINE LODGE, Kan., Aug. 10.—David Nation, through his attorney, has brought suit for a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Carrie Nation, the temperance crusader. The petitioner, who is now visiting in Iberia, O., alleges that his wife held him up to public ridicule, neglected her family duties and abandoned his home.

A New Yorker's Handsome Gift.

CATSKILL, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Frederick N. Dubois, a New York business man with a summer residence here, has given the Catskill Young Men's Christian association $25,000. Of this sum $20,000 will be used for the erection of a building and $5,000 as the nucleus for an endowment fund.

HELP FOR STRIKERS

Federation of Labor to Stand by Amalgamated Union.

PRESIDENT GOMPERS ISSUES ORDER

Steel Corporation Decides to Move Big Plant From McKeesport to a Location Where It Can Be Operated Without Trouble.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 10.—There are gravely important developments in the strike situation. The United States Steel corporation has moved decisively in its strike campaign with a peremptory order directing that the great Dewees Wood plant at McKeesport be dismantled and removed to the Kiskimenetas valley. President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor after a two days' conference with President Shaffer and his associates has issued a formal statement specifically pledging the federation to the moral and financial support of the Amalgamated. His written review of the train of events leading up to the industrial quarrel sustains the course of the Amalgamated association and declares that nothing remains for labor but to battle for the cause of unionism.

The official announcement of the order to dismantle the Dewees Wood plant came toward the close of an otherwise uneventful day, and its importance was such that it claimed the serious consideration of the men on either side of the great industrial conflict now being waged here. Persifer F. Smith, district manager for the American Sheet Steel company, made the formal announcement in the following brief statement:

"I have orders from President McMurtry of the American Sheet Steel company to at once tear down the Dewees Wood plant at McKeesport and remove the same to Kiskiminetas valley. This I shall proceed to do immediately."

The publication of the order was a great surprise, and McKeesport received it at first with doubt. Actual preparations were made later in the day for the dismantling of the mill, and there is little room for doubt that it will be torn down and taken apart piece by piece. The strikers heard the order in a spirit of defiance. They simply said that it showed that the steel corporation was convinced that it could not reopen the plant in the face of the opposition of the Amalgamated association. Strike leaders here said that the order was a bluff that had been worked unsuccessfully before and declined to take it seriously. A press representative showed District Manager Smith's statement to President Shaffer, but after reading it he declined to talk about it.

No official statement on the subject could be obtained from any of the national officers.

The Dewees Wood plant was founded about 40 years ago and is one of the best known works in Pennsylvania. Its yards and buildings cover between 12 and 14 acres. It has employed 1,200 men at its busiest times, and its cost is placed at $5,000,000 by officials of the steel corporation.

Concerning the dismantling of the Dewees Wood mill, the following telegram was received from McKeesport last night:

"The passing of the old Dewees Wood mill at McKeesport begun this morning when the orders issued yesterday by President McMurtry of the American Sheet Steel company will be carried out. It is a blow struck at the very vitals of the Amalgamated, and the consternation and dismay carried into the hearts of the striking employees at the mill was visible all over the city last night."

The business men of the city say the loss will be something which cannot be replaced. Many of the company officials here are inclined to blame Mayor Black's utterances for the move made by the head of the combine. The mayor's proclamation, they say, while it did not in itself indicate hostility to the trust, was so twisted and misconstrued throughout the country that it has done the town an almost irreparable injury in the eyes of capitalists who do not know the actual conditions.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor was at the strike headquarters again in the afternoon with Secretary Morrison and was closeted with the advisory board of the Amalgamated association for more than three hours. Before he left the meeting he gave his promise to support the strike. Later he gave out the following statement:

"Since the arrival of Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor and myself we have been in almost continual conference with the advisory board of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. We made a thorough investigation of the present strike, of its members formerly in the employ of the United States Steel company and its constituent branches, the causes which led to the strike, the present situation of the controversy, and we unhesitatingly declare our judgment that the position of the Amalgamated association is absolutely justified and essential to its continuance and effectiveness as a union of the workers in the trade as well as the protector of the rights and interests of its members.

"It is true that the Amalgamated association in the first conference asked that the United States Steel company sign the union scale of wages for all the mills operated, owned and controlled by that company, but it is also true that the request was withdrawn and one substituted so that the union scale should apply to those mills only in which the members of the Amalgamated association are employed—in other words, which are well known to be union mills. This the United States Steel company refused to concede, insisting that the scale should apply only to those mills which were union last year, even refusing to allow two mills to be included which, by a species of hectoring and systematic opposition by the company, had become nonunion during the year.

"Even the first demand for the scale to be applied generally throughout the jurisdiction of the company was commendable for the obvious reason that an employer should be willing to pay a uniform wage to men who perform like work, but realizing that a demand for those whom it did not fully represent the Amalgamated association modified its demand to the extent already stated.

"It appears that the company took the position it did with an avowal that it would not allow the extension of the union to nonunionists. Such a position and avowal are tantamount to declaring that notwithstanding the growth of the craft the organization had reached a status beyond which it could not expand.

"Now, any one at all familiar with industrial development and economic organization is equally aware that status is ever possible. Organized labor advances or recedes, never stands still. It therefore follows that if the trust by its great wealth can prevent the extension and growth of the Amalgamated association it encompasses its disintegration and destruction. The only power then standing between the trust and workers as a protector are the tender mercies of its directors. Against such a calamity the sense of justice and humanity revolt and against which we solemnly protest.

"We shall stand by the Amalgamated association in the present conflict to the full extent of our power both morally and financially, we shall aid in every lawful way the men on strike or who may come out on strike to maintain the workers in their right to organize and the extension of their organization, so that the only power which stands for their protection and advancement against the avarice of concentrated wealth may be perfected and perpetuated. When the overweening rich combine for avarice, power and tyranny, is it not the duty of the workers to unite for home, justice, right and humanity?

"If the trust should succeed in its purpose to crush the Amalgamated association, the victory would be dearly bought.

"The fight of the brave Boers may end in their undoing, but the spirit of justice, the love of freedom and right suddenly looms up in another part of the world, and these principles find lodgment in the hearts of other men who will carry on the battle until they are enthroned in the conscience and everyday life of all peoples. So with the Amalgamated association. An organization may be defeated in a contest, but it will not be conquered.

"The Amalgamated association will not be crushed; she will not be conquered; she must not even be defeated."

President Gompers would not say just what the Federation of Labor proposed to do or, in fact, anything beyond what was contained in the written statement issued by him. It is presumed, however, that all the federation men engaged in the iron and steel trades will be called out with the Amalgamated men.

Strikers' Organizer Ignored.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Joseph Carberry of Buffalo, an organizer sent here by President Keefe of the International Longshoremen's association to try and settle the strike with the Rutland Transit company, was positively refused an audience by President P. C. Clement of the Rutland Transit railroad. Mr. Clements in an interview said: "For the last two or three years the Rutland Transit company has had more or less trouble with longshoremen at this port. It has cost the company more to handle freight in Ogdensburg than at any other port on the lakes. Finally for some cause or other the longshoremen struck. The company has filled their places, work is moving along smoothly, and we should have no trouble were it not for the fact that the strikers, by threats, throwing stones and various acts of violence, have sought to intimidate and drive away our men. The whole power of the Transit company and the Rutland railroad will be exerted to protect its employees from violence and annoyance. The strikers will not be re-employed by the Transit company upon any conditions."

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Distribution of Merchandise Is Satisfactory—Wheat Prices Strong.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

There is no complaint from any part of the country over the volume of current distribution of merchandise, and what hesitation is observed in general trade is chiefly due to the uncertainty as to the duration of the labor troubles in the steel manufacture.

Relief is felt in all departments of the iron and steel industry now that uncertainty is ended and the position of the contestants made clear. Any compromise or temporary agreement would have left matters in bad shape through the inevitable uneasiness regarding the future. Now the issue must be determined permanently, and a settled condition will greatly facilitate operations. Some idle mills resumed almost immediately, and it is reported that others will be working next week.

A healthy demand from domestic millers and phenomenal Atlantic exports of 6,226,208 bushels against 1,720,963 last year give strength to prices of wheat. As the season advances it becomes more apparent that foreign crop losses will necessitate unprecedented shipments from the United States, and with the settlement of the strike on the Pacific coast there will be a movement of great magnitude. Thus far this season, however, the shipments fall much below those of 1900 at San Francisco.

Eastern shoe manufacturers find conditions as favorable as last week, while reports from the west are more encouraging. Orders from the drought affected regions are no longer countermanded, and earlier cancellations are being restored.

Cotton goods are quiet and weak. With the dissolution of the Fall River committee there is no support for print cloths nor concerted arrangement regarding production.

Failures for the week were 173 in the United States against 177 last year and 31 in Canada against 23 last year.

Representation Fixed For Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 10.—The constitutional convention has adopted a proposition providing that hereafter representation in Alabama shall be based on population, and it shall not be changed by constitutional amendment. This settled a controversy which arose between delegates from black belt counties and delegates from white counties. The black belt feared that with the negro eliminated an effort would be made to reduce the representation.

Trying to Get German Lines.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—"Two emissaries of the American syndicate that is trying to get control of both the German transatlantic lines," says the Hamburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, "are still here. Ostensibly they are buying odd parcels of shares. It is believed that patriotic sentiment is too strong to permit the sale of the lines."

Nicaragua Without a Bank.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Nicaragua, the state department learns, has been left without a single banking institution through a ruling of the supreme court of Nicaragua that the London Bank of Central America, limited, has no legal status in that country.

BANISHMENT FOR BOERS.

Lord Kitchener Gives Rebels Until Sept. 15 to Yield.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A parliamentary paper has been issued containing a proclamation issued by Lord Kitchener Aug. 7 in accordance with instructions from the imperial government, the governments of Cape Colony and Natal concurring. The proclamation says:

"All commandants, field cornets and leaders of armed bands, being burghers of the late republics and still engaged in resisting his majesty's forces, whether in the Orange Colony, the Transvaal or other portion of his majesty's South African dominions, and all members of the governments of the late Orange Free State and Transvaal shall, unless they surrender before Sept. 15, be permanently banished from South Africa. The cost of the maintenance of the families of all burghers in the field who have not surrendered by Sept. 15 shall be recoverable from such burghers and shall be a charge upon their property, removable and immovable, in the two colonies."

The newspapers comment approvingly upon the proclamation. Even The Westminster Gazette says that there is no fault to find with it, nor is there any objection to make on the score of justice. It thinks, however, that it is extremely doubtful whether it will have any effect in shortening the war. Most of the fighting Boers are already completely ruined, and nothing distrains them owing to the devastation of the country.

The war office has received no advices giving color to the rumor circulated by a news agency in the United States that Lord Kitchener has been wounded in a skirmish with the Boers. The rumor is officially discredited. Lord Kitchener's customary dispatches reached the war office yesterday afternoon and contained no reference to any accident to him.

According to a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Lourenco Marques, the Boers are reported to have captured and shot in cold blood a lieutenant and a trooper of Steinacker's horse in revenge for their being instrumental in shooting a Boer dispatch rider.

Kitchener Proclamation Condemned.

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—German papers commenting upon Lord Kitchener's proclamation condemn it in the severest terms, declaring that it is against international law.

WRECK ON THE LEHIGH.

Black Diamond Express Cars Jump the Track—Several Injured.

BUFFALO, Aug. 10.—The two rear cars, a Pullman observation coach and a parlor car, on the Lehigh Valley Railroad company's Black Diamond express which left this city yesterday at noon for Philadelphia jumped the track and broke loose from the balance of the train at North Leroy, ten miles east of Batavia, shortly after noon. The train was running over 50 miles an hour at the time. The parlor car remained on the ties, and no person was injured, but the observation car plunged down the embankment and dropped over on its side in the ditch. It was badly demolished, but only eight of its occupants, including the Pullman conductor and porter, were injured and these not seriously. The injured sustained only bruises and small cuts about the head and body. Their wounds were dressed by doctors summoned from Leroy, and they proceeded on the coaches of the unwrecked portion of the train, which went on to New York at 2:30 p. m.

At the office of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company in this city it was stated that the train was on time, but was running at the rate of between 55 and 60 miles an hour. The accident occurred at precisely 12:40 o'clock, and two hours later the passengers, including the injured, continued on their way.

CONVENTION IS BUSY

Rapid Progress on the Cuban Electoral Bill.

ONE VERY IMPORTANT MODIFICATION

Mayor of Cienfuegos Refuses to Vacate His Office After His Resignation Had Been Accepted—The Rural Guard Sent.

HAVANA, Aug. 10.—The constitutional convention at yesterday's session went forward rapidly with the electoral bill, 61 articles out of a total of 108 having now been approved. The principal change from the original text is in the number of voters required in order to propose a candidate for election.

After considerable discussion it was decided that in the province of Havana a candidate for the office of representative, governor, provincial legislator, senatorial elector or presidential elector must be proposed by no fewer than 500 voters, in the provinces of Santiago and Santa Clara by at least 300, in the province of Matanzas by 200 and in the provinces of Puerto Principe and Pinar del Rio by 100. According to the original project 1,500 were to be required in the province of Havana, while the numbers for the other provinces were in the same ratio as was finally adopted.

The change was proposed by Senor Sanguily, who contended that to leave the project as it stood originally would place the nomination of candidates entirely in the hands of political parties, which would mean that cliques would rule the elections, as independent candidates would not be able to collect so many voters to propose them, owing to their not having organizations.

The military government recently ordered the ayuntamiento of Cienfuegos to elect a mayor in the place of Senor Vieta, who tendered his resignation about the middle of last month in consequence of difficulties arising out of the reorganization of the Cienfuegos police. The resignation was accepted at the time; but, to the surprise of the military government, Senor Vieta now insists that he did not resign.

When the ayuntamiento was about to proceed to an election, a mob favoring Vieta entered the city hall and intimidated the council, which broke up in disorder.

It is understood that interested parties are urging the mob to make trouble, and orders have been issued from Havana detailing 50 of the rural guard of Cienfuegos to keep order in the precincts of the city hall.

M. CAMBON'S VIEWS.

French Embassador Gives His Impressions of America.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The Echo de Paris prints a long interview with the French embassador to the United States, M. Jules Cambon, during which he says on the subject of the steel strike that the workman in America is not hostile to the moneyed aristocracy, as he believes that with intelligence and good luck he may also become a Carnegie. So instead of being jealous he says that Carnegie played his game fairly. M. Cambon is also quoted as saying:

"Europeans have no idea how hard Americans, both rich and poor, work. The French people are not aware how many French there are in America, especially the descendants of French people. A large part of the United States was settled by the French, and if their descendants have not reserved their language they still love France.

"The Americans speak English, but they are not English. The whole effort of the Americans has been to weld into a single metal the French, English and Germans who compose the nation.

"The French language is popular. If the educated young women of France who are vainly seeking employment in schools would go to America, they could easily gain a good living there as teachers.

"The Americans perhaps are inclined to reproach the French with remembering too well what they did for America. Still, the cultured classes know what America owes to France."

Describing the country, M. Cambon says:

"When one returns to Europe after living with the Americans, everything looks small. America is so colossal and so young that she has many other surprises in store for Europe."

Illinois Town Burned.

CHAMPAIGN, Ills., Aug. 10.—The business portion of Rantout, a town of 3,000 people, has been destroyed by fire. Telegraphic communication was cut off almost at the beginning of the fire, and details are lacking. The fire started in a grain elevator. The Illinois Central depot burned next, and the flames spread to the business section. Among the buildings destroyed were the postoffice, railroad station, Masonic temple, a new hotel and the Opera House; also both newspaper offices. The loss will exceed $100,000, and the insurance will fall far short of that.

Strike Leaders Discharged.

TOWANDA, Pa., Aug. 10.—The State Line and Sullivan Railroad company, in whose mines at Bernice there has been a strike since March 27, has served an injunction issued by Judge Mitchell of Williamsport upon all employees and others restraining them from interfering with its employees or its works. Twenty more strike leaders were discharged and ordered to vacate the company houses.

Railroad Safes Robbed.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 10.—The safes of the Illinois Central Railroad and Express company in the depot at Bolivar, Tenn., were blown open and robbed by two masked men after the robbers had forced the night telegraph operator into a box car and locked him in. Only a small booty was secured.

Dr. Martin B. Cleveland Dead.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 10.—Dr. Martin B. Cleveland, aged 66, said to be a first cousin of ex-President Cleveland, is dead at South Jacksonville. He was born in Masonville, N. Y., and came here from Chicago 20 years ago. He was formerly well to do, but lost much by poor investments.

Chancellor Day Would Not Move.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 10.—Chancellor James R. Day of Syracuse university, who, it is understood, would be offered the presidency of Northwestern university, in a letter to The Herald says that he would not consider such an offer, his life work being in Syracuse.

Municipal Ownership.

That same old municipal ownership fever has spread to Westfield, and now the people of that place have followed in the wake of Plainfield and North Plainfield and are demanding municipal water works. It came about through the fact that the present contract with the Union Water Company has expired and the Westfield Water and Power Company, a corporation composed chiefly of Westfield capitalists, wanted to secure another. The new company offered terms which seemed, at a cursory glance, much more favorable than those the township was then receiving.

This proposed contract with the Westfield Company was brought before the Westfield Township Committee several weeks ago and was, after much discussion, referred to an advisory committee for consideration. The advisory committee only made its report at the meeting of the Township Committee. It was not in favor of adopting the contract and referred to the possibility of the town some day owning its own water works.

Ever since the subject of the contract had been brought up, the germs of the municipal ownership idea, spread from this city probably, had spread to the minds of many of the citizens. So, when a citizens' meeting was held at the close of the session of the Township Committee, there was an overwhelming sentiment for municipal ownership. Of course, there were no particular lines laid down. It was the simple theory itself which was so popular.

There is no law in the New Jersey statute which permits a township to go into the water business on its own account but that will probably be remedied next winter when Assemblyman Chester M. Smith, of Westfield, if he is re-elected, will introduce a bill which will permit such a thing to come to pass.

The Westfield citizens will soon discover that municipal ownership cannot be rushed through in a hurry if it is intended to be anything of a success. It was first agitated here early in the spring and neither city nor borough appear to be any nearer the desired end than they were at that time. There is a possibility, however, that something may happen over in North Plainfield in time, as the Mayor is going to have some wells drilled to discover where will be the best location for the prospective water plant.

There is no prettier or more exciting sport than a spirited contest by trotters and pacers, if properly conducted. Some of Plainfield's best citizens are at the head of the Plainfield Driving Club which is arranging a series of matinee races for every Saturday afternoon. The races are for fun only, and there is no attempt made to make any money on them, admittance being free.

The coming campaign will be a different one in many respects from any preceding ones in that both municipal as well as county and State tickets will be voted for. The introduction of municipal affairs in a State election is going to give the one election more prominence, but it will also tend to kill any independent city ticket.

The weekly papers of Hunterdon county all speak very highly of the work done by the St. Mary baseball team at High Bridge last Saturday. The general opinion seems to be that had Doyle received the proper support, the Plainfield team would have won.

There is an ordinance in the borough which provides that all trees bordering sidewalks should be trimmed at least twelve feet from the ground. Mayor Smalley has decided that the best interests of the borough require the enforcement of that ordinance. Monday the work will begin.

The mutterings, which precede the coming political campaign, are beginning to be heard. The Republican city committee will hold its first meeting since April Monday evening. Plans will then be laid for the opening of the campaign.

Don't forget that the water bills have to come in some time. A united protest on the part of its patrons is the only thing that can persuade the Plainfield Water Supply Company to introduce meters throughout the city.

The Amalgamated Society of Engineers is doing its best to strengthen the cause of organized labor in Plainfield. The recent strike showed that the organization of local machinists was yet comparatively weak.

The promise of St. Swithin of rain for the next forty days has not been kept with great exactitude this season but the few days which have been missed have been more than made up for on other occasions.

Why will drivers insist on blocking street crossings? If the police will kindly keep their eyes open for such incidents, the favor will be much appreciated by everyone.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Plainfield Press and Somerset Messenger are greatly worried lest there may be a factional fight in the Republican ranks in Somerset this fall. They need not console themselves with any hopes of Democratic victory on such grounds. That there are several candidates for the Republican nomination for sheriff is only an indication of the activity which the Republicans expect to exert this fall. It is a healthful stimulus and portends good for the party. Any of the candidates mentioned on the Republican side can easily win this fall.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

The Hunterdon County Board of Freeholders will meet next Wednesday, but whether they will reconsider their former action by which the building of county roads was blocked remains to be seen. The reason given for their action—that of allowing the people of eight localities to express their opinions by their selection of Freeholders, and that opinion to be binding on the county—is a very flimsy one, and one that conveys as much common sense as does the blocking of progress in the county by refusing to accept State aid in building roads until the "people" are heard from.—Hunterdon Gazette.

A mother and her daughter were nearly burned to death in Elizabeth by the explosion of gasoline, which had leaked from a can in the cellar. Coming immediately after the frightful explosion in Philadelphia, by which eight persons were killed and many injured, this case should give additional force to the warning sounded by the press to all users of gasoline to exercise the greatest precaution in handling the dangerous fluid, and under no circumstance allow fire to come near the oil receptacle or within range of the vapor which arises from the oil. A little precaution in this respect may prevent serious damage and loss of life—Camden Post-Telegram.

W. H. Terry has returned home after a visit with relatives at Westfield.

NEW MARKET

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, August 10.—Dewitt Giles is sustaining the loss of a valuable horse which was stolen from his barns Thursday night. The thieves, not wishing to walk and lead the horse, next visited Edward Schenck and there appropriated a surrey and a complete set of harness. Mr. Schenck at first thought that he had also lost a horse, but later found it in the pasture field. No clues have yet been found to the thief or thieves, although the police officers in the surrounding towns have been notified.

Edison Davis, who recently purchased a new wheel, had the misfortune to fall into the front wheel and break several of the spokes and otherwise mar his new possession.

Charles Ward, William VanNuis, Charles Blackford and Ogden Meeker spent yesterday at Craig Mills. They returned home with a good catch of crabs.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pierce have returned home after an extended outing at Utica, N. Y.

Miss Maggie Boice has secured the position of teacher at the Raritan Landing School.

The married and single men are scheduled to play a game of baseball this afternoon.

The G. E. Club will meet at the home of Miss Alice Pierce Monday.

James Walten is spending two weeks at Waltenhurst, N. J.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, August 10—There is much talk in local baseball circles about the relative merits and ability of the St. Mary, the Hope chapel, the Clinton avenue and the Scotch Plains teams. Friends of each team insist that their favorites are able to defeat any of the others, especially while the teams are at their present degree of excellence, and they are trying to arrange a series of games which would decide the question.

Rev. G. M. Shott will preach tomorrow morning in the Baptist church at 10:45. The subject will be, "Keeping the Religious Life Pure." Instead of the evening preaching the pastor will echo some lessons from the Chicago B. Y. P. U. convention. The evening services will be held in the lecture room. All are cordially invited to attend.

The Scotch Plains ball field has been scraped, rolled and put in good order for the game with the Forest Hill team this afternoon. A great exhibition of ball playing is expected, and the Orange boys will have their hands full. The local team has been strengthened by the addition of Harvey, a New York twirler.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Virtue and family, of Newark, are being entertained by Mrs. Hosinger. Mr. Virtue is assistant prosecutor of Essex county.

The pastor of the Baptist church will preach no regular sermon tomorrow evening, but after the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting will hold an "echo" service.

Miss Nancy Wade is the leader appointed for the Epworth League meeting of the Methodist church this evening.

The Plainfield Bottling Company has removed its ice box and supply of beverages from the Recreation grounds.

Miss Nancy Wade, who has been visiting out-of-town relatives, is expected home this evening.

Mrs. George Johnson has returned home after a visit with friends at the shore.

Rev. G. M. Shott has returned home after a visit with friends at Newark.

Mrs. W. S. Cory has returned home after a weeks' outing at the seaside.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, August 10—Two women were caught stealing potatoes from Joel Manning's patch, last evening. They had dug up a bushel of them when Mr. Manning surprised them in the act. He asked the women, one colored and one white, to carry the vegetables to the barn, which they did. They were then allowed to go. This is the second visit of vegetarians to Mr. Manning's field, as he found a pail full of them Friday morning that had evidently been left in haste.

A special gospel meeting will be held in Washington Hall tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. These meetings are to be held every Sunday during this month.

Miss Marjorie Voorhees and Miss Edith Smith, of Metuchen, returned home yesterday after a visit with Miss Emma Manning.

The only service at the Baptist church tomorrow will be the Christian Endeavor meeting in the evening. The pastor will preach at Paterson.

Mrs. Edward TenEyck, of Newark, has been visiting local friends.

KNOW THE MEN.

Police Have Fixed the Identity of the Men Who Assulted and Robbed Mrs. Dempko.

Through the vigilant efforts of Chief Kiely, the local police have unearthed clues as to the identity of the robbers who held up Mrs. Dempko at her home in Dunellen one day last week and made way with over $200, which they found after ransacking the house.

Warrants have been sworn out before Justice Nash for the arrest of three of the crooks and, under the direction of the Chief, the robbers are now being trailed. Their arrest is only a question of time.

It was at first supposed that the perpetrators of the deed were fellow-countrymen of Mrs. Dempko, who is a Slav. This supposition was found to be groundless. The men are professionals at the business and have been practicing elsewhere also. The band of robbers, who held up a man on the highway near Roselle the same day and were driven off at the point of a revolver, are believed to be the same individuals.

HOME FROM MANILA.

Robert M. Edwards Is Visiting His Father After a Long Voyage.

Robert M. Edwards, of the U. S. S. Brutus, just arrived from Manila, is home on a visit to his father, Manager Maze Edwards, for a couple of days, prior to medical examination, and extended leave of absence, due him for two years service on foreign station.

Young Edwards was serving on the U. S. S. Wilmington now stationed at Hong Kong, but which was at the Philippines when an order from the navy department was received for the transfer of Edwards to the United States by first homeward bound ship. During the voyage the young man broke his arm but he has almost recovered the full use of it and is in fairly good general health.

At the expiration of his leave of absence, he will probably be ordered to one of the vessels of the North Atlantic Squadron.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Billy Gray, young college student, secures a lieutenant's commission on breaking out of Spanish-American war. He meets a Mr. Prime, Miss Prime and Miss Amy Lawrence.

CHAPTER II.—After a conference in his official tent, Gen. Drayton joins a gay company in his personal tent—Mrs. Garrison doing the honors as hostess.

CHAPTER III.—Lieut. Gray is invited to join the Prime party, to go over in Mr. Prime's carriage to see the review, but is denied leave by Col. Canker, whom the regiment had nicknamed "Squeers." Vacant seat in carriage is given Col. Armstrong.

CHAPTER IV.—On the way to the review the Prime party witnesses the capture of two soldiers suspected of having been accomplices in the stealing of stores intended for the soldiers—even of dainties contributed by the Red Cross.

CHAPTER V.—Gray receives a note from a prisoner, who is suspected of having been a large recipient of the stolen goods, but who declares his innocence, begs Gray's help and signs himself "George Morton," adding the Greek letters of the same fraternity Gray had belonged to in college. Gray had planned a night in town, expecting to meet the Prime party. In spite of the fact that this might be his last chance for a chat with Amy Lawrence, Gray manages to secure duty as officer of the guard, that he may have an opportunity to have an interview with Morton.

CHAPTER VI.—Preparations are made for sending part of command to Philippines. For some reasons Red Cross officials wish their tables, where they have been lunching departing soldiers, moved across platform directly under the side of the transport, but the officer of the guard has orders to allow no one to intrude on that space. However Mrs. Garrison overhearing wish of Red Cross official accomplishes the end by scrawling a note to the officer. The colonel of the regiment about to leave arrives and is surprised to see his reserved space occupied. Joining Armstrong at this moment he shows him Mrs. Garrison's note. Armstrong turns sharply to where Mrs. Garrison had been, but she had vanished. Armstrong now learns an important package has been taken from Gen. Drayton's tent. The night before an important prisoner, Morton, had escaped, and Billy Gray, officer of the guard, placed under arrest.

"It's at my tent—I never expected to spend this night here. I've been before the summary court, fined for absence, and thought that would end it, but instead of that I'm a prisoner and the man who should be here is stalking about camp, planning more robberies. Yet I'd rather associate with the very worst of deserters or dead beats inside there," and the dark eyes glanced almost in horror—the slender figure shook with unmingled repulsion and chill—"than with that smooth-tongued sneak and liar. There's no crime too mean for him to commit, Mr. Gray, and the men are beginning to know it, though the colonel won't. For God's sake get me out of this before morning—" And again the violent tremor shok the lad from head to foot.

"Here—get inside!" said Gray, impulsively. "I'll see the adjutant at once and return to you in a few minutes. If you have to remain until the matter can be investigated by the general it might be—"

"It would be—" vehemently interrupted Morton, then breaking off short as though at loss for descriptiveness of sufficient strength. He seemed to swell with passion as he clinched his fists and fairly stood upon his toes an instant, his strong white teeth grinding together. "It would be—simply hell!" he burst in again, hoarse and quivering: "It would ruin everything! Can't the general give the order to-night?" he asked with intense eagerness, while the young officer, taking him by the arm, had led him again to the light of the guardhouse lamps at the front. The sergeant and a group of soldiers straightened up and faced them, listening curiously.

"It may be even impossible to see the general," answered Gray, doubtfully. "Take Morton into the guardroom till I get back, sergeant, and let him warm himself thoroughly. Don't put him with the prisoners till I return," and so saying he hastened away. Gordon, his friend and adviser, had left camp and gone visiting over in the other division. The lights at general headquarters were turned low. Even now, after having heard proofs of the innocence of the accused soldier, Gray knew that it was useless to appeal to the colonel. He could not understand, however, the feverish—almost insane impatience of the lad for immediate release. Another day ought not to make so great a difference. What could be the reason—if it were not that, though innocent of the robbery of the storehouse, or of complicity in the sale of stolen goods, some other crime lay at his door which the morrow might disclose? All the loyalty of a Delta Sig was stretched to the snapping point as Gray paused irresolute in front of the adjutant's tent, his quest there unsuccessful. The sergeant major and a sorely badgered clerk were working late over some regimental papers—things that Morton wrote out easily and accurately.

"I suppose, sir, it's no use asking to have the prisoner sent up here under guard," said that jewel of a non-commissioned officer. "Yet the colonel will be savage if these papers ain't ready. It will take us all night as things are going."

Gray shook his curly head. "Go ask, if you like, but—Morton's in no shape to help you—"

"Has he been drinking, sir?" said the sergeant major, in surprise. "I never knew him—"

"Oh, it isn't that," said Gray, hastily, "only he's—he's got—other matters on his mind! Bring me his overcoat. He said it was in his tent," and the young officer jerked his head at the patch of little "A" tents lined up in the rear of those of the officers'.

"Get Morton's overcoat and take it to him at the guardhouse," snapped the staff sergeant to the clerk. "Be spry now, and no stopping on the way back," he added, well aware how much in need his assistant stood of creature comfort of some surreptitious and forbidden kind. The man was back in a moment, the coat rolled on his arm.

"I'll take it," said Gray, simply. "You needn't come."

"Go on with it!" ordered the sergeant as the soldier hesitated. "D'ye the service has gone to the devil and officers are runnin' errands for enlisted men? An' get back inside two minutes, too," he added, with portent in his tone. The subaltern of hardly two months' service felt the implied rebuke of the soldier of over 20 years' and meekly accepted the amendment, but—a thought occurred to him: He had promised Morton paper, envelopes and stamps and the day's newspapers—the lad seemed strangely eager to get all the latter, and vaguely Billy remember having heard that Canker considered giving papers to prisoners as equivalent to aid and comfort to the enemy.

"Take it by way of my tent," said he as they started, and, once there it took time to find things. "Go back to the sergeant major and tell him I sent you," said Gray, after another search. "He needs you on those papers."

And when the officer of the guard returned to the guardhouse and went in to the prisoner, the sergeant saw—and others saw—that, rolled in the soldier's overcoat he carried on his arm, was a bundle done up in newspaper. Moreover, a scrap of conversation was overheard.

"There's no one at the general's," said the officer. "I see no way of—fixing it before morning."

"My God, lieutenant! There—must be some way out of it! The morning will be too late."

"Then I'll do what I can for you to-night," said Mr. Gray, as he turned and hurriedly left the guardroom—a dozen men standing stiffly about the walls and doorway and staring with impassive faces straight to the front. Again, the young officer had left the post of the guard and gone up into camp, while far and near through the dim, fog-swept aisles of a score of camps the bugles and trumpets were wailing the signal for "lights out," and shadowy forms, with coat collars turned up about the ears or capes muffled around the neck, scurried about the company streets ordering laughter and talk to cease. A covered carriage was standing at the curb outside the officers' gate—and the sentry there posted remembered that the officer of the guard came hurrying out and asked the driver if he was engaged. "I'm waiting for the major," was the answer.

"Well, where can one order a carriage to-night without going clear to town?" inquired Gray. "I want—one; that is—I wish to order one at once."

And the driver, who knew very well there were several places where carriages could be had, preferred loyalty to his own particular stable away in town, and so declared there was none.

"You can telephone there, if you wish, sir," he added.

"And wait till morning for it to get here? No! I'll get it—somehow."

And that he did get it somehow was current rumor on the following day, for the sentries on the guardhouse side of camp swore that a closed carriage drove down from McAllister street for all the world as though it had just come out of the park and rolled on past the back of the guardhouse, the driver loudly whistling "Killarney," so that it could be heard above the crunching of the wheels through the rough, loose rock that covered the road, and that carriage drew up not a hundred yards away, while the lieutenant was out visiting sentries and presently they saw him coming back along the walk, stopping to question each sentry as to his orders. Then he returned and inquired if all was quiet among the prisoners, and then went and put out his light in the tent reserved for the officer of the guard, and once more left his post, briefly informing the sergeant of the guard he was going to the officer of the day. Then it was ascertained that he had visited half a dozen places in search of that veteran captain and appeared much disturbed because he could not find him. In half an hour he was back, asking excitedly of the sentry in rear of the guardhouse if a carriage had come that way. It had, said the sentry, and was waiting down the street. Gray hurried in the direction indicated, was gone perhaps three minutes and returned, saying that the sentry must be mistaken, that no carriage was there. But the sentry reiterated his statement that it had been there and had been waiting for some time, and must have disappeared while he was temporarily around at the opposite side of the building. This was

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF NEW JERSEY, PROPOSED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF 1901.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate (the House of Assembly concurring), That the following amendments to the constitution of this state be and the same are hereby proposed, and when the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to the Senate and House of Assembly, the said amendments shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature next to be chosen, and shall be published for three months previous to the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November next (being the fifth day of said month) in at least one newspaper of each county, if any be published therein, the said newspapers to be designated by the president of the Senate, the speaker of the House of Assembly and the secretary of state:

ARTICLE V

EXECUTIVE.

Insert in lieu of Paragraph 10, a new paragraph as follows:

10 The Governor or person administering the government, the Chancellor and the Attorney-General, or two of them of whom the Governor or person administering the government shall be one, may remit fines and forfeitures and grant pardons after conviction, in all cases except impeachment.

ARTICLE VI.

JUDICIARY.

Insert in lieu of Section II., a new section as follows:

1. The Court of Errors and Appeals shall consist of a Chief Judge and four Associate Judges or any four of them.

2. In case any Judge of said Court shall be disqualified to sit in any cause, or shall be unable for the time being to discharge the duties of his office, whereby the whole number of Judges capable of sitting shall be reduced below four, the Governor shall designate a Justice of the Supreme Court, the Chancellor or a Vice-Chancellor, to discharge such duties until the disqualification or inability shall cease.

3. The Secretary of State shall be the Clerk of this Court.

4. When a writ of error shall be brought, any judicial opinion in the cause, in favor of or against any error complained of, shall be assigned to the Court in writing. When an appeal shall be taken from an order or decree of the Court of Chancery, the Chancellor or Vice-Chancellor making such decree or order shall inform the Court in writing of his reasons therefor.

5. The jurisdiction heretofore exercised by the Supreme Court by writ of error shall be exclusively vested in the Court of Errors and Appeals; but any writ of error pending in the Supreme Court at the time of the adoption of this amendment shall be proceeded upon as if no change had taken place.

Section IV.

Insert in lieu of Paragraph 1, a new paragraph as follows:

1. The Court of Chancery shall consist of a Chancellor and such number of Vice-Chancellors as shall be provided by law, each of whom may exercise the jurisdiction of the Court. The Court shall make rules governing the hearing of causes and the practice of the Court, where the same is not regulated by statute.

Section V.

At the end of Paragraph 1, add the following:

The Court may sit in divisions at the same or different times and places.

Strike out Paragraph 3.

Section VI.

Insert in lieu of Paragraphs 1 and 2, the following:

The Court of Common Pleas shall be constituted and held in each county in such manner as may be provided by law.

ARTICLE VII.

CIVIL OFFICERS.

Section II.

Insert in lieu of Paragraph 1, a new paragraph as follows:

1. Judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals, Justices of the Supreme Court, the Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellors and the Judges of the Circuit Court and of the Court of Common Pleas shall be nominated by the Governor and appointed by him with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals, except those first appointed; the Justices of the Supreme Court, the Chancellor and the Vice-Chancellors shall hold their offices for the term of seven years, and shall at stated times receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during the term of their appointments; and they shall hold no other office under the government of this State or the United States.

The Judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals first appointed shall be appointed one for three years, two for five years and two for seven years. Judges of the Court of Common Pleas shall hold their offices for the term of five years.

Strike out Paragraph 2.

1. Resolved (the House of Assembly concurring), That the following amendments to the constitution of this state be and the same are hereby proposed, and when the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to the senate and house of assembly, the said amendments shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature next to be chosen, and published for three months previous to the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November next, being the fifth days of said month, in at least one newspaper of each county, if any be published therein, the said newspapers to be designated by the president of the senate, the speaker of the house of assembly and the secretary of state,

1. Amend Paragraph 3, of Section 1, of Article IV., so as to read as follows:

3. Members of the senate and general assembly shall be elected on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, in the year nineteen hundred and two members of the general assembly shall be elected for the term of one year, and in the year nineteen hundred and three, and every second year thereafter, they shall be elected for the term of two years, each house of the legislature shall meet separately on the second Tuesday in January next after each election for members of the general assembly; the time for holding such elections may be altered by the legislature.

2. Amend Paragraphs 1 and 2, of Section 2, of Article IV., so as to read as follows:

1. The senate shall be composed of one senator from each county in the state, elected by the legal voters of the counties respectively for four years, except as provided in the following paragraph:

2. The terms of the senators elected in the year nineteen hundred and one shall be extended to four years from the commencement of their terms as soon as the senate shall meet after the first election to be held after the adoption of this amendment, the senators elected in the year nineteen hundred and two shall be divided by lot under the direction of the senate into two classes, as nearly equal as may be; the seats of the senators of one class shall be vacated at the expiration of three years, and of the other class at the expiration of five years; the seats of the senators elected in the year nineteen hundred and three, and of all senators elected thereafter, shall be vacated at the expiration of four years from the commencement of their terms, so that one-half of the number of senators, as nearly as may be, shall be elected every second year, at the same time that members of the general assembly are elected; and all vacancies caused by resignation or otherwise shall be filled for the unexpired terms only.

3. Amend Paragraph 1, of article V., by striking out the word "annually."

4. Amend Paragraph 7, of Section IV of Article IV, so as to read as follows:

7. Members of the senate and general assembly shall each receive the sum of five hundred dollars for each year of their term, and no other allowance or emolument, directly or indirectly, for any purpose whatever; the president of the senate and the speaker of the house of assembly shall, in virtue of their offices, receive an additional compensation equal to one-third of their allowance as members.

5. Amend Paragraph 3, of Article V, so as to read as follows:

3. The term of the Governor elected in the year nineteen hundred and one shall be extended to four years from the commencement of his terms, and he shall hold his office until the third Tuesday of January nineteen hundred and six; thereafter the Governor shall hold his office for four years, to commence on the third Tuesday of January next ensuing his election, and to end on the Monday preceding the third Tuesday of January four years thereafter, and he shall be incapable of holding that office for four years next after his term of service shall have expired, and no appointment or nomination to office shall be made by the Governor during the last week of his said terms.

AFTER EFFECTS.

The way some dyspepsia and constipation remedies act reminds you of the Bible story of the man who drove a devil out of his house and then swept and garnished it so fine that the evil spirit came back again and brought with him seven other devils worse than himself. So "the last state of that man was worst than the first."

Sometimes disease appears to have been dislodged and driven out of the system by an unscientific medicine; it may seem to go with apparently wonderful suddenness, but is liable to come back seven-fold worse than before. A thoroughly scientific remedy like Ripans Tabules acts so naturally upon the system that the entire constitution is fortified against a return of the trouble. There is no re-action; no relapse; no depressing after effect. The Tabules relieve the acute symptoms like headache and sour stomach very quickly. The bowels are affected only in a regular, natural way, but the cure is permanent.

Note—Ripans Tabules will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. Ripans on the package and accept no substitute. Ripans may be had at the nearest drug store. To introduce and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to [illegible] the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

SASHES AND SCARFS.

Roman and Persian Designs Are Used For Hats and Dresses.

Sashes are again worn. The old time Roman striped affair is seen with the all white muslin dresses. All the delicate colors are used in these sashes, and the ribbon is both extremely soft and shiny. The proper way to fasten them is with a tight rosette and long ends reaching to the bottom of the skirt. Some are fringed, others hemstitched, and the ends of some are trimmed with lace and insertion.

Persian bordered scarfs are undeniably smart and are used also as hat trimmings. A large handkerchief is tied around the high crown, the ends passed through the brim in front and tied in a large butterfly bow, the brim being turned back right off the face.

A stylish coat of violet broadcloth is shown in today's picture. It is made with a tight fitting back and a loose front. The small collar is widened by a wide sailor collar of lace. The sleeves are divided in two puffs, separated by a wide band of stitched tucks. The long cuffs are of lace. The coat is worn open down the front, and the space is filled in by a long scarflike fall of lace.

The hat is of cream chiffon and lace trimmed with banskia roses and black velvet ribbon. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THIN DRESSES.

Pretty Styles In Etamine, Batiste and Tussore Silk.

Batiste is much used for morning gowns. Some of these are made into shirt waist dresses, with a tucked blouse buttoning down the back and a plain skirt cut with a wide, full flounce. A fashionable combination is lack, white and blue. For afternoon wear there are gowns of tussore silk. This is a rival of pongee and comes in a soft, pale coffee shade. It looks well and wears well. Dotted swiss is again enjoying a vogue. There has never been found a substitute for this delightful material. Turnover collars, which have been such a fad, are growing much deeper, and there are little turn up cuffs to match. These sets are charming on linen morning gowns.

A dainty dress for summer garden parties is made of white etamine trimmed with bands of blue and white dotted foulard. The skirt is made full, with a deep shoulder yoke and tucked collar of the blue on white foulard. The edges of the yoke are finished with a scalloped line of plain blue foulard. A wide band of the foulard runs through the center of the waist, and this is trimmed at intervals with narrow straps of lace. A similar band crosses the sleeves at the corresponding height. The sleeves are bishop shaped, with deep cuffs of the foulard. The skirt has a full flounce trimmed with the foulard and lace bands.

The hat which accompanies this costume is of blue satin straw trimmed with blue and pale pink flowers.

Governor Tilden's Greatest Man.

Governor Tilden was asked his estimate of several public men, beginning with Daniel Webster.

"Mr. Webster was a rhetorician," was the reply.

"Whom do you estimate as the greatest man of your time?"

"Martin Van Buren," was the answer. —Utica Observer.

HAVE HUMBLE HOMES

Poorer Class of Filipinos Live in Frail Nipa Shacks.

Their Clothing Is of the Most Primitive Kind — Lively Music for Funerals—Insurrection Is Dead.

[Special Manila (P. I.) Letter.]

A GREAT deal is published nowadays in almost every magazine and newspaper about the Filipino, his home life and habits, but in most cases it is about the better or middle class. Little indeed is said about the very poor that live in the smaller towns outside of Manila.

FILIPINO RESIDENCE.

Some of the latter can hardly be called towns, being nothing more than small villages or barrios, with about 20 or 30 houses, a canteen or two, and perhaps a church.

The home of a poor Filipino and his family is a small nipa shack, hardly measuring 20 feet square, built entirely of bamboo wood and nipa leaves. One corner of it, about eight feet square, is used as sleeping quarters. This part is raised about three feet from the ground, and a floor of split bamboo is made. The one-inch strips of bamboo are tied a quarter of an inch apart. In fact, there is not a nail used in the construction of the whole house, the bamboo and the nipa being tied with rattan. The posts are fastened together with wooden pegs.

In the rear of the house is a small raised platform of bamboo wood, about three feet from the ground, on which the natives wash their clothes, take baths and clean fish and vegetables.

Underneath this platform is a mud-puddle, in which the pigs wallow and eat the refuse that falls from above. In fact, a pig is valuable, not only as an article of food, but as a scavenger as well.

A low bamboo table, and probably a bench, is all the furniture that is used in the house. The natives while eating sit on the table with their feet under them. Chairs are used only by the better class. The fireplace and cooking utensils used are about 200 years behind the times.

The former is composed of three stones set in the ground, with a fire built between and an earthen pot set over it. A half of a cocoanut shell is used as a cup. Table knives, forks and spoons are not used, the natives eating with their fingers.

The main article of food is rice, with a bit of dried fish and perhaps some sort of vegetable. The fish eaten by the poor natives are dried in the sun and are from one to two inches long. Stewed grasshoppers are a great luxury. Pork and carabao meat are eaten only on holidays, on account of the high price.

The natives, with few exceptions, are great gamblers, and almost every hombre has one or two game-cocks. On Saturdays, Sundays and all holidays the cock-pits are crowded with men, women and children, all eager to bet on their favorite game-cock. All classes are represented there, from the "presidente" of the town to the humblest resident of the distant foothills.

The carabao, or water buffalo, is used for transportation purposes. During the dry season a heavy two-wheeled wagon is used, the wheels being made out of one solid piece of wood. In the rainy season, when the roads are muddy, a sort of a low sled is used, with bamboo runners.

At a funeral the corpse is laid on a bamboo stretcher and carried to the church. After a short sermon it is carried to the cemetery, where it is rolled or sewed in a piece of matting and then buried. Those who can afford it hire a native band to escort the body to the church and then to the cemetery, playing lively airs.

When the Americans first came to these smaller towns they were amused to hear the bands playing "A Hot Time" at a funeral, but since then it has become a common and almost everyday occurrence.

The men dress as follows: White cotton trousers (sometimes with the flour-sack brand "Minnesota XXXX." on the widest part); almost any kind of an undershirt, covered with a pina overshirt. But, unlike an American, the Filipino wears his shirts outside of his trousers.

The women wear a cotton undergarment that reaches to the waist. It has the neck cut very low and no sleeves at all. Over this madam wears (if she has one) a low-necked pina waist with very wide sleeves. The skirt is of almost any gaudy color and is partially covered by a dark-colored sheet that is wound around the lower part of the body and tucked in at the waist. Strings are used in place of buttons or hooks and eyes. A large colored handkerchief constitutes the headdress. They use the foul-smelling cocoanut oil for their hair, and it is not an uncommon sight to see one woman picking vermin from another's head.

The organized bands of insurgents have disbanded and the insurrection is practically at an end. The greatest trouble the American troops have at present is chasing the ladrones, who not only harass the American forces, but rob and murder their own people. Too much credit cannot be given the native secret service men who helped end the insurrection. Some of them were at one time insurgents themselves, but had gotten tired of being hunted from pillar to post, and realizing they were fighting for a lost if not an unworthy cause they joined the American forces.

One of them in particular, named Macario Bautista, was at one time a captain of the insurgents and commanded a company at Anaboo, about 24 miles south of Manila. Becoming tired of being continually abused by his superior officers, and seeking revenge, he joined the Americans. He surrendered to the commanding officer of Imus, and that night a great raid was planned.

MARCARIO BAUTISTO.
(Secret Service Man and Ex-Captain of Insurgents.)

The telegraph wires were kept hot sending messages from Imus to San Francisco de Malabon, and at two o'clock the next morning the two companies at Imus joined the forces from Malabon and started towards Anaboo. Bautista and several other secret service men were in line also. At five o'clock, just at daybreak, Anaboo was entirely surrounded, so that not even a dog could get out of the town. Aggressive operations began when four more companies of the Fourth infantry went into town and got all of the men out of their houses and lined them up in the streets.

The orders from Col. Baldwin were to "get everything that could carry a gun." They were then marched to a large open field, where they passed in single file past Bautista and the secret service men. Bautista was in his glory. He picked out two-thirds of his own company and many other insurgents that belonged to different regiments and several high ranking officers,

The men who had not been insurgents were allowed their liberty, while the insurgents and ladrones were taken to the prisons at Imus. After working on the roads for several months they were more than anxious to have their wives or friends bring in their guns so that they could take the oath of allegiance and get their liberty.

Bautista is now a great favorite among the men of the Fourth, and is always anxious to swell the list of prisoners. At the time his picture was taken he had his hand bandaged and when the writer asked him what ailed it he answered in Spanish: "Este yo primero introductory el Americano molo," meaning that it was the results of his first introduction to the American mule. It was evident that he had been around the business end of a mule.

Some of the troops in the smaller towns of the Philippines are, and have been, quartered in churches or other buildings connected with the churches, but an order was issued from headquarters in Manila that all church property be vacated as soon as possible. When no other quarters were available large nipa quarters were built for the accommodation of the troops.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Patrolman Nick Myers is the pride of all the small boys in the West End. Myers is on the Plainfield's "finest" team and has surprised his brother officers. At a full dress rehearsal on the Plainfield avenue grounds the other day Nick strutted leisurely out to the field, rolled up his sleeves and shouted "ready." The balls came thick and fast his way and Nick picked them out of the air with ease. "Hully-gee" yelled the kids, "ain't he a bird." After his star performance the patrolman took his mates aside and in taking them into his confidence said that he had played on the Brooklyn Atlantics in days of yore, and had done a turn for a Massachusetts team. He doesn't wear medals, but will be heard from in the Plainfield-Elizabeth game Wednesday.

GOLF.

Considerable interest is manifested among golfers in this vicinity over the outcome of the team championship series in the East Jersey League. Glen Ridge, East Orange and Morristown Field Club are all tied for the lead with three matches won and two defeats, causing an element of uncertainty which will have to be endured for some time to come, as no more matches will be played in the East Jersey series until September 7.

Of the three leading teams only two will play together again this season. On September 14 East Orange is slated to go to Morristown and as East Orange won on its own links from Morristown on June 22 it's a foregone conclusion that the Field Club's players will make every endeavor to turn the tables in the return contest.

Individually, Howard Giffin, the champion of the league, has made the best record this year, not having sustained defeat in any of his matches. Until he went to Hollywood last week his playing had compared favorably with any amateur's in the State. Here is the standing of the teams in the East Jersey League:

	Won.	Lost.	P. C
Glen Ridge	3	2	.600
East Orange	3	2	.600
Morristown	3	2	.600
Forest Hill	1	2	.333
Elizabeth	1	3	.250

VARIOUS SPORTS

Conrad Knoth, of this city, recently issued a challenge to meet any man in the counties of Mercer and Union for the championship of these counties in a two-mile foot race to be run at the Twentieth Century Inter-State Fair at Trenton, between September 30 and October 4. This challenge has been accepted by Henry J. Anguerbauer, who believes that he is as good a representative as Plainfield could have in the race.

Conrad Knoth has notified Henry Angerbauer that the latter's challenge to run a foot race is accepted. Knoth will meet him for any distance up to a ten mile limit. The race will probably tak place at the Driving Park.

WHAT YOU DRINK

you want to be clean and pure, no matter what it is. If it's wine you want pure wine, if it's water you want pure water.

Very often pure water is made impure by placing in it impure ice.

But when Hygeia Ice is placed in a tank of pure water the water remains pure. Pure water and pure ice will make pure ice-water. It has been proven that Hygeia is a pure Ice. Frozen from pure, sparkling, artesian well water, after that water has gone through a process of filtering.

Isn't that the kind of ice you should be using. Don't you think you ought to order it of us today?

HONORS FOR HOOLEY CUP.

MISS HARRIET SHREVE FINISHED FIRST IN THIS WEEK'S PLAY.

Miss Howell Still Leads For Trophy With Miss Elsberg a Close Second.

This week's play for the Hooley cup at the Park Golf Club still shows Miss Saidee Mae Howell in the lead, but Miss Daisy Elsberg is now a close second and Miss Harriet Shreve has become a factor in the contest, tying with Miss Mary Wells and Miss Laura Long for third place.

The weekly competition for this trophy took place Tuesday afternoon as usual. Only five cards were turned in. The rain, which continued at intervals throughout the afternoon, had its effects on the play and none of the scores were low. The greatest improvement was in the game of Miss Harriet Shreve who made a gross score only one stroke worse than that of Miss Elsberg. The latter seemed way off her usual game.

First honors went to Miss Shreve with 47 net. Miss Mabel VanDeventer was only one stroke behind and took second place. Miss Elsberg was third, finishing one better than Miss Laura Long.

Miss Howell still is first with six points. Miss Elsberg is now second with five and there are three tied for third place with four. Miss VanDeventer scored for the first time.

The scores were:

	G	H	N
Miss Harriet Shreve	79	32	47
Miss VanDeventer	88	40	48
Miss Daisy Elsberg	78	13	65
Miss Laura Long	86	20	66
Miss May Shreve	111	39	72

The standing for the cup is now as follows:

Miss Saidee Mae Howell	6
Miss Daisy Elsberg	5
Miss Mary Wells	4
Miss Harriet Shreve	4
Miss Laura Long	4
Miss Mabel VanDeventer	2
Miss May Shreve	2
Miss Elsie Brokaw	2
Miss Jennings	1

PERSONAL.

Mrs. A. E. Lincoln, of West Fourth street, will spend Sunday in Philadelphia.

Justice V. W. Nash paid a fraternal visit to Elizabeth Lodge, A. O. U. W., last evening.

Mrs. Bird, wife of Postmaster E. H. Bird, of Elm place, is detained at home by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nowlan, of Grove street, left today for Danbury, Conn., where they will spend a portion of their vacation.

The Misses Emma and Lizzie Cutter, of East Second street, are registered at the Hotel Albion, Asbury Park. They will remain there two weeks.

Letter-carrier and Mrs. Edward T. VanWinkle, of Elmwood place, have gone to Athol, Warren county, New York, where they will spend their vacation.

Mrs. E. C. Mulford and daughter Miss Carrie, of East Fifth street, returned home this morning after a two weeks' visit with friends at Newburg, N. Y.

AGED WOMAN DEAD.

Mrs. Eunice Bailey at the Age of Seventy-Four Years Passed Away This Morning—Mother of F. W. Bailey.

Mrs. Eunice Bailey, widow of William G. Bailey, aged seventy-four years, died this morning after a long illness.

She was the mother of Frank W. Bailey, of 86 Duer street, and was born in New Hampshire. The funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence of her son. Interment will be at Cherryville, N. J.

Mashed a Finger.

Charles Snyder, of West Fourth street, mashed a finger in an accident which happened to him while attending to his duties in the Pond Machine Tool Company yesterday afternoon. In some manner the second finger of his right hand was caught in a chain attached to a crane and the mashed finger was the result.

Home From Vacation.

Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of Hope chapel, has returned from his vacation. He will now occupy his pulpit the remainder of August and Sunday, September 1, he will preach his farewell sermon.

To Visit Camp.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel will visit the Westfield Fresh Air Camp Wednesday evening, August 21. Rev. G. Kennedy Newell will conduct the service.

Tomorrow's Preacher.

The pulpit of the First Baptist church will be occupied tomorrow by Rev. D. Stifler, of Crozier Theological Seminary.

Will Close For August.

The First Presbyterian church will be closed after tomorrow's services for the rest of August for repairs and cleaning.

—George H. Stagaard will lead the meeting at the East Third Street chapel tomorrow evening.

THAT ENDED IT.

Improper Language and Arrest With Subsequent Fine Ended Friendly Relations Between Wolfs and Taubs.

The friendly relations, which have existed between Samuel Taub and A. Wolf, the two merchants, who have adjoining stores on Somerset street, were severed yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolf and Mr. and Mrs. Taub, whose social relations have always been amicable, got into some discussion yesterday afternoon and it is alleged that the Wolfs used some terms reflecting on the Taubs that would not look well in print. Taub decided to have vengance.

The maligned man hastened to the police department and swore out a warrant against Mr. and Mrs. Wolf charging them with disorderly conduct. The troubles of the neighbors were aired in the borough police court last evening, and Recorder Doud, after listening to the tale told by the parties, imposed a fine of $3 each on Mr. and Mrs. Wolf.

BANK CASHIER ILL.

F. S. Runyon Was Stricken With Pain in Side While Attending to Duties at First National Bank.

While at work in his office yesterday afternoon, F. S. Runyon, cashier of the First National Bank, was suddenly stricken with an excruciating pain in his side.

His physician, Dr. P. J. Zeglio, and Dr. J. B. Probasco were summoned and it was learned that Mr. Runyon was not in a serious condition. As soon as possible he was removed to his home on West Front street.

This morning Mr. Runyon is resting easy and no alarm is felt as to the outcome of his illness. It is believed that a strain caused by his closing one of the heavy bank vault doors is responsible for his trouble.

MILITARY TRAINING.

Will be Introduced Into Rahway Reformatory—Command Offered to Col. Gilmore.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, August 10—The reformatory commissioners decided Wednesday to introduce military training when sufficient prisoners have been received to form a company. The commissioners resolved at that time to tender the position of military instructor to Colonel Quincy O'Mara Gilmore, of the Second Regiment of the National Guard. The salary will be over $1,000 per year.

The superintendent was given power to appoint certain wardens, attendants and deputies.

EMERGENCY CARRIER.

Harry Carey Sworn Into Uncle Sam's Service to Fill Loughlin's Place.

Letter-carrier Robert H. Loughlin, of East Front street, was taken suddenly ill yesterday morning and was unable to go to work. Harry Carey reported at the postoffice with Mr. Loughlin's keys and informed Postmaster Bird of his illness. Mr. Bird then, for the first time in the history of the office, performed the duty of swearing in an emergency man. Mr. Carey having accompanied Mr. Loughlin many times on his route, knew it thoroughly, and at the suggestion of Mr. Bird, agreed to be sworn in and perform Mr. Loughlin's duties until he can return to work.

CRAB PARTY.

Caught Them at Sewaren and Ate Them at Home.

James Blair, of Duer street, and his brother-in-law, H. C. McVoy, of Sandford avenue, spent Thursday crabbing at Sewaren. They were rewarded by capturing nearly two hundred crabs. Last evening a crab party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blair, when a few relatives and friends gathered to enjoy the spread. The crabs were cooked just right by Mrs. Blair, and the feast was a delightful one. Among those present were Recorder and Mrs. Thomas Doud, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McVoy, Miss May Hughes, and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice McGrath, of New Brunswick.

AN AMUSING CASE.

Two Men Are Going to Court Over $1 Disputed for House Rent.

An amusing case will occupy the attention of Justice Nash, Thursday, August 15, when the landlord and tenant case of Daniel Galbraith against David Bell will be tried.

The plaintiff claims that his tenant owes him $2 for rent, Bell agreeing to pay $1 a week. He brought action against Bell and it cost him $2.60 to commence action. At this rate Galbraith will be the loser. On the other hand Bell claims that at the end of this week he will owe his landlord $1. As the parties in dispute, were unable to adjust the matter, the plaintiff decided to take the case to court.

KILLED TWO HORSES.

Another Trolley Accident Occurred At Roselle Last Evening—No One Seriously Injured.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Roselle, August 10—An open trolley car on the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company line ran into a two-horse truck at this place last evening and killed two horses. The truck and horses were owned by George W. Doty, of this place. Andrew McCracken, also of Roselle, was driving. On the seat with him was a friend, Charles Clark.

The two men were thrown from the seat and became fastened in the wreck in such a manner that it was with much difficulty that they were extricated. Both men were considerably bruised and cut, but their injuries are not serious.

Who was to blame for the accident has not yet been ascertained. The matter is being investigated by Superintendent Smith. The front of the car was damage to some extent, but those in the car were not injured.

BROOKLYNITES BEATEN BY LOCAL AMATEURS.

Hope Chapel Defeated Clover A. C. 11 to 10—St. Mary's Won From Lexington A. C. 6-4.

GOOD GAME AT THE PLAINS.

LOCAL BASEBALL CRANKS HAD SEVERAL GOOD GAMES TO WATCH.

Hopes Were Not Up To Their Best Form But Won Again From A Brooklyn Team—O'Keeffe's Fine Work For St. Mary's.

Two nines from the great metropolis came to Plainfield, Saturday afternoon, only to meet defeat at the hands of the local amateurs. Incidentally, however, the lovers of the national game in Plainfield were furnished with interesting exhibition of baseball. The Hope chapel boys were not up to their usual form but they managed to defeat the Clover A. C., of Brooklyn, by a score of 11 to 10. The game was played on the Plainfield avenue grounds. The St. Mary's boys put up a good game, winning from the Lexington A. C., of Brooklyn, by a score of 6 to 4. A fine twelve inning game was played at Scotch Plains when the team from that place met defeat at the hands of the Forest Hill team by a score of 8 to 6. Then there were a number of minor games.

HOPE CHAPEL, 11; CLOVER A. C. 10.

For the third successive time this season the Hope chapel nine defeated the team representing the Clover Athletic Club, of Brooklyn, Saturday afternoon on the Plainfield avenue grounds by the close score of 11 to 10. On Decoration Day the Hope boys won a double header from this team in Brooklyn, and the members of the latter nine had come on to Plainfield with the determination of regaining their laurels, but they were booked for disappointment.

The game as a whole was not up to the standard of Hope's capabilities. Montrose did not appear to be in his usual form in the box and in fact allowed five men to take their base on balls, although only one man got his first in this manner under the delivery of Hill, the pitcher for the visiting team. The Clover lads made as many base hits as Hope did runs but, through the support given Montrose, these hits did not materially increase their score.

Only once during the contest did the home team put much fire in its work. This was in the second inning when it brought in seven runs and shut out its opponents. With the exception of the fourth inning, the Hope boys failed to score again during the entire game. Their weakness appeared to be a propensity to bat flies which almost invariably were caught in the infield. Gordon, who held down third base for the local nine, made a creditable showing at the bat. He knocked out three safe hits out of five chances. H. Montrose also did good work in this respect.

The weak point of the visitors' play was fielding. The Brooklynites were all right at the bat, but when it came to stopping a grounder or landing a fly they did not size up well. They were one man short when they arrived at the grounds and Gus Feiring, a former player on the Hope nine, consented to attend to the first bag for the visitors. The contest had not advanced far before it was seen that Feiring was putting up a crack-a-jack game. His record at the bat was better than that of any man on his team.

Hewitt, on second base, and Cose, in left field, received much applause for their fine work on the Hope nine. The one particular superiority of Hope's training was evident in the systematic manner in which the boys pulled together in the play. There seemed to be no organization about the Brooklyn team, and from the amount of talking done in the field and at the bat, one would think that the visitors were blessed with nine players all captains.

For a time in the ninth inning the game took an interesting turn. The score stood 11 to 9 in Hope's favor and the Brooklynites made an effort to tie the score. The spurt was short, however, as they were only able to make one run. Two double-plays were made by the visitors during the game, and in one of these Feiring figured to advantage.

Following is the batting order and summary:

ST. MARY'S, 6; LEXINGTON A. C., 4.

One of the best baseball games of the season was that played Saturday afternoon between St. Mary's team and the Lexington A. C., of Brooklyn. It was played on the grounds of the home team. From start to finish the contest was filled with interest. The home team maintained its reputation by administering a defeat to its opponents, and while it was not a bad defeat, the superiority of the St. Mary's boys over the opposing team was clearly shown.

It was a game in which the pitchers took an important part, and once more the little pitcher, Keeffe, of the home team, demonstrated his ability to pitch a good game. The visitors were unable to do anything with him. The total number of base-hits amounting to five, and the little wonder struck out twelve batters. He was given excellent support behind the bat by Barry, who held everything that came his way. In fact the whole team played almost a faultless game, only three errors being made by them.

In the seventh inning, the visitors, being astonished at the pitching of Keeffe, asked if the team had any more such pitchers. They soon found out that there were others. Doyle then went in the box and held the visitors down for the rest of the game. Keeffe went to left field, while Taylor covered second base.

The visitors played a fine game but in many respects were weak. They rolled up seven errors. This, together with their inability to hit, lost them the game.

There was a large attendance of enthusiasts whose interests in the contest were closely held until the last man was put out. Throughout the game there was some fine individual playing on both sides which set the cranks wild with excitement.

FOREST HILL, 8; SCOTCH PLAINS, 6.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, August 12—In a thrilling twelve-inning game, which abounded with grandstand plays, the crack team of this place went down in defeat, before the Forest Hill Field Club's nine, on the home grounds Saturday afternoon. The final score was 6 to 8, the two runs of the visitors being made in the twelfth inning when the home team was fairly beside itself

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR TO MEET HERE.

Annual Encampment of Union Veterans Union to be Held in Plainfield.

DATE IS NOVEMBER 12-13.

LOCAL COMMITTEE IN CHARGE OF THE ARRANGEMENTS.

Sessions Will Be Held in Washington Hall—No Street Parade—Is Confined to New York and New Jersey Divisions.

The boys in blue who saw service at the front during the great Rebellion will turn their attention towards the event which is scheduled to take place in this city in November. The affair, which is expected to attract a crowd of a least 500 soldiers, is the annual encampment of the New York and New Jersey Division of the Union Veterans' Union. According to the official orders issued by the commander of the division, Major General A. A. Lord, the encampment will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, November 12 and 13.

A successful effort was made at the last meeting of the organization, held in Jersey City two months ago, to capture the encampment this year for this city. In the local organization, Antietam Command, No. 3, there are sixty members, and these men are much elated in having secured the annual meeting for Plainfield. As soon as the Plainfielders found that the encampment would be held here, immediate steps were taken to make proper arrangements for the occasion. A committee was appointed and it will have full charge of the affair.

Those who will supervise the affair are Lieut. Col. Henry O. Drake, Quarter Master John R. Taylor, Officer of the Day Albert G. Berry, Chaplain John A. Goodwin and comrades William H. Day, Henry Windel and Edward Vanderweg. Plans for the entertainment of the guests and proper provision for their lodging will be made by these men.

The first meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon, November 12, at 3:30 o'clock, when routine business will be transacted. This session will be a short one. In the evening a campfire be held and ample entertainment provided for the visitors. No pains will be spared to make this feature a success. Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock the business will be resumed. The final session will be held at 2 o'clock the same afternoon, when the election of officers for the ensuing year will be held.

According to the plans of the committee, which have not as yet taken definite shape, the sessions will be held in Washington Hall. No street parade will be held for such a thing is contrary to the established custom of the organization.

The Union is an unique society and according to its rules and regulations its membership is restricted. Only those who saw actual fighting at the front during the Civil War are eligible to join and hence it is not numerically strong today although it represents the bravest men engaged in the battles to save the Union.

The headquarters of the New York and New Jersey Division of the organization is located at Binghamton, N. Y., and all orders emanate from that city. General Lord is the present commander; Col. James M. Watson, assistant adjutant general; Lieut. Col. Hamlet H. Tyler, acting adjutant general, and Brigadier General S. S. Brower is in command of the Second Brigade to which the local command belongs.

IT IMPROVES.

But Thomas MacNabb Muir Finds it Expensive Even to Draw His Breath.

A friend of Thomas MacNabb Muir, of the reportorial staff of the Daily Press, who is doing the Pan-American Exposition, has received word that the fair is growing in his favor. On his first visit to the grounds, Tommie discovered that it cost three cents to stand still and draw his breath so he is now keeping on the move and drawing his neck. The Midway Red Star Route has captured Tommie's fancy.

Must Bring His Friends.

Because he acted in a boistrous manner on West Third street, Saturday evening, John Foster, of Somerville, was arrested by Roundsman Flynn. Two of his friends who were with him escaped before they could be taken into custody. City Judge Runyon paroled the prisoner this morning with the understanding that he would appear in court with his friends Saturday morning.

DROWNED IN RAHWAY RIVER.

BOAT UPSET AND TWO MEN SANK AT ONCE.

Party of Five From Westfield Out on Pleasure Excursion Yesterday—Bodies Not Yet Recovered.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, August 12—As the result of their Sunday's outing trip the bodies of Patsy O'Conners and Lewis Harrington are now lying in the Rahway river.

O'Conners and Harrington were with a party of five Westfielders, consisting of Chester West, Arthur Poyser, Nelson Erickson and themselves, who hired a boat and started to row down the river. After rowing for some time they started to return. When off Toast's Groves the boat somehow upset, and the five were suddenly precipitated into the water.

West climbed on the boat and two others started to swim to shore, while Harrington and O'Conners sank at once.

George Lumner and Edward Smith, of Plainfield, who were nearby visiting at Samuel Messler's, went out and assisted Poyser and Erickson, but O'Conners and Harrington were beyond help and were carried down out of sight by the strong tide. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

NO STRIKE.

Request Of Draughtsmen At Pond Tool Works Was Granted And There Was No Trouble.

The draughtsmen at the Pond Machine Tool Company did not go on a strike this morning, as was expected. The officials of the company agreed to give them the same concession granted the other employes at the works. Announcement that the concession was granted was made to the draughtsmen Friday evening and thus the possibility of a strike was overcome. The men are much pleased with the way the officials recognized their plea and are also glad that there is to be no trouble.

From the start there did not appear to be any substantial reason why a strike should occur, as the officials have treated the men very fairly. Still, the draughtsmen considered their complaint just would have gone out this morning if they had failed to get what they asked for. There is a feeling of gratification on both sides that the trouble was short lived.

INTERIOR DECORATIONS.

Came From Woodbridge to See the Sights—He Saw Some of Them, However.

William Murphy, of Woodbridge, left home for a little outing Saturday afternoon, and landed in this city. He purchased some cooling drinks, and, in consequence of the effect they had on him, it was necessary for Patrolman Myers to arrest the visitor.

After spending Sunday in the police headquarters, he explained to City Judge Runyon, this morning, that he had been out to see the sights here, and had taken two drinks of beer. His Honor remarked that the prisoner had evidently viewed more of the interior decorations than the landscape, and that as he had a few days free board and confinement the Judge deemed him to be sufficiently punished. Murphy was allowed to go.

GOOD SERMON.

A Newark Clergyman Occupied Pulpit At Trinity Reformed Church Yesterday.

The sermon delivered by Rev. J. N. Morris in Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning was well written and ably presented to a good-sized congregation. Mr. Morris is a hard working, consecrated man of God and throws his whole soul into the subject under consideration, and being a man of considerable physical vigor, is doing a good work for the Master in his field, Newark.

His subject yesterday morning was St. John's vision of the Holy City, as recorded in the twenty-first chapter of Revelation, particularly the tenth verse. Mr. Morris has many warm friends in Plainfield, who will be pleased to hear him again when opportunity offers.

In the evening Mr. Morris addressed the worshippers at Maroonnier chapel and left a good impression behind him with the people of Oak Tree.

Sunday-School Club.

A meeting to organize a Sunday-school Club, was held yesterday in the Jewish synagogue, on West Front street. Rev. B. Rosenson was leader of the meeting and gave an interesting lecture which is to be continued at the next meeting. Thirty-eight members were secured, and David Wolfe was elected treasurer, with Philip Leichtentritt as secretary.

S. H. Tugwell, of Third place, has returned home from a business trip in the west.

MID-SUMMER GOLFERS ARE FEW IN NUMBER.

Small Fields Out For Regular Weekly Competitions At Local Clubs.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN.

MISS VAN HERWERDEN AND WALTER PETERSON WON AT HILLSIDE.

H. D. Hibbard Reduced Senator Reed's Lead For The President's Cup At The Park Golf Club—The Scores.

Although the bulk of the local golfers are out of town and the fields in Saturday's play for the regular competitions at the two local clubs were comparatively small, there is still much interest shown in these various contests. At the Hillside Club Miss vanHerwerden strengthened her hold on the Mellick cup, Saturday, while C. Westley Abbott became the chief figure in the race for the Golf Committee cup. At the Park Golf Club Senator C. A. Reed still leads for the President's cup, but H. D. Hibbard reduced it somewhat. The high humidity was not conducive to good playing, but the courses were in fair condition and some good cards were turned in.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

Although State Senator Charles A. Reed still leads for the President's cup at the Park Golf Club, H. D. Hibbard succeeded, in the weekly competition for that trophy, Saturday afternoon, in reducing his lead to a single point. Senator Reed also played, but he was not in the fine form of the week before and failed to score anything. There was a fair turnout despite the extreme humidity and the course was in good condition.

Members, with the "duffers'" allowance of forty, carried off first and second honors while H. D. Hibbard, with a gross score of 98, the best for the day, won the single point for third place. Senator Reed's 104 was the next best gross score. A. H. Serrell was not far behind with 107. S. St. John McCutchen and George T. Rogers were way off their usual game.

As a result of the day's play, Senator Reed still leads with nine points, but Mr. Hibbard has eight and is a close second. J. H. Howell is third with six. Then follow the rest of the bunch close behind. The standing is, at present, as follows:

Charles A. Reed	9
H. D. Hibbard	8
Joseph H. Howell	6
H. G. Phillips	6
George T. Rogers	5½
Allan B. Laing	5½
Charles W. McCutchen	5
Morgan T. Townsend	5
William A. Townsend	5
S. St. John McCutchen	4½
Charles B. Morse	4
James H. Simpson	3
Arthur H. Serrell	2½
William J. Butfield	2
Lesley W. Hallock	2
Henry C. Wells	2
Samuel Townsend	2
William R. Faber	2
Frank Rogers	2
Fred P. Taylor	1
Henry Studdiford	1
W. de la R. Anderson	½
Herbert S. Rogers	½

The scores were:

	G	H	N
H. G. Phillips	115	40	75
Frank Rogers	122	40	82
H. D. Hibbard	98	13	85
Arthur H. Serrell	107	21	86
Charles A. Reed	104	13	91
S. St. John McCutchen	113	16	97
Aug. VanDeventer	132	33	99
George T. Rogers	118	17	101

HILLSIDE TENNIS AND GOLF CLUB.

It was truly a mid-summer crowd that visited the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Saturday afternoon, for the smallest attendance of the season was recorded. The fact that so many of the members went away during the past week accounts for the slim attendance.

There was some interest in the weekly play in the morning for the Mellick cup, although only three contestants entered the competition, Miss vanHerwerden won the event with a net score of 98, while Miss Eisberg and Miss Mary Whiton finished second and third.

Miss vanHerwerden still leads in the competition, and with the three additional points gained on Saturday, she now has nineteen and one-half points to her credit. This strengthens her position so that it looks as though she would be a sure winner. Miss Eisberg, with an additional two points, is now second with twelve and one-half points, while Miss Mary Whiton enters the competition for the first time with one point.

The scores for the Mellick cup is as follows:

	G	H	N
Miss vanHerwerden	102	4	98
Miss Daisy Eisberg	114	14	100
Miss Mary Whiton	163	35	128

The standing for the trophy is as follows:

	Points.
Miss vanHerwerden	19½
Miss Daisy Eisberg	12½
Miss Adelaide Ball	5½
Miss Maud VanBoskerck	5½
Miss Margaret Goddard	5
Miss Margaret Tracy	3
Miss May Evans	1
Miss May Holly	1
Miss Mary Whiton	1

In the afternoon the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup was the attraction, but there was only a small field of players, only eight competing for the cup. Walter Peterson was the winner with a net score of 77, which, with a previously one-half point won, brings him up among the leaders. C. Westley Abbott finished second with two points. This brings him within a-half point of Mrs. Rogers, who still holds the lead with six points. Townsend Bushmore finished third giving him a total of four points.

The competition is now very interesting and close. From the present outlook no one can guess the winner. The players are well bunched, and it is difficult to tell who will take the lead and win out.

The standing for the Golf Committee cup is as follows:

	Points.
Mrs. N. P. Rogers	6
C. Westley Abbott	5½
C. C. Burke, Jr.	5
D. H. Rowland	5
E. E. Stevenson	4½
Townsend Bushmore	4
Roger F. Murray	3½
F. O. Ard	3½
Walter Peterson	3½
Wm. C. Kinney	3
Howard C. Tracy	3
Frank C. Talmage	3
G. T. VanBoskerck	3
Howard Huntington	3
Carroll L. Runyon	3
W. L. Glenney	2½
J. W. Sandford, Jr.	2
Olaf Saugstad	2
Frederic W. Goddard	2
H. B. Stockton	2
Howard Wright	2
E. T. Barrows	2
F. C. Reinhart	1 5-6
D. H. Barrows	1 5-6
A. G. Henderson	1½
E. J. Patterson	1½
Morris J. Dumont	1½
F. A. Clark	1½
Clifton Wharton, Jr.	1
Robert Abbott	½
W. F. Murray	½
D. W. Taylor	½

The scores were:

	G	H	N
Walter Peterson	92	15	77
C. W. Abbott	89	8	81
Townsend Bushmore	103	20	83
F. W. Goddard	108	24	84

TOOK CHEAP ROUTE.

Gathered In On Account Of Suspicious Actions But Allowed To Go.

Suspecting something was wrong because of their peculiar actions, Patrolman McCarthy took into custody Saturday evening two young men, who gave their names as Christian Deitz and William Beadle. When searched revolvers and catridges were found on their persons.

In police court this morning the pair claimed that they had left their homes in Baldwin, Ohio, for a cheap excursion east, via freight routes. Their story conflicted with that told by them to the patrolman, but His Honor believed the tale they told him, and discharged them, retaining, however, the weapons.

FEARED TROUBLE.

So James Treacy Was Gathered In As The Request Of His Wife.

James Treacy, the shoemaker on Watchung avenue, imbibed too much disturbing liquor, Saturday, and was arrested by Patrolman Myers at the instigation of Mrs. Treacy, who became alarmed in consequence of his profane language.

This morning Mrs. Treacy was inclined to be lenient with her husband, who has figured in the police cases before. Sentence was suspended by City Judge Runyon.

Cashier Runyon Better.

Cashier F. S. Runyon, of the First National Bank, who was taken severely ill last Friday evening at the bank, is better today, but in a weak condition. He will not report at the bank for a few days. Assistant Cashier David M. Runyon is in charge.

Street Improvements.

Borough Street Commissioner Emmons has been engaged in overhauling Grandview avenue from Somerset street to Wertervelt avenue. The condition of the thoroughfare is much improved.

—Neuman Bros. are selling delicious Georgia peaches, little Gem and Jenny Lind muskmelons.

SOME CLOSE EVENTS AT MATINEE RACES.

Fast Trotters and Pacers, Owned by Local Horsemen, Were Evenly Matched.

A LARGE CROWD PRESENT.

BEST EVENT WAS WHEN SMALLEYS LINED UP UNDER THE WIRE.

David C. Smalley's "Ned Davis" Won Two Out of Three Heats—Three-Minute Class a Dead Heat—The Summary.

The season of racing in these parts under the management of the Gentlemen's Driving Association opened in a blaze of glory Saturday. The weather was of the most pleasant kind, and the attendance was large, in fact one of the largest seen at a matinee meeting here in a good while.

The card of three events was excellent, and the pacing event, which was the main one of the day, outranked the others for excitement. While no Westfield horses were entered there were a number of drivers and owners present who promised to help swell the lists Labor Day.

The first event called was the three-minute class, and the first was a dead heat between "Monarch Maiden" and "Eloria." The second heat was won by Smalley, with Brantingham a close second, and Campbell bringing up the rear. The match remained unfinished as the third heat was not run.

The 2:30 class pacing event was the next and the crowd encored the three Smalley brothers as they came on the track. "Ned Davis," driven by David Smalley, was the favorite, while "Belle," driven by A. I. Smalley, and "Cousin," by Newton B. Smalley, were not without their backers. In the first heat "Belle" led from wire to wire, and in the second she led up to the three-quarter pole, when it looked like "Belle's" race, but the supporters of "Ned Davis" held their breath when he came up neck and neck with "Belle" and then forged ahead. It was a close call, as the margin at the finish was only a nose. In the third heat "Ned Davis" and "Belle" traveled as a team until at the head of the stretch, when "Ned" pulled away and won by a length.

"Woven Wind" was backed to win the third, which he did, although "Sidnut" made him cover the mile in good time. Both horses are owned by J. W. Johnson and there has always been a question as to which was superior. George VanBlake, caretaker of "Woven Wind," claimed that his was better, while John Osborn, who is the regular trainer, said that "Sidnut" was the faster. VanBlake was right, and the care with which "Woven Wind" was trained showed itself in the first heat. The second heat was also easily taken by "Woven Wind," who was driven by Mr. Johnson. This was nearly the first race in which Mr. Johnson has ever driven.

The summary:

First race.

Three minute class, trotting and pacing.

N. B. Smalley's "Eloria"	0	1
T. H. Brantingham's "Monarch Maiden"	0	2
Edward Campbell's "Nick Nicholas"	3	3

Time—2:56½, 2:56½.

Second race.

2:30 class, pacing.

David C. Smalley's "Ned Davis"	2	1	1
A. I. Smalley's "Belle"	1	2	2
Newton B. Smalley's "Cousin"	3	3	3

Time—2:32, 2:31, 2:30½.

Third race.

2:25 class, stallion.

J. W. Johnson's "Woven Wind"	1	1
J. W. Johnson's "Sidnut"	2	2

Time—2:25¼, 2:24¾.

Funeral Of Infant Boy.

The funeral services of Percy Webster Vermeule, infant son of Frank W. and Margaret Vermeule, of 115 Watchung avenue, were held from the house Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. C. Nelson, of the borough, officiated. The interment took place in the Friends Cemetery, Watchung avenue, and the remains were placed in the grave in which Mr. Vermeule's father was interred some time ago.

Cause Of Trouble Returned.

The case of Lucy McVey against Frederick W. Jones, for the alleged appropriation of certain linoleum which was to have been heard before Justice Mosher today was discontinued by Mrs. McVey, Jones having returned the linoleum to her this morning. Counsellor McClure represented Mrs. McVey.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A resident of Middlesex county has found a new remedy for malaria. He goes down cellar and secures a few white grub worms which are then fried with plenty of butter. After they have been fried to a beautiful brown the worms are chopped into small pieces and resemble so much pepper. A good supply of molasses is then added and a teaspoonful of the mixture is administered to the victim once every two hours.

—Mrs. S. H. Allport, Johnstown, Pa., says: "Our little girl almost strangled to death with croup. The doctors said she couldn't live but she was instantly relieved by One Minute Cough Cure." L. W. Randolph.

EXPLOSION ON YACHT.

Two Fatally Injured, Twelve Seriously Hurt.

McKEESPORT, Pa., Aug. 12.—Two persons were probably fatally burned and a dozen more or less severely injured as the result of an explosion on the pleasure yacht Quail in the Monongahela river near Peters creek. Robert Criswell and Harry Osborne, both of this place, were so badly scalded and burned all over the body that they will probably die from the effects of their injuries.

Among the other passengers scalded are Steve Broskie, W. N. Campbell, James R. Smith, J. E. Henry and Edward Miller, all of McKeesport. None of these will die, though all are seriously burned. Of the 18 passengers aboard the yacht none escaped burns.

The Quail was owned by W. N. Campbell. She had just started on a pleasure trip up the Monongahela river when two of the tubes of the boiler blew out, and in an instant the entire boat was enveloped in a cloud of escaping steam and flames. All the passengers jumped into the river and after much trouble were rescued by campers along the bank.

Cycling at the Fair.

BUFFALO, Aug. 12.—A great week of cycling was ushered in today at the Stadium in the Pen-American exposition. It is known as L. A. W. week, and the enthusiasm of the old members of the League of American Wheelmen which has been making itself felt in all parts of the country has resulted in scheduling events every one of which will be interesting and entertaining in a social way. During the past week the N. C. A. events in the Stadium have been limited to amateur championships. This week all the noted professionals of the country will compete for honors. Trial heats will be run today, Wednesday and Friday, with finals tomorrow, Thursday and Saturday. There are many entries of speeders assured. Cooper, Kramer, McFarland, Collett, Hausman, Fisher, Michaels, Stinson, Elkes, Walthour, Nelson, Jacobson and others have signified their intention of being present.

Big Absinth Factory Burned.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Pernod's absinth factory at Pontarlier, one of the largest in France, was struck by lightning yesterday afternoon during a violent storm. Within a few moments all the buildings were ablaze as well as the immense reservoirs of spirits in the cellars. A stream of burning alcohol was soon pouring into the river, causing the utmost alarm. The factory was completely destroyed, the damage being estimated at 8,000,000 francs. The factory had averaged an output of 25,000 liters per day.

The Knoxville Street Car Strike.

KNOXVILLE, Aug. 12.—In order to bring about a settlement of the street railway troubles if possible the Central Labor union, representing 3,500 members, has issued an appeal and put committees in the field to solicit merchants not to use electric power for fans or lighting purposes. Both the traction company and electric light and power companies are owned by Baltimore capitalists.

Burned to Death.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Blair of South Brookfield was destroyed by fire and their son William, aged 28, burned to death. Their daughter Etta was also so badly burned that her life is despaired of. Lightning is supposed to have been the cause of the fire. Over $200 in cash was lost in the flames.

Comet Observed.

GENEVA, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Encke's comet was observed this morning by Dr. William R. Brooks at Smith observatory. The comet is in the constellation Gemini in the eastern morning sky. The comet is moving in a southeasterly direction and approaching the sun. It is increasing in brightness, but is not visible without a telescope.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—According to a dispatch to The Daily Mail from St. Petersburg, in the recent conflagration at Witebsk 1,000 houses were destroyed and 100 lives lost. The prison there was burned, and many prisoners perished.

Machias at Cape Henry.

CAPE HENRY, Va., Aug. 12.—The United States gunboat Machias, from Boston, under orders to proceed to Hampton Roads and there await instructions and prepare for her departure for Colon, has arrived here.

Shamrock at Sandy Hook.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The steam yacht Erin, with the Shamrock II in tow, was off Sandy Hook lightship at 11:39 p. m.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Tilly Haynes, one of the best known hotel proprietors in the east, died at the United States hotel in Boston.

The Leak Fur Manufacturing company's mill at Gloverville, N. Y., was totally destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $30,000; insurance, $20,000.

At Bennettsville, Ga., Jim Harris, a negro, was lynched for the murder of Captain Amos Carter, captain of a chain gang in which Harris was serving.

The steamer Sarah, one of the largest on the Yukon river, was seized at Dawson by the authorities on the charge of bringing in liquor without a permit.

SIGNOR CRISPI DEAD

Italian Statesman's Long Illness Ended.

AFFAIRS IN GREATEST CONFUSION.

Wife May Have Only Sale of Memoirs to Depend On—Details of Funeral All Arranged Before Death Came.

NAPLES, Aug. 12.—Signor Crispi died at 7:45 o'clock last evening. He was surrounded by the members of his family and several intimate friends. The news was immediately telegraphed to King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena.

The evening papers assert that the body will be conveyed by steamer to Palermo, where the municipality will arrange for a great public funeral.

It is rumored that Signor Crispi's will authorizes a prominent Italian politician to examine his papers and to publish his memoirs.

In consequence of the low condition of Signor Crispi yesterday morning the injections of stimulants and the administration of oxygen were stopped, the physicians recognizing that both were quite useless. Through the day he lay inert and insensible, and he was virtually dead for hours before the physicians certified that life was extinct.

Some indignation was expressed when the public learned that the details of the funeral had been arranged before death came.

It is rumored that the affairs of the deceased are in the greatest confusion and that Signora Crispi will have to depend solely on the proceeds of the sale of the memoirs.

The body will be embalmed and will lie in state for three days in the drawing room of the Villa Fina, in Naples, the walls of which are adorned with frescoes representing the principal episodes of the Garibaldean epoch.

Signor Joratro, the sculptor, has taken a cast of the face. Seals have been affixed to the belongings of the deceased, and Signor Lauronzana of the chamber of deputies has been appointed trustee of the will.

Veteran soldiers, firemen and police will act as a guard of honor during the lying in state.

A great state funeral will be held in Naples before the body is removed to Palermo. King Victor Emmanuel will be represented at the obsequies.

A Victory For Senator Clark.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—It is stated that as a result of a conference held at the Auditorium hotel between Roswell Miller, Mr. Hays, Mr. Lomax and Senator Clark, officials respectively of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Southern Pacific, the Union Pacific and the Salt Lake-Los Angeles road, now in process of construction, Senator Clark will be given uninterrupted right of way for his road between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. The conference was held in Senator Clark's room and lasted nearly all day. Mr. Miller left the meeting after an hour and went to the offices of the St. Paul road, but went back to Senator Clark's room later. After the meeting Senator Clark left for his home, seemingly in a highly contented frame of mind.

Trespassers on Woods' Lands.

FORT SILL, O. T., Aug. 12.—J. R. Woods, the prize winner in the land lottery who claimed a strip along the Lawton town site, to the injury of Miss Mattie Beals, the Kansas telephone girl, has applied to former Governor Richards, who conducted the opening, to have government troops put the trespassers off his homestead. Telegraphic correspondence is said to have passed between Governor Richards and Major H. L. Scott, commanding officer at Fort Sill, but no official order has yet been given. Squatters are now camped on nearly every lot in the 160 acres of Woods' homestead. They have sunk wells and contracted for the erection of frame buildings.

Four Hurt In Wreck.

DUBOIS, Pa., Aug. 12.—Through the alleged failure of the telegraph operator at Carmen to deliver a train order to a north bound freight train two trains were wrecked and four trainmen were injured, one of whom is likely to die. The wreck occurred north of Carmen on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad. The injured are: Conductor James Gillespie, not expected to live; Engineer Wilkes, Engineer Reilly and Brakeman Harry Smith. All the injured men lived at Bradford. On account of the mistake of the operator the north bound and the south bound freight trains met on a curve. The two locomotives and a dozen cars were badly wrecked.

Tried to Drown Her Children.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Mrs. Olga Michalek of Jersey City, who has been having insane attacks of late, took her three children, 8 and 3 years and 18 months respectively, to a bridge over the Morris canal and attempted to drown herself and the little ones. She first threw the two elder ones into the canal and then, with the infant clasped in her arms, leaped in herself. A watchman saw her do this and, jumping in, dragged the woman and infant out and then the other two. The last mentioned, who are girls, did not sink, as their dresses kept them afloat till help came.

Three Drowned While Bathing.

NEWCASTLE, Ont., Aug. 12.—Easton Beacham, manager of the Park & Tilford grocery store, New York, and Charles and John Farncomb, aged 18 and 16 years, sons of Canon Farncomb of this place, were drowned while bathing in Lake Ontario. The body of the elder lad was found Saturday night and that of John Farncomb yesterday morning. The remains of Beacham have not been found.

A Real Gold Brick Lost.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 12.—A telegram received by Captain James Carroll from the Apollo Mining company of San Francisco states that a gold brick valued at $20,000, which was shipped from Unga, Alaska, via the steamer Newport about July 20, has not arrived in that city. The treasure should have reached San Francisco several days ago.

Governor Odell In Newburg.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Governor Odell arrived here yesterday afternoon and went to the home of his father. The governor refused absolutely to talk about New York police matters, saying he had no official information in the matter.

FUNERAL OF EMPRESS

Impressive Ceremonies Held at Cronberg.

KING EDWARD VII IS PRESENT.

England's Monarch and His Queen Prominent Figures In the Services—Royalty of the Continent Well Represented.

CRONBERG, Aug. 12.—People flocked into Cronberg from an early hour yesterday to see the august personages who would attend the requiem service over the remains of Dowager Empress Frederick. Throughout the night and day the officers of the regiments of which the deceased was honorary colonel had stood guard over the coffin.

From 11 a. m. there was an unbroken stream of carriages arriving from Homburg, Frankfort and other points, bringing those invited to the solemn ceremony. Considerable bodies of troops, both infantry and cavalry, also arrived.

At 2:30 p. m. the Eightieth regiment formed up along the streets, and the band of the Bockenheim hussars took its stand opposite the church. Every window, balcony and housetop was filled with people awaiting the arrival of the imperial personages.

Baron von Reischach, court marshal of the dowager empress, superintended the arrangements. Sir Frank Lascelles, the British embassador, was among the first to arrive. He took a seat facing the coffin, which was covered with wreaths. On either side of the coffin were four officers holding the standards of the empire, of Prussia and of the deceased. Between them and the coffin were other officials, rigid and bearing drawn swords. Gradually the church filled with officers in splendid uniforms and ladies wearing deep mourning. The congregation included the Duke of Connaught, the Duke of Cambridge and several members of the British royal household, Count von Bulow, Count von Waldersee, Dr. Spielhagen and General von Lindequist.

At 4 o'clock the roll of muffled drums announced the arrival of Emperor William and King Edward, who had driven together from Homburg. The emperor, wearing the black uniform of the Empress' Own Posen hussars, led Queen Alexandra into the church, while King Edward, in the blue uniform of the King Edward Prussian dragoons, conducted Empress Augusta Victoria. Princess Victoria, with Crown Prince Frederick William and a numerous suit, followed.

Their majesties occupied a pew to the left of the chancel, the one in which the deceased used to sit, while grouped around the chancel stood the other imperial and royal personages mentioned, together with Prince Adalbert of Prussia, Prince and Princess Schaumburg-Lippe, the Hereditary Prince of Saxe-Meiningen, Prince and Princess Charles of Hesse, the Grand Duke of Baden, the Crown Prince and Princess of Greece, with their children, and the Prince of Reuss, together with the suits of all.

Baron von Reischach stood at the right and Count von Seckendorff, who was the grand chamberlain of the deceased, at the left of the coffin. As the organ played the funeral march Dr. Dryander advanced to the head of the coffin. The choir from Berlin cathedral sang "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," and Dr. Dryander read a specially written prayer, followed by the words of the burial service, "Dust to dust, ashes to ashes." The choir then sang the anthem, "The Spirit Sayeth They May Rest From Their Labors." Then followed the magnificent hymn, "Wenn Ich Einmal Soll Scheiden" and a beautiful rendering of "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death."

As the last strains died away King Edward and Queen Alexandra advanced and laid a wreath upon the coffin. The king remained standing for a few moments alone beside the coffin and then turned and left the church, which slowly emptied.

The service owed much of its impressiveness to the historical associations recalled by the mediæval edifice in which it was held.

At its conclusion Empress Augusta Victoria and Queen Alexandra drove in a victoria to Homburg, the emperor and king following in a second carriage. The streets were congested with sightseers long after the imperial and royal personages departed.

General G. Moxley Sorrel Dead.

ROANOKE, Va., Aug. 12.—General G. Moxley Sorrel, aged 64, of Savannah, has died at the home of his brother near Roanoke. General Sorrel entered the Confederate army at Savannah as volunteer aid on Longstreet's staff at the outbreak of the civil war. He was promoted several times for gallantry, and in the third year of the war was made a brigadier general on Longstreet's staff. He was shot through the lungs at the battle of Sharpsburg. After the war he was made superintendent of the Central Railroad of Georgia. He relinquished that position seven years ago to accept the general managership of the steamboat line plying between Savannah, New York and Liverpool, which office he held at the time of his death.

Wireless Telegraphy.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Aug. 12.—The tug Mercury has arrived here from the Nantucket South Shoal lightship, where she has been for several days during the construction of the apparatus on board the lightship for the use of the wireless telegraph which is to be established between the lightship and Nantucket island for the purpose of reporting the passing of ocean liners. Three operators were left on board the lightship, and it is the intention of the professor in charge of construction to communicate with Nantucket from the lightship tomorrow for the first time.

Ingalls Puts Back to Port.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The United States transport Ingalls, which sailed Saturday for Manila, has returned on account of leaky cargo posts. The transport anchored off Liberty island.

New Church at Saratoga Dedicated.

SARATOGA, Aug. 12.—The New England Congregational church was dedicated here yesterday. The Rev. Dr. John Henry Barrows, president of Oberlin college, delivered the sermon.

Transport Arrives From Manila.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—The transport Sumner has arrived from Manila with 180 convalescent soldiers. There were two deaths on the voyage.

ed men at the Riverside, and the remaining 150 workers in the steel departments have asked us to call a meeting at which they may organize a lodge. This request has been granted, and the meeting will be held Monday evening at 7 o'clock at Mozart hall in South Wheeling. At this afternoon's meeting of the Riverside men at Mozart hall we took in 109 members from the tube and plate departments.

"We have succeeded in tying up the Bellaire steel plant of the National Steel company. We organized 250 of the skilled men Saturday, and at a meeting this afternoon there were more accessions, though I have not yet received my deputy's report as to the exact number. But even without a single accession we have enough to keep the plant idle.

"The La Belle plant of the American Tin Plate company in closed tight, as are the Ætna-Standard mills of the American Sheet Steel and American Steel Hoop companies. The Mingo Junction plants of the National Steel and American Steel Hoop companies also are closed.

"We are arranging for a great strikers' rally to be held at the West Virginia State Fair grounds in Wheeling next Wednesday or Thursday. President Shaffer will be the principal orator, and Assistant Secretary Michael F. Tighe will be second if possible. At the meeting of the Ohio valley trades and labor assembly resolutions were passed denouncing Andrew Carnegie and calling upon the labor people of Wheeling to vote against the acceptance of the $75,000 he has offered Wheeling for a library building."

Won't Go Out In South Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—There will be no strike by members of the Amalgamated association at the Illinois Steel works in South Chicago. At a joint meeting of the local lodges, presided over by a representative of Vice President Davis of the Fourth district, it was decided by an almost unanimous vote to remain at work and if necessary to give financial support to their striking brethren in other mills. In a statement to the public defining their position in the struggle between the association and the United States Steel company the men claim that in justice to themselves and the Illinois Steel company they are compelled to disregard the order of President Shaffer, as they have no grievances and have contracts signed that will not expire for another year.

Gompers In New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was in New York city yesterday and visited his brother-in-law at the latter's residence. Mr. Gompers was expected to put in an appearance at the headquarters of the Central Labor union, but did not do so. He left the city last evening, but to what point is not known. The World says that Mr. Gompers will return and endeavor to get a conference with J. P. Morgan and others connected with the United States Steel corporation.

No Strike at Bayview.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 12.—The men of the Bayview plant of the Illinois Steel company, one of the Federal Steel properties, decided to stay at work and to disregard the order of President Shaffer.

German Antarctic Expedition Sails.

KIEL, Germany, Aug. 12.—The German steamer Gauss, bearing the German antarctic expedition, under the leadership of Professor Ehrich von Drygalski of Berlin, sailed from Kiel yesterday. Herr Rothe, undersecretary of the interior, wished the expedition godspeed on behalf of Emperor William and the German nation, and Professor von Drygalski made a suitable reply. The crews of vessels in the harbor heartily cheered the departing Gauss. All the farewell festivities, including the banquet, were omitted in consequence of the death of Dowager Empress Frederick. The scientists accompanying the expedition are Dr. Ernst von Hoeffen of Kiel, zoologist and botanist; Dr. Hans Gazert of Munich, bacteriologist; Dr. Emil Philippi of Breslau, geologist, and Dr. Friedrich Bidlingmaier of Lauffen, meteorologist.

Five Millions In American Mules.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 12.—Colonel Skinner of the British army, one of the English officers who has been stationed in the United States since the outbreak of the Boer war, buying horses and mules, has returned to Kansas City from New Orleans. With the shipments just made from Kansas City to Cape Town the British government has spent $1,000,000 in Kansas City for horses and mules for service in South Africa. Colonel Skinner says that approximately 100,000 animals have been shipped from this vicinity through the port of New Orleans during the past three years. The average paid for these animals is $50 a head, making the total expenditure $5,000,000 in Missouri and Kansas alone.

Buffalo Bank to Quit Business.

BUFFALO, Aug. 12.—It is officially announced that the Metropolitan bank of this city will go out of business and that all its accounts will be turned over to the German bank for liquidation. Charles Groben, president of the institution, said last evening that there was no cause for alarm on the part of depositors, as every dollar due them will be paid without delay. He said there was a heavy clearing house run on the bank just after the announcement that the City National and Niagara banks had suspended.

Bomb In a French Church.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—A bomb was exploded yesterday afternoon near the altar of the Church of St. Nizier at Troyes, doing considerable damage to the thirteenth century windows, but not injuring any of the hundred children who, together with a priest, were in the sacred edifice at the time. A Spaniard has been arrested on suspicion of being the author of the outrage.

Two Million Franc Fire In France.

HAVRE, Aug. 12.—The Gravilles spinning and weaving factory on the Rue Demidoff and the sawmill of De Vaux Freres on the Rue de la Bedoliere, with a whole block of buildings between, have been destroyed by fire. The damage is estimated at 2,000,000 francs.

Heavy Bonds For Alleged Thief.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—The bonds of Walter N. Dimmick, former chief clerk of the United States mint, who is under arrest, charged with embezzling $30,000, have been placed at $37,000. Dimmick is in custody of the secret service officers.

Striking Caddies Return to Work.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The caddies at the Mohawk Golf club, who have been on strike for a week, have returned to work, an amicable settlement having been reached. The caddies struck to get 15 cents a round.

SITUATION IN PANAMA.

Strict Martial Law Enforced In the Cities.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 12.—According to mail advices received here from Colon, there was a series of engagements last week in the neighborhood of Panama, and the government was experiencing some difficulty in keeping out the insurgents. General Alban, commanding the government forces, had arrived at Cartagena to gather troops for service on the isthmus.

Colonel Abel Murillo, General Uribe-Uribe's aid, was still in prison when the steamer which brought these advices left Cartagena.

Strict martial law is enforced at Panama and Colon, the present districts of insurgent activity, and an order was issued last week in both cities announcing that all persons found under arms without permit would be shot as traitors. The same order called upon all foreign residents to furnish themselves with arms so as to act as police whenever called upon.

Two days before the steamer left Colon the insurgents stopped a passenger train near Matachin, taking 20 government officials prisoners.

Colombia as a whole is all the more unsettled in consequence of the fear of war with Venezuela over repeated invasions of Venezuelan territory. The situation is generally considered serious. There is a great exodus of residents from Colon and Panama. These people are coming here in large numbers and seeking other coast towns in Colombia. Taxes have been again increased in order to meet the war expenditure, and numerous forced loans are reported.

Colombian Minister Leaves Caracas.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Aug. 12.—The Colombian minister and all the members of the Colombian legation have left Caracas for a temporary absence. There has been no rupture of diplomatic relations, however, between Colombia and Venezuela. William W. Russell, the United States charge d'affaires, will take care of Colombian interests.

Double Tragedy In Scranton.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 12.—Edwin Davis, a young carpenter, shot his wife and himself last evening after a succession of quarrels. They had a quarrel a week ago, and he left her to take his residence with his father. She closed up the house and went to Atlantic City, returning Saturday night. Last evening he went to his former home and, retiring to a room on the second floor, sent his little daughter to his wife with the request that she bring him a glass of water. She left her sister and went up stairs with the water. She was gone less than a moment when her sister heard four shots. When the neighbors went up stairs, they found the wife dead on the floor with three bullet holes in her head, while the husband was lying across the bed with a bullet hole in his forehead and a revolver in his grasp. He died in two hours. He was 28 and she 26. They had been married three years and had one child. The husband frequently complained of his wife's conduct.

Cruiser Philadelphia at Honolulu.

HONOLULU, Aug. 2, via San Francisco, Aug. 12.—The cruiser Philadelphia has arrived here from Pago Pago. She will sail for San Francisco Aug. 7. The Philadelphia's visit to Pago Pago was the first she had made since 1899, when two of her officers and two men were killed by natives. This time her reception was very friendly. In honor of her departure the high chiefs of the different villages prepared an elaborate feast and held a two days' festival. In return the officers of the Philadelphia received the chiefs and their wives on board the vessel. It is reported from Samoa that Maltouna has decided to return to German Samoa and take the oath of allegiance to the German government. In return the Germans are to make him a member of the advisory council.

Collision at Sea.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The New York and Porto Rico Steamship company's steamer San Juan, which has arrived from San Juan, reports while coming in the south channel that she was in collision with the fishing schooner Hereward. The latter struck the steamer on the starboard side, carrying away her bowsprit jibboom and head gear, smashed stem outwater and doing other damage. The San Juan received no damage. After the collision the steamer stopped and stood by the disabled schooner, which was unable to lower away her anchor. Shortly after daylight the San Juan got under way and brought the fisherman to quarantine, when a tug picked her up and towed her to the city.

Constitution Injured.

BRISTOL, R. I., Aug. 12.—The Constitution did not escape injury in Saturday's race off Newport, and the boat arrived here yesterday in tow of her tender, the Mount Morris, to be put in shape for the race today. The result of Saturday's racing in the strong wind off Brenton's reef lightship was the starting of some of the rivets in the forward plates of the yacht in the region of the water line on the port bow and directly abaft the fore end of the water line. The damage was repaired in a few hours.

Prominent Ithacan Killed.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Alvah Grover, aged 76, a prominent and lifelong resident of this city, was killed by falling from the window of his room in the Cataract hotel. Mr. Grover's bed was level with the window sill of the open window, and it is supposed he rolled in his sleep over the sill and fell to the ground two stories below. When carried to his apartments, he expired from the injuries sustained in the fall. He is survived by a large family.

Almy's Body Brought Home.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The steamer San Juan, from San Juan, brought the body of Major William Ellery Almy, U. S. A. Major Almy was assigned to the Porto Rican regiment. He commanded a battalion of that regiment at the inauguration of President McKinley. He died as a result of an operation for appendicitis. His body will be sent to Philadelphia for interment.

Well Known Hotel Keeper Dead.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 12.—John R. Palmer has died at the Masonic home in his sixty-fifth year. He was well known to the traveling public in central and southern New York, having conducted hotels at Utica, Clinton, Norwich and Elmira. At one time Mr. Palmer weighed 347 pounds.

THREE MILLS VOTE TO WORK

Men Employed In Joliet (Ills.), Bay View (Wis.) and South Chicago Plants Will Disregard President Shaffer's Order.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 12.—The iron masters are claiming victory in the great steel strike. They base their claim upon the refusal of the Amalgamated men at South Chicago, Joliet and Bay View to obey the general strike order of President Shaffer and their success in maintaining operations in other plants where it was anticipated that there would be serious trouble.

The strike leaders meet the claims of victory with the assertion that their cause is making satisfactory progress and that they will show themselves masters of the situation before the contest has progressed much further.

They do not conceal their disappointment at the refusal of their western brethren to join with them in the strike, but none of the leaders would discuss the defection. President Shaffer refused to meet the newspaper men who sought him and kept within the seclusion of his home. The other leaders who were seen intimated that there would be developments today and throughout the week that would materially change the situation. They would not say, however, what they had in mind or how their cause was to gain in strength.

It was said that they were counting upon strong aid from the American Federation of Labor and other organizations of union labor, but these bodies have not yet given any public indication of what they will do. The Amalgamated association has developed great strength in the Wheeling district and has made gains in some of the Pennsylvania districts. The strike headquarters were closed yesterday, and it was claimed that no reports were being received from the outlying districts as to the progress of the strike except in a general way.

The steel officials were in communication with their superintendents and district managers and at 11 o'clock made public the result of their reports. The latter showed that South Chicago, Joliet and Bay View at Milwaukee had voted to stay in; that the Ohio works of the National Steel company at Youngstown and the King, Gilbert & Warner plant of the National Steel company at Columbus had resumed without trouble; that the Homestead, Edgar Thomson, Duquesne, Upper and Lower Union and Howard Axle works of the Carnegie group, employing more than 15,000 men, had resumed without trouble; that the converting and blooming mills of the National Tube company at McKeesport had started without difficulty, and that Bellaire had been only partially crippled.

They were also advised that the men of the Boston rolling mills at McKeesport had notified the National Tube company that they would go out today and that, while the National Tube plant at McKeesport would be started this morning, it was certain that many men would go out.

They were also notified that their Wheeling plants were crippled and that it was uncertain what would be done there. Their advices also said that the Clark mill there, which has been running nonunion for several days, would be started up as usual this morning and that there was no doubt about its successful operation.

The steel officials were elated over their showing at the Carnegie plants and in Illinois, Ohio and Wisconsin and expressed confidence in a speedy victory over the Amalgamated association.

Pittsburg passed the first day of the strike in a spirit of calmness. There are strong undercurrents of sentiment and sympathy running through popular feeling, but there were few surface indications of them. It was a bright, clear day, and the pleasure places were filled with holiday crowds. There seemed to be a general agreement to throw off the worry and evils of the serious labor conflict for the time being. The strikers and their leaders kept a close watch on the strike situation, however.

The early reports were unfavorable to them, for they showed that the responses to the general order to go out had not been as large as they had been led to expect. They seemed confident, however, that more men would decide to strike and that the showing today would be satisfactory to them. The strikers did not congregate in force at any point, and there was not a sugestion of disorder anywhere. The police authorities reported at 5 o'clock that they had no word of prospective trouble anywhere.

President Shaffer spent the day quietly at his home in this city. He received reports from a number of his lieutenants, but during the day denied himself to callers. He holds rather strict ideas as to Sabbath observance and throughout the strike has insisted that as little as possible be done on that day. When a reporter called at the house, he was received by Mrs. Shaffer, wife of the strike leader. "My husband can see no one today," she said. "He is resting and preparing himself for the work ahead of him. He will be at the Amalgamated association headquarters tomorrow and can be seen there by any one wishing to see him."

The day at McKeesport passed without any startling developments. The indications are that the Demmler plant of the American Tin Plate company will start up soon. Superintendent Pitcock, who had just started on a two weeks' vacation, has been recalled from Virginia, and work is being pushed rapidly on high board fences around the plant. Steam is being kept up in the boilers, and all indications point to an early resumption.

Many meetings were held yesterday by the workers, but no results are made known except the announcement by the strikers that many new members were taken into the organization.

The rolling men of the National Tube company were ordered to report for work at 3 o'clock this morning. The strikers say that few responded. The company officials seem to have no doubt of their success.

National Vice President Walter Larkins of the Amalgamated association, discussing the situation in Wheeling district last night, said: "At the Riverside plant of the National Tube company the plate and tube mills will be off Monday morning and possibly the steel departments. Already we have taken into membership in the Amalgamated 650 of the 800 skill-

Ferry Improvement.

As such a large proportion of Plainfield's population commutes daily between this city and New York and the rest of the people make frequent trips between the two cities, every improvement made by the Jersey Central Railroad is of special interest to Plainfield and its inhabitants. While the demands of this suburban traffic are bound to ultimately bring about the building of a bridge or tunnel to connect New Jersey with New York, the Jersey Central is now prepared to increase and improve its ferry facilities.

The news, to be found in another column, to the effect that the new ferry-boat, Lakewood, will go into commission this week, will be very welcome to the Plainfield commuters. The new ferry-boat is said to be the finest in this country. Inside of two months, the Bound Brook, the second of the new boats, will be put into commission. Both are to run on the Liberty street ferry, where the great bulk of the Plainfielders cross daily.

The last year has seen a number of improvements made on the Central Railroad. There is Plainfield's new east-bound station, the new cars, reduced running time between Plainfield and Jersey City, and now the best ferry-boats in New York Harbor which will undoubtedly make another slight reduction in the time between the great metropolis and the fairest city of New Jersey.

Although no concert had been announced for last Friday evening, several hundred people assembled at the City Park that evening expecting that the programme of weekly concerts would be carried out. That it was not possible to have one last week was simply due to the fact that not enough contributions were made to enable Mr. LaVere to hold one on that date. He has gone among some of the leading citizens, however, and secured enough funds to give a second concert Friday evening of this week. There is no doubt about the success of that concert. The first one fully demonstrated the great popularity of them. It only depends on the townsfolk to furnish the necessary funds to permit Mr. LaVere to carry out his plans in the future.

Everyone interested in the political situation in Somerset county read the article in Saturday's Daily Press with much interest. The time is not far away when politics will assume active importance throughout the State and already the plans are being laid which may result in very important happenings. While Mayor N. B. Smalley is not saying anything yet regarding the shrievalty nomination in Somerset, it is perfectly safe to count that he will not be wanting when the proper time comes to show his hand.

To those Plainfielders who are prevented by business and other reasons from leaving Plainfield to spend their summer at the mountains or sea shore, the two summer hostelries, one on the brow of the mountain and the other charmingly located on Netherwood hill, offer plenty of opportunity for pleasant times. Hardly a night passes at either of these places but what something is happening and the local society folk are made just as welcome at these affairs as are the regular guests.

There are many things which will affect the officials of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Co. in their choice of a site for the new plant they intend to erect. Many points will be taken into consideration and it will probably be some time before these points can be carefully considered and a decision rendered. It would seem, to the Plainfield eye at least, that in a comparison of advantages, Plainfield ought to stand well up toward the top.

There are experienced advertisers says the Philadelphia Record who believe that the daily newspaper is the best of all mediums for all advertisers—better than the trade papers, which are specially devoted to the interests of the advertisers. For example, an advertiser whose purpose was to reach the farmers says he got better results through the big dailies than he did through the agricultural papers.

When the officials of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company complete their investigation into the causes of the accident of a week ago, the public will be very much interested to know just what they have discovered.

Despite the fact that so many Plainfielders are away on their summer vacations, there seems no lack of interest in the regular competitions at the local golf clubs. On the contrary, the interest in these events appears on the increase.

Si Drake now promises to have a line of automobile busses, propelled by steam, navigating the city streets by September 15. The date has been set several times before.

Either the people of Plainfield have a remarkable memory or else the ordinance against expectorating in public places is not being fully enforced.

If it is not too hot this evening, the local Republican workers will gather to make their preliminary plans for the summer.

with excitement.

One of the most clever plays during the contest was a one-handed catch of a long drive made by Howarth, the doughty third baseman of the Forest Hill nine. Johnson, the right fielder of the home team, did a great piece of work in catching a fly under much difficulty. Scotch Plains was minus a pitcher for the game, but the position was filled by Harvey, who is regularly in the box for the Crescent Athletic Club's team in Brooklyn.

The batting order and summary is as follows:

PLAINFIELDS EMPLOYES, 10; PERTH AMBOY EMPLOYES, 8.

The employes of the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Company, of Perth Amboy and of this city, met in a game of baseball Saturday. The local team was victorious by a score of 10 to 8. A prominent feature of the game was a home run made by Simmons. Brokaw's game was not up to its usual standard, but this can be accounted for by the fact that his hand was injured. The Perth Amboy players were expecting an easy victory, but the local team has been considerably strengthened since the last game.

Mrs. Maurice Owens, of Park avenue, has returned from the Pan American Exposition.

Miss Alice Scribner, of Maple avenue, has been entertaining her cousin from Passaic.

Miss Rhoades, a trained nurse at the hospital, returned today from her two weeks' vacation.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, August 12.—The Harris family, who are occupying the Emory Vail property, at Greenbrook, are at loss to know how to get their roof repaired. Arthur Vail, a tinner who came to do the work, ran into a swarm of bees and was forced to run out again. The next time he came to the house, he was accompanied by Paul Kratzel, who is somewhat of an expert in handling bees. Mr. Kratzel tried to drive the bees into a hive but they refused to be housed. As the matter now stands the bees are masters of the situation.

Rev. A. S. Phelps has returned from a visit to Menanhant, Mass., and resumed his duties at the Holy Innocent's church yesterday. Holy Communion was observed at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and the usual sermon and service at 3:30 o'clock.

Capt. and Mrs. George Liable, of the Royal Lilliputian Theatrical Company, who have been summering in the borough, will join their company at the Pan-American Exposition, early next month.

At the last meeting of the Firemen's Relief Association, Frank Humpston and Geo. W. Day were elected delegates to attend the State convention at Atlantic City, September 11 and 12.

The pulpit of the Methodist church was supplied yesterday by Rev. A. F Todd. Epworth League services were held in the evening at 6:45.

Mrs. H. Apgar and Miss Fannie E. Smith left Saturday for New Germantown. They will remain there the remainder of this week.

The tenth annual excursion of Franklin Council will take place Thursday. The objective point will be Asbury Park.

G. W. LaRoza, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Warden.

Councilman Kinney has secured a position with the Central railroad in their construction department.

CENTRAL'S NEW FERRY BOAT.

LAKEWOOD WILL GO INTO COMMISSION SOMETIME THIS WEEK.

Is the Finest Ferryboat in the Country—Its Sister Boat Will be Ready in Six Weeks.

The new ferryboat, Lakewood, of the Jersey Central Railroad, is complete and will be put into commission on the Liberty street ferry of that railroad this week. The new boat, which has a twin screw propeller, is considered the finest ferryboat ever built. It is modeled very much on the same plans of the Pennsylvania Railroad's Chicago except that it has incorporated in it some more modern ideas and improvement discovered since the Chicago was built.

The Lakewood is a double decker and is finely finished throughout. It is considerably speedier than any of the present boats of the Jersey Central and also possesses a larger carrying capacity. Its interior decoration is very artistic while the engines and boilers and all the mechanical fittings are of the most modern type.

The Lakewood is now at the Central Railroad's pier being thoroughly cleaned and ready to be put into use the middle of the week. Its sister boat, the Bound Brook, will be ready to put into commission in six weeks. The Bound Brook will be exactly like the Lakewood and will also be used on the Liberty street ferry.

The two boats are faster than anything else of their kind in the New York Harbor, and will greatly improve the ferry service of the Jersey Central. The boats now in use were, when first put into commission, the finest ferry boats on the river. They are now capable of handling a larger crowd than most of the old side-wheelers. Now that the screw propellers are coming into general use, the Central has followed the march of progress. The two boats, now running in the Whitehall street ferry, are both screw propellers, and have two decks.

HORSE AND RIG GONE.

Police Recovered It But Arthur VanNest, Charged With Taking It, Escaped The Officers.

Arthur VanNest, of Monroe avenue, a young lad who is fast establishing a record in the West End, figured in another escapade Saturday and solely because he is fleet footed was able to elude the officer who was detailed to arrest him. Stealing a horse and wagon in simple words is said to be the offense with which he is charged.

During the noon hour, Saturday, the rig in question, which belongs to Thomas Lyness, was hitched to a post in front of his residence on South Second street. Young VanNest, it is claimed, jumped to the seat of the vehicle and drove off. The police department was notified that the horse and wagon was missing and Patrolman Maurice Higgins was ordered to investigate the matter. On Clinton avenue the officer discovered the lad with the rig, but before he could be overtaken, VanNest, it is said, abandoned the horse and wagon and took to his heels in flight.

The patrolman captured the missing property and returned it to the owner, Mr. Lyness, but after a search Van Nest was unable to be found.

YOUNG MEN SANG WELL.

Double Male Quartette Was Special Feature at First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

A special feature at the services at the First Presbyterian church, yesterday, was the music by a double male quartette organized for the occasion by Organist Clifford Braider. The double quartette sang three times at the morning service, the selection, "Eternity" being particularly well rendered. Three selections were given at the evening service. The congregation was much pleased with the singing which was without accompaniment, the voices blending very harmoniously.

The double quartette was composed of the following: First tenor, E. Maxwell Honeyman and Elmer Cutting; second tenor, Clifford Braider and Henry Yaeger; first bass, Sydney R. Titsworth and Ralph K. Miner; second bass, Arthur Smith and Thomas MacDonald.

TOOK WIDOW WITH WELL.

When the Water Came His Way Mr. Easygo Cooley Proposed Marriage.

The Widow McSpoonigan's well was situated on the South side hill, under a spreading chestnut tree, and not ten feet from the public road. Better water than that which came from the well aforesaid could not be found for miles around. All the people in the neighborhood patronized that well, and morning and evening there was always a crowd of children with pitchers and buckets and pails, for the Widow McSpoonigan was generous-hearted and made no objection to their tramping over her place, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Easygo Cooley, elderly bachelor, had his carpenter shop three minutes' walk farther down the hill, almost below the Widow McSpoonigan's place. He wore a comic paper farmer's chin whiskers; chewed fine cut; was never known to say an unnecessary word; was never known to get rattled. Three times a day, at seven a. m., at noon and at six p. m., he filled his pail at the well, and three times a day the Widow McSpoonigan was there to pass the time of day with him. For years they had looked with favor upon each other. But—

"Getting married is no light undertaking!" said Easygo.

"Nothing less than an earthquake will ever make him propose," sighed the Widow McSpoonigan.

One morning when Easygo arrived at the well the widow was not in sight. He sighed a little as he leaned over the well. As he sighed he fell in, for the plank on which he had kneeled had been insecurely placed.

The widow was not far away. As she approached she saw him fall and heard him splash. Breathless she stood, with her heart in her mouth, but presently smiled relievedly. From the mouth of the well there issued one word. Its initial was "D."

"Maybe that was a lucky tumble," said the widow to herself. "He'll be wet through. I'll take him into the house, give him some of McSpoonigan's clothes, mix him a drink of something hot, and, who knows? He may propose!"

Then she went to the side of the well and in agonized accents called: "Oh, where are you, Mr. Cooley? What shall I do? What shall I do?" and she wrung her hands and wept bitterly.

And then from the bottom of the well, in cool, composed accents came the answers to her two questions: "In the bucket. Hoist!"

"Drat the man!" muttered Mrs. McSpoonigan, but she hoisted.

When he reached dry land again he declined all offers of assistance and went home, leaving the widow almost in tears.

It was not exactly an earthquake that brought at last these two loving hearts together, but something very near it. The Widow McSpoonigan awoke one morning to discover that her well had disappeared. The bottom had fallen out of it. Then some one remembered that there was a disused coal mine somewhere below. One man descended the well and saw the tunnel.

And now mark the working of fate: The water ran down a blind entry, filled a deep hole at the end and leaped through the side of the hill, finding egress on the land of Easygo Cooley. Easygo discovered the fact within 24 hours. Being a just man, he immediately called upon the widow and explained matters. "Having taken your well, I guess I'd better take you," he said. "What do you say?"

And what the widow said was eminently satisfactory to both parties.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Billy Gray, young college student, secures a lieutenant's commission on breaking out of Spanish-American war. He meets a Mr. Prime, Miss Prime and Miss Amy Lawrence.

CHAPTER II.—After a conference in his official tent, Gen. Drayton joins a gay company in his personal tent—Mrs. Garrison doing the honors as hostess.

CHAPTER III.—Lieut. Gray is invited to join the Prime party, to go over in Mr. Prime's carriage to see the review, but is denied leave by Col. Canker, whom the regiment had nicknamed "Squeers." Vacant seat in carriage is given Col. Armstrong.

CHAPTER IV.—On the way to the review the Prime party witnesses the capture of two soldiers suspected of having been accomplices in the stealing of stores intended for the soldiers—even of dainties contributed by the Red Cross.

CHAPTER V.—Gray receives a note from a prisoner, who is suspected of having been a large recipient of the stolen goods, but who declares his innocence, begs Gray's help and signs himself "Gorge Morton," adding the Greek letters of the same fraternity Gray had belonged to in college. Gray had planned a night in town, expecting to meet the Prime party. In spite of the fact that this might be his last chance for a chat with Amy Lawrence, Gray manages to secure duty as officer of the guard, that he may have an opportunity to have an interview with Morton.

CHAPTER VI.—Preparations are made for sending part of command to Philippines. For some reasons Red Cross officials wish their tables, where they have been lunching departing soldiers, moved across platform directly under the side of the transport, but the officer of the guard has orders to allow no one to intrude on that space. However Mrs. Garrison overhearing wish of Red Cross official accomplishes the end by scrawling a note to the officer. The colonel of the regiment about to leave arrives and is surprised to see his reserved space occupied. Joining Armstrong at this moment he shows him Mrs. Garrison's note. Armstrong turns sharply to where Mrs. Garrison had been, but she had vanished. Armstrong now learns an important package has been taken from Gen. Drayton's tent. The night before an important prisoner, Morton, had escaped, and Billy Gray, officer of the guard, placed under arrest.

Then when Gray appeared at reveille Morton had disappeared.

"It's not the sergeant let them fellers out," said the regimental oracles. "This is no ten-dollar subscription business." And so until late in the afternoon the question that agitated the entire range of regimental camps was: "How did those fellows break away from the prison of the —teenth?" Then came a clew, and then—discovery.

By order of Lieut. Col. Canker a board of officers had been convened to investigate the matter, and after questioning everybody whom "Squeers" had already badgered with his assertions, threats and queries, they went to the guardhouse and began a thorough inspection of the premises. The wooden building stood in the midst of a waste of sand blown in from the shore line by the strong sea wind. It was perched on something like a dozen stout posts driven into the soft soil and then the space between the floor level and the sand was heavily and stoutly boarded in—thick planks being used. Between the floor and the sand was a space of about 18 inches vertical, and a dozen men could have sprawled therein—lying at full length—but to escape would have required the connivance of one or more of the sentries surrounding the building and the ripping off of one or more of the planks. In his keen anxiety Canker accompanied the board on its tour of investigation—a thing the board did not at all like—and presently, as was his wont, began running things his own way. It had been found useless to question the soldiers of the guard. Not a man could be found to admit he knew the faintest thing about the escape. As for the prisoners, most of them reckless, devil-may-care rascals, they grinned or leered suggestively, but had nothing to tell.

"We'll have this boarding ripped off," said Canker, decisively, "and see what they've got secreted under there. I shouldn't be surprised to find a whisky still in full blast, or a complete gambling outfit—dash, dash 'em to dash and dashnation! Send for a carpenter, sergeant."

"The morning will be too late."

The carpenter came, and he and two or three of the guard laid hold of one end of the plank after its nails were drawn, and with little exertion ripped it off the other posts. Then everybody held his breath a minute, stared, and a small majority swore. So far from its being open to cats, cans and rubbish, the space on that side was filled solid with damp, heavy sea sand—a vertical wall extending from floor to ground. Canker almost ran around to the opposite side and had a big plank torn off there. Within was a wall as damp, solid and straight as that first discovered, and so, when examined, were the other two sides provided. Canker's face was a sturdy, and the board gazed and was profoundly happy.

At last the colonel exploded:

"By Jupiter! They haven't got away at all, then! There isn't a flaw in the sand wall anywhere. They must be hiding about the middle now. Come on, gentlemen," and around he trotted to the front door. "Sergeant," he cried, "get out all the prisoners—all their bedding—every blessed thing they've got. I want to examine that floor."

Most of the guardhouse "birds" were out chopping wood, and Canker danced in among the few remaining, loading them with bedding belonging to their fellows until every item of clothing and furniture was shoved out of the room. One member of the board and one only failed to enter with his associates—a veteran captain who read much war literature and abhorred Canker. To the surprise of the sentry he walked deliberately over to the fence, climbed it and presently began poking about the wooden curb that ran along the road, making a low revetment or retaining wall for the earth, cinders and gravel that, distributed over the sand, had been hopefully designated a sidewalk by the owners of the tract. Presently he came sauntering back, and both sentries within easy range would have sworn he was chuckling. Canker greeted him with customary asperity.

"What do you mean, sir, by absenting yourself from this investigation, when you must have known I was with the board and giving it the benefit of the information I had gathered?"

"I was merely expediting matters, colonel. While you were looking for where they went in I was finding where they got out."

"Went in what? Got out of what?" snapped Canker.

"Their tunnel, sir. It's Libby on a small scale over again. They must have been at work at it at least ten days." And as he spoke, calmly ignoring Canker and letting his eyes wander over the floor, the veteran battalion commander sauntered across the room, stirred up a slightly projecting bit of flooring with the toe of his boot and placidly continued: "If you'll be good enough to let the men pry this up you may understand."

And when pried up and lifted away—a snugly fitting trap door about two feet square — there yawned beneath it, leading slantwise downward in the direction of the street, a tunnel through the soft yielding sand, braced and strengthened here and there with lids and sides of cracker-boxes. "Now, if you don't mind straddling a fence, sir, I'll show you the other end," said the captain, imperturbably leading the way, and Canker, half-dazed yet wholly in command of his stock of blasphemy, followed. At the curb, in the midst of a lot of loose hay from the bales dumped there three days before, the leader dislodged with his sword the top of a clothing box that had been thickly covered with sand and hay—and there was the outlet. "Easy as rolling off a log, colonel," said old Cobb, with a sarcastic grin. "This could all be done without a man you've blamed and arrested being a whit the wiser. They sawed a panel out of the floor, scooped the sand out of this tunnel, banked it solid against the weather boarding inside, filled up the whole space, pretty near, but ran their tunnel under fence and sidewalk, crawled down the gutter to the next block out of sight of the sentries, then walked away free men. Those three thieves who got away were old hands. The other men in the guardhouse were only mild offenders, except Morton. 'Course he was glad of the chance to go with 'em. I s'pose you'll release my sergeant and those sentries now."

"I'll do nothing of the kind," answered Canker, red with wrath, "and your suggestion is disrespectful to your commanding officer. When I want your advice I'll ask for it."

"Well, Mr. Gray will be relieved to learn of this anyhow. I suppose I may tell him," hazarded the junior member, mischievously.

"Mr. Gray be——. Mr. Gray has everything to answer for!" shouted the angered colonel. "It was he who telephoned for a carriage to meet and run those rascals off. Mr. Gray's fate is sealed. He can thank God I don't slap him into the guardhouse with his chosen associates, but he shan't escape. Sergeant of the guard, post a sentry over Lieut. Gray's tent, with orders to allow no one to enter or leave it without my written authority. Mr. Gray shall pay for this behind the prison bars of Alcatraz."

THE GROCER EXPLAINS.

How the Diplomatic Merchant Stilled the Discontent of a Carping Customer.

"A dollar a basket for pears!" exclaimed the woman who had asked the grocer the price, and added that she expected to "do up" about three bushels, relates the Chicago Daily News.

"That's the price, ma'am," was the reply.

"But it's outrageous! Think of a dollar a basket for pears, and not over half a bushel in a basket!"

"Yes'm; but pears are a little up this fall."

"But why should they be? It's been good weather right along for pears."

"My dear woman, we are at war in the Philippines. We are as good as at war with China. We have a presidential election on hand, stocks are unsettled, strikes are numerous and at least one royal head has fallen under the bullet of the assassin. Just recall this, and then ask yourself why pears are a dollar a basket. Can you expect pears to remain passive while codfish and clothespins are jumping like kangaroos?"

"Um! But I never thought of those things," replied the woman in more mollified tones. "Yes; we've certainly had awful times, and awfuler ones are coming, and you may send me over a basket after dinner. If you happen to hear that the pope is assassinated or the state of Ohio has been devastated by a cyclone, you may send four quarts of green tomatoes and a citron at the same time."

BOICE, RUNYON & CO., PARK AVE. AND RAILROAD

For a number of years I have been a sufferer from bilious sick headache, and as is the custom of many, tried almost every remedy that I could hear of. A little over a year ago a kind friend at Albany obtained a promise from me that I would try Ripans Tabules. I procured a 50-cent package, put up in little glass vials, and in a very short time the change for the better was so marked that many of my equaintances, among them my kind doctor, asked me what was the cause of my improved condition. Ripans Tabules were so effective in my case that I gave them to my husband, and I certainly think it was due to them that his life was spared through the winter. I soon learned that the Tabules were put up in a cheaper form, so procured twelve of the paper cartons for 48 cents, and found them just as effective and so much cheaper, which was very acceptable to me. After using that quantity I felt sufficiently restored to discontinue their use, having gained in flesh and being able to partake of foods that before were out of the question. Along in October of this year I began to awaken mornings with a severe, dull aching pain at the base of the brain, and after I was up awhile a fit of drowsiness would come over me, and it did not matter what I was doing, I found it almost impossible to keep awake. I bethought of Ripans Tabules and at once sent for a twelve-carton package. I had no trouble to keep awake after I had used four or five Tabules. I feel that I can not praise Ripans Tabules too highly.

The Value .. OF .. Simplicity

Don't pretend to be something which you are not. This may sound like a tiresome moral precept, but I am speaking purely from the point of view of self interest. It doesn't pay. If women could realize that it is to their own advantage to be simple and unpretending, how much more life would mean to them! Some of them do realize it in the end, but only after bitter experience. We Americans have been called a nation of pretenders; we are never satisfied unless we are striving to be something which we are not. The American woman is the most restless creature in the civilized world and the most complex. With the modern society woman simplicity is almost an unknown word.

An English woman recently came to this country and was entertained lavishly by a number of fashionable women who vied with each other in extravagant displays in order to win her friendship and procure for themselves invitations to her fine ancestral home. When she returned to London, some one asked her which of the brilliant gatherings had pleased her most. To the surprise of every one, she answered, "An afternoon tea at Mrs. X.'s." As no one had heard of Mrs. X. before, some surprise was manifested, and she explained, with a smile: "You see, I met her at a big reception where all the women were so stilted and affected that I felt positively lonely. I was drawn to her immediately by the bright, open look in her eyes and her charming air of simplicity. She never for one minute pretended she was anything that she was not, and the fact is I took such a fancy to her that I begged her to let me drop in and take tea with her some afternoon. I was almost afraid of having my illusions shattered when I sent in my card on the appointed day, and if she had been like the other women she might have spoiled it all by some elaborate display. But, no. There she sat at her little tea table dressed in a simple dainty gown which made her look like a girl. Her two little children leaned bashfully against their mother's chair, and the three gave me the most charming welcome imaginable. I spent an hour with her. We chatted of things dear to the heart of the home woman. I told her about my babies in England, and she introduced me to her husband, a fine, manly fellow. It was the most delightful hour I spent in America, and before I left I made that dear little woman promise to come next year and make me a long visit."

If we only realized the attractiveness of simplicity; if the woman who goes shopping covered with tawdry jewelry and wearing a bedraggled satin skirt could but see the superior attractiveness of a clean gingham shirt waist and a smart woolen skirt; if the woman who wishes to receive her friends would only give up the pretentious entertainment which she cannot afford to carry out properly and would substitute the congenial little affair which she can make a success; if the woman who renders her life a misery by filling her house with cheap knickknacks, hard to keep in order, would only realize the beauty of clean, airy rooms, furnished with a few good pieces of furniture; if we all of us would drop pretense and give ourselves time to cultivate our better selves and those congenial people who can truthfully be called friends, how much better and pleasanter life would be.

MAUD ROBINSON.

Concerning Gloves.

Don't wear a glove with a button off or a hole in it, thinking it won't be noticed. It is almost sure to be observed, and it will stamp you as careless and slovenly in the eyes of the beholder. Don't put on a new glove carelessly. The first molding of the glove to the hand decides its future shape, and therefore it is most important that it should not be put on anyhow, but in the best possible manner. Turn back the wrist part of the glove and then carefully work on the fingers, seeing that the seams are straight.

Don't buy cheap gloves. If you cannot afford to have new gloves very often, it is better to have those that are well cut but much mended rather than a new and cheap pair, which distort the appearance of the hands.

Display of Agriculture at the Pan-American

The Exhibit Is an Unusually Elaborate and Instructive One to Those Interested

[Special Buffalo Correspondence.]

THE exhibit of the United States department of agriculture in the Government building of the Pan-American is very comprehensive. While it is of especial interest to the farmer, it appeals also to the scientist. There are more divisions and bureaus in the department of agriculture than in any other connected with the government. Many of the men who are at the head of these bureaus are graduates of the best technical schools in the country and have received degrees from the most noted universities in this country and in Europe. Several of these bureau chiefs were asked by the secretary of agriculture to give especial attention to the selection of the exhibit to be made at the Pan-American exposition on account of the fact that people from every part of this hemisphere were expected to visit Buffalo during the summer of 1901. The result is the exhibit is exceptionally thorough.

The importance of the exhibit in the division of chemistry in this department can hardly be estimated. In this exhibit are shown pure foods and food adulterants. There are displayed in an attractiev form the principal manufactured foods in a state of purity. Each of the exhibits is accompanied by analytical data showing the composition and nutritive value of the sample. In connection with these are illustrated the principal adulterated forms of these foods, accompanied with a statement showing the nature of the adulterant and the amount thereof contained in a given quantity of food. The principal adulterants employed are illustrated in bulk, with statements showing their properties and the dangers of their indiscriminate use. The principal adulterants illustrated are preservatives and coloring matters, and in connection with coloring matters skeins of white silk are shown colored with the dyes extracted from food products. This exhibit is not only typical of manufactured and adulterated foods, but also educational in showing the character of these foods and their value as nutrients.

An illustration of the beet sugar industry of the United States is given. A large map shows by shaded areas the parts of the country best suited to the growth of sugar beets with a high content of sugar. This map also shows the locations of existing sugar factories, as well as the locations of those which are in process of building or projected. The exhibit consists of samples of products from the various factories of the United States, showing all products, from the perfect beet to refined sugar. An illustration is also given of the byproducts used for cattle food and the various forms in which the refuse of the beet factories is employed for that purpose.

Statistics in a convenient tabular form are shown representing the possibilities of the industry and its present magnitude. Photographs of all the leading beet sugar factories are exhibited, illustrating the methods of construction, field operations and factory progress. There are at the present time 40 beet sugar factories in the United States, representing $15,000,000 of capital, and the output of sugar annually is about 100,000 tons, worth $10,000,000.

Practically every section of the agricultural department is represented in the exhibit at Buffalo. There is the bureau of animal industry, including an elaborate dairy exhibit; the division of soils; the division of vegetable physiology; the division of agrostology; the division of pomology; the division of entomology; the division of botany; the division of forestry, and the weather bureau.

The scientific agriculturist finds something of interest in every division, and the whole exhibit is constantly thronged with visitors, but it is to two or three divisions that the majority turn. Aside from the division of chemistry, which contains many things interesting, and of which we have already spoken, the exhibit of the bureau of animal industry attracts great attention.

One of the great objects of the government in maintaining this division of the agricultural department is to control and prevent the spread of contagious diseases among our farm animals, and this feature is well illustrated at the exposition. Every possible means have been employed to illustrate to those interested the symptoms of the different diseases and the methods of cure and the prevention of a spread of the contagion.

Still another feature of interest is the illustration by photographs of the inspection of animals intended for food for either home consumption or export. Could the people of Europe but view these photographs they would see how senseless is their cry against American meat products.

The dairy industry is illustrated by maps, charts, photographs and models. The exhibit includes a collection of models showing the great variety of forms and kinds of cheese made in Europe; a variety of packages, foreign and domestic, showing the different ways of preparing dairy products for market, and a collection of material showing methods of utilizing the by-products of the dairy. A working model of a creamery is also shown.

The exhibit of the weather bureau is of especial interest to meteorologists. A 15-foot model—one-fifth the actual size—of a tower used to display signals along the coast of the Atlantic, gulf and great lakes is shown. This tower is not used in all cases, but only where the circumstances are such that flagpoles cannot be placed in positions of sufficient prominence. The actual towers are 75 feet in height and made of galvanized steel. On these towers are displayed storm signals, flags by day and lanterns by night, when a storm is expected. Only in case of the probability of heavy winds is the signal raised. In Buffalo the "qualifying velocity" is 42 miles an hour.

Another interesting feature of this exhibit is a plaster paris chart showing topography. The chart is a section of a globe and is so made as to represent the altitude above sea level on its surface. Lines showing the mean annual temperature are drawn across the map. The annual rainfall is also shown, the coloring of the map marking the amount of rainfall. A self-recording rain gauge of the newest type is another most interesting feature.

An exhibit of kites is also seen. These kites have been used in scientific demonstrations of the conditions of the upper air, recording relative humidity, temperature and pressure. Prof. Willis Moore is in charge of this exhibit.

The forestry division contains much that is interesting. The exhibit consists mainly of a photographic collection illustrating the relation of agriculture to forestry, supplemented by maps and sections of commercial timber trees from the Appalachian mountain region. The photographic display embodies 60 framed bromide prints enlarged from photographs, together with 20 colored and uncolored transparencies. The subjects illustrated by bromides and transparencies comprise, briefly, the various methods of lumbering, their effects on forest production and on the adjacent agricultural lands. The effects of forest fires on the forest land and the relation of such denudation to the flow of water in streams and the supply of water for irrigation is fully shown. The principal types of trees and forests are illustrated to show the size and lumber production of forests occupying agricultural and nonagricultural lands. The value of preserving certain types of protective forests on watersheds for the conservation of water important to large areas of agricultural lands is illustrated. A special feature of the photographic display is the illustration of individual trees, of the mammoth big trees, the giant red firs, white firs and the sugar pines of the California Sierras by colored transparencies. It is interesting to state in this connection that these transparencies are the largest ever made. Typical agricultural valley lands in the east and west are illustrated on the same scale, showing the special protective agencies of natural adjacent mountain forests and planted shelter belts of forest trees. The region and the subject from which these illustrations were taken are representative of the principal agricultural and forest sections of the United States.

The progressive agriculturist will be interested in the exhibit of the division of botsny, as it relates to one of the first essentials of his calling. The exhibit represents the work of the seed laboratory at the department of agriculture, where samples of all seeds distributed by the government are now carefully tested for purity, germinability and freedom from seeds of noxious weeds. Thousands of samples from farmers and seedsmen in all parts of the country are also tested at this laboratory. The work is of special interest to farmers, gardeners, seedsmen and experiment station workers, to whom the subject of pure seeds is of vital importance. The seed laboratory of the department of agriculture is well recognized as the most important seed testing station in America. Its methods, standards and most important pieces of apparatus have been adopted for seed testing at many of the state experiment stations.

On entering the space devoted to this exhibit at the left of the main aisle one sees first in a glass case a purity separating table with magnifying glass, forceps and other tools used by experts of pure seed, chaff, sand and other foreign matter and weed seeds. Next is a pair of fine balances on which samples are weighed, all percentages in seed purity tests being based upon weight. Beyond the scales is a new combined mixer and sampler. In this a quantity of seeds is quickly mixed and a sample of the desired amount delivered which will fairly represent the entire lot. One of the most attractive pieces of apparatus used in purity testing is the blast impurity separator, which is also a new device. The air blast is furnished by a modern blower driven by an electric motor. The device itself, however, in which the separation of chaff and lighter impurities from seed is performed through the action of an air current, consists of a simple bent glass tube connected with a receiver.

Actual germination tests are carried on at the exposition as in the seed laboratory at Washington. Commercial seeds are counted, arranged in folded blue blotters, moistened and placed in the standard germinating chamber, where they are kept at fixed temperatures favorable to germination. Check germination tests, such as are employed in conducting tests with many kinds of seeds, are made in sterilized sand and soil in greenhouse "flats." The number germinating each day for a definite period in each of the tests are noted and the percentage of germination thus computed.

Many weeds the seeds of which are most frequently found as impurities in commercial seeds are represented by living plants, labeled with the names by which they should be designated by English speaking people wherever found. A unique feature is an exhibit of seeds of many of these weeds and also several kinds of commercial seeds arranged under 40 magnifying glasses, accompanied by seeds of the same kinds in open dishes, so that one may readily compare the magnified impression with the actual seed and note differences and distinctive characters that would not appear to the unaided eye.

The results and importance of seed testing are graphically represented by several groups of glass tubes containing different kinds of commercial seeds. These show the ordinary commercial seed, the amount of pure seed true to name in the sample and the amount of inert matter, such as chaff, sticks and sand, the proportion of weed seeds and finally the amount of germinable seeds true to name, as determined by test of similar sample and the proportion of waste. A comparison of these last two indicates how much is often paid for waste in buying untested and poorly cleansed seeds.

Commercial seed growing is shown by photographic illustrations of some of the largest seed farms in California, where the production of garden seeds has reached its highest development in this country.

Through every division of the department great care has been taken to make the exhibits interesting and instructive, and the results attained have been wonderful. The entire exhibit is in charge of Mr. Harry Brigham, the son of the assistant secretary of agriculture.

BOARDERS LEFT.

Now Aid of Courts Will be Involved to Collect Alleged Board Bill.

Mrs. Isaac Giles, who conducts a boarding establishment in the Babcock building, had some trouble with Frank Huntley and his family, who have been boarding with her.

The plaintiff secured a writ of attachment in Justice Huff's court Saturday and ordered the family to leave her place. She claimed that Huntley had run up a board bill and wouldn't leave. Mrs. Giles finally gave the family until 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to give up their rooms and get out. The family finally moved.

An attachment was made for the bill alleged due, and this trouble will be settled in Justice Huff's court later.

Funeral Of J. W. Coddington.

The funeral of J. Wesley Coddington, aged sixty-five years, one of the best known and highly respected citizens of Mt. Horeb, was held Saturday afternoon from the Mt. Horeb M. E. church. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including many relatives from this city and vicinity. Rev. W. H. Harris, pastor, officiated, and was assisted by Rev. H. B. Opdyke. The interment took place in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Arrested For Shooting Crap.

Shooting crap has become a favorite pastime with men who congregate at the corner of Norwood and Brook avenues Sundays. A quartette, composed of Charles Dean, George Greader, Louis Bentford and Martin Duffy, was arrested there yesterday afternoon and a general charge of disorderly conduct was lodged against them. After spending the night in the borough lockup, they were released this moning by Recorder Doud.

Big Crowd at Camp Meeting.

At least 1,000 citizens, white and colored, attended the camp meeting at Vail's Grove yesterday. Rev. E. E. Jackson preached at the afternoon service and a volunteer choir from Mt. Olive Baptist church sang. In the evening Rev. D. W. Brown preached. The sermons are twenty-minute talks. This evening jubilee singing will be the principal feature.

Hansen Gets the Contract.

The committee of the Gesang and Turn Verein, having charge of the proposed improvements to be made at Saengerbund hall, have decided to award the building contract to Herman Hansen, of East Front street. This evening the committee will hold a meeting for the purpose of signing the contract.

Injured In Fall From Wagon.

Miss Jennie Murphy, aged twenty-three years, fell out of a wagon Saturday evening and sustained a severe cut in the back of her head. Yesterday morning she was taken to the hospital for treatment. Her condition is not serious and she will not be detained at the hospital very long.

Accident Proved Fatal.

Word was received in this city this morning of the death of Mrs. Hoppock, of Washington, Warren county. Last evening she fell down stairs at her home and death followed this morning as a result of the fall. The deceased was a sister of Mrs. Doty, of Elmwood place.

Frog Victim Is Dead.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, August 12—Frank Blazer, who recently attracted so much notoriety by having a frog in his stomach, died at his home in Dock Watch Hollow, Saturday. The funeral will be held this afternoon at the Mt. Horeb church.

Many Pleasant Features.

The excursion of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., to Asbury Park next Thursday, August 15, gives promise of being an enjoyable affair. There will be many features to make the trip a pleasant one.

Interesting Programme.

The members of Lucetta Council, Dughters of Liberty, are planning for an enjoyable time at their regular meeting this week. A programme of much interest will be prepared for the occasion.

ITALIAN WEDDING.

Ceremony Took Place at St. Mary's Church and a Bounteous Feast Followed it.

The wedding of Miss Lena Zazzali, of Plainfield, to Herman Lusardi, of Ridgewood, took place in St. Mary's church, yesterday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock.

The bride was very prettily attired in pink and white and carried a large bouquet of cut roses.

The maid-of-honor was Miss Mary Balti, of Lambertville, and the best man was Julius Lusardi, of Somerville. Miss Adeline Lusardi and Miss Lena Lusardi, nieces of the groom, were flower girls. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P.E. Smyth, of St. Mary's church. The Royal Wedding March was rendered by a Pittsburg orchestra.

After the vows had been pledged, the party of 125 relatives and guests reassembled at the home of Alex Lusardi, of West Front street, where a regular Italian feast had been prepared by New York caterers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lusardi will leave tomorrow on their wedding trip. They will visit Niagara Falls and see the Pan-American Exposition, after which they will make their home in Ridgewood, N. J., which is the residence of the groom.

There are many presents which were received from the friends of the happy couple.

Guests were present from Trenton, Newark, Lambertville, Cranford, Somerville, New York and Jersey City. The four brothers of the groom were also present, and this was the first occasion at which they have met together in eighteen years.

MUSIC AT THE INN.

Musicale Was Given Saturday Night And A Sacred Concert Sunday Afternoon.

A musicale and impromptu dance, Saturday evening, and a sacred concert, yesterday afternoon, are among the features which have added to the enjoyable times at Mountain Park Inn during the last few days. Both concerts went in charge of Madame Cortada, of New York.

Among those who lent their efforts towards making the Saturday evening affairs a success were: sopranos, Madame Cortada and her son, Francis Cortada, who is a chorister in Grace church, East Orange; contraltos, Miss Otto and Mrs. Magruder; tenors, Messrs. Magruder and Woods; pianist, Miss Mather.

Gaul's "Holy City" was rendered with much expression by some talented guests, yesterday afternoon. In addition to those who participated in the concert the previous evening, assisting in this production were; R. J. Shaw, baritone, and Winfield Blake, bass. All the solo parts were well sung, especially so was the rendition of "These are They" by the clever young soprano soloist, Master Cortada.

IN MEMORY OF BOTH.

Funeral of One Child; Memorial Service For Another.

Pathetic was the funeral service of Theodore Sherman Runyon, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Runyon, of Somerset street. The services were held at the house yesterday afternoon. In conjunction with it, a memorial service for Marion, another child who succumbed to a contagious disease some months ago, was held.

Rev. W. C. Nelson officiated and spoke feelingly of the little ones. During the service Miss Etta Raybert rendered sympathetically "Saved by Grace" and "Looking This Way." In a cradle used by little Theodore were many floral tributes. Interment was made beside the grave of Marion Runyon, who rests in the Somerville cemetery.

Will Choose Delegates.

The Firemen's Relief Association of North Plainfield will hold a meeting this evening at the Warren Engine Company's house. Delegates will be chosen at this meeting to represent the association at the annual convention of the State organization, which will be held at Atlantic City in the near future.

Fined For Being Drunk.

Borough Recorder Doud fined Israel Jones, of Bound Brook, and Charles Francesco, of Pearl street, $5 each, this morning, at the police court hearings. They were arrested in a drunken condition by Chief Marshal Campbell, on Somerset street, last night.

Taken Suddenly Ill.

Cornelius Barry, an employe of VanNest & Edsall, East Front street, was taken suddenly ill this morning and removed to his home on East Third street. His symptoms resembled those of appendicitis.

Settled Out of Court.

The case in tort of the Bartholomay Brewing Company against F. W. Jones, has been settled out of Justice Moffett's court. Lawyer R. M. Clark represented the plaintiff.

—Eruptions, cuts, burns, scalds and sores of all kinds quickly healed by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Certain cure for piles. Beware of counterfeits. Be sure you get the original—DeWitt's. L. W. Randolph.

TO SHORE AND MOUNTAINS.

MANY PLAINFIELDERS ARE ENJOYING THEIR VACATION.

Others Are Entertaining Guests From Out of Town at Their Homes in This City.

A baby boy was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Schleiff, of Park avenue.

Mrs. Calvin H. Rugg, of the borough, is sojourning on Long Island for a time.

Mrs. Warren H. Marsh, of Central avenue, who has been quite ill for the past ten days, is very much improved.

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh and wife sailed for New York this morning, and on their arrival will go to the Buffalo Pan-American Exposition for a week.

Rev. J. N. Morris, who occupied Dr. Schenck's pulpit yesterday morning, was the guest during his stay in Plainfield of his old friends, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. VanEmburgh, of East Second street.

Miss Emma Mellefont, bookkeeper at Smalley Brothers market, North avenue, is spending her vacation with friends at Tarrytown, N. Y. Harold Smalley is ably filling her position during her absence.

Varied Troubles.

Charles Dixon, of 302 East Front street, fell off his wheel Saturday morning while on his way to work at the Pond Machine Tool Works. The accident happened at the corner of Front and Somerset streets. Mr. Dixon sustained a few bruises and his trousers were rent in twain. He resumed his journey, however, and went to work.

Motorman Laid Off.

Motorman Coriell, who was running the car on the Elizabeth line last Friday evening, which ran into a team of horses, killing them, has been laid off. The accident happened near Roselle, and in the opinion of the company the motorman was to blame. Thomas Hammill, the conductor on the car, has been retained.

Gloak Improving.

William L. Gloak, the young lad from East Second street, who was struck by a trolley car last week, is getting along well at the hospital. His injuries consist of bruises and sprains about the body, legs and arms, but those in charge do not apprehend any serious results.

Salt Water Days.

Don't forget the old fashioned salt water days at Florida Grove. White people's day, Saturday, August 17, and colored people's day, Thursday, August 29. In another part of the paper will be found the full particulars regarding this favorite resort.

Closed For Repairs.

The pulpit at the First Presbyterian church was occupied yesterday by Rev. P. B. Kennedy, of Easton, Pa. The church will now be closed until September 1 so that repairs can be made and the edifice cleaned.

Furnished Bail.

Hugh McDonough, of Park avenue, furnished the $500 bail for Robert Evans, the hackman, accused by Charles Barry, another hackman, with assault and battery. The case will go before the Grand Jury.

Removed to Her Home.

Miss Bertha Mellman, who has been under treatment at the hospital for injuries received in the trolley accident, is so far improved as to be able to be removed to her home, 131 East Sixth street.

Preached At Warren.

Rev. A. E. Main, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, occupied the pulpit at Warren chapel, yesterday, in the absence of the pastor, who is on his vacation.

Obtained Judgment.

R. M. Clark, representing Coursen & Son, has obtained judgment for $183.90 and costs against Rudolph Speigel, in Justice Moffett's court.

—Justice Huff has issued papers in the contract case of Welsh against Trimmer, returnable August 16.

Mushroom Culture by Ants.

In the American Naturalist Prof. Wheeler describes a new genus of insect living commensally with certain ants. The general reader will, however, be specially interested in the so-called "mushroom gardens" formed by the ants in question. It appears that they cut and transport into their subterranean cellars large pieces of leaves, which are there divided into smaller fragments, and ultimately reduced to a fine pulp. "This pulp is heaped up, and soon becomes invaded by the mycelium of a fungus. The mycelium is kept aseptically clean—i. e., free from all species of fungi and even from bacteria—and induced to grow in an abnormal way by bringing forth minute swellings which constitute the only food of the ant colony. Moller likens these swellings to the 'kohlrabi' of the German kitchen gardens."—Nature.

CARDINALS AT ROME.

Have Singular Privileges and Rules for Their Conduct.

Always Dress in Red and Etiquette Does Not Allow Them to Walk—The Sacred College and How It Is Constituted.

While in Rome etiquette does not allow a cardinal to walk. He must have a carriage and pair. When he goes out beyond the city walls an attendant follows him. Going to a public ceremony at the Vatican he is entitled to a gala train of three carriages, and if a prince to four.

In the pope's chapel the cardinals kneel at the benches on which they sit. They wear at ceremonial functions a cassock with a train of cloth in winter and of moire in summer. Collars, shoes and stockings are red. The girdle is of red moire with gold tassels, the rochet of lace and the mozetta the same as the cassock. In Rome the rochet is covered with a red mantelletta; outside the city it is uncovered. The hat is red felt with gold tassels.

The cardinals di curia, or those residing in Rome, are entitled to a yearly income, or piatto cardinalizio of 32,000 lire—about $6,400—which is paid out of the ePter's pence. The cardinal dwelling ordinarily has these special apartments: At the entrance is an antechamber for the domestics. Above a credence are the arms of the cardinal under a canopy. On the wall are suspended his two kneeling cushions, one of red and the other of violet silk, and his two umbrellas of the same colors. These last are for covering him when he is making a solemn entry into a church or following the viaticum bareheaded. The second room is for the cardinal's secretary. The third is called the antechamber of the biretta, because the red biretta is placed there on a console before a crucifix. Then comes the throneroom.

When a cardinal asserts that the pope has said this or that, or has given such an order, he must be believed on his word without being obliged to prove it. This is called the oruculum vivae vocis.

CARDINAL VANNUTELLI.
(The Most Popular Member of the "Sacred College.")

Cardinals should be 30 years of age. Mgr. Martinelli will be one of the youngest members of the college. He is now 53. Cardinal Skebensky, archbishop of Prague, is the youngest, being only 38. Cardinal Yives y Tuto comes next. He is 47. Then Mgr. Martinelli fits in, says the Baltimore Sun.

When the sacred college is complete there are 70 cardinals, namely six bishops, 50 priests and 14 deacons. Cardinals of a lower order have, with the consent of the pope, the right of option to pass to a higher order. The deacons can chose the vacant places of the cardinal priests if they have been deacons for ten years, and have been ordained to the priesthood. The senior cardinal priest present in Rome when one of the six bishopries falls vacant has the option to succeed to it, with the exception of the sees of Ostia and of Porto, which are reserved for the dean and the subdean of the sacred college. The dean is the senior cardinal, dating from his promotion to one of the sees.

There are now 67 cardinals—40 Italians and 27 of other nationalities. It is said that Pope Leo XIII. desires always to have the membership near the plenum, or limit, and that he said just before making out the recent list of 12 new cardinals:

"Better that there should be as many as possible to choose from in the next conclave." Pope Pius IX., having had the longest reign, created the most cardinals, 179; Pope Leo XIII. has buried 136 cardinals since he began his pontificate.

Besides Cardinal Martinelli seven other cardinals have had to do with the church of North America. They are Cardinal Cheverus, the first bishop of Boston; Cardinal McCloskey, archbishop of New York; Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore; Cardinal Taschereau, of Quebec; Cardinal Perisco, bishop of Savannah; Cardinal Mazzella, the Jesuit theologian and professor at the college at Woodstock, Md., and Cardinal Satolli, former delegate to the United States. Of these cardinals Cheverus, Perisco and Mazzella had left this country before they were created cardinals.

Rebuke to Stingy Employers.

Judge Danforth, of Maine, believes that a fair salary tends to keep a man honest. Lately, in speaking of a convicted bank cashier, he said: "I wish that the law permitted me to send with the accused every one of the bank directors who, through a long term of years, expected you to do your work, live respectably, bring up a large family and be honest—all on a salary of $600 a year."

SOME NEW ARRIVALS AT THE NETHERWOOD.

Social Life At That Summer Hostelry Continues To Show Plenty Of Activity.

MANY AT SATURDAY'S DANCE

SOME OF THE GUESTS WHO ARRIVED DURING PAST WEEK.

All Are Well Pleased With Plainfield And Enjoy The Cool Breezes From The Hotel Piazzas—Plainfielders There.

The attendance at the hop held at the Hotel Netherwood, Saturday evening, surpassed that of any previous occasion of the same sort during the season. There are considerably over one hundred guests quartered at the resort at present and this number, together with the large representation of Plainfield's society folk, lent much gaiety to the festivities.

Throughout the evening Stanton's Orpheus Club orchestra furnished delightful music, and those who were enjoying the cool breezes on the large piazza, were as equally well entertained as those who were waltzing about the ballroom. Many of the guests for the evening had arrived early in order to dine at the hostelry, and it was a noteworthy fact that few of the visitors left until it was time for the last trolley.

The additions to the hotel registry appear to grow apace as the season advances. Miss Sybil Hyatt, of Kingston, N. C., who has been touring in Canada, arrived Sunday, a week ago, and is making an extended stay with her friend, Miss Coleman. Monday, Q. W. Boese, of New York, arrived for the season.

A party of four from the Capitol on the Potomac came the same day. They include Mrs. L. T. Morris, Miss Morris, L. B. Morris and McKay Morris. Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Robinson, of Westfield, entertained a small party at dinner. Their friends were Mrs. H. L. Hewitt and Miss Aubrey, of New York, and Miss Hewitt, of Washington, D. C. W. P. Kirk, of Freeport, L. I., was the guest of Mr. Seeley at the same time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hawes, of New York, and the Misses E. M. Reitz and M. B. Keefe, of New Haven, were among the society people who registered Tuesday and will make a short sojourn. L. Rodney Berg, Ricardo Struller and George F. Schoonmaker came the day following. Mr. Schoonmaker proposes to remain for the rest of the season. Those who have been at the resort since Thursday are: Mr. and Mrs. B. Tatham, of New York; Mrs. F. E. Worcester and Miss M. E. Worcester, of Brooklyn; F. Herbert Cavin, of Philadelphia, and Dr. Crawford D. Beasley, of New York.

Mrs. J. B. Patton, of Washington, D. C., a daughter of Gen. Williams, arrived Friday with her baby and maid. Cadet Frederick Coleman Teet, of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, registered at the hotel Saturday. Others who came on the same day were: G. P. Hosmer, of Providence, R. I.; C. M. Hoyt, of Brooklyn; Andrew Hone and S. T. Staines, of New York.

LAMP FELL.

Caused Much Consternation at Fillmore Baptist Church Friday Night.

A serious accident was narrowly averted at the Fillmore Baptist church Friday evening. William R. Richards, of East Third street, was conducting the service, when a large Rochester lamp, hanging directly over his head, fell to the floor. In its descent it struck Mr. Richards, but fortunately did not injure him. When the lamp reached the floor the light went out. The congregation was badly frightened, many rushing from the building, in the fear that an explosion would result.

Of Interest to Musicians.

The regular monthly meeting of Local No. 151, A. F. of M., was held August 6, at its headquarters in Elizabeth, at which it was resolved that Musicians of Union county, who are not members and wish to join, will find the books open at reduced rates until August 15. They are requested to applp to A. C. Ross, secretary, 1090 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth, for applications.

One New Member.

At the meeting of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., last evening, the initiatory degree was conferred on one candidate.

—Jersey peaches, Jenny Lind and Rocky Ford melons and fresh vegetables are specialties at Neuman Bros.

WATER IS ALL RIGHT.

Exhaustive Analysis of Water From Hillside Club's Well Shows No Impurities There.

There has been considerable talk of late regarding the supposed impurity of the water in the wells at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds. At the suggestion of Charles J. Fisk, president of the Board of Health, T. S. Armstrong, the apothecary, has made an exhaustive analysis of the water in these wells at the grounds, and he has made a detailed report to Mr. Fisk regarding the same.

The analysis shows that the water is absolutely free from all organic impurities chlorin, ammonia, nitrites and other impurities. This is another evidence that Plainfield water is up to the high standard of purity, for which all water here is so noted. Persons who have been alarmed at reports published in out-of-town papers concerning this water, may have no further fear, as the water may be used with perfect freedom.

JONES MAKES AN ASSIGNMENT

PROPRIETOR OF IMPERIAL CAFE AND HOTEL GIVES UP THE FIGHT.

Liabilities Amount to $8,200 and no Assets Are Visible—Geo. O. Stevens Assignee.

After much time had been expended in an effort to make an amicable arrangement for settlement with his creditors, Frederick W. Jones, proprietor of the Imperial Cafe and Hotel, made an assignment at noon today.

The liabilities as nearly as can be be estimated at the present time are $8,200, and there are no visible assets to meet the claims. The preferred creditors are Sternberg & Company and C. Felgenspan, of Newark; U. S. Aerating Fountain Company, of Buffalo, and the National Cash Registry Company, of Dayton, O.

A vain endeavor had been made to tide over the financial difficulties of Mr. Jones, which had been incurred by the firm of Hibbard & Jones, of which he was the junior partner. This firm was the proprietor of the Hotel Imperial which had an unsuccessful career of less than a twelfth-month. Mr. Jones assumed the debts of the firm, and has been struggling to ward off an assignment ever since J. Thomas Hibbard withdrew from the business.

George O. Stevens, of the Consumers' Coal Company, is the assignee, and will take charge of the affairs of the concern immediately in the interest of the creditors, many of whom reside in this city.

CAUGHT IN THE RAIN.

Started Awheel for Lake Hopatcong Yesterday But Changed Their Minds.

Vincent B. Miner, of LaGrande avenue, and Fred VanAuken, of East Sixth street, started early yesterday morning on their wheels for Lake Hopatcong, where they expected to spend several days camping out. They had just reached the D. L. and W. bridge beyond Springfield when the rain appeared.

For two hours they sat under the bridge waiting for it to clear off. They finally decided to return home. When they reached here their own families did not know them, and it was necessary to turn the hose on them for some time before sufficient mud was washed off so that they might be recognized.

To Study Abroad.

With the intention of pursuing a thorough course in music, G. C. M. Smith, of Craig place, leaves Thursday for Germany. Mr. Smith will enter the university at Weimer and after finishing his studies there he will enter the University of Berlin, where he proposes to take the post graduate course. He intends to remain in the Fatherland for four years.

To Institute New Council

Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be instituted tomorrow evening in S. of T. rooms, Washington Hall building. Councils from surrounding towns have been invited and will be present, as will also the State officers. George H. Adams Council, of Newark, will perform the iniatory work. The new council will start with seventy-five members.

A Water Carnival.

At the Pan-American Exposition, a contract has been made with Pain to furnish the fire works for a water carnival, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, of each week during August, and probably September. The display will include a ballet, a water pantomime, and a mid-air acrobatic performance.

Injured In Bicycle Race.

Joseph Burke, of Elizabethport, has returned home after a visit with his mother on Park avenue. Mr. Burke is recovering from the effects of an accident which befell him in a bicycle race, last week, at Asbury Park.

ROBBED WHILE HE PREACHED.

BURGLARS NEARLY SMOTHERED CLERGYMAN'S WIFE WITH QUILT.

Ransacked Parsonage of Rev. Mr. Johnson, of Peapack, Sunday Night—Took $50 in Cash.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, N. J., August 13—Sunday night, while Rev. Mr. Johnson, pastor of the Reformed church at Peapack, was at church conducting the evening service, four men broke into the parsonage, threw a quilt over the head of Mrs. Johnson, who was lying on a couch, bound and gagged her and then searched the house for valuables. They found $50 in money and wrapped up all the clergyman's wardrobe, making their escape just as church was dismissed.

The clergyman found his wife nearly suffocated, and after freeing her from bondage and hearing her story, alarmed the village. A posse was soon formed and a search made of the surrounding country, but the burglars could not be found.

Mrs. Johnson did not recognize any of them and could not give much of a description, as her head was covered with the quilt.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BAILEY.

Held From Residence of Her Son on Duer Street Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Eunice Bailey were held yesterday afternoon from the residence of her son, Frank W. Bailey, of 86 Duer street, and were well attended by friends and neighbors. Rev. Joseph Buchanan, of Pemberton, N. J., father of Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, and a relative of the deceased, conducted the services in the absence of Dr. D. J. Yerkes, from the city. He delivered a very strong and impressive discourse, dwelling at some length on the mystery of life and death. He referred to the exemplary Christian life of the departed, and urged all to accept Christ early in life, as she had done.

During the services Elmer E. Runyon sang tenderly, two solos. The floral tributes were simple, but beautiful. The remains were taken this morning to Cherryville, Hunterdon county, where they will be interred.

VALUABLE GIFT.

Miss Julia Carman Received Handsome Watch From Mr. Warren.

Miss Julia Carman, of Franklin place, is home from her summer outing spent at Lake George. She has brought with her a valuable momento of her summer vacation which will long serve to recall a thrilling experience. Miss Carman, in company with a young man from the same camp, took part in the rescue of the crew of a steam launch, which capsized on the lake in a heavy squall. The story of the rescue was told in The Daily Press at the time. Miss Carmae was given a handsome gold and enamelled watch by Mr. Warren, the millionaire owner of the launch and one of the party. She also received the pennant of the yacht.

Subscription Concert.

As a mark of recognition for her untiring efforts in entertaining the guests at the Mountain Park Inn during the season, a subscription concert and vaudeville performance will be given at the Inn Saturday evening, August 24, in honor of Madame Cortada. A number of artists from the metropolis have consented to appear on this occasion.

Picnicking at Sewaren.
